Lead Series 3-0

Montreal Whips Kaps

By BRIAN KELLY

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Olympics defeated Kapuskasing GMs 5-1 Sunday to take a commanding 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven Eastern Canada Allan Cup hockey final.

Montreal shut out the Ontario champions 2-0 and 3-0 in the first two games, played in Kapuskasing.

Kapuskasing, a little sharper around the net in the first period, took the lead at 13:26 Rocky Rukavina, on a drop pass from Ted McCaskill, let go a 30-foot, fox-level slap shot to beat Montreal goalie Andre Binette.

GOALIES TESTED

Both goalies were called on to make crucial saves. Al Burns, Kapuskasing goalie, was brilliant stopping Claude Richard and Connie Mandala early in the game.

Charlie Poxon, the hustling Montreal forward, stole the puck from a rival defenceman but Burns made a phenomenal save.

The Olympics, shorthanded twice in the first period, gave the capacity crowd a fine display of defensive hockey by holding the GMs scoreless.

Picard got Montreal's first goal at 7:20 of the second period when he deflected his brother Noel's sizzling slapshot. Noel riffed the puck from just inside the Kapuskasing blueline and hit the upper right hand corner of the net. The Olympics were a man short at the time.

GETS OVATION

At 12:18 of the third period, Richard brought the crowd to its feet in a sweep typical of his famous hockey brother Maurice (Rocket) Richard. Rushing in from his left wing position, he lunged on Burns's doorstep and beat him cleanly. The spectators remained standing for more than a minute to applaud his goal, which turned out to be the winner.

Charbonneau flicked in the assurance marker on a quick passout from Claude St. Vincent. Charbonneau's shot was waist-high into the right side of the net.

The series resumes today and, if a fifth game is necessary, it will be played in Kapuskasing Wednesday.

Redlegs Shade Giants

Braves Win First From Dodgers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Robinson of Cincinnati Reds and Henry Aaron of Milwaukee Braves, two slumbering giants, awoke with a roar Sunday. As a result, the Reds and Braves started breathing a little easier.

The Braves won their first game of the 1960 National League season, beating Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3, and the Reds snapped a five-game losing streak, inflicting the first defeat upon San Francisco Giants with a 4-3 triumph. Bob Purkey, only Cincinnati pitcher to win so far, registered his second victory.

Rain also wiped out a scheduled doubleheader between Houston Colts and the Phillies in Philadelphia. Cold weather was responsible for calling off the single battle between St. Louis Cardinals and the Cubs in Chicago.

SRUT COLTS OUT

In Saturday action, the Phillies shut out the Colts 7-0, the Giants belted the Reds 13-4, the Cards beat the Cubs 7-4, the Pirates defeated the Mets 6-2 and the Dodgers edged the Braves 5-4, handing veteran Warren Spahn his second straight loss.

Through the first six games of the season opposing pitchers have held Robinson, the league's most valuable player last year, to four hits in 24 times at bat and no runs batted in. The Reds lost five of the first six games Robby drove in his first run and scored another in the club's one-run triumph over the Giants.

Furthermore, he saved pitcher Bob Purkey's triumph with two brilliant fielding plays, stranded in the fourth inning with a two-out backhand, somersaulting catch of Jimmy Davenport's fly to the centre-field fence. In the sixth, he raced to the right-field foul line to snare another extra-base bid by Davenport.

LEADS BRAVES' ATTACK

Aaron's plight was even worse that that of Robinson. Henry had been held to one hit in 18 tries after five games. The Braves lost all five. He smashed three on Sunday, including his first home run, and drove in two runs to lead the Braves' 10-hit attack against loser Bob Koufax and Pete Richert. Eddie Mathews also drove in two Milwaukee runs.

Bob Hagney, a southpaw, went the route for Milwaukee, yielding five hits and striking out eight men. Richert, who fanned the first six batters he faced in a relief role for the Dodgers last week added two more strikeouts in his two-inning relief stint.

A five-run third inning, climaxed by Smoky Burgess' three-run homer, gave Pittsburgh's Bob Friend his second victory of the season. The veteran righthander gave up six hits, two of them home runs by Felix Mantilla and Jim Marshall. Roger Craig, for the second straight time, failed to go beyond the third inning and absorbed his second loss.

The Mets, who have lost all four games, had a 2-0 lead and were batting in the last half of the third inning when the rains came. Young Bob Miller held the Pirates to two singles in his three-inning performance.

INDIA TAKES LEAD

JAIPUR, India (AP)—India gained a 2-0 lead over Iran in their eastern zone Davis Cup match Saturday. India's Premjit Lal defeated Iran's Reza Akbari 6-1, 6-2, 6-0. Reza's brother Taghi Akbari, Iran's No. 1 player, was defeated by Jaideep Mukerjea 6-0, 6-2, 6-4.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo H. Carver, Sports Editor

Sixteen thousand Chicago fans couldn't be wrong... nor could some 15 or so assorted Black Hawks. The Hawks, more or less, stunned by two in a row setbacks in Toronto, folded their wings and rested, then shot back into talon-lured action to snatch a mighty important victory last night.

The victory which broke the ice for the Hawks in the Stanley Cup finals was credited by coach Rudy Pilous to a three-day rest. The way the Hawks lit into the Leafs looked as though they hadn't eaten meat for a week.

Pilous substantiated what Bobby Hull told the reporter via phone last week after dropping the first game to the Leafs. Bobby said the series with Montreal had been a tough one and had taken a physical toll.

The Hawks' coach said his club was really tired after coming back to take four straight from Montreal after dropping the first two. "We were still tired in the first two final games in Toronto."

Being on Chicago ice last night and again tomorrow night is a big help, Pilous said. "Another day's rest is going to help and we may be in the same fettle as when we came back against Montreal."

Toronto coach Punch Imlach admitted that the script was tossed. "We were outhustled, outchecked and outbumped like they were in the first two games. We weren't skating. They outskated and outfought us. We were far off our first two games."

The big one for both teams gets under way tomorrow night. If the Leafs can rally back to snatch this one from the Hawks in Chicago they stand an excellent chance of capping the series before it goes the limit. If the Hawks win—well, it's a brand new ballgame.

The Monford Cherios charged back into high gear in Barrie yesterday afternoon and demonstrated they are no pushovers. They hung a 7-3 defeat on the Belleville Pepsis, the first since the Napanee Canucks turned the trick. They dropped the Saturday night game in Collingwood, but turned on their conquerors and cut the series margin to 2-1.

The Cherios will be here Wednesday night and after Sunday's victory have high hopes of squaring the best-of-seven intermediate "A" semi-final. They know the Pepsis can be beaten and they'll be going all out Wednesday to repeat the trick.

A two-division Lakeshore Baseball League, comprising senior and intermediate teams, was formed at a meeting held in Port Hope on Sunday.

Competing teams in the senior group are Belleville, Kingston and Peterborough, and in the intermediate western group: Alex, Orono, Oshawa and Port Hope.

Port Hope will enter teams in both divisions. The schedule opens May 21.

Beavers Beaten

Frontenacs Oust Wolves

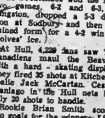
By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston Frontenacs are in the finals of the Eastern Professional Hockey League but it will take another game or two to decide their opponents.

The fast-stepping Frontenacs blasted Sudbury Wolves out of the playoff picture Saturday night with an 11-5 shellacking at Kingston. It gave them the best-of-seven semi-final 4-1.

Hull-Ottawa Canadiens, speeding on the ropes, came up with an impressive 5-1 victory over Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers at Hull Sunday afternoon. The Beavers have a 3-2 lead in games and could wrap up the best-of-seven set in Kitchener tonight.

NEW LINE CLICKS



A new forward line put together just as the playoffs began was chiefly responsible for the lopsided win at Kingston. Bobby Leiter scored three goals, Terry Gray got two and Don Blackburn added one. Tom McCarthy with two, Bobby Attersley Billy Knibbs and Gyles Tessier were the other Kingston marksmen.

The Sudbury scoring was shared by Sam Bettio, Ed Stankiewicz, Jerry Foley, Joe Hendrickson and Don Cherry.

The Frontenacs won the first two games, 6-2 and 6-3, at Kingston, dropped a 5-3 decision at Sudbury and then regained form for a 4-2 win on home ice.

At Hull, 4,239 fans saw The Canadiens maul the Beavers with a hard - skating display. They fired 35 shots at Kitchener goalie Jack McCartan. Cesare Maniago in the Hull nets had only 20 shots to handle.

Rookie Brian Smith scored two goals for the winners: Linemates Billy Carter and Keith McCreary and defenceman Jean Gauthier added singles. Kitchener's scorer was Sandy McGregor.

Boston, Baltimore Split

Angels Take Over Top, Sox Nip A's

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sophomore Jinx? Don Schwall of Boston Red Sox isn't having any, though figures show otherwise.

"Nonsense," the 1961 American League rookie of the year argued after his second straight loss Sunday. He was beaten by the Orioles in the first game of a doubleheader at Baltimore. The Red Sox won the second game 5-4.

"I don't believe in any jinx," the tall righthander said. "I know that sometimes you get more breaks than others. Over a full season, they usually even up for everyone."

He hasn't had much help this season. Schwall, who had a 15-7 won-lost record with the sixth-place Red Sox last season, was beaten 4-0 in the opener this year and Steve Barber handcuffed Boston Sunday.

Los Angeles' surprising Angels gained sole control of the top spot at the end of the first week's play, beating the Twins 5-3 at Minnesota. Chicago White Sox blasted the Athletics 8-3 at Kansas City.

New York at Detroit was postponed by cold weather and the Washington - at - Cleveland doubleheader was postponed because of snow.

In Saturday battles, New York beat Detroit 11-4, Los Angeles overpowered Minnesota 12-3, Cleveland downed Washington 8-4, Baltimore blanked Boston 3-0 and Kansas City defeated Chicago 7-3.

Only rampaging rookie Rich Rollins bothered Los Angeles' Eli Grba Sunday. Rollins, who is hitting .533, accounted for all the Twins' runs with a three-run homer, his third, in the ninth inning.

Steve Bilko crashed two homers and Leon Wagner one for the Angels as they took a ball-game lead atop the standings. Grba allowed nine hits, but was supported by four double plays in winning his first game of the year.

Schwall allowed only three hits and struck out eight men in seven innings, but was plagued by lack of control, walking seven. Jack Brandt drove in three Orioles runs, two on a double in the first inning. That was all the margin Barber, on a weekend United States Army pass, needed. He spaced eight hits as the Red Sox left 12 men on base.

A bad-hop single by Carl Yastrzemski, driving in two runs in a four-run fourth inning, was the key to Boston's nightcap victory. Yaz also cut down the tying run with a perfect throw to the plate as Brandt tried to score from first on a base-loaded double by Charlie Lau in the seventh.

Spavy hitting Jim Landis ripped slugger in his first start of the season for the White Sox and led them past Kansas City. Landis, on the sidelines with a pulled groin muscle in the opening days, lashed two homers and drove in four runs, all that pitcher Joan Pizzaro needed. Pizzaro went the distance, spreading six hits, in registering his second triumph.

Share Weekend Victories

Pepsi's, Meaford Split

The Belleville Pepsis split a pair of decisions with the Meaford Chevies in a weekend road trip.

They defeated the Chevies 6-5 on Saturday night, then bowed to the Meaford club in Barrie on Sunday by a 7-3 score.

The teams are currently engaged in the OHA intermediate "A" semi-finals. The Pepsis took the opener here 10-3 and now lead the series two games to one.

The fourth game is slated for Memorial Arena here Wednesday night with a fired-up Meaford club confident they can square the series.

COLLINGWOOD — A three goal outburst by the Belleville Pepsis in the third period broke up a close-fought battle between the city squad and the Chevies from Meaford.

The Pepsis skated off with the 4-1 victory but not until they were pushed to the limit by the hard-fighting Chevies.

The teams battled nip-and-tuck in a scoreless first period and split a pair of goals in the second frame. The Pepsis opened up in the third to hit for three unanswered tallies and the victory.

Turk Barclay in the nets for the winners was outstanding, turning back Meaford drives time after time when the Chevy forwards raced in on him.

Jean Paul Lemirande squared the count a minute later, driving home a loose puck for an unassisted goal.

Both teams battled hard for the tie-breaker but fine defence work and top goalie efforts held both forts intact.

Ron Hull scored the winner after three minutes of play in the third period, firing home the rubber on a neat play with Gary Geyer and Keith MacDonald.

Midway through the period MacDonald scored the clincher, unassisted, and a half minute later the same player put the game out of Meaford reach with his second goal of the night on a play with Geyer and Fiori Goegan.

The game was a clean, well-fought affair with the officials handing out nine minor penalties, six to the Pepsis.

The line-up:

Belleville — Barclay, Goegan, Bothy, Jones, Baker, Taylor, Rowbotham, Doran, Geyer, Hull, MacDonald Crawford Lamirande, O'Meara.

Meaford —G. Henry, H. Meek, R. Wheeler, A. Smith, K. Lobsinger, B. Abbott, P. Bergeron, K. Parker, B. Graham, C. MacDonald, J. MacDonald, R. McCallum, R. Walmsley, H. Brainard, D. Fitter.

A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems

Boy Friend Steps Out

DEAR DORIS:—My boy friend is stepping out on me with a married woman and she knows he goes with me. She told a party she didn't like him. It was just something to do.

He knows I know he is doing it but he won't say so. He says he loves me. He takes me any place I want to go. What should I do? It hurts me when I get phone calls about him being out with her. —HURT VERY MUCH.

DEAR HURT.—Cheating is just no good, now or later.

Are you going steady or engaged? Then if you know for certain that he is going out with someone else, you should insist on loyalty or call it quits.

TO WORRIED, W. P.—She lies about you either because she is jealous of you, or is guilty of what she accuses you of. Don't let her trick you into revenge. Stick it out and be sure what you do is tops in behavior.

(Doris Clark, Master of Social Work, is a graduate of McGill, Toronto and McMaster universities, and has had broad experience in social work. If you would like help with your problems, write to her in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

HOW'S YOUR SPECTATOR SPORTSMANSHIP?

"Batter up!"

With these stirring words, many an imaginary umpire has called "foul" on a budding romance or what was once a happy marriage.

The reason is that many females gallantly troop out to the ball park with their men and then proceed to ruin the game for them with their chatter.

Even if it is about baseball, often a question is asked at precisely the moment a man wants to see a play instead of explain it. Or he's so intent on getting a hold-up his batter half that he misses a triple-play that puts his team smack up front in the pennant race.

Very often, though, the conversation is about how hard the seats are, or how hot the sun is and why does a man step to the plate swinging three bats when he knows darn well he's only able to use one.

If you accept an invitation to the ball park on a Sunday afternoon, you also accept the obligation to be a good spectator sport. The sun may blind you and the game may mystify you, but no carping, please. Even if you're with your husband, you're still a guest. As such, you should make every effort to enjoy yourself and make sure that your man does, too.

If you've never been to a ball game before, try to bone up on the rules of the game before-hand, so you won't have to question every little move made on the field. Nothing is more trying to a baseball fan than to have the little woman constantly tugging at his sleeve to explain why a player walked to first base when he didn't hit the ball at all and why the man who pitches has to go through such funny gyrations before throwing the ball.

The questions may honestly be asked to show you're interested and to get information but it does spoil a man's enjoyment of the game when he has to answer them just as an important play is in progress. If you must ask questions, wait until the shouting is over or until the inning is ended before giving your escort the third degree.

If you have a score card, consult it, instead of your husband or date, when you want to know who's at bat. The names of the players, their numbers and their positions are all listed in the folder. All the vital statistics about their records are listed in the folder. All the vital statistics about their records are listed as well. These may completely elude you, so if you want any clarification, be considerate and let your escort enter his own records for the inning before asking for a translation.

Actually, if you're observant, the easiest way to learn about baseball is to go to a game and sit back and enjoy it. You'll soon be able to gather from the talk around you what each play is about and whether it was a good hit and one, depending on who the rooters are for. By being tactful and well-mannered, it's possible to become a baseball buff your very first time up at bat.

'I Am Not Running Away' Says Clay Returning to Berlin to Wind Up Affairs

CP from Reuters-AP

BERLIN—Gen. Lucius Clay arrived back in West Berlin Sunday to wind up his affairs and told West Berliners "I am not running away."

Clay, due to return to the United States after seven months as President Kennedy's personal representative here, had returned from consultations in Washington amid a new wrinkle in West German-American relations—the controversial leak of details of U.S. working paper on Berlin.

In Bonn Sunday, a spokesman for the West German government said Kennedy administration is willing to move toward at least a limited, practical recognition of East Germany.

Four main proposals were set forth in the U.S. working paper submitted to allied governments.

WOULD GUARANTEE

The four proposals in brief:

1. The NATO and Warsaw military groups would issue non-aggression declarations coupled with guarantees against violations of present demarcation lines on the cold war frontiers. This would have the effect of freezing disputed German boundaries even without a German peace treaty.

2. The big nuclear powers would sign a treaty to prohibit the spread of nuclear weapons so far as they can. This would assure the Soviets that the United States had no intention of turning over nuclea, weapons to West Germany. But it would not rule out a nuclear capacity for NATO as an international defence organization.

3. The access routes from West Germany to West Berlin would be placed under direct operational control of an international authority essentially composed of the United States, Britain, France and Russia, but with roles for East and West Germans. The East Germans already control about 95 per cent of the traffic to West Berlin.

4. Creation of joint East-West German committees to work on such problems as eventual unification of Germany under free elections, economic relations, and practical problems raised by the sealing off of East Berlin.

Police Offered $1,000 Weekly For Protection

Board Hears About Entries in Police Diary

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario royal commission on crime was told Monday that a police informant relayed a bribe offer of $1,000, a week to the head of the provincial police anti-gambling squad.

OPP Staff Sgt. John Anderson said he did not name the informant or the gambling club in Niagara Falls that offered the bribe for protection. The offer was made in July, 1950, he said.

Sgt. Anderson said a Soop Hughes, known as an informant to two Toronto Township inspectors, in 1959 had wanted to help the anti-gambling squad get a conviction against a club in Cooksville, which is in that township.

"He said he would get inside the club and drop a marijuana cigarette in an ashtray and if the police found them on gambling, we could get them on a narcotics charge," the sergeant said.

The commissioner, Mr. Justice T. G. Roach, smiled and a few of the counsel chuckled. "I wouldn't put that down along with something like that," the sergeant added.

RENFREW BOARD MUST PAY BACK $80,000 GRANTS

Money Embezzled By Principal

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Roberts of Ontario confirmed Monday night that the Renfrew public school board has been ordered to pay back some $80,000 in provincial grants the government says were embezzled by a supervising principal.

The premier said the principal, Allen Dye, had been an employee of the board and he, as premier, felt the board had a responsibility for the principal's action.

Mr. Roberts was speaking in the legislature in reply to Leon Gaylor (PC—Renfrew North) who demanded a royal commission to look into the situation. The premier said it was not necessary for serious consideration to such a step.

Mr. Gaylor, in tracing the history of the case, said it was only then that the facts have been made public because the board had been unable to find the cheque requisition department of education to keep quiet.

Gay, a supervising principal of three public schools, was found guilty in 1960 of embezzling $25,000 from the board's capital accounts. He is serving three years in Kingston penitentiary.

Mr. Gaylor said one of the things Gay did was to falsify attendance records so that grants were paid for the education department on more pupils than actually attended the three schools.

READS LETTER

He read a letter from the department which assessed the over-payment at $79,977.59 and told the board it would have to pay back the money starting in 1961 by having 10 per cent of its annual grant held back.

Mr. Gaylor also read a letter from the board to the department in which it refused to pay and requested a royal commission to investigate the case. It said the board was shocked and amazed at the demand.

The letter said the board particularly objected to the department because ratepayers weren't aware of the situation. He said Inspector G. A. MacLeod of the department staff told the board to keep quiet about the situation because it was a departmental business. He said he also told the board not to lay a charge.

The board received a similar reprose from the late James External Affairs Minister Green denied a Liberal suggestion that there has been a change in the government stand against nuclear tests.

TUESDAY, April 17

The Commons heats an Morris-Goodall said she let her baby grow to her waist in her animal friends would accept her. Alone and unarmed, 26-year-old Jane without a Tarzan logged more than 1,000 hours of tangled jungle observation at Tanganyika's Gombe River Game Reserve.

"I've lived for animals ever since I can remember," she said, and decided she would never frightened or bored during the 14 months she would spend.

"I like apes—in some respects I like them better than men," Jane confessed.

"I've never been frightened of animals, even when leopards passed within 40 feet of me. But I kept still and they passed on. They won't attack unless they have been shot or think you intend to attack them."

Willow Blonde Spends Months In Jungle Studying Apes' Habits

LONDON (AP) — A willowy blonde with more time for monkeys than men told Monday how she spent 15 months in the jungle to study the habits of the apes.

Cambridge graduate Jane Morris-Goodall said she let her baby grow to her waist in her animal friends would accept her. Alone and unarmed, 26-year-old Jane without a Tarzan logged more than 1,000 hours of tangled jungle observation at Tanganyika's Gombe River Game Reserve.

"I've lived for animals ever since I can remember," she said, and decided she would never frightened or bored during the 14 months she would spend.

"I like apes—in some respects I like them better than men," Jane confessed.

"I've never been frightened of animals, even when leopards passed within 40 feet of me. But I kept still and they passed on. They won't attack unless they have been shot or think you intend to attack them."

Jane's trip was financed by two American organizations the Wilkie Foundation and the National Geographic Society.

Now Jane is back with a baby chimpanzee and planning a lifetime interest to scientists.

She told how she watched chimpanzees settle in the bushbuck, hare and bushpig—a "perfect fact" never before established.

The apes, she claims, are also makers of primitive tools She saw them pick dried stalks and leaves to poke through nests. They withdrew them a few minutes later to lick off the insects clinging to them.

"When a sick could not be found the chimps stripped off the leaves from a twig to make a fan," she said. "That was from a sunken vessel, salvaged primitive tool-making — a fascinating discovery because man is believed to have been the sole maker of tools."

After a brief taste of civilization, Jane plans to return to Africa and more animal watching.

EXCOMMUNICATED IN SEGREGATION FEUD — Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr., Jackson G. Ricau, centre, and Leander H. Perez Jr. of New Orleans, screen-mounted Monday, Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel for defying his parochial school segregation order and provoking others to religious disobedience. Mrs. Gaillot heads a small segregation group, Ricau is executive secretary of a Citizens Committee and Perez is political boss of neighboring St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes and the state's leading segregation voice. Excommunicated New Orleans Catholics To Continue Fight Against Integration

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Three Roman Catholics, excommunicated for opposing their archbishop's order to desegregate parochial schools, vowed today to continue their battle for separation of the races.

Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel involved the severe spiritual penalty Monday.

The directive from the 85-year - old prelate, who eight years ago called segregation "morally wrong," expelled Leander H. Perez Sr., longtime political czar of two small parishes (counties) adjoining New Orleans; Jackson G. Ricau, an executive of a pro-segregation citizens council; and Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr., Bible-quoting segregationist who once picketed the archbishop's residence.

The excommunication cuts off the three segregationists from the sacraments of the church. They may attend mass and confess, but cannot receive communion.

Perez, 71, a fiery lawyer and politician, is the most outspoken opponent of integration. He has been quoted as saying he is "simply a move to intimidate or terrorize the parents of pathetical school children and that it would not work.

Ricau, onetime real estate dealer who is executive secretary of the South Louisiana Citizens Council, has considered it "an incredible injustice."

WILL CONTINUE FIGHT

"I intend to continue the fight for racial segregation as I have done in the past, serving God and begging his help and protection.

Mrs. Gaillot, 41, mother of two children in Catholic schools, commented: "It is the writings of the church and in the Bible we must obey God rather than man. The church has definitely made a serious mistake in excommunicating me because of accusations which are false."

The excommunication order said the three had disregarded the archbishop's earlier warning against any action that would "provoke our devoted people to disobedience or rebellion against the church."

However, Rummel reserved to himself any appeal. Earlier Mgr. Egide Vagnozzi, apostolic delegate to the United States, indicated he would not pass such appeals on to the Vatican or the Holy Father.

That means the pope never will be officially notified of the action.

Nevertheless, Mrs. Gaillot, who heads the small segregationist group, Save Our Nation Incorporated, said she intends to communicate with Pope John by either letter or telegram.

Perez, who is on the with the archbishop of the segregation question, said he had an "unswerving responsibility to protect our children against the immoral curse of forced racial integration."

"I am a lifelong Catholic and will continue to be so, regardless of communistic infiltration and the influence of the Knights of Columbus, Council of Christians and Jews planned.

Investment Man Expresses Concern Over Currency

TORONTO (CP)—From other corner of Toronto's financial world Monday came words of appropriate on the eve of a federal general election.

"Economic and financial crunchis a Gresham's law of politicians, to wit that people who would otherwise spend their money without those who would make it hard," it said.

The words were spoken to the royal commission on banking and finance by A. H. Cameron, a jobber in the government bond market, a man probably little known to the general public but who is widely known and esteemed in the financial field.

Mr. Cameron expressed deep concern over debasement in Canada's currency. He said this country now is suffering from maladjustments in its financial system.

Part of this he blamed on shortcomings revealed in "conflicts of interest within the central bank and in the government"—and it was on this complaint that he was questioned by the seven commissioners for about three hours.

However, Mr. Cameron said these problems are not the real cause of "the disease."

"The cause, I believe, is the tendency of governments to encroach on our way of life," Robin Hood and Santa Claus, to better the money supply, and to stifle the free market system when it serves them poorly by party-built, ad hoc, piecemeal attempts to direct investment, with unexpected consequences in other areas."

In this sense Mr. Cameron attached much of the fault to the theory that full employment can be achieved by interfering with the monetary system and through large government spending.

". . . It has become a political cult to create and maintain office it is necessary to increase public spending, taking a larger and larger share of gross national product through taxation and more through watering the money supply), distributing more and more to the voters at large."

Capt. Robert Simmons said the spar measured about 10 feet in circumference at the base. He described it as extremely old.

Talks on Berlin Go Well Despite Bonn News Leak

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. State Secretary Rusk was reported to be moderately satisfied today after his talk on Berlin with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin that was conducted in English without interpreters.

It also was understood that Rusk still briefs U.S. allies in his conversation with Dobrynin Monday.

This policy of consulting with U.S. allies on Berlin move was almost wrecked during the weekend by the news leak from Bonn about U.S. proposals for a new round of Berlin discussions.

Officials here said the leak seriously jeopardized the Rusk-Dobrynin talks and lowered U.S. confidence in the West Germans.

Both Rusk and Dobrynin described Monday's session as "businesslike" and officials believe the talks will be resumed shortly, probably after Easter.

WHAT TALK FURTHER

Officials said Rusk and Dobrynin tentatively have agreed to a further fourth round of exploratory talks in Washington.

Officials here feel that a fresh start with a new participant on the Soviet side and in a different locale might create a more favorable atmosphere to break the deadlock over Berlin.

The first round was between Rusk and Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, in New York last fall. It was followed by conferences in Moscow between Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson. A third round took place in Geneva last month, also between Rusk and Dobrynin.

PEARSON BEGINS BUDGET DEBATE ON MONEY BILL

Election Date May Be Far Off

OTTAWA (CP)—Here it is April 17 and the Commons hasn't yet approved all federal expenditures for the fiscal year which ended March 31 — 17 days ago.

There's still a tidy sum of $130,418,981 gathered together in a single money bill which remains to get parliamentary approval.

Opposition Leader Pearson seized on this bill just before the House, adjourned Monday night to launch a scattergrotshe in what he himself has described as the "electoral war of nerves."

By opening a debate on the bill, which under normal circumstances would be a routine mention because the expenditures have already been approved piecemeal, Mr. Pearson in effect began a budget debate.

This in turn might force Prime Minister Diefenbaker—though all indications are that he doesn't need any forcing—into a declaration that Parliament will be adjourned Wednesday or Thursday for an Easter recess or dissolved for a general election.

The debate continues today when the Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. EST.

NEEDS FOR SAVING

The government needs that $130,418,981 to pay some bills, but it won't get it quickly if the opposition pursues the money bill debate begun by Mr. Pearson.

In any case, this debate won't be resumed at once. Scheduled for today was discussion on various government estimates of legislation.

Mr. Pearson said Mr. Diefenbaker has been playing a "cat - and - mouse game" with Parliament over the election date and that the country has been "hoodwinked" by the performance of the prime minister and some of his cabinet colleagues.

Return To Land Call Issued To China's Millions

Reds Remain Dilatent But Admit Calamities

PEKING (Reuters)—Premier Chou En-lai has issued a "back to the land" call to increase food production of food and daily necessities for Red China's millions, it was learned Monday.

Chou's speech to the Chinese National People's Congress (parliament) at the opening of the three-week congress session was published in an official communique at a session ended Monday.

No reporters or foreign observers were allowed to attend any of the congress meetings and the communique was the first extensive report of any of the proceedings.

Chou claimed that thanks to tremendous national efforts in overcoming natural calamities, the country's economic situation has now taken a turn for the better.

He said Communist China has unswervingly" developed relations of friendship and co-operation with Russia and other socialist countries, and struggled against United States policies and urged efforts to "isolate U.S. imperialism to the utmost extent."

RACKED BY DEBUTIES

The communique did not, as in previous years, give any figures for industrial output and mentioned no targets for the current year. But it said that the 1958 "great leap forward" endorsed Chou's "policy of adjustment" and passed a report on government work.

China strove for peaceful coexistence with countries having different social systems, "opposed the imperialist policies of aggression and war and supported the revolutionary struggles of the oppressed nations and oppressed peoples against imperialism and colonialism, Chou said.

He said that under China's second five-year plan, which began in 1958, a big leap forward had taken place in the economic sphere and there had brought tremendous achievements and laid a preliminary foundation for the building of a system of independent, complete and modern national economy.

But Chinas had suffered from serious natural calamities for three consecutive years from 1959 to 1961 and "considerable difficulties had followed."

Chou said the armed forces must be strengthened. The policy of freedom of religious belief must also be carried out thoroughly, Chou said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist Chinese leadership has openly acknowledged what was generally known: That it jumped too far too fast and fell on its face.

But there is no comfort for the West in this. There is not even a small sign the Communists are weakened or endangered.

In Premier Chou En-lai's report of calamities there is no whine for pity. Instead, it seems clear the Chinese Communists will press the people's noses to the grindstone even harder.

If the West or Russia expected three years of disaster to cripple Red China's attitude toward either of them, they guessed wrong. The Red Chinese still are defiant, still belligerent, still unbending.

Chou in a report to the second session of the National People's Congress admitted that Red China has suffered both natural calamities and a messed-up economy in the last three years.

IMPOSTED WHEAT.

The Chinese mainland undertook seven bumper harvests in recent years and had to import wheat from Russia, Canada, France and Australia—but Chou indicated this means the Chinese have not even learned to eat.

The peoples' communes, setup under Chou, Mao Tse-tung and other Red Chinese leaders, have been severely criticized in the West as a failure.

That they demoralized Chinese family life, had destroyed the Chinese under the name of communism we harsher peasantry than they ever had had, and that Mao's best friends in Asia distrusted them themselves.

There are contradictions in Chou's report that the leadership thinks it may have made some mistakes in handling the communes. But the report shows no thought of abandoning them, just tinkering with them.

A resolution approved by the congress suggests that there will be some changes in the communes but the emphasis will be on even greater effort to produce food to meet China's needs.

Some concessions may be made to plots of land for some of the necessities of living. For example:

SIZE INCREASE

The resolution, involving a 13-point program, spoke of rational arrangements for production in light and heavy industry so that an increase of daily necessities can be realized.

Yet, almost immediately after setting out these objectives, calls for getting a lot of people out of the cities and back to farms is heard in Peking.

But there was no sign of ever a big exodus of the Chinese foreign policy, its movement, outlined in December, was still on at the West — the encouragement Amer i c a n "imperialists."

This has been the unvarying line of the Reds — pressure through the years, and with increasing pain to the Russians who have been unable to control his new line of "peaceful coexistence."

Anyone who remembers the line will and discipline of the Chinese Communists throughout the time Chiang Kai-shek drove them into isolation in China's northwest corner in the 1920s and the time they returned in 1949 to drive Chiang Kai-shek completely out of China, could not realistically have expected any softening just because they ran into some set backs while trying too hard.

Cutter, Tanker Collide in Ice

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A Canadian oil tanker and a Coast Guard Cutter collided in an icy field off Buffalo Harbor Monday night but only minor damage was reported.

The cutter Ojibwa was trying to clear a path into the ice-blocked port for the tanker when the tanker suddenly broke free of the ice and the ship crashed together, the coast guard said. The tanker, the Oil Transport, sustained a 10-inch across her bow above the water line.

There were no injuries to either crew and the bow damage was not dangerous, the coast guard said. The cutter is slightly dented in the stern of the Ojibwa.

The coast guard said the cutter planned to turn the tanker around and head it toward Port Colborne, Ont.

It was not known where the tanker came from.

The Ojibwa Sunday cleared a path for the earlier Canadian Oil of Buffalo Harbor. The oil transport would have been the first lake ship to enter the ice-laden port this year.

Dundas St. West Residents Win Fight, By-law Raising Speed Limit Is Defeated

Residents of Dundas Street, west have won their point in retaining the present limit of 30 per hour speed limit on the street between Bridge St. across to the city, but at the same time council has ignored recommendations of a $14,000 traffic survey completed two years ago.

Yesterday council defeated third reading of a by-law which would have increased vehicular speeds on highway arterial roads leading into the city.

The city traffic survey, done by a firm of Toronto consultants, recommended that the speed limits on Dundas Street west, Dundas Street East, North Front Street and Cannifton Road be increased.

The by-law was given two readings last year but with strong objection by Avondale residents and also by two members of council, third reading of the by-law was held up until after a sidewalk was provided in the Dundas Street area.

The defeated by-law was up for third and final reading but before it could be brought in Councillor Jack Ellis and Robert Temple introduced a recommendation to delete reference to Dundas Street West from the by-law.

CLAIMED DANGEROUS

They re-iterated previous claims that increasing the speed limit on this street would be dangerous, especially to children.

Alderman William Jarvis said council would not even consider increasing the speed limit on streets like Dundas in the older sections of the city.

And Alderman Les Digby also jumped on the band wagon declaring that what was good for West Dundas Street would also be good for Cannifton Road and North Front Street. He pointed out that these two streets also be deleted from by-law.

Alderman Digby's amendment was lost, but the recommendation to delete Dundas Street West from the by-law was carried.

However, when the by-law came up for its third reading, Alderman Jack Ireland moved to defeat the by-law in its entirety. This, he said would allow a special recommendation to be brought in later covering only the Dundas road in the east end of the city.

SPENT $14,000 —

Alderman Jack Ireland as chairman of the city council traffic committee, was the only councillor to speak in favor of the by-law.

He pointed out that $14,000 had been paid for a traffic study out of which had come recommendations for increasing the speed limit on arterial roads.

He said motorists were already driving at this speed per hour on Dundas Street West, in Councillor Jack Ellis' area, and Don Whalen objected to increasing the speed limit on Dundas Street West. Others noted that in some areas there were no sidewalks and that children had to walk on the roadway.

Council voted 11-3 to delete Dundas Street West from the by-law and third reading of the same morgin to defeat the by-law in its entirety.

Voting to defeat the by-law were: Acting Mayor Bell, Charles Allen, Aldermen Digby Elliott, Ellis, Harrison, Jarvis, Lorrigo, Raycroft, Temple and Whalen. Opposing the by-law were Aldermen Bailey, Ireland and Wishart.

No Direct Access to 401 At Sidney Street Planned

The question of additional access to the highway 401 from Sidney Street is a closed issue as far as the Ontario Department of Highways is concerned.

The answer is that there will be an overpass as is now planned but no direct access to the four-lane highway at Sidney Street will be provided and there is not likely to be a service road paralleling the highway.

This has been made clear by Ontario Highways Minister W. A. Goodfellow in a letter to W. E. Sandercock, M.P.P. for Hastings West, on answer to a council request for additional access to 401 at the Sidney Street crossing.

The letter explained that Sidney Street did not carry sufficient volume of traffic to warrant access to 401. And also the distance from the 401 all the way to Sidney Street was but three quarters of a mile and this distance would not permit the necessary movement of traffic on and off the highway without danger of accident.

Also Mr. Goodfellow stated the province did not feel obligated to construct an additional service road since no direct access to 401 ever existed in the area, the highway would not be beneficial.

A copy of the letter to Mr. Sandercock was submitted for his reading at yesterday's meeting of city council. The letter was referred to the public works committee.

Preparations for a construction start are now being made for the overpass at Sidney Street. Reinforcing steel has been on the site for several weeks and trees are now being removed to allow construction of the ramps and overpass structure.

City Junior 'Lifter' Breaks Four Records

John Lewis, of the Apollo Barbell Club of Belleville, broke four Canadian records while competing in the junior section of the combined Ontario Interlake-Canadian Junior weightlifting tournament in Woodstock.

John Lewis, said brother Joe took part in the Canadian Junior competitions while a number of other lifters competed in the intermediate classes.

In the bronze Dominion records with a 280-pound press, a 270-pound snatch and a 330-pound clear and jerk for a grand total of 880 pounds.

Move Bridge St. Barriers To Allow Two-Way Traffic

City council yesterday voted a partial easing of the traffic block which has existed along Bridge Street between Front and Pinnacle streets since mid-January.

Council voted to move back Bridge Street barricades to within eight feet of the south curb and allow one two-way vehicular traffic to be executed during the burned-out Ben Sefa block.

The decision came near the end of yesterday's council meeting, after Alderman George Wishart asked whether there was any likelihood of early action in clearing up the debris.

Acting Mayor Ben Corke replied that action "within ten days" had been promised on several occasions. He said he was hoping the court proceedings being taken by Belleville lawyer Ed Isgar would result in more prompt action.

Alderman Jack Ellis brought in the motion by move back the barricades to allow two-way traffic to be resumed.

"I too am fed up with the continual delays. There has been no move for four weeks," he said.

Alderman Ellis' motion made no mention of parking being allowed on the south side of Bridge Street, or of pedestrian traffic being allowed.

Ban Parking on North Side Of Victoria to Herchimer

City council yesterday approved a recommendation calling for banning of parking on the north side of Victoria Street from Church Street to Herchimer Avenue, and at the same time ruled out introduction of another by-law calling for no parking on the west side of Everett Street.

Alderman Jack Ireland said the parking ban on Victoria Street was being introduced at the request of the police department, which had shown a need for the restriction in traffic along the artery.

At the same time traffic accidents on Victoria had increased by the same percentage, he said.

The parking ban was being sought for safety reasons, as in many areas on the south side there was not room for a line of traffic as well as parking on both sides of the street.

But Alderman Robert Temple declared the move a "retrograde step" stating that he personally never had any difficulty in travelling Victoria from his home to his office.

"I realize there are traffic difficulties but they are not that difficult", he said. "We cannot continue to take parking off streets."

The by-law calling for no parking on the south side of Everett was tabled for six months at the council meeting two weeks ago but this evening was asked yesterday by the traffic committee.

Alderman Ireland said only one block on Everett Street between Catharine and Hillcrest streets would be affecting as in certain areas the no parking edict was already in effect.

Other aldermen however felt action on the south side of Everett street should be retained as Cedar street would shortly be the scene of the installation of a sanitary sewer. The by-law was defeated by a narrow margin.

Council Votes To Expropriate Certain Lands

Despite opposition from one aldermen who claimed he objected to the city paying "one red cent" for land for the widening of Bridge Street owned by Stanley Park Ltd., sub-dividers, council yesterday voted to proceed with expropriation proceedings.

Object of the purchase would be to allow extension of service Bridge Street to the Haig sidehood and to a new subdivision to the area.

"I strongly object to the city paying one red cent for this 66-foot road allowance," declared Alderman Les Digby. "The only people that are interested are the sub-dividers. The city does not need to enter the matter at all."

The motion to expropriate the one-foot reserve was part of a recommendation of a committee of the whole held earlier in the week. The motion was carried on a standing of by-law 7335 authorizing construction of a watermain on Bridge Street East and the Haig Sidetoad.

Alderman Jack Ellis said he couldn't see rescinding the by-law to the detriment of residents on the Haig Sidetoad, several of whom had been left without water since their wells went dry.

The recommendation was accordingly divided with council defeating that part calling for rescinding of the by-law.

No Immediate Action on Walks To Be Taken

City council will take no immediate action with respect to assuming 20 per cent of the cost of sidewalks proposed for construction on Bridge Street, East, between Herchimer and Holloway Ave.

Council is proposing to build the walk with the cost to be paid under local improvements. Total cost is estimated at $18,753 with the city's share of the local improvement cost estimated at $3,750. Property owners are objecting to the suggested division of costs. The city proposes a five-foot walk instead of the customary four-foot walk and the Ontario Municipal Board has suggested the city assume the cost of the additional foot or 20 per cent.

Decision on the matter was deferred after several councillors voiced alarm over whether the city assuming the 20 per cent cost might establish a precedent for other walks in the area.

Decision was deferred to allow a more thorough investigation of the matter.

'You Always Had a Great Touch' Mae West Tells Her Old Pianist

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mae West made a surprise visit Monday night to a Hollywood Club sing testimonial and wiggled off the show.

She was the only woman among 500 men, including some of the top comics and songwriters, who gathered to pay tribute tribute to Harry Richman at a show business event.

Near the end of the show, Mae, with her famous strut, strolled onto the platform and gently glanced over the house.

"I like the odds," she quipped. "Well by small comparison."

"I don't remember, Harry, if I discovered you or you discovered me, but I do remember you had a great touch."

That with a swirl of her hips and a typical Westian innuendo, she added:

"Even with a piano."

Then Mae, who admits to 68, but looks years younger, wiggled off to the cheers and wolf whistles — even from some too young to remember.

Richman appeals the proved, known no age limit if properly packaged.

Her surprise appearance, tradition breaking at Friar testimonial dinners, took Richman that he forgot to sing when his turn came.

"Mae always was a tough act to follow," said Richman. "But now that she's over, Richman sat down at a piano and belted out Sunny Side of the Street, a song he first introduced on Broadway.

Among the celebrities who paid homage to Richman were George Jessel, George Burns, Bob Hope, Jimmy Durante, Jack Oakie and James Mason.

Council Defers Decision On Air Conditioning Grant

TRENTON—Trenton council decided last night to defer decision on a request that the town contribute to the cost of an air conditioning unit for the Hastings County Court House.

Cost of the unit would be $30,000. According to reports, the Belleville city treasurer has indicated that it is disinterested in contributing anything to the overall cost.

"We sit in a Turkish bath on council chambers in the summer," said Councillor Rose Ross. "Charity begins at home."

However, council's finance committee went into the matter.

One thing in connection with the county court house which can't be deferred — or ignored — is the matter of Trenton's share of the overall construction costs which is based on population, has been "upped" since the latest census figure of the town's population was greater than anticipated. On the same basis the county's contribution will be increased also, while Belleville's share has been lowered.

An invitation from the Hastings Historical Society for the mayor and council to visit the museum, located in the old court house in Belleville, may be accepted. Any implied request that the town repeat its 500 donation to the society (500 was given in 1961), will be ignored. On request, it it was implied, came in after budget estimates had been set up for the year.

WELFARE ADVISORS—

To be appointed is a representative from Trenton Legion Branch 110.

WOULD ALTER ROAD

Council showed disinterest in a request for approval of Project Planning Associates of Toronto, that the route of Highway 33 be changed to run along the bay, through the Consumers Mill property and so on, up Division Street, Front Street and Weter Street, looping back onto the river road and proceeding to Highway 401.

Councillor Todd opined that there was lots of time to consider the plan and a like plan to change the route of the hook-up of Highway 401 with Sidney Street and so on down Dixon Drive, across the river, over a new bridge, located where there the present CNR bridge is now, to Highway 33.

"We can't pay for any part of it now", said Councillor Todd.

One thing was made clear. The railway would not be "removed". Of course, this matter will be detailed study and discussion with the railway.

At early meeting between Council, the planning board, Project Planning Associates, consultants A. D. Margison and Associates, (who favor another plan), the Trenton Harbour committee and Department of Highways officials will be sought. Meantime, Project Planners will be asked to submit their report. Highway 33 and the east-side Highway 401 linking, is Margison "misunderstanding" and the Department of Highways will also be made aware of the plan.

Councillor Burtt asked for and received council's blessing to complete the renovation to the police station and provide some interior and exterior work to the police station and the municipal complex.

Councillor Burtt will also ask the public utilities to install stronger lighting on North Murray Street.

GIVE 24 OVERTIME

Councillor Burtt also commended the members of the Trenton Firefighters' Association, Local 1232, for refinishing their fire department (approximately $1,700) "due to the financial situation of the town."

A two-way radio system, between fire halls and the fire chief's car and the fire hall, cannot be provided this year, but Jeff Bowen, fire chief, asked for the attention of the 1963 council.

Councillor Jim Duncan, the chairman of public works, tabled a lengthy report, the result, of which, council spent $600 last year. Council provided the seller give the town a new machine gravelling unit; repairs to the dump truck; permitting the parks' board to plant trees on "Island" at the corner of Division and Front Streets, and Dundas St. and Weeks Ave.

Town engineer Eric Aldersey will be asked to bring in a report on storm sewer requirements for the Fairmont Park area. Mr. Aldersey will also be asked to pass judgment about a "dry well" system of drainage in Stanley Park to be used in lieu of storm sewers. In the future, all diversion will be asked to provide storm sewers, sanitary sewers, curbs, and hard-surfaced roads. Town planning engineers Gore & Storie will be asked to study the sweeping tile drainage of the Elmwood Acres area.

The Elmwood Acres development will be given right months in which to "tidy up" all road grading and sewer repair in the sub-division and this "tidying up" will be extended if the work is not completed to the town's satisfaction by December 31, 1962.

BAN PRIVATE SEWERS

Approval of sewer lines in the vicinity of a private sewer, installed by a Mr. Cherry on Bell Boulevard, will be withheld by book order, this sewer by payment of the $700 connection charges, in future no private sewer mains will be authorized by council.

The engineer was authorized to proceed with the preliminary work on the installation of storm sewers on Sidney Street, which will be done in 1962 and also with the installation of a sanitary sewer by the Tatham Company.

North Murray Street residents will have requested that a sanitary sewer under local improvement be installed. It will be told that the drainage problems of the area will make the sewer impossible. Property holder "Legend their especial" that they would raise between $40 a year to $210 a year, according to the frontage of the lot to be served, and the overall area taken in by the proposed sewer. The amount would have to be paid each year for ten year, on top of other taxes.

Council considered that it had been duly advised and was considered a notice from the Trenton Board of Parks Management that the board would employ a consultant to inspect drainage facilities in the Quinte Street two years ago.

Consideration will be given to repairing the sidewalk in front of Canterbury Hall, the Anglican manse and Wesley United Church Company show room on Eight Street, on the owners have requested action.

The town engineer has been authorized to secure additional feet of curb forms, to enable completion of more than about 150 feet of curb in a day. The department now has 400 feet of curb forms. Cost of the additional forms would be close to $2,500.

May Close Town Bridge Three Days Next Week

TRENTON — Trenton council, well aware of the need for a second bridge across the Trent, and with Engineer Eric Alderey last night that the department of highways had requested that the town's knee bridge be shut down to facilitate traffic flow on the causeway, the department, according to Alderey, would then "drive piles" at the west end of the bridge.

Closing days would be Tuesday, Wednesday and possibly Thursday, April 24, 25 and 26 of next week and the bridge would be closed off from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Meantime," said the engineer, "the Tatham Company; engaged in laying a trunk sewer up Front Street, had wanted to start work in front of the west end of the bridge next week but Tatham plans to dig a pilot hole in the sidewalk and would do one end of the bridge at a time, so that pedestrians may cross the bridge."

A suggestion from the mayor that the department, the town and Tatham could work at the same time, brought the comment from the engineer that in that case, "nothing could move across the bridge from either side."

Councillor Burtt asked that the department officials be asked to contact Tatham and work out an agreement with the contractors. "Highway officials will be sought. Meantime, Project Planners will be asked to submit their report. Highway 33 and the east-side Highway 401 linking, is Margison "misunderstanding" and the Department of Highways will also be made aware of the plan.

TRENTON—Trenton council voted last night, three to two, to rescind by-law passed by the town early this year, which would allow "lying south of Cedar Crest Drive and Bayshore Drive Ave. South would have been rezoned to permit the erection of multiple housing units, termed "multiples."

Voting to rescind the by-law were Councillors Duncan, McDonald and Todd, against the move were Councillors Burtt and Graham. Councillor Worrell was absent from the meeting.

Now, a by-law to rescind the former by-law will be prepared and go through a first, second and third reading.

A certain amount of confusion surrounded the third reading, and subsequent passing of the original by-law, allowing for the re-zoning. When the by-law received a third reading two weeks ago, Councillors Duncan, McDonald, Ross Burtt and Claude Graham were present. Councillor Duncan McDonald voted against. Councillor Burtt voted for the first and second reading but was absent when the by-law received the third reading, which took place close to 11:30 p.m. Councillor Lloyd Worrell was absent from the meeting.

At the meeting during the passing of the by-law, Councillor Duncan, who had arrived late at the meeting, moved that the night before, indicated that he had been under the impression that the by-law was being read for the second time only when he voted on the first reading. (Last night, Councillor McDonald admitted that he too had thought that the by-law was being read for a second time only when he voted on the third reading).

Later, town solicitor Roderick Campbell said that in spite of the confusion, in his opinion the by-law had been properly passed and that council could now proceed with the existing by-law or rescind it and start anew.

EXPRESS OPINION

Last night, the motion to rescind the by-law was introduced by Councillor Duncan and seconded by Councillor Todd.

On a polled vote, each councillor was asked to express his opinion on the matter of concrete development.

Councillor McDonald said that he had considered the development proposed and can find no objection to it. Councillor Todd said that he had considered the development very good and can find no objection to it. Councillor Duncan expressed the opinion that there must be some other locality in town which could be developed and built without the confusion surrounding the present proposal.

Councillor Burtt questioned the motives of the people who had signed the petition to the societies and said that council and the town board would have their hands into real estate problems.

Councillor Graham said that as far as he could see, certain members of council and the residents of Coulter Crescent were the only ones in town against the development and that he felt the development was "something the town had wanted for a long time".

Before calling for the final vote on the by-law, Councillor McDonald asked the councillors to consider the matter, on the re-zoning proposal only and to disregard such issues as tax return, educational problems and sewer facilities.

Referring in a letter from the Trenton Board of Education, (read at last night's meeting) to which the board expressed the opinion that the development could become a "detriment to the town's economy," the mayor pointed out that last year, the board had been "provoked" at council because it would not raise $20,000 for a swimming pool in the new addition to the high school.

Mayor MacDonald said that councillors should consider that the municipalities would give the town assessment values totalling $370,000 whereas single family dwellings in the same spot would return a $75,000 assessment.

The mayor said that while the opinion of Coulter Crescent residents should be respected, the attitude of the Downs-Coulter ratepayers across the road from the proposed development, as property residents, the Parks Board ("that's the only boards in town that hasn't asked for more at us," said the mayor), and Project Planners should be considered.

The mayor said that while sewers are adequate to handle the proposed development, they would also be plugged near Sackville.

He said, "It would seem by various reports that the stand of the planners on this matter is equivocal. The decision reached by the board was that the development was desirable and good; that the Dufferin Ave. area was suitable for such a development; that an opinion from the Parks Association and the residents in the vicinity should be obtained."

Savage Storm Of Heavy Snow Hits Maritimes

HALIFAX (CP) — Maritimers were digging out of snow again today as winter refused to die.

A savage storm, the second in four days, hit the northern Maritime Monday with heavy snow and 60-mile - an - hour winds. The storm delivered from five cents to 12 inches of snow to communications.

Telephone and telegraph lines were flattened. Highways were blocked and trains and planes delayed. Airline flights were cancelled. The storm caught some areas, particularly Prince Edward Island, by surprise. Most snow-removal equipment had been dismantled in Prince Edward Island.

Two major fires broke out at the height of the storm. Mrs. Lucy Marlene, 45, and Mrs. Margaret Rolichaud, 27, and Kevin Dalton, 27, of Harbor Grace, Nfld., died in a basement fire in Sydney, N.S. A supermarket in Saint John, N.B., was destroyed by fire and loss was estimated at around $200,000.

Police appealed to motorists to stay off highways in northern Nova Scotia and Northern New Brunswick. Some roads were not expected to be cleared until Wednesday. The main highway link between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick was plugged near Sackville.

Argues Sub-Dividers Should Pay Part of Existing Services' Cost

Local housing sub-dividers should be required to pay a share of the cost of services when they develop property fronting streets where services are already established.

This is the feeling of Alderman Stuart Robb who contends that if they are not required to pay the city is losing money.

The contention was heard at yesterday's regular meeting of city council during discussion on a by-law authorizing the execution of a sub-divider's agreement with Charles W. Lambert Ltd., and DeMille Construction.

Alderman Robb asked that the by-law be held up for two weeks to allow further investigation by the city manager. He said that under the terms of the agreement it looked as though the sub-divider was getting off scot free and suggested that he should rebate a share of the services given to the city.

Alderman Leo Digby noted there was nothing in the Act which empowered the city to charge for services already installed although he agreed there should be some provision for the sub-divider to provide sidewalks.

On the other hand Alderman Don Whalen said holding up of the by-law would be unfair to the sub-divider who had made extensive plans for an early start on construction. He suggested if there had been any thought of holding up the by-law on principle should have been advised to allow him to attend council to present their case.

On a recorded vote the by-law was carried by a 10-4 margin with Aldermen Bailey, Digby, Harrison and Robb dissenting.

Robarts Shows His Mettle

Premier John Robarts is a man of courage. He has announced changes in Ontario's liquor laws.

In all probability, he will find that he has displeased more voters than he has pleased by these changes. Some will feel that the existing laws should not be liberalised. Others will feel that the liberalization does not go far enough. In the nature of things, comparatively few people will feel that he has struck precisely the right balance between the extremes of uncontrolled sale of alcoholic beverages and complete prohibition.

It would have been simple for Mr. Robarts to avoid the issue. But he has acted. Many another man, in Mr. Robarts' circumstances, just considering his future in his own party followers, would have artfully dodged the liquor issue for another year or so, at the least.

None of this is to suggest that action has some before it is due. It was, in fact, many years overdue. The regulations bore little relationship to the existing attitude of a great number of Canadians to the use of alcoholic beverages, an attitude which had progressively modified by the fact that so many Ontario natives served overseas, in lands where beer and wine rank as common table beverages, and that so many present residents of the provinces are recent immigrants from these overseas lands.

Most of the changes which the Premier has announced appear to be sensible. A 1 a.m. closing hour for cocktail bars should make it possible to do away with the ridiculous "cracker-ers and cheese meals" served in dining lounges, which previously stayed open longer. On the other hand, requiring public houses and lounges to make food snacks available for purchase by their customers is certainly a step in the right direction. Here in Belleville several of the beverage rooms have instituted this requirement for many months past.

If there is any glaring failure to make possible services in keeping with the demand, it is this apparent overlooking of the need to make it simple for good restaurants to serve wine with meals.

However, one note of caution is advisable. The way in which liquor laws work often depends more on the manner in which these regulations are interpreted and enforced than on their actual wording. Any attempts made to circumvent the new regulations should be severely dealt with by the law enforcement agencies.

One Man's Nuclear War

Brig. M. E. Clarke told a Peterborough service club the other day that there is no necessity for fallout shelters in a city like Peterborough. Brig. Clarke is commanding officer of the 13th militia group, which has its headquarters in Peterborough.

The view that there is little or nothing to be gained by residents of cities like Peterborough or Belleville building fallout shelters is not new —but we doubt whether any of the earlier opponents of shelters matched Brig. Clarke's reasons.

Brig. Clarke said fallout shelters would not be necessary in Peterborough, since that city would not be a major target in a nuclear war.

Is Brig. Clarke suggesting that fallout shelters are necessary in major target areas? When did they start producing hydrogen bombs which can be hauled by a house basement?

"So long as people understand what fallout is and how they can protect themselves from its effects they will be safe," Brig. Clarke is quoted.

We know that knowledge was a powerful weapon, but we had no idea that merely knowing how to run oneself made one safe from fall-out. We thought that it was necessary to take some positive steps, that these steps could not be completed between the time the bomb fell and fallout spread to the area downwind of the target and that fallout shelters were the means by which this protection was provided.

Any similarity between Brig. Clarke's conception of nuclear war and that previously provided the public by statements from noted physicists would be as difficult to discover as a white mouse which meows at the moon.

Mirth is like a flash of lightning, that breaks through a gloom of clouds, and glitters for a moment; cheerfulness keeps up a kind of daylight in the mind, and fills it with a steady and perpetual serenity.—Joseph Addison.

Down-Grading of PM Said Opposition Policy

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — From the very beginning of their political misfortunes, which became serious with the "Battle of the Pipeline," and mortal in the 1957 election campaign, the Liberals have blamed Prime Minister Diefenbaker for their fall from public grace.

He and his party toppled them after 22 years of power and glory, they said, and quite frequently.

They were very nearly correct, too, for never before in Canadian political history had two Federal elections in succession, the '57 and '58 votes, been quite such a one-man political revolution.

The man whom, for years, they had been calling "Fighting John Diefenbaker" had bolo, and quite a bit of it — but so, too, did John Bracken and George Drew, and they had never managed to even come close to victory.

So, very obviously, to both the Liberals, and the Conservatives, John Diefenbaker has been the bugaboo David.

There was nothing the Liberals could do about it after the election.

In the '57 campaign, they hadn't bothered with any personal attacks against him, because they knew that he was going to win, and it just wasn't worth the trouble.

DIFFERENT NOW

Then came last year, by the time the 58 campaign came, they found that both time and the Prime Minister had run out on them . . . but John Diefenbaker as a person, was not out of political reach and any personal attack on him could be made only at the public's expense, in addition and even resentment.

But now, two years later, things are different.

The Opposition thinks the Prime Minister can now be attacked in reach and may be attacked almost with public impunity.

As the one man who did them in, they are out to discredit and perhaps even destroy him.

Their brainstrusters have told them that if they can bring him down, the Conservatives will simply collapse.

And from they could be right, if only in the sense that there is nobody in the Cabinet who would step into the same kind of dynamic leadership.

There, also, are people in a couple who could provide something approaching it, perhaps Trade Minister Gordon Churchill or Minister Walker, but being essentially Diefenbaker men, they wouldn't.

Ever since the Opposition, months back, began working its deadly earnest on campaign plans, the Liberals have been to undermine the prestige and personal popularity of the Prime Minister.

At the outset, just after the last session of Parliament opened, they attempted the direct approach to the problem.

"HEAD INSTRUCTIONS"

An Opposition MP attacked the PM in the Commons, smearing him with various things, as a fruitless search for "that needle of hate truth."

There were other such savage assaults on the character of the Prime Minister, and then the Opposition discovered that the public, rather than the PM, was offended.

So the campaign has been toned down a whisper.

Bad jokes — the same stale, sour kind that were told about Richard Nixon when former Vice-President Nixon was over here — and even about General MacArthur . . . are being quietly passed around.

Then, there is the technique of deliberate down-grading of the Prime Minister and his politics.

You hear it murmured by the Opposition strategists out on the hustings around the country.

It goes, roughly, like this:

"You know there's really nothing very wrong about this Government . . . It is just the Prime Minister. The Cabinet, poor fellows, do the best they can — and you've got to give 'em marks for trying — but that Diefenbaker . . .

He is a complete misfit, simply incompetent. Nothing very pretty about it. In fact, just a bit on the repulsive side.

And, in fairness, this, too, must be said: neither Liberal Leader Mike Pearson nor Opposition warhorse Paul Martin have had anything to do with it — or likely will — both of them are a good clean fight too much to stoop to the smear.

Education System Needs Examination

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In last fall's issue of the Harvard Educational Review, a school district superintendent in California stated with admirable terseness one of the real handicaps to a better educational system in America. He wrote:

"Just think for a moment of the ideal classroom situation we could build and the science and foreign language teachers we could employ, if we were suddenly to stop spending money on school buildings, bus and bus services, recreation programs, driver training, shop and craftsmen economics, adult education classes in upholstering and cake decorating, marching bands, travelling glee clubs . . ."

Most educators would really like to educate, but we find ourselves so infernally occupied with funds raising, bus routes, Little League schedules and preventive inoculations, that Euclid and Proust will be lucky if they get a nod. Yet, if we could somebody's magic wand and eliminate the items listed above, I would be able to give each of my teachers a raise of $1,000 raise, and build three new classrooms each year.

I quote the superintendent in extenso, because he has cut to the heart of our educational problem in modern American society. We really do not know what a school should teach, or how, by whom, to whom or in what order. We have come, as a result, what we call a "school program" that is unbalanced, out of the trivial, the marginal, the ridiculous and the inept.

The House of Representatives Subcommittee on Education is currently studying bill 10163, which would devote Federal funds and effort to "basic research in education." This is not "Federal aid" to education, but a means of determining what the proper processes and goals of education ought to be.

One reason I am against Federal aid is that every cent of the money would go simply to continue and expand present practices. Yet, we do not know if present practices really turn out educated people. What is needed, before we spend a penny of Government money on schools, is a thorough and comprehensive examination and evaluation of the whole subject of education.

Industry spends from 10 to 15 per cent of its appropriations on research and development; education spends less than 1/10 of 1 per cent. Yet education is the biggest "business" in America — larger than autos or utilities or any other. It is fruitless to give more money to a system until we agree on what the long-range purposes of education ought to be.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

CONTROVERSY

Tuesday of Holy Week was a day of violent controversy between Jesus and his opponents. They challenged his authority, and well they might, for it was literally impossible that a freelance preacher from the little village of Nazareth could be God's Anointed and the promised Messiah.

In parable after parable Jesus demonstrated to his opponents that instead of being their helpers of the Most High they were, indeed, opposing the divine work by their selfishness and sin. The scribes and Pharisees tried to get Jesus involved either with the Roman government or with the Jewish church on the matter of giving tribute to Caesar, but Jesus brushed that all aside with the words that have been ringing down through the centuries to guide us in the choice we should make between secular and sacred matters. "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," said Jesus, "and unto God the things that are God's."

The controversy that day must have been furious and cross fellowship. The learned theologians no doubt gesticulated, shrieked at him, called authorities, challenged him to show his credentials that he was of God's choice. Jesus fought back every inch of the way. He was gentle himself as he confronted weakness, sin, and pain, but he was the most stalwart fighter of all history when he confronted error, injustice, avarice, leanness, and evil.

Tuesday was the day of controversy.

When safe crackers entered the premises of the Cities Service Company gasoline station on Front Street late Saturday night and broke open the large steel safe, their labors were not rewarded by any large amount although considerable damage resulted. After forcing the hinges of the safe and gaining entrance, the burglars stole about twenty dollars in loose change; the day's receipts had been removed from the safe at the time of closing.

The Munitions and Supply Department announced late Saturday that gasoline stored by non-commercial motorboat owners before the Government's gasoline rationing became effective April 1st, must be returned immediately to the bulk station from which it was bought. The Oil Controller estimated that "as much gasoline as would fill an occasional tanker is distributed to private tanks and drums being used."

Augmenting its own outstanding musical ability with a quartet of versatile entertainers, the band of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Trenton Station, on Sunday night thrilled a capacity audience at the McCarthy Theatre with one of the best performances seen here in months. Letter To The Editor

Work for Retarded Not Really Charity

Editor,

Ontario Intelligencer:

We wish to clarify the position of the Belleville and District Association for Retarded Children in relation to the Belleville United Appeal. The Association is not to discover and train to useful citizenship the mentally handicapped people in our area. We do this in the face of many obstacles, not the least of which is public misunderstanding toward the problem and reluctance of parents of retarded children to face up to the fact. Our school on John Street is something to be proud of and even of the city should take interest and of which he can be proud. This we have created an educational group rather than a charity. Although we do hope, the full financial responsibility for training these children will be borne by governments and boards of education, we feel that a group can and then devote their attention to the pre-schoolers and adult retarded. Here we have a role in preparation by the board of directors of the Association for Retarded Children. This brief will ask that grants to schools for the retarded be made directly from the board of education, rather than from political bodies.

We feel that to submerge the D.A.R.C. into the "Belleville United Appeal" would be to cut off our efforts to find the retarded people who are still unidentified. According to an estimate by Premier John Robarts as many as 80 per cent of the retarded are still "tucked away in back rooms and garrets" of our province". The main purpose of our annual campaign is to find the retarded and to educate the public. Fund-raising is secondary.

Hernia Is a Common Ailment for Women as Well as Men

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I always thought only men could have hernias. My sister was operated on for a tumor about a year ago. Recently on her check-up the doctor told her she has a hernia, but not to worry about it if it does not give her pain, and that it may never require surgery. Is that true? — A.H.C.

Certainly it's true. Pain and no, hernia is by no means limited to men.

A hernia is a weakened place or gap in some bodily wall, into which some other organ may push through, or threaten to do so.

There are, in fact, all kinds of hernias, but by and large we think of a hernia as being one of the bowel — a gap in the abdominal wall through which a portion of the bowel can force its way.

Men, because of their physiology, have some comparatively weak points in the groin, and it is there that a strain or injury can cause a hernia. Women do not have these same weak points — and hence are free from hernias.

Hernias occur elsewhere. An umbilical hernia is one example. Another is a hiatus hernia, in which a portion of the bowel can force its way through the opening in the diaphragm at the point where the gullet passes through.

Still another is called an incisional hernia, resulting when a previous operation wound has only developed or near the incision. A specific type of this is mentioned in today's letter. Often it requires nothing more than a little support, such as a corset or a truss.

Some hernias are of scant importance; others, if not corrected, can become very dangerous. This applied particularly to those in the groin, if a portion of the bowel can be gradually forced through the gap and become "strangulated." This is often preceded by the small gap through which it has worked its way.

When this happens, it is an emergency of the most dire sort, and must be relieved without delay. That is why so many doctors urge that hernias (depending on their location and extent) be corrected surgically before they seem to be the patient, be of any great annoyance. This sort of hernia, in short, can be easily repaired. However, if correction is put off too long, the hernia may become strangulated and urgent measures will be needed to save the patient's life. The strangulation is also exceedingly painful.)

Such a complication is much less likely to occur in an incisional hernia, or in a hernia higher in the abdominal wall. So your aunt is quite safe in doing exactly as her doctor suggests; not to worry about it.

Dear Dr. Molner: In reference to your advice about not worrying about hair, how is it advised above the surface of the skin is not going to change. It is like a fingernail, which still grows at the same rate whether it is cut short or not. — P.G.C.

Dear Dr. Molner: Recently my stomach was X-rayed and the doctor said I had gastritis. Is that quite a common ailment people? — Mrs. E.D.

The treatment is similar to that for ulcers: bland diet and avoidance of any irritants. A thorough examination is often helpful, too.

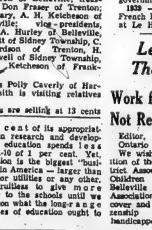
TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

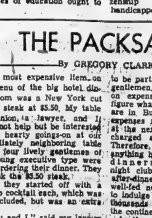
BLESSINGS

There is a song I used to rather like when I was a little boy, called "Count Your Blessings."

Well, I am sure that if more of us counted them as they do it came to us there would be fewer complainers in this world, for many times we are apt to feel that the rough part of the road is here and now, and that all of our bread is stale.



If we would simply count our blessings though, just for a single day, what a change it would make. The blessings of health, a comfortable bed to sleep in a simple home, adequate clothes to protect the body, and two free hands, books — the best in the world but to a few comparatively — the ability to work and earn an honest living, the sunshine, the refreshing rain, the beauties of nature, the telephone, the telegraph, the radio and TV., the efficient mail service, both by air and rail, free public libraries and picture galleries — but why go further.



The poorest is able to walk out into the world and own much more in his heart than the richest in money with no love in his heart.

I walked out into the woods that comprise a part of my home grounds. I thought of all the time and the hard work that I had cost in work and sacrifice over the years. Then I sat on one of the rustic seats and listened to the returned birds and was thrilled by the melodies as it poured forth from their throats. I watched them bathe in the pool and I knew that they were happy. Then I realized that I was visitors over my setting. The wild flowers, new with the early spring, and the full-leaved trees — how few of the gifts that money cannot really buy. Blessings! I was thrilled by them. Only those who fail to earn a landscape because "the whole world is wrong."

Easter Monday Not Holiday At City Hall

This was ruled yesterday by city council when a motion to grant city hall workers and also public works employees the day off, was defeated by council.

Alderman William Jarvah brought in the recommendation stating that it had been policy in previous years to give city hall workers Easter Monday off. Last year however, public works workers had not been included.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds said he had received a grievance from the union claiming that it had been "established practice" to grant the holiday.

But Alderman Bailey questioned this, noting that the recommendation had been before council last year.

"That being the case it cannot be an established practice", he said.

It was noted that the agreement between the city and city employees did not grant Easter Monday as a holiday.

"If we have an agreement why should we violate it?" asked Ald. Stuart Robb as council defeated the recommendation.

Glaciers Leave Their Marks

Rotarians Told

Local Rotarians were taken back several million of years by Quinte Secondary teacher Hal Wooley in have a look at their Bay of Quinte District as few people often view it. It was pointed out that events which occurred millions of years ago had an effect upon the present welfare of the community.

The speaker gave an illustrated slide show to explain the various types of rock and land formations which could be effected through glaciers and then applied his talk to the Quinte district. Three glacier movement stages have left their mark in the district. From the flat terrain around Belleville passing through the hilly countryby with a good soil layer, such as may be found north of Madoc, to the hilly country with a very sparse depth of soil, such as may be observed just south of Highway 7, there is evidence of glacier movement in past years.

The speaker noted that the Belleville area had received the best blessings of this action and had good farming area and hence had an opportunity to develop and prosper more rapidly than the settlements in areas where there was but little soil to support life.

The various types of geological formations which could be found in this district were also described and located on a large map of the area.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Dr. Diamantides and thanked by Stuart Robb. During the course of the meeting special student guest Jim White, president of the BCIVS band, was introduced by Rotarian Rogers Hoefel. President Virgil James presided.

Job Insurance Offences Bring Fines for Two

Two Belleville men were fined in city magistrate's court here this morning after pleading guilty to making false statements under the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Marten Geertsema was fined $40 when he pleaded guilty to two offences committed under the act. A representative from the Unemployment Insurance Commission said that the accused had claimed benefit in the amount of $83 while during the same period of time he had drawn $128 in wages from his employer.

John Lacelde pleaded guilty to four charges of a similiar nature and was fined $80, $10 for each offence.

Eric Naylor, inspector with the legal branch of the U.I.C., told the magistrate that the accused had claimed benefits in the amount of $76 while at the same time he received $192.06 in wages from his employer.

He suggested that a fine of $20 be imposed for each offence.

squad. A report by Anderson to his superiors at the time expressed the opinion the memorandum was written in the Toronto office of lawyer David Humphrey, former Crown attorney and "known to be affiliated with the gambling fraternity of McDermott and Feeley."

J. Inap, Stringer in 1959 had tried to get back the original of his document on the Ramsey Club but the sergeant refused to give it up.

SOMETHING ON

A report turned in by Sgt. Anderson in 1958, read to the commission, said Inap, Stringer was running down Shrubb and expressed belief that something "underhand" was going on to upset the workings of the anti-gambling squad in connection with clubs run by Feeley and McDermott at Fort Erie and Belleville.

The two gamblers, along with former OPP constable Robert Wright of the anti - gambling squad, were convicted here recently and sentenced to 18 months for illegally obtaining information from a police officer.

McDermott and Feeley are under subpoena to appear before the commission

Toronto lawyer Walton C. Rose, counsel for the police, sought but was refused permission to cross-examine commissioner witnesses and call his own on behalf of the gamblers and a "Mr. X" who was called at a secret session 10 days ago.

WILL APPEAL

Mr. Rose lately told reporters he intended to take his request to the Ontario Court of Appeal.

The lawyer asked the commissioner to investigate a complaint by "Mr. X" that, while staying at a downtown hotel, he had been under "constant surveillance" by "operatives" of some kind.

The mystery man had reported two female "operatives" occupied the next room to him, listened and put him in the hall lobby and he believed his telephone had been monitored.

Mr. Roy Roach did not comment.

Under questioning on the club - raiding document he had received from Inspector Harold Hall, Anderson said that, while the inspector did not tell him its source, he advised him that Magistrate Johnston Roberts, a member of the Niagara Falls police commission, had a hand in drafting it.

Inap, Stringer told him not to let the magistrate know that he (Anderson) was connected with the memorandum.

He said also that Stringer told him originally that raiding the club had been suggested first by two young Niagara Falls lawyers who had visited him at his lodge in Algonquin Park.

The sergeant said he was never told the names of the pair and he indicated only in their extraneous by referring to them as "alleged lawyers."

Most of the morning session was taken up with the history of the Lorelei club in Bertie Township and the Old and the New Ramsay clubs in Niagara Falls and Mr. Hainsworth's reading of a brief containing instructions for a surreptitious entrance of the Old Ramsay Club.

The nine-page brief was given to Sgt. Anderson by Inspector Stringer in the parking lot of the OPP headquarters building, Aug. 7, 1958, Sgt. Anderson testified. He said the brief contained minutiae detailed instructions for a successful raid.

"The only way where he got it and I didn't ask him," the sergeant said, "He did say Magistrate Johnston Roberts of Niagara Falls had a hand in it."

Sgt. Anderson said when police did raid the club they found not a jot on to Magistrate Roberts that I knew."

Mr. Hainsworth Niagara Falls Crown attorney was quite put out with the suggestion that Magistrate Roberts had anything to do with the brief and insisted Lt. Sgt. Anderson said.

In discussing the Ramsay Club, Sgt. Anderson said Inap Stringer had told him there was a post office on the main floor the downpipe and catch door dice dropped when the gamblers were being raided.

The inspector added it would be a good idea to stage the raid before Col. Shrubb returned from his holidays.

"He asked me if I didn't think Shrubb was trying to throw the men of the (anti - gambling) branch against me and leading them to believe he might be a better man in my place," Sgt. Anderson recalled.

Canadian Trade Fairs Edition Now Available

The 1962 edition of Canadian Trade Fairs is now off the press, and is available free on request to businessmen everywhere.

A value of useful information, this 36-page booklet lists all major trade fairs to be held in Canada in 1962, and also those for 1963 whose dates have already been fixed. Listings is by geographical location, and by type of products on display.

Estimated attendances are given, based on those of previous years, to help businessmen evaluate their potential. Other facts include dates, and names and addresses of local fair officials to be contacted for more detailed information.

A large number of the booklet are mailed by Canadian Trade Commissioners abroad to interested importing and exporting firms. As a result, Canadian firms can count on more opportunities to meet foreign buyers than ever before.

The booklet also indicates whether foreign exhibitors are invited to display their own products, and whether the fair is open to buyers, delegates, and the general public.

Some 119 trade fairs will be held in Canada in 1962, and the variety of products on display is expected to be much wider than in previous years.

Copies of Canadian Trade Fairs 1962 may be obtained from the Editorial and Art Services Division, Trade Publicity Branch, Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa.

Drive-in Opens For Season

Following a winter of unsightly snow, the Bellevue Drive-In Theatre will open for another season on Thursday evening.

During the winter months new picture projection equipment and a new high fidelity sound has been installed at the Drive-In.

Mr. Winard Fawcett, Drive-in manager stated that the addition of the new projector is more than doubled over the former equipment while there will also be a marked improvement in sound.

Also this year current pictures will be shown instead of the frequent re-runs formerly included on the program.

The Sidney Township gambling club underwent another change of name and became the Frontier Veterans Association when it acquired a provincial charter in July, 1957. From May, 1958, until July, 1958, the two establishments were operating in competition with each other.

Anti-gambling squad officers testified they believe Feeley and McDermott ran the Frontier Club which went out of business in July of 1958 after the newly-formed Bertie Township police forced staged 59 raids. And the anti - gambling squad made five raids on the premises in several months.

The brief on the Lorelei Club said that the club operated 972 purchased money from a bank and kept it in the safe of the Hillcrest Motel owned by Albert Iannarelli and his brother Louis. The brief said Louis was directly connected with the club, but his brother Albert also owned a finance company and did not want to be directly connected with the club.

Sgt. Anderson said when police did raid the club they found most of the detailed information in the brief was correct.

After the charges against these men were dismissed in July, 1958, the club charter was moved to new premises on Stanley street in Niagara Falls and gambling continued at the New Ramsay Club which Sgt. Anderson said he believed was controlled by McDermott and Feeley, until Wright was arrested in May of 1960.

He had never seen McDermott or Feeley at the New Ramsay Club, but Felix Borelli who had worked for them at the Frontier Club in Bertie Township was constantly at the New Ramsay Club, Sgt. Anderson said.

and the country was told what the plans of the government are —if they have any plans," Mr. Pearson said.

The opposition was prepared to open a general debate on the Address in Reply because the government had given no indication that there would be a normal budget debate this session.

"Contrived and manufactured election trials" had been raised and then removed.

T. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista - Twillingate) said the money bill is the primary business before the Commons. Was the government going to "insult" the house by not confining with it?

Veterans Minister Churchill, government House leader, said the money bill could be passed in 10 seconds, and would be listed for debate after eight other measures had been passed. He would reserve the right to change today's order of business.

Mr. Pearson said the "state of the nation's finances is the most urgent problem before us at the present time."

The money bill includes sums to cover the CNR's 1961 deficit of $87,307,772; the Trans-Canada Air Lines deficit of $6,400,062; farm price supports of $23,139,333; maintenance of the navy, $3,500,930; and a United Nations assessment of $2,613,551 for Congo operations.

Given 6 Months For Possessing Bogus Money

A Montreal man, 31-year-old Leslie Lee, was sentenced to six months in jail this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being in possession of counterfeit money, after electing trial by magistrate.

Lee was arrested before Magistrate Willis about three weeks ago, on a charge that he pleaded not guilty to being in possession of an offensive weapon and one charge of possession of counterfeit money, after electing trial by magistrate.

Lee was arrested before Magistrate Willis about three weeks ago, on a charge that he pleaded not guilty to being in possession of an offensive weapon and one charge of possession of counterfeit money, after electing trial by judge and jury.

Crown Attorney John Pringle said he was offering no evidence on the offensive weapon charge and that the accused wished to change his election and plead guilty to both charges.

Inspector McLauchan said the two men were taken to the police station and it was there that the counterfeit money was found on the accused, Leslie Lee. The inspector said the accused admitted he knew the money was counterfeit.

Both Lee and Saunder are from Montreal and Mr. Lee is an owner of a business in that city.

Primary S.S. Pupils Hold 'Parents Night'

FRANKFORD — Frankford United Church primary Sunday School celebrated parents' night on Tuesday evening when Rose Lowery Hall was jam-packed with over 100 little children in their Sunday clothes, and as many parents.

Primary superintendent, Mrs. J. K. Beach, welcomed everyone and departmental superintendent, Mrs. Percy Duncan and Mrs. G. Halsall, and director of music Mrs. R. Burditt and several leaners managed to keep order and the boys and girls sang several selections and recalled the Ten Commandments, the Beatitudes, the 23rd Psalm, and helped the minister with a flannel-graph story and literal-graph story and literal-graph illustration to "praise the Lord with melody and dancing."

By some strange miracle of influence, there was an interval of silence for prayer and worship and then with a minimum of confusion, in spite of the grown-ups, they found their classes and parents discovered their upstairs, downstairs on the platform, in the kitchen and in the hall, cutting and pasting, and writing and painting and reading and praying — it was a fascinating evening.

The evening, concluded with the serving of milk and cookies and cake, coffee and sandwiches, and a lot of happy, tired children and grateful parents.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these My children, ye have done it unto Me." Sunday School meets every Sunday morning at ten and there is a class for everyone from three to 100! You are invited!

All Girl Needs to Be Deb Is Lots of Money

By PATRICIA CLOUGH

LONDON (Reuters) — Undaunted by unspring-like weather, the London "spring season" is in full swing—bigger, faster and more expensive than ever.

To Britain's rich, the spring season has nothing to do with the weather. It is simply that all-important time when the debutantes "come out" in society.

Some thought the custom would be dealt a death-blow four years ago when the Queen ended the presentation of debutantes at court, but instead it meant things really opened up. Since the end of the court presentations, a girl no longer has to be "well-connected" to be a deb. Now all she needs is money—lots of it.

DEBUTANTES INCREASE

Newspaper social columnists estimate that some 600 girls will come out this year, compared with 400 last year and about 100 a few years ago.

Before the end of the court presentation, the season has been officially begun with the Queen Charlotte's birthday ball, a magnificent traditional affair started by the wife of King George III in the 18th century at which the girls, all dressed in white, curtsy down the long staircases to curtsey in front of a ceremonial birthday cake.

Another must is the Berkeley charity dress show, where a chosen few model clothes amid popping flashbulbs and competition for the coveted honor of Deb of the Year awarded by social columnists.

HIGH COST

Though pedigree is no longer a qualification, the high cost keeps the number of debs down.

Experts estimate that before the season ends in July, a devoted parent can spend between £2,000 and £10,000 on clothes, beauty treatments and public-ity.

The problem of available, and acceptable, escorts is a major ooh and at least one London women's magazine draws up a list which it provides free to debs' mothers.

Hostesses fortunate enough to know the commanding officers of fashionable regiments simply get them to muster the requisite number of youths, unmarried subalterns to attend.

WORLD RELIEF

CARE of Canada has contributed some $2,500,000 in relief to needy families in more than 30 countries since 1955.

Buffet Dinner For Fourteen

by Mary Moore

Telephone call to Eleanor: "Ask Mary for a menu for a buffet dinner — exotic food that will wow them and knock their eyes out. There will be 14."

This friend of Eleanor's has four children and needs food that may be prepared in advance—money no object though.

I do not know this girl's friends and I do not know how vulnerable they are to food challenges so I selected:

Beef Stroganoff, Mushroom Bechamel; Duchess Parmesan Potatoes; Edgewater Salad; Strawberry Cheesecake; Empire Torte; Coffee.

The only recipes for this menu which has not been given here recently are the Beef Stroganoff for 14, Duchess Parmesan Potatoes and the Edgewater Salad. I gave you the Mushroom Bechamel on February 19th of this year; the Empire Torte on April 4, 1960. There have been several Cheesecakes here in the past two years. But if you want repeats let me know.

I hope the girls in Brandon who go in for buffet entertaining see this.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Savor Meet Loaf; Hot Chili Sauce; Scalloped Potatoes; Glazed Parsnips; Celery and Carrot Strips; Fruit Cup; Date Bars (see Monday); Tea.

BEEF STROGANOFF (for 14)

5 lbs. sirloin steak 3/4" thick, flour, 1 tablespoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 8 onions chopped fine, 1/4 lb. mushrooms chopped or sliced (optional—do not include if you serve Mushrooms Bechamel as a vegetable), 3 cloves garlic, crushed, 1 cup butter, 6 tablespoons flour, 3 cans consomme, 3 pints commercial sour cream, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon paprika, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce.

Cut steak into pencil-thin strips. Dredge lightly with flour mixed with the salt and pepper. Saute fine onions with the mushrooms if used and garlic in 3/4 cup butter for about 5 minutes. Add the beef, and more butter if necessary.

Over high heat cook and stir the meat continuously for 5 minutes. Remove all from heat and lift out steak and vegetables. Pour off all but 6 tablespoons drippings and blend in the flour. Add the consomme and stir until smooth and thickened. Put in the sour cream, salt and pepper to taste and keep heat low so the cream will not curdle. Add paprika and Worcestershire sauce. Just before serving, add the beef and vegetables and heat together a few minutes. Use more salt if necessary.

DUCHESS PARMESAN POTATOES (for 14)

Rice or mash enough boiled potatoes to make 10 cups. Add 2 3/4 cup hot milk and 8 beaten egg yolks. Season with 4 tablespoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon white pepper and beat until smooth and fluffy. Use an electric mixer if you have one. Drop in fluffy spoonsful on a baking sheet or pie plate attractively in shallow baking dish (professional chefs use pastry tube). Sprinkle generously with Parmesan cheese. Broil a few minutes until tinged with brown or bake at 450 deg. Fahr until heated through and golden.

EDGEWATER SALAD (for 14)

1 avocado— peeled, stoned and cut in thin crescents, 1 head curly endive, broken up, 20 spinach leaves, broken up, 1 cup paper thin slices of small cauliflowerettes, 1 medium head Iceberg lettuce, chopped, 1/4 cup ripe olives, sliced, 2 medium tomatoes, sliced, 1 green pepper, cut in strips, 1 cucumber, peeled and sliced paper-thin, 1 clove garlic, crushed, 1/4 cup crumbled Roquefort, about 1/2 to 3/4 cup French dressing.

Toss just before serving.

Politics Taboo When Wives Of House Members Meet

By EDNA BLAKELY

OTTAWA (CP) — Politics is taboo when wives of members of the Commons and Senate get together each week.

The Parliamentary Wives Association is "just a social organization," says its president, Mrs. Lawrence E. Kindt of Nanton, Alta., wife of the Progressive Conservative MP for Macleod.

The association, with more than 100 members, provides a common meeting ground for the wives of members of all parties.

"The wives are sometimes extremely lonesome when they come to Ottawa," said Mrs. Kindt, "Speaking personally, it filled a great need for me."

The women meet Tuesdays in the ladies' lounge of the main Parliament building. Many live in downtown hotels and nearby apartments and walk to the meetings.

HELP RED CROSS

The first meeting each month is devoted to business, the second to bridge and Red Cross work. Speakers, films and visits to various embassies fill the other programs. Last year members produced infant clothes, socks and 1,200 dressings for the Red Cross.

The association was formed 13 years ago by Mrs. Milton Gregg, wife of the former Liberal cabinet minister from New Brunswick.

The four vice-presidents are chosen to represent the Senate and the three political parties in the Commons.

Two years ago the association started a museum of eight-inch dolls dressed as historical Canadian figures. The 96-odd dolls now are on display in a cabinet near the Parliamentary restaurant.

Mrs. G. M. Stearns, wife of the Conservative MP for the Quebec riding of Compton-Frontenac, is chairman of the doll committee. The collection was the idea of Mrs. Roland Michener of Toronto, wife of the Commons speaker.

WIVES KEEP BUSY — Wives of Senators and MPs keep busy in Ottawa through the Parliamentary Wives Association. A strictly non-political group, the ladies spend their time with social activities and working for the Red Cross. Mrs. R. B. Horner (left), wife of Progressive Conservative Senator Horner, and Mrs. W. Harold Hicks, wife of the Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Fraser Valley, prepare surgical dressings. MAIL CALL

Question: Is it correct for a young, recently married couple to call their future wives' parents-in-law by their first names? I've heard modern parents say they prefer this form of address, but is it proper?—P.K.N. New York City

Answer: If parents-to-law prefer to be called by their first names then it's perfectly correct for the young newlyweds to do so. It's only in extremely formal family situations that a young couple are expected to call their in-laws Mr. & Mrs., but this is very rare today. Most parents-to-law specify what names are to be used, and, generally they prefer that their own children stick to Mom and Dad and that the new member adopt their first names.

Question: When a husband is deceased, how should a widow be addressed? Should she be called Mrs. Henry Jones for a certain length of time, or should she be Mrs. Sally Jones immediately? — Mrs. R.J.N., Ingleside, Ill.

Answer: A woman's name does not change when her husband dies. Your hypothetical Mrs. Henr. Jones would continue to use exactly the same name. It would only change it at some future date, she should marry again.

Question: I'm being married in a few weeks and know I'll never finish writing notes for wedding gifts before the ceremony. Right now, I'm signing notes with my maiden name. After the wedding, what form should I use? — A.O.R., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: Except for notes to very close friends, of course, who would recognize you by your first name, notes should be signed with your first name, maiden name and married name only ideally you're to donors who might not recognize your married name, alone.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrr. J.U. — I just can't take to Joan.

Joan U. — If she'd stop comparing me to Margie, we'd get along.

Mrs. J.U. — I have tried so hard to like my son's second wife, but the memory of his first wife is very powerful. Margie was as dear to me as a daughter. Her folks had helped us build our small town into a respected community, and Margie was like one of the family long before she married Gordon.

After she died of polio, Gordon was desperately unhappy. But then he met Joan, pretty, young and sassy, and he began to take an interest in life again. Soon, a divorces with two children and somehow I just can't take to her. When she joins a group of our old friends she has a positive genius for saying the wrong things. We have nothing in common.

Maybe time will help, but I doubt it. She's too different.

Joan U. — I married Gordon, knowing his mother was dead set against having me as a daughter-in-law. Since she couldn't have the late Margie, she wanted a reasonable facsimile. Evidently I'm not even close.

Well, even though I may not have had the advantages of her precious Margie, poor soul, I've never stopped trying to improve myself. Even now I'm ready to knock myself out to please Mrs. U., but she puts every obstacle in my way. When I entertain, she keeps talking about how Margie used to do things. And Margie'd never wear her skirts so high, not Margie!

What hurts most though is her coldness to my children. They've never had a grandma and I thought Mrs. U. would be a bonus for them in view of my marriage. She's making it hard for all of us.

The Council: When a man takes a wife there's no law that his mother must take to her. Out of respect and affection for her son, she accepts his choice. No matter how alien her daughter-in-law, she is now a family V.I.P. by reason of her responsibilities. Thus, a smart mother-in-law shows respect and appreciation to the wife as an office-holder, if no as a person. Personal closeness may or may not develop over the years. If it does, fine. If it doesn't, the marriage can take it. A man marries usually because he, not his mom, is in love with the lady.

So in this unhappy fencing between the two Mrs. U.'s we urge Mrs. Sr., to put aside her dagger first. Nothing in common with Joan, did she say? Nothing but Gordon, and that sounds like a lot!

Naturally, Mrs. U., no one can fill another's place exactly. But with Margie's death, there was no place left behind. What remained was a void. Joan is Gordon's choice to occupy it. She'll color it, shape it, flavor it in her own way. Any resemblance between her and Margie may be incidental, if not accidental. So stop looking!

If there are things about Joan which grate on Mrs. U., here are two tips: First, the feeling is certainly mutual. There are things about Mrs. U. which may not only grate on Joan but, frighten her, such as morbid rehashing of the past. Two, trust, Mrs. U.! Second, the way to make Joan melt is to your arms is through warmth to her undoubtedly bewildered youngsters.

Gordon's marriage, Mrs. U., makes Joan's children your step-grandchildren automatically and if Gordon adopts them they'll be your grandchildren legally as well. If the call of blood doesn't soften you, the call of human to human should reach you and evoke some tenderness toward these little ones who seem to need it so desperately.

Meanwhile, go forward with your job of promoting the Gordon-Joan combo in the community, both among those who knew Margie and those who didn't. Acceptance of you must always be because you're you, not because you're like Margie.

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Topics this week: Biological sabotage of insect pests, a search for X-rays from space and a question of gravity.

SABOTAGE

Screw-worm flies, a costly livestock pest, are being sabotaged by the atomic age.

Radiation used to sterilize males which then are released. Since these flies mate only once, any female taking doesn't produce any offspring.

But it's been difficult to distinguish between treated flies and wild ones, to know how well the sterile ones were being distributed. Now Dr. Elbert B. Dixon of the U.S. department of agriculture at Kerrville, Tex., proposes a solution. He suggests sterilizing only males which have a distinguishing genetic trait, such as wing spurs for example, so they can be followed more easily.

STAR X-RAYS

Next summer, scientists plan to search for soft X-rays coming from stars. It will be done with special instruments carried aloft in rockets.

The aim is known to emit soft X-rays from its superhot corona, and presumably other stars do, too. These X-rays don't harm anyone on earth, for they are easily blocked out by the earth's atmosphere. They are far less penetrating than the "hard" X-rays used medically.

The X-ray study could lead to new ideas about the kind and character of stars in the heavens, and thus about the contents of the universe.

WEAKER GRAVITATION?

Space science experiments should be able to answer the question whether gravitation is growing weaker with time.

Most physicists think it is quite constant, but a few disagree, including Dr. Robert Dicke of Princeton University. He says the universe expands with time, the strength of gravitational interaction may decrease steadily, says Dr. Dicke. The strength of gravitation may be related to the structure of the universe, rather than being fixed.

Various experiments, with satellites could check this within the next five years, he adds.

Kyle Rote Giants Asst. Coach

NEW YORK (AP)—"I have a willing mind but an unwilling body," Kyle Rote said Monday in announcing he was quitting after 11 years as an active player to become an assistant football coach with New York Giants.

"Every man reaches a time when he must stop," added the former all - America halfback from Southern Methodist University, a great pass receiving end for the Giants. "My time came this year.

"The game has been getting a lot harder for me, both mentally and physically. I thought the worst thing I could do would be to try to back up to another season."

Rote, boyish-looking for his 34 years and unimposing for all of his rugged 200 pounds on a six-foot frame, becomes offensive field coach on Allie Sherman's staff, succeeding Don Heinrich. The latter has left the Giants organization to return to the Pacific coast.

As a pass-receiver, Rote set three all-time Giants records—most receptions (301), most yards on receptions (4,650) and most touchdowns on passes (32).

The Tracks

Making his second start of the young Ontario season, Colonel Bingo, ridden by Frank Northcutt, striked 5½ furlongs in 1:08 1-5.

With 4,586 in steadiance, Colonel Bingo, a four-year-old gelding which has always run in good company, was bet down to two-to and paid $3.10 after 3 coasting home two lengths in front of Level Streak. The quinella paid $7.20.

After getting off to a bad start in the first race when Meadet ween to pay $30.10 straight, form players hit in the second when Padre's Scamp paid $7.10 to win. The double of Meadet and Padre's Scamp paid a healthy $168.20.

May Defend Title in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson probably will defend his title against Sonny Liston in either Sept. 17 at Yankee Stadium or Sept. 26 at the Polo Grounds in New York, Tom Bellamy, president of Championship Sports Incorporated, announced Monday.

Monday was to have been the day of decision on a site and date for Patterson's defence of his world heavyweight boxing title against No. 1 challenger. Patterson, who is to call the shot under the terms of the contract, didn't show up at a luncheon meeting of the Boxing Writers Association of New York where an announcement had been expected.

Julius Nevermber, Patterson's attorney, spoke about a $1,000,000 offer from a Texas group during the weekend. He said all parties had agreed to extend the deadline to Thursday noon in order to let the Texans put it in writing and put the money in a bank.

Flatter-Wigs Are Popular Among Hollywood Women

By ROSE THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Did you notice," asked my date at the Academy Awards, "how many of the stars were wearing wigs?"

She referred not to the rugs atop the thinning domes of the male stars, but to the profuse and orderly hairdos on the ladies.

"Wigs on women?" I said in masculine ignorance.

"Certainly. It's the latest thing."

This was news to me and I decided to investigate. I dropped by the set of My Six Loves to interrogate Debbie Reynolds. She was wearing a luxuriant sweep of blonde hair.

"That's the same style you wore to the Oscars—yes?"

"It is," she admitted.

"It is—ah, yours?"

"Of course not. It's a wig."

So it was true. And she didn't even mind admitting it.

"Lots of the girls wear them nowadays," Debbie continued, "not just actresses, but other women, too. It's so convenient.

"Take the Oscar night. I got through work at Paramount at 6 and I had to be in Santa Monica and ready to go on the show at 7. If I had to get my hair fixed, I just couldn't have made it—impossible. But with a wig, I'm ready to go in minutes."

OWNS A SET

What's more, she's got a set of them.

"I've got a reddish - brown wig I wore in Rat Race. I've got another one which is my own shade of hair. Then there is this light blonde one—I've got on.

"I've also got a black wig that I now wear only on Halloween. I bought it originally so I could go places incognito. The first time I tried it was at Disneyland. I put it on, plus my old lady's glasses, and you know what happened?

"The minute I stepped in the door, a woman rushed up to me and said: 'May I have your autograph, Debbie?'"

I checked with Max Factor's, which started the whole trend and calls them flatter wigs. They sell for $200 up and are made of human hair imported from the Balkans and Italy. Colors? You name it, they've got it.

"Business is booming," said a factory man. "Fact is, we've got so many lady customers they've taken over the whole department. We had to move men's toupees to another part of the building."

3 Kims in Show Business And All of Star Calibre

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Rudyard Kipling appropriated the name first, for a little boy in his famous story, but currently there are three Kims in show business, all of star calibre and all female.

And sometimes, it's confusing. There is Kim Hunter, who usually plays suffering, emotionally disturbed ladies; a string of unhappy women that started with Stella in A Streetcar Named Desire. There is Kim Novak, the screen actress with a pair of fur mercy that extends even to her hair rinse.

And there is Kim Stanley, the blonde, serious-minded method actress who will star in tonight's main television TV event, a Ted Mosel original drama, There's Where the Town's Going, on CBS.

Miss Stanley talks about education as opportunities for young people interested in theatrical careers. She says there are many performers are mourning the disappearance of road companies, which companied was a lack of acting opportunities in Hollywood. Miss Stanley believes that young talent has a better chance than ever before.

"There are more good acting schools for young performers than ever," she says. "And there are more chances to act in off-Broadway shows."

That's Where the Town's Going, CBS, 10-11:30—Richard Jr., Kim Stanley, Patricia Neal in an original script by Ted Mosel.

AT THE PARK — Doris Day, Jack Lemmon and Robert Morse are in Technicolor and Panavision in a new comedy in Eastman Color, "Divorce, American Style" opening Thursday at the Park Theatre, Belleville. 'No One Lives Up To It'

Olympic Oath Foolish

SIMCOE (CP)—"There isn't a country in the world that lives up to the Olympic oath," John M. Roxburgh, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Monday.

Commenting on a resolution passed by the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association that the Canadian Army be asked to take over the sponsorship of Canada's 1964 Olympic hockey team, he said:

"So far as I'm concerned it's a good idea and would have to be given full consideration at our meeting in Ottawa at the end of May."

But he said the CAHA could only act on the suggestion by disregarding the present Olympic oath.

"It recites lots of other countries' do this," he said, "in fact there is no nation that can send a team to the Games and truly live up to the oath. But when we shut our eyes to something we are teaching the youth of the country to shut their eyes to what is right and wrong."

Roxburgh said the present Olympic oath, which demands strictly amateur status, should be broadened, possibly to allow athletes some remuneration so long as their particular sport is not also their main source of income.

He was less enthusiastic about the Alberta recommendation that the Olympic team be stocked with junior and juvenile players.

"No top junior team ever has consistently beaten a good or even average senior club," he said.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Senior baseball, buried here since "Hurricane Hazel" broke up Manager Jack Carson's hopes for an all-Ontario OBA championship some years ago, rises from the dust of dormancy this Spring.

Back in the new fold are such time-honored senior names as Belleville, Kingston, Peterborough and Port Hope.

The new senior set-up emerged from the pabes of removal of a well-known baseball name. The Lakeshore League which has operated for the past half-century under the name "Lakeshore Intermediate-Baseball League" formally dropped the "Intermediate." It carries on as the Lakeshore Baseball League.

The new league marked its official entry into Ontario Baseball Association activities with the presentation of "twins," so to speak. It consists of two divisions. The eastern division was baptised "senior," the western division "intermediate."

The formation of such a league augurs well for baseball in this section of Ontario. The game as a district sport has been struggling to rise from its ashes for these many years. Such centres as Belleville, Kingston, Peterborough and Oshawa, which wrote baseball history in years gone by in the Central Ontario Baseball League, have long been operating city loops, in the upper bracket, that is.

All four centres have bred, raised and produced outstanding junior "A" squads, with the Kenmore of this city winning the all-Ontario championship two years ago and reaching the runner-up spot last year.

But time took its toll and the majority of these junior standouts, members are now past the "age bump." It was the opinion of baseball men in these centres, particularly Kingston, Belleville and Peterborough, that the junior stars with a modicum of senior veterans could very well be the foundations of senior squads.

The outcome is the formation of the senior divisions of the new Lakeshore Baseball League.

Kingston, Belleville and Peterborough will operate as senior clubs in the eastern division. Alex. Oshawa, Orono and Port Hope will organize as intermediate clubs in the western section. But Port Hope will play two games with each of the senior clubs, forming, in part, two four-team divisions.

This arrangement cuts to a minimum transportation expenses. Kingston, Peterborough and Belleville travel to Port Hope but once. None of the western clubs will travel east. In playoffs the two top teams will play for the league championship, but both will take part in OBA classification playdowns.

The two-division idea, I believe will make for better baseball with an equality of strength in the various sections. Last season when the Belleville Kenmore operated in the Lakeshore Intermediate League the circuit was not too well balanced. It has been intimated that Peterborough baseball men will toss all their eggs into one basket and enter their strongest club in the senior circuit

Kingston, blessed with a plenitude of diamond talent will likely do the same. The Kenmores here will be bolstered by players of senior calibre.

Manager and sponsor Ken Soden of the Kenmore, said today he was pleased with the set-up. "There are a few wrinkles to be ironed out," he said, "but I'm sure we are in for some outstanding baseball this year.

"We shall have new players and I'm looking over new coaching material," Soden said. He added he did not intend spending too much with the club on the field but would work from the front office.

And I believe the new league is in good hands. Its new president is Jim Crombie of Bowmanville, one of this part of Ontario's finest sportsmen. Jim is well known around the circuit and has had plenty of organizational experience.

'Gotta Win' Says Pilous

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (CP) — Someone mentioned to coach Rudy Pilous of Chicago Black Hawks that home ice automatically gave his defending Stanley Cup champions a 60-per-cent advantage over visiting National Hockey League clubs.

"That's a lot of baloney," he said Monday night, eve of the fourth game of the best-of-seven cup final against Toronto Maple Leafs.

"And even if it were true, why pick on us? We lose two straight to the Leafs in Toronto in this series, so why don't people start talking about the big advantage the Leafs have on the rest of us on home ice?"

The remarks by Pilous boxed up interest here for tonight's game at Chicago Stadium, the home of only the second-biggest crowds of any sport in North America. Toronto leads the series 2-1.

"We've just gotta win this one," Pilous said in an interview. "We simply can't lose and then go to Toronto Thursday for the fifth game down three games to one. Those Leafs beat us pretty good in their own ice and I'd have to say that two wins in two outings is a pretty good batting average."

SPECIAL HARS' PATT

Some folks would be inclined to agree with Pilous. They exceed that they remember the Hawks lost the seventh game to the Canadiens in Montreal in the semi-final and then toppled the league champions in four straight.

It was the familiar surroundings of the huge Chicago Stadium that helped them to victory in that series. Now the Hawks and Leafs are meeting under similar circumstances. The Hawks whipped Toronto 3-0 Sunday after absorbing 41 from here in

It is likely the Hawks will go with the same lineup but there may be a change in the Toronto personnel.

Coach Punch Imlach of the Leafs was non-committal but some observers figure there is a possibility he will assign left winger Eddie Shack to a spectators role.

Shack, used sparingly in the semi-finals against New York Rangers, which the Leafs won four games to two, was given a fair amount of ice time Sunday but picked up three penalties. If Shack is benched guesses here are that Imlach will play Vicky Hadfield, up from Pittsburgh of the American League, who showed only briefly in the second game of this set.

ANNOUNCER RELIEVED

Meanwhile, the talk around here concerns spontaneous remarks of Bob Foster on the stadium public address system.

He apparently riled NHL president Clarence Campbell in the final seconds of Sunday's game when he reminded the celebrities throwing crowd with only seconds remaining in the game that "Mr. Goalie has done it again." He was referring to Chicago goalkeeper Glenn Hall.

Campbell reminded Hawks general manager Tommy Ivan that they must not exceed regulations and that the public address system is part of the game and the announcer, in effect, is a game official. Campbell said he must act impartially at all times. To act like a cheerleader is completely wrong . . . the public address system can be an obvious public menace if it isn't handled properly."

Ivan agreed and said Foster would adhere to the regulations.

Hamilton Wins Opener

Wings Crush Citadels

QUEBEC (CP) — Hamilton's powerful Red Wings crushed Quebec Citadels, 5-3 Monday night and took the first game of the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup finals.

The Wings, second-place finishers in the Ontario Junior Hockey Association, never were in trouble as they downed the Quebec province junior champs for a head start in the best-of-seven series.

Phil Martin scored two goals and Lowell Macdonald. Paul Henderson, John Gofton, and Howie Menard one each.

Denis Gagnon and Jean-Claude Lepage were the only Quebecers able to get the puck past Red Wings' star goaler Buddy Cohen, who kept the standing-room crowd of 4,779 screaming with his spectacular stops.

Menard got the Red Wings off to a snappy start. Within 45 seconds of the opening whistle, he worked in alone in front of goalie Jocelyn Cardinal and popped in the puck. The Wings got nine shots at Cardinal in the first five minutes before Quebec checking improved.

Gagnon evened it up on a power play at 16:30, but in the second period Martin scored on a pass from Macdonald and Gofton added the count on a pass from Menard.

In the last minute of the period Lepage put Quebec back in the game. They stayed in it through a scoreless third period, when Martin scored his second goal, again on a pass from Macdonald, and then turned around to set up Macdonald's goal at 12:36. Henderson flipped in the final goal at 16:13.

Montreal Wins Eastern Cup Final

By BRIAN KIELY

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Olympics gave 8,500 home town fans a treat by edging Kapuskasing CMAs 3-2 Monday night to take the best-of-seven eastern Allan Cup hockey final in four straight games.

The Olympics, by eliminating Kapuskasing, earned the right to represent Eastern Canada in the final playdowns for the Allan Cup, emblematic of senior amateur hockey supremacy.

They now meet either Trail Smoke Eaters or Saskatoon Quakers, Trail leads Saskatoon 2-1 in the best-of-seven western final series. The schedule calls for all East-West final games to be played out West.

Montreal is the first Quebec team to win an Allan Cup finals since 1947. That year, the Montreal Royals won the cup defeating Calgary Stampeders in seven games.

Monday's win, its 10th successive in playoff play, was earned by playing solid defensive hockey and capitalizing on every opportunity. The Olympics scored twice when Kapuskasing was shorthanded.

COMES ON STRONG

Kapuskasing had the better of the play in the opening period until Noel Picard's goal at 15:48 lifted the Montreal icemen on strong in the final minutes.

Gregg Hicks put the Ontario champions in the lead at 6:35 when he stickhandled past the Montreal defence, moved around Eric Binette, and flicked the puck into the upper left hand corner.

Two tripping penalties within 30 seconds handed to Kapuskasing in the second period, proved costly as Montreal, with the man advantage, banged in two goals.

CMs' captain, Russ Bellveau, knocked in the second Kapuskasing goal at 11:10 of the second from a pile-up scramble in front of the Montreal net.

The CMs had a man advantage three times in the final stanza but were unable to score. Burns stopped 24 shots against Binette's 19.

Kapuskasing coach Bummer Deras said after the game that his team had been playing poor hockey against Montreal but "we were really up for this one."

The Kapuskasing coach was unhappy with referee Hugh McLean.

That tripping penalty to Ray Dupuis halfway through the second was unwarranted," Doran added.

Hull Knots Semi-Finals

KITCHENER (CP)—A brilliant overtime goal by left winger Brian Smith Monday night gave Hull-Ottawa Canadiens a 3-2 overtime victory over Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers and knotted their Eastern Professional Hockey League semi-final at three games each.

Smith broke sharply down the wing after a face-off, skirted the defence and fired as he moved in on Jack McCartan. The goal climaxed an uphill fight that saw Canadiens come within eight minutes of elimination.

At one stage they had trailed the best-of-seven series 3-1 but a 5-1 home victory Sunday and Monday night's win send Hull back to home ice Wednesday for the deciding game. The winner will play Kingston Frontenacs in the league final.

Hull took an early lead when Bob Elliott rolled a half-speed shot into the corner at 13:35 of the first period.

Jack Bownass tied it up with a long backhand shot that goalie Cesare Maniago seemed to misjudge at 17:37 of the second period

The Beavers went ahead 3-1 at 7:30 of the third period as Paul Andres raked a move behind the goal, came to daylight and bounced the puck in off Maniago's leg.

Hockey Player got the tying goal with a back hand shot at 11:30.

A crowd of 3,186 looked on. Hull drew five of nine minor penalties but none of them figured in the scoring.

The two teams collect Hull 34-33 but the winners had a 10-5 edge in the overtime session.

KNOT SEMI-FINAL

BRANDON (CP) — Brandon Wheat Kings of the Manitoba Junior Hockey League defeated Edmonton Oil Kings of the Central Alberta League 4-3 Monday night to even the best-of-seven Memorial Cup semi-final 1-1.

Asks Army Take Over Puck Team

CALGARY (CP)—The Alberta Amateur Hockey Association has suggested that the Canadian Army be asked to take over training and sponsorship of Canada's 1964 Olympic hockey team.

The association passed a resolution at its semi-annual meeting Sunday asking the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to consider letting the army take over the 1964 Olympic hockey club and stock it with promising juvenile and junior players.

The motion, by Sin Peppard of Calgary, requested that the CAHA, make a direct approach to army chief of staff to take over the project.

If approved by the CAHA and the army, Canada would be grooming young hockey clubs in a manner similar to that carried out by Russia, Czechoslovakia and other European countries.

Peppard said the club would be controlled and trained by the army, devoting a complete season to hockey. This would allow the opportunity for the players to play and practice as a unit for several months, Peppard pointed out.

Following completion of the Olympic Games, Peppard suggested the players could be discharged from the army if they desired.

In Edmonton, a CAHA spokesman said the proposal will be taken to the association's annual meeting in Ottawa May 21.

Cleroux Folley Wednesday

Right now the Montrealer is ranked No. 4 contender and admits there is a possibility.

The two meet over the 10-round route at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium with promoter Bernie Ford envisioning a $25,000 gate.

Cleroux showed his power here March 5 when he stopped George Logan in the seventh round. Bachman doesn't figure the Canadian has much chance of a title fight this year, but

Pirates, Cardinals Still Unbeaten

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It has been a long, uphill climb for Diomedes Olivo, who started in the Dominican Republic and found the way of the rainbow in Chicago.

That's where the rookie pitcher with Pittsburgh Pirates came up with the first victory of his major league career—at the age of 42—by hurling strong relief ball while the unbeaten Pirates were defeating Chicago's winless Cubs 6-5 Monday.

Coming on in relief in the fourth inning with the Pirates trailing 4-1, Olivo went 4 1-3 innings, checking the Cubs on four hits and a long run while Pittsburgh rallied to win it and hand the lanky left-hander his little pot of gold.

Olivo reached the first plateau eight years ago when he grabbed his first berth in organized baseball with Havana Sugar Kings of the International League. He had a trial with the Pirates in 1960 but had no record....

JUST GETTING STARTED

Back with Columbus Jets of the International League last year, Olivo won 11 games, lost seven and compiled a 2.01 earned run average that got him another shot with the parent club. Now, when most pitchers are looking forward to a rocking chair, he's just getting started.

The victory gave the Pirates a 5-0 won-lost record. St. Louis Cardinals also remained undefeated, by a 9-1 fig Philadelphia Phillies 12-6 for victory No. 4. San Francisco Giants clobbered Los Angeles Dodgers 19-8 and Cincinnati Reds edged Milwaukee Braves 3-2.

Houston Colts and New York Mets had their game postponed by cold weather. There were no games scheduled in the American League.

The Pirates moved ahead of the Cubs in the fifth inning with a four run rally on Roberto Clemente's homer—before the Cubs tied it with their only run of two on Mo Thacker's double. Dick Stuart's single and a sacrifice fly by Ken Hubbs.

Pittsburgh won the battle in the seventh when Dick Stuart walked, advanced to second on a groundout and scored on Don Hoak's single off reliever Bob Anderson. Elroy Face took over for Olivo in the eighth inning and finished up.

HOMERS PROVIDE EDGE

The Phils and Cards each scored six times in the first inning before a solo homer by Gene Oliver off Don Ferrarese in the third put St. Louis ahead to stay behind the relief pitching of Ernie Broglio.

Broglio, who took over the first inning, limited the Phils to five hits the rest of the way.

Felipe Alou's solo homer and a two-run shot by Jim Davenport, both off Dodger starter Stan Williams in the second inning, gave the Giants an edge they never relinquished. Willie Mays also homered for San Francisco, hitting No. 4 of the season with two men on base in the sixth. The Giants wound up with 12 hits and made the most of 10 walks and three Dodger errors plus a steal of home by Orlando Cepeda. Billy O'Dell was the winner, going the distance although allowing 15 hits.

First baseman Tim Harkness, 24, of Berlin, Ont., went in as a pinch hitter for the Dodgers in the ninth inning. He singled and knocked in a run.

Joey Jay, 21-game winner last year who lost his first two starts, went the distance to gain the victory for the Reds by holding the Braves to eight hits. Frank Robinson accounted for both Cincinnati runs with 2 bases-loaded double in the sixth inning that handed the loss to Bob Shaw. Shaw gave up only five hits in a seven-inning slint

Home Of Rabid, Ribald Fans

'Ulcer Gulch'-Hawk Eyrie

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (CP) — Broadcaster Johnny Gottselig jumped to his feet in the final seconds of a Montreal-Chicago Stanley Cup semi-final game last year. And as the victorious Hawks went to their dressing room, Johnny sat down—on the floor.

Some kook had snatched his chair and tossed it on the ice. The Hawks had won 5-3 and their fans were going crazy.

"That's one of the occupational hazards at games here," he said in an interview while sitting in the stillness of Chicago Stadium where, in an hour before the Black Hawks had scrimmaged in the stadium's 10 to 20 inches of snow at their best-of-seven cup final. Leafs had won the first two in Toronto.

"You know," Gottselig added, "I wouldn't be surprised if some night a body came tumbling down out of Ulcer Gulch."

Ulcer Gulch is the immortally believable spot of real estate in the huge stadium. It is the top balcony and home of Chicago's most rabid, and ribald, hockey fan fraternity.

CALLS THEM UNIQUE

"I'll swear you can go anywhere in North America and you won't find anybody like them," the one - time great Hawks player added. "We can win 10 straight and then lose one and the ulcers of the inhabitants up there pop all over the place.

"They don't care how we win. We can rattle bodies off the boards or play it like and goo tiemanly-like. All they want is a win. We gotta take every home game or those crazy guys get mad and throw things. And when we win? We win, they still throw things.

"And throwing things is an art that Hawks supporters have developed to a fine degree. In all my years at that building has been around here—32 to be exact—he said, a considerable key player being seriously hurt as the result of a few tons of ice, paper cups—full—of pop and beer, slats from the seats—anything that could be handily thrown on.

"We take strict security measures, but they still smuggle stuff in. Anybody carrying a package, or a briefcase, is told to open it up for inspection before he gets in the building. If a guy shows with a bulky overcoat, he's got to open it up We relieve them of all sorts of things, but how are you going to search more than 15,000 persons?"

RECALLS BEGINNING

Gottselig can pinpoint the real start of ofject tossers to April 10, 1938, the third game of the Toronto-Chicago cup final. The clubs split the first two games here. Toronto won the third "roughed us up a bit," said Johnny, left winger on that Hawks team.

"It's a best-of-five series and we leave for home immediately after the game. We hit Chicago and our publicity man at that time, Joe Farrell, lines up some six hospital cots, a couple of doctors and nurses and whip they're supposed to be catching up our hurts, photographers are taking pictures like mad.

"The Chicago papers play it up and our fans are hot. They let loose against the Leafs screaming fearful, we win 2-1 and after the game two trucks are needed to carry away the stuff that had been thrown on the ice, in the stands, all over the place. Then we win the cup in the fourth game 8-1."

Gottselig can tell a thousand anecdotes about the behavior of Chicago fans.

"One time a guy comes screaming into my office between periods. He's soaked with pop and beer. The Ulcer Gulch'ites out on the office. Never heard from him again."

SIGN CONTRACT

BRANTFORD (CP) — The Canadian Textile Council (CTC) and Harding Carpets Limited Monday signed a new two-year contract and the membership approved the settlement in a secret ballot.

Famous Runner Retires

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) — Herb Elliott, the slim Australian whose world mile record of 3:54.5 stood for nearly four years, retires this year from international competition today.

Thus the long-awaited "mile of the century" between Elliott and Peter Snell of New Zealand, who shaved Herb's record to 3:54.4 three months ago, went up in smoke. They were scheduled to meet in the British Empire Games in Perth, Australia, later this year.

Elliott made the announcement to the London Daily Mail.

When reporters caught up with him early today, Elliott said: "I can't say any more about that until tomorrow. Then I will tell you all about it."

Elliott, who went under the four-minute mark in the mile 17 times, bows out unbeaten at the distance. He has been studying for a medical degree at Cambridge University and has said his studies come before running.

Elliott said recently he would not compete in the Empire Games if he did not think he could get in proper shape to give a good account of himself. Since going to Cambridge he has done little serious running.

BUILDS ENDURANCE

Elliott burst upon the world spotlight in 1957 when he was taken in hand by Australian coach Percy Cerutty, who specialized in building up endurance in his runners with spartan training methods.

Elliott took to him like a fish takes to water and in a year later on a warm August night in Dublin he was clocked in 3:57.2 in an incredible race in which three other runners all betterged John Landy's world record of 3:58.

In the Rome Olympics in 1960, rumors spread that Elliott was out of shape and that he had had a fight out with Cerutty. But he left the entire field in the dust with a 1,500-metre run in his wake and sped home in a world record 3:35.6.

Since then he has been living a quiet student's life in a white-walled cottage in the sweet town of nearby Fulbourn with his wife and two small sons.

Offer Million For Willie, No Sale!

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—President Horace Stoneham of San Francisco Giants told Monday of two offers for centerfielder Willie Mays—one for $1,000,000—and reiterated the star isn't for sale or trade.

Early this year, New York Mets suggested a trade of about $00 units of Giants stock, worth an estimated $850,000, for Willie. About six years ago, Stoneham said, Cleveland offered an offer of $1,000,000 came from a St. Louis Cardinals spokesman.

"I told both we weren't interested," Stoneham said.

"Mays isn't for sale or trade. Actually, we've never had a real definite trade offer. No team has enough talent for a trade of this type."

Mexico Plagued By Fears And Confusion

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A harried Mexican economist pointed to a pile of reports on his desk and said:

"It all boils down to this. Every year we have over 1,000,000 new mouths to feed. Every year we have to create 500,000 new jobs for a growing labor force. How are we going to do it?"

That question is the basis of national debate in Mexico today. On its answer depends the country's political and economic future.

Lack of normal investment by private enterprise is blamed for a drop in the economic index from 5.7 per cent in 1960 to 3.5 per cent last year.

Businessmen in turn blame fear of Cuban communism and uncertainty over government policies.

FEARS UNJUSTIFIED

The fears of Cuban communism have proved unjustified so far. They have been the result of the government or the great majority of Mexicans not moving toward communism. In fact, there have been moves in the contrary.

Uncertainty over economic policies persists.

Businessmen cite confusion over official statements about the program of Mexicanization of foreign investments; essentially, this means 51 per cent Mexican control. They also point to government intervention in enterprises formerly in private hands.

The government, concerned by the economic slowdown, has announced several liberal measures aimed at encouraging private enterprise.

Continuing of low-cost housing has not kept up with demand and the housing gap is growing. Nearly half the 36,000,000 people lack any water, supply system, the Inter-American Development Bank says.

LACK TEACHERS

Illiteracy is nearly 40 per cent, with 1,400,000 children unable to attend school because of lack of facilities and teachers.

There are no official figures on unemployment.

Income Tax Explained

Written and designed for the taxpayer who is not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an Income Tax Office.

By C. A. MILLER
Former Supervising Assessor
Income Tax Dept.

Many taxpayers get into difficulties with the Income Tax Department, due to their filing more than one return. This happens quite frequently when a female taxpayer is married during the year, and continues her employment after marriage. She will file one return in her single name and another in her married name, reporting the income received after marriage.

In such cases, only one return should be filed, and that in her married name. There is space provided on page one of the return in which to show maiden name and where her previous returns were filed.

In addition, every taxpayer has been employed in two different tax districts, he will file a return in the district where he first was employed and another showing the income received in the district where he now resides. If no income was received, he should be shown on one return and filed in the district where he is presently residing.

Sometimes when a taxpayer has not heard from the tax department for a number of years he filed his return, he believes his original return has been lost in the mail or misplaced. Under these circumstances it would be well to file both returns being processed by the department, thereby avoiding confusion in the tax office and collecting the assessment from the delinquent. A taxpayer should never file a second return unless requested to do so by the Income tax office. For his own protection he likewise should always keep a duplicate of the return filed as well as the check for the refund when it was sent in.

QUESTION 1—I was married in December of last year, but did not work afterward. Do I file my return in my single or married name? Yes, it is also shows my single name.

ANSWER—File in your married name in the space provided on page 1, near the top left hand check for return.

QUESTION 2—I filed my return two months ago, but have not heard from the income tax department. Should I file another one?

ANSWER—No. Write your district tax office, giving them as to the type of return filed (T1 or T1 General) and the date it was mailed and re-questing information as to the delay.

Successful Living

A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems

Husband Calls Wife 'Hippo'

DEAR DORIS:—I have a real weight problem on my legs. The top of my thighs are so large they are starting to wrinkle. I'm 5 feet 5½ inches tall, weigh 137 lbs. and am 37 years of age. If I diet I lose everywhere but on my legs.

I've tried exercises but I'm not sure I'm doing the right ones. I Running either four children sure isn't helping. My husband kids me and calls me — HIPPO.

DEAR HIPPO:—The Greeks DORIS CLARE would have said you were about perfect. Rise he ever seen a hippo?

However, a few pounds, or would bring you closer to normal for Canadian Beauty. 1962. Write to the Queen's Printer, Ottawa, for the RCAF Plan for Physical Fitness. Concentrate on the leg exercises—plus a modified diet which does not forget the vitamins.

DEAR DORIS:—My daughter is 20 years old and it has been no picnic for her living here, as when my husband goes out and comes home drunk it is like a crazy house. He came home yesterday after being away all night, and went to break the T.V. He started calling me my daughter names and told her as long as he paid the rent he could do as he liked. So my daughter told him to give her the key and stay away from the house.

This has been going on since the children were small and I thought by working and helping him I could change him. But I don't think anyone could change him. I wish you could tell me what is the best thing to do.

My daughter has been a very sick girl all her life over the way he carries on. He owes bills and expects me to pay them out of what he gives me. He tells me he has control of the money and spends it on other women. My boy is still at high school; this is his last year. So I hope I can make it on my own.—BROKEN HEARTED MOTHER E. N.

DEAR BROKEN HEARTED:—If your daughter talks back to him, good for her. Obviously your Milquetoast tactics have never worked.

Your husband knows you will take up the slack as you have done for years. He really eats his cake and has it too, doesn't he? By now he is probably full of guilt feelings about the way he is treating his family, so he drowns his sorrows even more.

A personal counsellor is the one person who can help you to see your situation in a better light, to understand the alcoholism and to gather up enough moral courage to stand up to your husband. You must do this for the sake of your children.

In Belleville your resource is the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Foundation, 24 Harbord Street, Toronto 5, Ontario.

DEAR DORIS:—I was born on June 29rd at home. My father entered my birth date as June 29th, for he does not like odd numbers. When I was old enough to know about it my mother told me.

I would like your advice. How could I change my birthday to the 23rd, since 24th is wrong? Would it cause any and if so does how much?—WORRIED.

DEAR WORRIED:—Can you supply proof, such as a correct baptismal certificate or the doctor's record? Or would your father or mother now swear to the true fact of the case?

You'll need something of the sort. The cost is very small if the evidence is acceptable to all. State your case in a letter to the Registrar General of Ontario, 70 Lombard Street, Toronto 1, Ontario.

DEAR DORIS:—If the girl graduate asks the boy graduate to her graduation dance, does she buy his boutonniere?—MOM.

DEAR MOM:—No. The posie goes from him to her always. When he graduates, she may buy him a girl, if she is a close friend.

Ontario's Minister of Agriculture has called for a 50 per cent increase in the production of feed grains in Ontario this year. The need for additional feed grain is brought about by the poor crop in Western Canada in 1961, with subsequent higher prices in Ontario farmers. Present indications are that this situation would be repeated in 1962.

British Entry Into Market Poses Problem

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters) — The question of British entry into the European Common Market, expected to dominate the next general election here, is posing some severe internal problems for both the Conservative and Labor parties.

The Conservative government became publicly labelled as the Common Market party when it decided after long consideration that the time is ripe for discussing the possibility of British membership, but its own ranks are deeply divided on the question.

The decision on whether to join the six-nation group is one of the most vital which has faced any modern British government, and it is also critically important to the fortunes of the Labor party, whose future could be profoundly affected by the issue if it takes.

During the weekend the Labor leaders moved to crystallize party thinking on the question.

NEEDS CLOSE STUDY

Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell said at the week-end conference in Murney Kirkey.

Mrs. Ethan Ashley has been spending a few days in Desoronto, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bell and family.

And this has echoed by Conservative members, most of them in the belief that the majority of Britain's traditional institutions.

Astrological Forecast

For April 18
By SIDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Experience best bet today. Put your "money" on one who knows the score. Ignore the new, the flashy. Rather, depend on friend who is steady, if not spectacular.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Diplomacy the key to a successful day. If you try to push others into a corner, you may discover they have concealed weapons. You gain by going "soft and easy."

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Favorable lunar aspect to your sign - - - today means that creative efforts bring rewards. Also good for romance. However, don't expect others to be perfect.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): The power is in your "corner". No need to fear threats if you stand up for your rights. Plan ahead. Good day to begin building for future.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Your intuitive sense reveals a lot. So trust hunches about people, situations. Like Aries, go with "tried and true." Don't be led into arguments.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23): You could come up with money-making ideas today. Don't overlook hobbies or what they've taught you. Solutions to problems come easily if only you permit subconscious to provide answers.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Jumping to conclusions could cause embarrassment. Study situation with cool detachment. If one close to you appears to be "holding back," find out why. Do not condemn before investigating.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Rumor important for business, personal success today. Otherwise you might "frighten off" prospects. Let others make first move. Then you can act when thoroughly aware of what situation involves.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): The direct approach apt to be best today. Reading around the truth will waste time, arouse suspicion. If you have idea or criticism, express it clearly and concisely.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Analyze ambitions. See to it that you are working straight toward your goal. Money matters must be considered prudently. Financial reward will follow emotional satisfaction.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Avoid the shrill approach. Keep an even keel. Temptation will be to rush. But wiser action would be to go slowly - - - arriving at destination in one piece.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't "force" yourself into "cheerful" mood. Be reflective today, taking time to size up personal affairs. Be critical if occasion demands it. Others will appreciate your attitude.

If Today is Your Birthday - - - there is no stopping you once you make up your mind to accomplish goal. Be sure, however, that what you set out to accomplish is what you really desire. April could be outstanding month this year in romance, business and personal achievements.

General Tendencies: Obstinacy may be key word where individuals and nations are concerned. Neither side willing to concede. Those born in October and February apt to be in news.

BCI Auditorium Is Packed for Concert By Salvation Army International Band

By EUGENE LANG

Every seat in the Collegiate Auditorium was occupied, chairs were added by the dozens, even to the degree of seating about forty people on stage. The overflow of scores of persons considered themselves lucky to even fringe the back of the hall and the side aisles as standees. The exit doors had chairs placed three deep for more who could not even get into the auditorium to stand up. They sat on the floor, leaned against the radiators, pressed two to a chair and even stood up behind stage in the wings. Without doubt this was the largest crowd (barring those who were turned away) ever assembled in the BCIVS Auditorium in living memory. They came from parts near and far — Peterborough, Bancroft, Kingston, Port Hope, Cobourg, Picton, Tweed, Lindsay and Watertown, N.Y., to mention only a few outside points, to see and hear the renowned Salvation Army International Staff Band of London, England, now making its third transcontinental North American tour and last evening saw its second appearance in this city during the past eight years.

This band, which was organized in 1891 has travelled extensively through Western Europe and this continent, appearing frequently at Command performances for royalty in Great Britain and the Netherlands.. Its complement of thirty-six sterling musicians, practically all of them soloists on their chosen instruments in their own right, have attained a sonority, a consecrated fervency, a dedicated devotion to every offering that they play that few, if any, bands anywhere can match. Under the direction of Bandmastey Lieut.-Colonel Bernard Adams, this group of picked instrumentalists plays to sold-out houses wherever they appear — witness this appearance in Belleville last evening as typical example.

VARIED PROGRAM

Adorned in their colorful red and gold uniforms, the members of the band gave a program of great variety and appeal that could not fail to suit any musical appetite. Mention must be made of the fact that their instruments are made at their International Headquarters in London, along with their music being printed there, said music all being either written or arranged for this organization by Salvation Army personnel of the past and present.

From the very opening trumpet flourishes preceding the National Anthem to the last strains of the encore, the audience was held spellbound by the playing of the band, be it in concerted numbers, solos by various players, or small group presentations.

Eighteenth century pomp and ceremony were excitingly portrayed in the sparkling playing the band gave the "Royal Fireworks" Allegro of Handel and the "Trumpet Tune" of Henry Purcell. The "Kingdom Triumphant" of Eric Ball was given a reading of symphonic proportions and here the three dozen musicians immersed themselves into a reading of this powerful religious work that demonstrated their ranges of tone color resounding from the various choirs that at times resembled the grandiose sonic splendors of a mighty cathedral organ. Their softly spoken rendition of the idyllic "Last Spring" of Grieg was a model of splendor in the brass. The condensed version of Mendelssohn's "Italian Symphony" arranged by Major Dean Goffin dramatically showed the virtuoso skill possessed by every player, with cornets and trumpets (trombones too) negotiating the passages originally written for violins with ease and fluency.

The Eric Ball arrangement for Double Quartette of "Never Give Up" was brilliantly tossed back and forth between the two groups of instrumentalists with agility and impulsive fluidity.

SOLO NUMBERS

The solo for cornet, "Songs in the Heart", proved a vehicle of concerto-like difficulty which bandsman Rolland Cobb handled with surety of control of his horn at all times. Likewise, Bandsman Arthur Rollo enthralled the listeners with his elegant virtuoso treatment of the "Suite for Band and Trombone" by Capt. Ray Steadman-Allen. Both of these men gave outstanding performances of these two numbers.

In the four selections that Bandsmar Lawrence Mallyon sang he exhibited a bass voice of stentorian quality but one that imparted a feeling of conviction in each stirred song that he voiced. Bandsmen James Gilbert played the "Ritual Firedance" for Delilia on the piano as a solo but his sincere efforts in this familiar number were hindered by muddled piano tones, owing to the fact that the piano was practically offstage in its placement during performance.

Following the congregation singing the opening hymn "Jehovah is Our Strength", the prayer was intoned by Col. Knapp, Field Secretary from Toronto. The Scripture reading and Exhortation was given by Bandsman James Gilbert. Brigadier Arnold Brown of Toronto, formerly of this city, led in the closing prayer. The chairman of the evening and commentator of the music played was the Band Leader, Lieut.-Commissioner William Wotton. For the final hymn, in which the audience joined with the band, Lieut.-Colonel Bernard Adams, the Bandmaster, kindly turned the baton over to Major Ken Rawlins who is in charge of Salvation Army band for the Dominion.

Brigadier A. Semmer, Mid-Ontario Divisional Commander, explained to the audience during intermission various abelights about the band and its various tours, also told of the sincere thanks that the Salvation Army here in Belleville owed to the many individuals and organizations, regardless of creed, for their splendid help and assirance that was tendered so freely and graciously in making the stay of this band in Belleville a decided success . . . its greeting by a police envoy on arrival yesterday, added to by the mayor's welcoming the dinner served them by the members of the local Sirtners with Jack Allin as host and the generosity shown by Belleville citizens from all walks of life who billeted the members of the band in their homes last evening.

Everyone who attended last night's concert by the Salvation Army International Staff Band could only leave that auditorium with a feeling of personal uplifting at hearing so magnificent a performance by these consecrated musicians, whose music will remain in our aural senses long after they have travelled on to captivate other thousands throughout their month-long tour this year of Canada and the U.S.A. God bless them all.

OPP Inspector Hotly Denies All Allegations

Allan Stringer Grilled On Brief Submitted

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario commission on crime Tuesday heard Provincial Police Inspector Allan Stringer deny he had ever discussed a bribe of now to close a Niagara Falls gambling club with any number of the legislature.

Earlier, it has been alleged that the brief Insp. Stringer turned over to Staff Sgt. John Anderson, head of the provincial antigambling squad, in 1958 was passed on to the late James Maloney, then provincial mines minister, and his brother Arthur Maloney, an MP.

The inspector said the brief, a detailed plan to knock off the Ramsey Club—was mailed to him by someone identifying himself over the telephone as Toronto lawyer David Humphrey.

A pair of mysterious strangers got tangled up in testimony about the brief.

The inspector said the pair showed up, dressed in fishing clothes, at a river outside his Algonquin Park cottage about 1958 or 1959, identified themselves, and struck up a conversation with him.

EXPRESS CONCERN

Describing themselves as Niagara Falls lawyers, they expressed concern about the Ramsey Club and urged police action against it. Insp. Stringer testified they did not look like lawyers.

"Was there any discussion of members of the legislature or cabinet ministers at the cottage or by David Humphrey when he telephoned?" asked Liberal party counsel B. J. MacKinnon.

The inspector answered no.

He added that he tried to reach one of the alleged tavern keepers later and found the name they had given him were false.

The inspector denied receiving long distance calls from gambling kingpin Marcel Fevelev. Commission counsel Roland Ritchie testified Friday that on May 13 and May 15, 1958, had gone from a Peel County telephone booth once used by Feeley to the inspector's Peterborough home.

Inspector Stringer previously had denied that the veteran officer—who retires since 1957—was suspected by some OPP anti-gambling squad men of protecting gambling. Feeley is a major figure in Ontario's organized gambling market.

DENIES MEETING MEN

But Tuesday Insp. Stringer, under questioning from lawyer and commissioner Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, denied ever meeting of Liberal party fixer Mickick Joseph McDermott, who with former constable Robert Wright are under 18-month sentence for obtaining information illegally from police files.

The officer was OPP undercover agent George Scott, who

Scientists Spending Week in Cave Have Lost Their Time Bearings

CUNEO, Italy (AP)—Twenty scientists spending a week without clocks in a pitch-black cave have lost their time bearings so completely that some are mentally confused.

The "operation time" experimenters emerge from the cave, the roosters crow and think it must surely be broad daylight outside.

Nineteen Italian professors and students and one Peruvian went 1,200 feet down into the cave near Cuneo last Friday to learn why animals keep their sense of time and men lose theirs in total darkness.

They took along five roosters, still sleeping.

THIRD SESSION OF LEGISLATURE MAY END TODAY

New Construction Safety Act Passed

TORONTO (CP)—The third session of the 26th Parliament of Ontario has held what is generally expected to be its last night sitting. It is expected to be prorogued this afternoon.

Most of Tuesday's business centred round the committee rooms which flank the legislature chamber. Members appeared bent on blowing off their last reserves of steam.

Unlike most committee meetings, where cabinet ministers are rarely seen, the meeting of the standing committee on labor was attended by nine ministers in all, including Labor Minister Warrender and his predecessor, Charles Daley, Minister without portfolio.

The committee over-rode protests from the two opposition parties and quickly passed a new Construction Safety Act.

The principle objection to the act was that it leaves the inspection of safety procedures on construction projects in the hands of municipal inspectors.

DEFEAT PROPOSAL

A CCF amendment, supported by the NDP, would have placed inspection under control of the department. It was defeated by 13 to 7 and the act was passed on to the legislature where it will receive second and third readings.

A battery of speakers from the committee and from the public benches rose to protest that municipal inspectors had been denounced by Mr. Andrew Roy, a commission on construction safety, which reported last fall, as not adequately established.Labor Safety Council of Ontario.

Amendments to the Liquor Control Act passed two key stages without a word from opposition benches.

The bill allows for licensing of private clubs in "dry" areas of the province, appeals from decisions of boards and revision of general regulations.

The bill will have second reading—agreement in principle —and clause by-clause study. It is expected to get routine third reading today before the lieutenant-governor signs it into law.

TO TRAIN ACCOUNTANTS

Representatives of organizations representing accountants in Ontario was resolved Tuesday in the legislative committee to pass a bill setting up a training program for the training and license the province's public accounts.

The Certified General Accounts Association, which declared it will not be able to continue its own training program, agreed to meet with the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants to form a single body.

Only the legislature itself, Labor Minister Warrender observed today, will ask for a select committee to study the Apprenticeship Act.

Trades taught under fire recently because it excludes persons over 21 years of age from apprenticeship training under the federal-provincial retraining plan for the unemployed.

The night sitting was occupied with the third and final read-

Election Campaign Is Off to Fast Start With Party Chiefs Planning Flying Tours

OTTAWA (CP)—The election campaign is on.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker had engagements scheduled at the weekend in Moose Jaw, Vancouver and Victoria on successive days, April 25, 26, 27 and 28, but his office reported today his program is being revised in light of the election call.

Expect Long Line of Ships Will Be Waiting in Seaway

MONTREAL (CP) — Apprehension mounted in shipping circles today at a strike and a damaged lock brought activity in Montreal Harbor and the St. Lawrence Seaway to an almost complete halt.

Today, one local shipping official described a delay in opening the U.S. section of the inland waterway as "almost as bad as anything that has happened since the seaway was opened."

The delay, caused by a leak in the Eisenhower Lock at Massena, N.Y., is expected to postpone the opening by almost two weeks to April 24 when repairs are to be completed.

The strike, now in its sixth day since began aggravated by a truck drivers' strike which has stilled activity in the Montreal section of the Seaway.

Officials here estimate that the eventual opening of the Seaway will see between 90 and 100 ships waiting in the Montreal river and a possible 125 waiting

U.S. Introduces Sweeping Plan for Disarmament Pact

GENEVA (AP)—The United States proposed a sweeping world disarmament program today with a new enforcement concept based on spot checks in the territories of the great powers.

Dean said the new plan was based on the principle "the nations of the world should seize a moment in time to stop the arms race, to freeze the military situation as it then appears, and to shrink it to zero, always keeping the relative military positions of the parties as near as possible to what it was at the beginning."

Instead of starting the disarmament process with an inventory of national military establishments — which the Russians have always rejected as espionage—the new U.S. plan called for spot checks in selected areas.

Under new checks would be conducted on the sampling technique developed by big industrial countries. The military forces and installations in any sample area would give international inspectors a picture of the total.

U.S. officials said Soviet diplomats with whom they discussed the sampling idea prior to introduction of the draft "seemed fascinated by it" but did not commit their government.

The U.S. felt the sampling procedure went a long way toward meeting Soviet objections against foreign inspectors roaming all over Russia in the early

TRADE DEFICIT $37,600,000 IN FEBRUARY

U.S. Sales Higher, To Britain Lower

OTTAWA (CP)—Export sales to the United States, reported Tuesday, rose in February while sales to Britain declined, pushing the overall shipped pattern of Canada recorded a $37,600,000 trade deficit in the month.

Total exports for February, on the strength of a 21.8-per-cent gain in shipments to the U.S., reached $411,700,000, up 12 per cent from $367,500,000 a year earlier, the bureau of statistics said today in a preliminary report.

Canada, Which Gets Red Fallout, May Escape Debris of U.S. Tests

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada, which lies in the direct path of radioactive fallout from Russia's 1961 nuclear tests, may be relatively free of much of the debris from United States detonations expected to start next week.

First in more than three years, the U.S. tests will be conducted over a period of about three months in the South Pacific area of Christmas and Johnston Islands. Johnston is about 700 miles southwest of Hawaii.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission says that of the total debris from the tests, only about one or two per cent is expected to consist of local fallout.

"The remaining 98 or 99 per cent is expected to be dispersed high above the earth's equatorial regions," the commission noted in a statement, indicating much of the fallout may circle the earth at the equator instead of the northern hemisphere as was the case in Russia's Arctic series last fall.

In the U.S. case, "the diluted bands of low-level radioactivity will lose part of their radioactivity through natural decay processes before they gradually descend to earth over a period of years."

Despite expressions of concern by Canada and other countries, including the non-aligned nations, the United States is moving rapidly towards resumption of the shots which may start about April 25, depending on the weather. Russia has announced it reopens her aerial shots if the United States does.

More than 10,000 men are involved in the U.S. preparations for some 40 experiments.

Informants said there is no immediate plan for including the Bomarc, to be sent a aircraft missile which Canada has accepted, in the tests. That news has undergone full operational testing with the nuclear load.

Most experiments are to be in these categories:

1. Firing of intercontinental missiles under simulated field conditions.

2. Testing of underground defence facilities to see how well they can withstand a nuclear attack.

3. Finding ways of improving the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile in the hope of developing an effective defence. The major Nike Zeus problem is that it cannot discriminate between a real nuclear warhead and a decoy.

Party Leaders Ready To Take to Hustings

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — There will be a federal general election Monday, June 18, two months from today.

The enumeration of voters will take place between April 30 and May 5.

Nomination day for candidates will be June 4 except in 21 large, scattered ridings. Nomination day for them will be May 22.

There will be 265 Commons seats at stake. The present party standing in the Commons is: Progressive Conservatives 208; Liberals 51; CCF-New Democratic Party 8; vacancies 3.

DAY INDEFINITE

Exact day for dissolution of the 24th Parliament for election of the 25th remained indefinite but it could be today, tomorrow or as late as Sunday.

Mr. Diefenbaker listed several items of government legislation he would like to see cleaned up before the next Governor-General Vanier to recommend dissolution.

The election campaign, in second year for a long time now, will shift into high almost immediately.

Mr. Diefenbaker next week will speak at meetings at the Lakehead, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan and Victoria.

Liberal Leader Pearson plans to go to Newfoundland late next week. He has a date with Premier Joseph R. Smallwood, and a Toronto meeting the next day. Then he will fly to Western Canada.

New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas will be in Saskatchewan until the end of this month at least.

They next returned in a landslide March 31, 1958, when the party's seats standing read: Conservatives 208, Liberals 49, CCF 8.

WILL DECIDE

Mr. Pearson said in the Commons after the election announcement that voters will decide the election "on the record of this government."

He charged that "obstruction by the Liberals had made it almost impossible for the Commons to get any business done."

Mr. Pearson replied that Mr.

PEARSON LASHES 5-YEAR RECORD OF GOVERNMENT

Policies on Trade, Jobless Attacked

OTTAWA (CP) — A scathing item-to-item indictment of the government's five-year record launched the election campaign of Liberal Leader Pearson Thursday night.

In the warning moments of the 26th Canadian Parliament, Mr. Pearson savagely lashed at Progressive Conservative policies on unemployment, trade, deficit spending and the Coyne affair.

The mood fitted the atmosphere created by Prime Minister Diefenbaker's announcement earlier that the Commons will adjourn today or Thursday pending dissolution for a June 18 election.

Meanwhile, the Commons today may get one last crack in the private members' hour of disposing of 200 divorce petitions on the Commons order paper. An hour - long filibuster by the CCF-New Democratic Party group prevented passage of the petitions Tuesday.

Mr. Diefenbaker introduced legislation for a five-man commission which would make recommendations on redistribution of federal electoral constituencies every 10 years, on the basis of census figures.

WILL DIE—BUT

The prime minister said the bill will die with dissolution but would serve as an invitation to comment and suggestions. Four senior judges and the chief electoral officer would be cabinet appointees under the proposed legislation, designed to remove the re-mapping of constituencies in line with population shifts out of partisan politics.

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista - Twillingate) rolled out doubts about having cabinet appointees replace what has been a task for the Commons. He urged the naming of the com-

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced he will dissolve the 26th Parliament shortly for a federal general election June 18.

Opposition Leader Pearson said the voters will decide the election "on the record of this government."

E. W. Partridge, CCF-NDP House leader, said his party is looking forward to the verdict of the Canadian people."

Mr. Diefenbaker reported that the government intends to build the Prince Edward Island causeway, a $105,000,000 job.

The CCF-NDP group staged another series of diversionary bills and drew a scathing attack from Robert McCleave (PC—Halifax).

Water Pollution Great Problem Says Speaker

Guest speaker G. M. Gallinger, in addressing the Kiwanis Club held at the Quinte Kiwanis Centre on Tuesday, said one of the biggest problems which was of great interest to our municipality, was the problem of water pollution.

Mr. Gallinger, assistant general manager of the Ontario Water Resources Commission, said that their main objective was to eliminate water pollution.

The speaker said we in Ontario were very fortunate in our water resources, what with the Great Lakes, there were very few municipalities in Ontario that have a water problem. Most municipalities have a sufficient water supply.

"It is very important," he said, "that we protect these resources."

The speaker touched on such matters as algaes polluting the water, chemicals from plants and detergents. He said a great deal of research was being carried out at the present time to overcome these problems.

In five years, he said, 140 sewage treatment plants have been built serving 40 per cent of Ontario's population. At present, right here, about 75 per cent are connected with sewage systems and sewage disposal problems We have industrial which have devoted part of their advertising to the elimination of water pollution

This is a subject, said the speaker, that has been given a great deal of consideration and research will only have to be the U.S. also.

In conclusion, the speaker said the most difficult problem at present is the algae problem.

Mr. Gallinger was introduced by Kiwanian Leo McKee and thanked by fellow Kiwanian Bill Stuart.

A touch of humor was added to the meeting when Kiwanians were fined 25 cents for having their pictures appear in the paper last week. An announcement was made that there are in the making for the Kiwanis Club to tour the Mint watershed, some time in the near future.

nister members in the bill itself.

Mr. Pearson seized the only remaining opportunity to condemn a Commons reply to Finance Minister Fleming's budget speech with a party political own campaign to be the next Prime minister.

But after the 10 p.m. adjournment, as supporters serenaded the Liberal leader, a broadly grinning Mr. Fleming unwinded to the floor to stand shoulder to shoulder with a smiling Mr. Pearson.

No such accord was evident in the 1½-hour Pearson attack on the Progressive Conservative record in office.

It was mounted on a routine government bill to cover the final supplementary spending estimates for the last fiscal year. Approval still was needed today when the Commons resumed for the normal short Wednesday afternoon sitting.

Mr. Pearson got deficits and unemployment, too, and this is the attitude in government mismanagement," he said in a typical sample.

Canada's financial affairs "are in a morass from which the government is unable to retreat with grace or emerge with credit."

It was "thunderous falsehood" by the Conservatives to contend the Liberals wanted to see no economic improvement. Another criticism, attacked as statement of "unmitigated nonsense," had been borne out by fact.

Mr. Fleming was accused of having consistently misled the Canadian people. He had failed "every single year" to give a proper and true picture of the economy.

Mr. Pearson said the budget deficits, liquidation of a special defence account and depletion of the unemployment insurance fund mean a $4,000,000,000 added debt for Canadians—$666 per resident.

Mr. Pearson called the government's attempt last summer to fire James E. Coyne as chairman of the Bank of Canada—Mr. Coyne resigned—"one of the most sordid and shameful episodes in our history." It had "a stench to it" like the Bill of Rights, degraded Parliament and tarnished Canada's name abroad.

During the week of April 30 a man will visit Belleville who could be a very helpful friend to local industries.

He is G. C. G. Hickey, a professional engineer, department of field services, Ontario Department of Treasury, Toronto. This department is a small group of men who are ready to advise industrial management, engineers on plant problems, accountants on financial and accounting problems on the distribution of products. Holmes will assist in finding the answers and making recommendations. Confidential information is given and other information can be obtained through Mr. Holmes who acts as the field representative of the National Research Council, Technical Information Service.

The present visit to Belleville has been arranged through Mr. Earl E. Dickensheet, manager of the Belleville Industrial Commission. It is one of several visits Mr. Holmes is making round the province of Ontario during the fall the services of ORF and the Ontario Research Foundation are also special attention will be given to smaller industries who may not be able to afford advisory services called Field Engineering and Technical Information Centre.

Persons interested in seeing Mr. Dickensheet should contact Mr. Dickensheet to arrange for appointment by calling WO 8-6100.

The Ontario Research Foundation is an independent non-profit corporation, undertakes contract research for government and industry. It was started jointly by the province of Ontario through C.M.A. and the province of Quebec through industry four years ago.

The facilities of ORF can be used by industry to solve its most broad technical areas of interest common to industry. They are available to all companies regardless of size. Services range from the provision for free of general and technical help through all stages to the undertaking of long term research contracts costing many thousands of dollars.

A request for technical assistance is never turned away and all activities are treated as confidential.

Many Belleville industries have been assisted in this way in the past. Since this is an attempt to keep Belleville and district costs down and maintain an increasing standard of living for the local residents, it is hoped those services will continue to be used by Belleville industries.

Freak Accident Injures Two at Rednersville

A former Belleville resident, Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, 58, of Rednersville, is in the Belleville General Hospital, where today in serious condition as the result of a freak accident, which occurred in her home Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Bowler, whose condition was reported as improved, but still in a serious condition, this morning, is suffering from a broken pelvis, severe lacerations in the head, neck, chest injuries, broken ribs and lung damage.

Her husband, Cleon Bowler, age 58, is also in hospital and suffering from facial lacerations, general abrasions and shock. He is reported to be resting comfortably this morning, by Dr. S. D. Heene, the attending physician.

Mrs. Bowler, who was driving the car, had driven into the driveway and parked in front of the garage. Mr. Bowler had gotten out of the car, and as was customary, placed a block under the wheel of the car, as the driveway is situated on a steep incline from the roadway.

Mrs. Bowler had slid from under the wheel and while attempting to exit from the passenger's door, the vehicle started to roll backward. Mr. Bowler at this time was on his way to the mail box, when he noticed the car rolling toward him.

In an attempt to stop the car he was knocked down by the open door.

As to how Mrs. Bowler received her extensive injuries, it is not exactly known. There were no witnesses to the accident and neither Mr. nor Mrs. Bowler could remember just what had taken place.

It is believed the parking brake on the car failed as Mrs. Bowler was getting out of the car. It is not known whether or not Mrs. Bowler was knocked down and dragged by the car or whether she had been run over by it, as there was no one present when the accident took place. Provincial Police at Picton investigated the accident.

to go down. The locks can handle 30 ships a day in each direction.

When the Seaway does open, the lakes ports will have by far the greatest problem with congestion, says Capt. Pringle. "They are not equipped to handle the huge fleets of ocean ships."

In Toronto, Ernest Griffith, general manager of the Toronto Harbor Commission, said the harbor is now receiving new dollars because of the lock trouble. He said this could happen if shippers believe the Seaway decided to discharge their cargoes at Montreal or other ports.

One shipping official here said Winnipeg grain dealers were "stunned" by the implications of the delay. While plans have been made to ship grain from the Canadian Lakehead (Fort William and Port Arthur) to Montreal, he estimated that it would take several hundred cars to carry the same amount of grain one lake carrier can handle.

In addition, U.S. grain shippers are forced with finding alternative routes for their shipments, most of which are bound for Europe.

Shipments of iron ore and other raw materials are also expected to be hard hit by the delay as will be vessels carrying general cargo to the lakes.

The truck drivers' strike, coming hot on the heels of an eight-day St. Lawrence River pilots walkout, has severed the port of Montreal's outside road links and added to the glut of shipping caused by the Seaway delay, at least one freighter lined the Montreal waterfront Tuesday night with about 25 others reported en route here.

Medical Care Subject of Talk To Sales Club

Members of the Sales and Advertising of Club, meeting Tuesday evening in the Knights of Columbus Hall, were privileged to hear Dr. Reg. Anderson, formerly of Belleville, at present chairman of the health committee for the Ontario Chamber of Commerce

Dr. Anderson said that payment for medical care rests mainly with the individual and that there are a great many families unable to pay for their medical care. "In a case such as this" he said, "help from the government is sometimes necessary."

Dr. Anderson added that a very great problem faced Canada, in that she did not have a sufficient number of doctors. He said in order to acquire the number of doctors needed, universities and other medical centres will have to be encouraged to extend their facilities if at all possible and that more medical and dental schools are required. Dr. Anderson stated that in order to attract more young men to this profession, loans and scholarships would have to be established to help them more encouragement.

OPPOSE STATE PLAN

He said the Chamber of Commerce was against the idea of a state medical care plan, but a voluntary plan was capable of expanding, giving a more complete coverage of the population. He added however:

"Over 80 per cent of the population of Ontario" he said, "makes use of the present medical care plans and we would be wrong if I said the other 60 per cent does not use them because of the lack of money."

The Canadian Medical Association and the Canadian Health Insurance Association have been working to find ways to broaden the field of care plans.

"There appears," he said, "to be an overall agreement amongst the members of the medical profession that, even taking into consideration the immigration of medical people we will still be receiving qualified medical people in the future."

Dr. Anderson stressed the fact that ther, was a very grave shortage not only of doctors, but also of dentists He stated that the demand for dentists was even greater than that for doctors.

He explained that it took at least ten years from the time a student enrolled at a medical school until he was graduating, and the need for medical doctors over that length of time would grow.

In conclusion, Dr. Anderson said that it was a known health costs down and provide medical care for those who were unable in full or in part, the present voluntary plan would have to be continued and the government makes provision for the needy group.

Dr. Anderson's humor added a touch of spirit to the meeting.

Flying 10 Training Planes To France, Gift of Canada

TRENTON — On Tuesday, ten twin-engined RCAF "Expeditor" aircraft began their flight off from RCAF Station Trenton on the first leg of a flight to France. The aircraft are part of Canada's 1962 Mutual Aid program to NATO countries.

The Expeditors were readied for the long trans-Atlantic flight by groundcrew at 129 Acceptance and Ferry Flight at No. 2 Repair Depot, Trenton. Pilots from 129 Acceptance and Ferry Flight and Air Force Headquarters in Ottawa will fly the aircraft the 4,000 miles to Chateaudun, France, via Goose Bay, Labrador; Prestwick, Scotland, Keflavik, Iceland, and Prestwick, Scotland.

A spokesman at RCAF Station Trenton said yesterday that the Expeditor had been fitted out with oversize fuel tanks and that they would make the trans-Atlantic hop in three groups of three, and one of four. They are under a right gift from Canada to France and how they will be used is not known.

Nursing Service Cannot Be Provided for School

TRENTON — Until such time as the Trenton branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses feels that it is in a position to support two full-time nurses, nursing service cannot be supplied to the Glen Christian school on Fourth Ave.

At a branch executive meeting last night, officers were agreed that the one full-time nurse and her assistant, hired on a part-time basis, had reached the saturation point as far as special services are concerned. The local nurse handle home visiting, assist at immunization clinics, visit out patients in the hospital and conduct well - baby and pre-natal clinics.

If two nurses were hired full-time, it would be necessary to buy another car and the operating costs of the car, with the nurses on call, would be a financial burden to the group as it is now.

VON services now extend beyond the boundaries of the town itself to Bayside and Middleton Park.

Last night's meeting was conducted by the president, Robert Barlow. Mr. Barlow told the executive members of a pilot home-care program, better known as the ToPaSo, whereby patients are given free nursing care, homemaker services etc. when they leave the hospital. By this plan, patients who are not fully recovered, could complete their convalescence in the familiar surroundings of their own home. If the plan were universally adopted, the hospital authority would have to be made in hospital insurance payments.

Miss Joan Morden, head of VON nursing services in Trenton, commented that the plan might be worked out on a modified scale locally, some time in the future.

Miss Moyer reported that the nursing staff had made 201 home visits during March.

Miss Moyer said that 16 local women had attended the prenatal classes last month and that there had been a good attendance at the well-baby clinic, conducted every Thursday afternoon, 2-4 p.m. in the VON office, over the downtown CNR station.

Thirty-six children received vaccinations during the month. Miss Moyer commented that the mothers were as upset about the vaccination as the children were. She pointed out the necessity of vaccination in these days of world travel.

Thirty-six children attended their baby clinic during the month of March, which was an increase over February.

Mr. Barlow Kerr, R.N., who is studying public health nursing at the University of Ottawa will be in town for the next three weeks, working with Miss Moyer, to gain practical experience.

Mr. Barlow read a letter from clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry, acknowledging the local branch's request for a grant of $2,200 for 1962. The grant has been considered in the budget estimates.

Mr. Barlow also reported that all arrangements had been made for the VON tea, to be held in the Trenton Legion Hall next Wednesday and the dates of the VON tag day, May 25 and 26, were confirmed by Mrs. S. Mowbray, convener. Mrs. C. Griffiths is convener for the tea.

Reports were read by the secretary, Mrs. Percy Burgess and the treasurer, Roy Thompson, reported on the financial standing of the local group. A deficit, customary at this time of year, was noted and Mr. Barlow asked that it be compared with last year's figures. Mrs. Thompson will report on this at next month's meeting which will be held at the home of George Greer, vice-president.

School Guards Will Be Given Colored Coats

TRENTON — Trenton's eight school crossing guards won't need to worry about getting new spring outfits this year.

Acting on a suggestion from the Trenton Traffic Committee, the town will provide the guards with colored raincoats, with fluorescent vests.

Cost will run around $15 per coat, and the guards will collect the guards by making them more noticeable to motorists.

GIVEN '21 DAYS

In magistrate's court at Trenton yesterday Magistrate Hodge, 32, of Trenton, charged with driving while intoxicated, pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to 21 days in the county jail by Magistrate T. V. Wills. Hodge was involved in an accident on Dundas Street East and Maryboro Street one day last week.

Crown Attorney John A. Pringle asked for the maximum sentence of 30 days as he said the accused had been a potential danger to pedestrians at the time of the accident.

DAILY POPULATION 114

The average daily population at Trenton Memorial Hospital last month was 114 (adults and children) and 24 newborn. There were 423 admissions and 410 discharges. During the month, 86 babies were born.

Seven deaths were recorded and 270 emergencies handled in the out-patients' department, 633 persons were treated; major operations numbered 38 while minor operations totaled 130.

Different Beauties

Philip Gosling, a Guelph real estate consultant and appraiser, has been given the task of getting Canadians out of their cars and onto their feet.

If he can sell this deal, he can sell anything.

The Ontario Federation of Naturalists has named Gosling to conduct a comprehensive survey of the proposed "Bruce Trail," from Queenston, in the Niagara Peninsula, to Tobermory, at the tip of the Bruce Peninsula. The Federation wants Canadians to learn the beauties of the outdoors and it believes that these are best enjoyed by walking.

The Federation has a point. The car driver and his passengers can never appreciate all the wonders of nature while they stick to the travelled highways or even the byways. The easy with which the pleasures of travel afoot are granted by people who have been accustomed to do all their sightseeing from the comfort of a foam-rubber seat in a shock-proofed conveyance is demonstrated every day of the summer, by the eager groups which throng the comparatively short "nature trails" in provincial parks.

The Federation is apparently trying to combine two entirely different kinds of beauty when it takes such care that the proposed Bruce Trail should run through picturesque country, Credit Forks in the Caledon Hills, the Beaver Valley in Grey County and the Blue Mountains on Georgian Bay's southern shore.

When afoot, the thrills from the visual beauties of nature can be derived from the close inspection of the minute—the hunching crawl of the caterpillar, the silken prison laboriously woven by a spider, the scurrying of a mouse—as well as from the enjoyment of sweeping vistas. The man afoot sees no more than the mountain top than does the motorist, and indeed the motorist has added to his delight the apparent motion of the wide-flung landscape, as it rolls by him as if stripped off some never-ending roll of canvas.

Afoot, in car or train, or aloft in the air, the traveller can find beauty spread before his eyes—but it is beauty of different orders, as different as water, coffee and champagne. Which is best depends on the mood of the viewer and the nature of what is to be viewed, the skipping cottontail, the lofty peak for panting on a hilltop while hounds bay in the swamp below, or billowing hills climbing upward to the sky, orderly fields marching from the mountain's foot to the blue lake in the distance, or bowerless forest piled up to the sun, a blue and green patchwork stretching to the horizon, or wavering white lines ever advancing and ever retreating around the edges of every blue patch.

Why the Late "Discovery?"

Pictures of the 80-foot crack in the Eisenhower Locks of the St. Lawrence Seaway give one cause for wonder. The crack looks about as inconspicuous as a missing front tooth in a toothpaste advertisement. How come this crack has just been "discovered" as a new navigation season was about to open? Does nobody inspect the locks during the winter months? If the locks had been properly inspected, would not this crack have been discovered months ago —and would it not have been possible to carry out the necessary repairs during the winter and thus avoid delaying the opening of Seaway navigation for a fortnight?

Some questions about the contractors, and the inspection work during the building of the Eisenhower Locks at Massena, N.Y., would also appear to be in order. It is true that water and winter often form a deadly combination where concrete structures are concerned, but one would have thought that this fact, besides making the advisability of winter inspection of the locks self-evident, would also have been given considerable attention during the building of the locks. Is this just a freak flaw—or are there other signs that similar cracks may appear periodically, in the years ahead?

Man makes the circumstances, and spiritually as well as economically is the artificer of his own fortune . . . Man's circumstances are the element he is appointed to live and work in; . . . so that in another less genuine sense, is man be said circumstances make the man.—Thomas Carlyle.

Where there is no free agency, there can be no morality. Where there is no temptation, there can be little claim to virtue. Where the routine is rigorously prescribed by law, the law, and not the man, must have the credit of the conduct.—William Ellsworth Peasecod.

An Audience Loves to See Performer Slip

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

At the circus last week, the children were beguiled most by the baby elephant, Baby Tessa. Tessa, but the adults responded most enthusiastically to a comedian, who tripped over in his perch in a mock accident.

The cry that went up from the crowd was compounded of shock, horror — and deep pleasure, because, secretly, they wanted to witness a fatality. And all performers know this.

Oscar Hammerstein II used to call the audience "the big black beast." It lurks there in the dark auditorium, waiting for the entertainer to falter and fall. Every professional performer feels at heart that the audience is his enemy — this is why adulation from the crowd does not really satisfy him, or bring him any sense of security.

The blood-lust of a primitive tribe has been vanished over in civilization: it has not been eradicated. The mobs that used to attend public executions or pickpockets in the seventeenth century now attend, in fact, a mob, that flocked to see Christians thrown to the lions in the first century. In his heart, this is why adulation from the crowd does not really satisfy him, or bring him any sense of security.

We can feel it most keenly while watching stunt fliers or acrobats, and the sadistic misanthropism of the mass is palpable even to a performer in the more polished arts. And the fearful of his fame and acclaim, Caruso confided to his friends, "Each time I sing, I feel there is someone waiting to destroy me, and I must fight him. I must build my own."

Even mass movements, what ever their political slogans, are based on blood-letting: all great political parties are the individuals who compose them. The big argument for individualism is that no one would dare to do alone what he will do with the crowd: that is why weak boys form gangs.

And even an audience, which has presumably gathered together for entertainment and relaxation, takes on some of the aspects of a primitive mob. Let these children see a high note, or the actor flub a line, and the animal out there is ready to yell, to hiss, to baseball hero in a slump or applaud the fallen; the crowd turns against him angrily.

For society is always looking for the downfall and the victims. We inflate our heroes beyond human dimensions, and then we enjoy pricking them to see if they will burst. We yearn for a display of weakness, and also yearn to see that superiority reduced by humiliation and failure. The cry that went up from the crowd at the circus was cry of human fear — and of subhuman jubilation. Where even does this cannot completely stand mankind, or himself.

Honesty Its Own Reward

St. Thomas Times-Journal

William Levingstone of Pawnee Rock, Man., found a woman's purse which he opened to see if there was an address inside. There was; also cash; a cheque for $4 and a bunch of keys: He drove 13 miles to the address given. Then learned that the woman had moved to another address quite a distance away. So he mailed the purse and contents to that address and, not receiving any acknowledgment after a lapse of time, he wrote asking if the purse had been received.

The owner replied that it had and also that much had been debited to him. Enclosed was a cheque for $4 by way of reward.

The cheque bounced!

The heading to this item points the moral.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

QUIET HOURS

There is no recrid of any of our Lord's activities on Wednesday of Holy Week. No doubt he spent it in seclusion. Perhaps he was in the home of one of the disciples, or in the home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus, or perhaps he wandered alone over some quiet countryside facing the doom which he knew to be approaching and preparing his soul to meet the ordeal.

This day should impress us with the necessity for times of quiet, refreshment, and reflection in our everyday life. Our generation loves action. We have accomplished more than any generation in history, but we are also in danger of losing certain important values. For it cannot be denied that in hours of quiet and in places of seclusion God often speaks to men certain important messages which he does not utter amid the clamor of everyday living.

In other words, we need our daily period of quiet and prayer. We need time when we close the door of our hearts and minds to the world and get ready to see if we can more perfectly apprehend the presence of God and come more perfectly to understand His holy purposes.

Jesus himself had to have a quiet day, a period of solemn reflection, before he could confront the cross. Perhaps we fail often in life because we try too hard — because too infrequently do we listen for God's word of guidance and power. Quiet and Strength.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

The magnificent war effort of the Canadian National Railways in contributing transportation, equipment and manpower commensurate with the progress since, and in contrast to the First World War, was graphically portrayed in a brilliant address here last night by Mr. A. A. Gardiner, head of the Traffic Passenger Department. Speaking before 140 members and guests of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce at its annual banquet at the Hotel Quinte Mr. Gardiner in the eloquent style that marks him one of the best after-dinner speakers to appear here for some time, drew a parallel comparison between the stepped-up tempo, modern equipment and war experience of the present road and its personnel, to that of 25 years ago. An outstanding representation of civic, industrial, business, provincial and municipal heads paid tribute to the railway, "the greatest industry in the city," and to the loyalty of their tributes to the fellowship and camaraderie that exists between the "company" and the city as a whole.

The splendid salvage work being carried on in the city by the Women's Canadian Club continues unabated. On March 6th, the treasurer presented a cheque for one hundred dollars to Mr. I. G. Hefkey, treasurer of the Belleville Red Cross Society, and on April 3rd a similar sum was presented.

Paris Drowns In Scotch

Deserve Fate

Where are the sweet, limpid days of the past, when gay Paris was the champion that drew Americans from afar, but romantic American who came with Britons, Russians and others who have always loved Paris in their day, and loved the heady air?

We say because we have just noted what may be the final act in the de-Gallicization of Paris. In itself it is a small thing, but in its implication it is huge and horrid.

Sales of Scotch whisky have been increased almost six times in Paris in the past four years. Scotch whisky has even invaded the Parisian night club, which we once were dedicated to the consumption of champagne, or at least of fizzy wines which the proprietor said were champagnes, even though they might be bulk process wines from the midi, or from some outrageous carbon dioxide plant outside the French capital.

We have been dipping into a handful of new novels which deal with the Paris scene.

One of them, entitled The New Ambassadors, deals almost exclusively with the Americans who have come to prosperous Paris and find pay disparities, coin-operated washing machines, and bowling alleys in the suburbs.

This group apparently likes nothing better than to drop from one Americanized French restaurant to another, with a stop at an Americanized bar or two in between, and then a trip to an Americanized country club.

The point in entertainment for one novelist seems to be a trip to a restaurant that is Americanized, and then lured in mammy-type broiled spare ribs.

A second novel of Paris that we read not long ago dealt with the Bohemian life of a 34-year-old professional student, an American who lived in Paris, and who made a national grant to follow another.

His Own Man, this book by Martha Gellhorn was called, and it presented a miserable picture of Americans in Paris as we could hope to see.

Well, we lament for the old days, and growing older every day we realize that the old saw is true: You can never go back. We shudder to think of returning to if Paris that is overrun by professional American businessmen.

Must Control TV, Radio

Ottawa Journal

Dr. Andrew Stewart, chairman of the Board of Broadcast Governors, tells the Canadian Association of Broadcasters that a private broadcasting industry operating free of controls like newspapers would be "utterly unrealistic."

Dr. Stewart could have added that it would be wrong.

And for a clear reason.

Any citizen is free to start a newspaper, provided he has afford it; there is the public protection, or at least opportunity for it, of a competition of voices.

But a citizen is not free to start radio or TV broadcasting, even if he can command the money, for only so many broadcasting channels.

Therefore, when a person is granted a licence, given an air channel to operate a radio or TV station, he is given a special privilege, given in fact a monopoly permission to use that monopoly in any way he decides so long as he observes the rules of public taste or right or interest, would be intolerable.

So licensing is not no government in its right mind could ever be expected to permit it.

Sir John A. Brainwashed

Ottawa Journal

It appears that Sir John A. Macdonald should have spelled his name with a capital "Mc". Using a small letter after the "Mac" in some Highland names is surrounding himself in confusion, according to a Celtic scholar quoted in the Weekly Scotsman of Edinburgh.

This scholar, who remains prudently anonymous, announced says that the capital letters should be used in names derived from the names of clan heroes. Examples are MacDonald, MacKenzie, MacGregor, MacLeod, MacPhail and MacNeil.

But a small letter should be used in names in names not derived from the proper names: Macpherson (son of the parson), Mayday (son of the vicar), Macintyre (son of the carpenter), Mackay (son of the piper), etc.

We have been dipping into a handful of new novels which deal with the Paris scene.

One of them, entitled The New Ambassadors, deals almost exclusively with the Americans who have come to prosperous Paris and find pay disparities, coin-operated washing machines, and bowling alleys in the suburbs.

This group apparently likes nothing better than to drop from one Americanized French restaurant to another, with a stop at an Americanized bar or two in between, and then a trip to an Americanized country club.

The point in entertainment for one novelist seems to be a trip to a restaurant that is Americanized, and then lured in mammy-type broiled spare ribs.

A second novel of Paris that we read not long ago dealt with the Bohemian life of a 34-year-old professional student, an American who lived in Paris, and who made a national grant to follow another.

His Own Man, this book by Martha Gellhorn was called, and it presented a miserable picture of Americans in Paris as we could hope to see.

Well, we lament for the old days, and growing older every day we realize that the old saw is true: You can never go back. We shudder to think of returning to if Paris that is overrun by professional American businessmen.

Must Control TV, Radio

Ottawa Journal

Dr. Andrew Stewart, chairman of the Board of Broadcast Governors, tells the Canadian Association of Broadcasters that a private broadcasting industry operating free of controls like newspapers would be "utterly unrealistic."

Dr. Stewart could have added that it would be wrong.

And for a clear reason.

Any citizen is free to start a newspaper, provided he has afford it; there is the public protection, or at least opportunity for it, of a competition of voices.

But a citizen is not free to start radio or TV broadcasting, even if he can command the money, for only so many broadcasting channels.

Therefore, when a person is granted a licence, given an air channel to operate a radio or TV station, he is given a special privilege, given in fact a monopoly permission to use that monopoly in any way he decides so long as he observes the rules of public taste or right or interest, would be intolerable.

So licensing is not no government in its right mind could ever be expected to permit it.

Sir John A. Brainwashed

Ottawa Journal

It appears that Sir John A. Macdonald should have spelled his name with a capital "Mc". Using a small letter after the "Mac" in some Highland names is surrounding himself in confusion, according to a Celtic scholar quoted in the Weekly Scotsman of Edinburgh.

This scholar, who remains prudently anonymous, announced says that the capital letters should be used in names derived from the names of clan heroes. Examples are MacDonald, MacKenzie, MacGregor, MacLeod, MacPhail and MacNeil.

But a small letter should be used in names in names not derived from the proper names: Macpherson (son of the parson), Mayday (son of the vicar), Macintyre (son of the carpenter), Mackay (son of the piper), etc.

Wax Forming in the Ears Is Very Normal Occurrence

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: We are concerned over our four-year-old grandson because the doctor spends so much time cleaning wax out of his ears. He says the boy's ear canals are small, that causes the wax to form. And how can one prevent it? How often should the ears be cleaned out? — Mrs. W.M.

You don't want to "prevent" wax from forming. It is a normal secretion, and is a protection for the membrane of the outer ear canal.

However there are considerable individual differences. The amount of wax varies. So does the consistency.

In many people the wax dries readily, crumbles and falls out. In others it is more pasty or sticky. A small canal, or one that is sloped angularly will not give up the wax so easily.

And if the canal is irritated, by some infection, the wax in the amount of wax will increase. As the canal fills up with wax, that sort of effort merely tends to push more of the wax back in where it becomes hardened and packed.

If the wax is soft, it can safely be washed out with warm water in a rubber syringe.

If the wax is hard, it will stick to the wall of the ear canal, your doctor will have to make it. But the life experience is filled with gifts that are precious and worth-while alone to those who are able to understand and appreciate them.

Nothing belongs to you unless you make of it a part of you, and no gift has any value for the very breath of all life, that it sets every spirit of your being with that of the thought of the world.

There is a meaning behind every created thing, whether bird, rock, blade of grass, tree or flower. These things are here for your acceptance. If you refuse their offering, you are just that much apart from life.

The generous spirit, the gift may be accepted, but unless that acceptance of wax in the canal is often the sign of infection. Not a positive sign — but a check should be made.

With children, once the wax has been cleaned out, periodic syringing with warm water, once every two or three months, will frequently prevent wax from becoming deposited in the canal.

And a tip for adults who work in dusty environments and are bothered with excessive wax which appears, in response to irritation by the dust: Wearing a light cotton plug in each ear to keep the dust out can be very helpful, and will not interfere with hearing to any important degree, either.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read your article on prostate operations, and it is very timely because in the fall of 1949 I had such surgery. I was 69 then, and am going on 80 now. My doctor and surgeon both said it would be years in my life, and I believe me I know it has. — E.B.L.

This letter ought to be of reassurance to worried sufferers from prostate trouble. It is written about the gloomy and frightful operation, but then by misinformed calamity howlers.

Why is it that some people so delight in trying to frighten their friends with horrible predictions about coming series, whether true or not?

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a salad dressing recipe that uses mineral oil in its calories, but I have heard that daily and frequent use of mineral oil is not good. Is there anything in this true? I use about three tablespoons of the dressing a day. — Mrs. R.J.W.

Mineral oil won't damage the intestines. It does interfere with the absorption of vitamin A, and I say only those in such use of mineral oil so long as the user keeps that fact in mind, and in case any signs of vitamin deficiency.

TODAY'S TALK

ON ACCEPTING

As far as life is concerned, to have no other course than one to accept it as it is. And it is largely what we choose to make it. But the life experience is filled with gifts that are precious and worth-while alone to those who are able to understand and appreciate them.

Nothing belongs to you unless you make of it a part of you, and no gift has any value for the very breath of all life, that it sets every spirit of your being with that of the thought of the world.

There is a meaning behind every created thing, whether bird, rock, blade of grass, tree or flower. These things are here for your acceptance. If you refuse their offering, you are just that much apart from life.

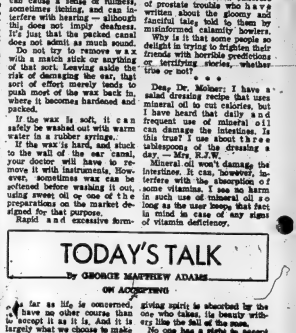
The generous spirit, the gift may be accepted, but unless that giving spirit is absorbed by the one who takes, it must die very like the fall of the snow.

We have a right to accept any sort of gift, but it is the ability to take into the heart that is useful and worth while.

Otherwise that gift becomes a dead accessory — here's a heart full of nothing.

All high science is a beautiful thing, but the spider doesn't think of the hazard.

And so it is with the one who gives of himself. The giver doesn't matter. He hopes by an acceptance to find himself in warmth and appreciation, clear in understanding.



Failure asks for acceptance, but happiness is banked with choice. All living is a unfolding. You know your friend when you have learned how and what he or she accepts.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In many of the more romantic cities of the Southern States, the toothpick still flourishes. I suppose the toothpick still survives in parts of Canada. But I feel haunted, however, by a decree in etiquette must have got loose in this country thirty or forty years ago, that in public operation of the toothpick was condemned as a vulgar act, indulged in only by the ignorant. Rarely today do you see anyone more than fleetingly prying with a toothpick, back turned, a model of modesty.

But in southern towns around the song and story, you see gentlemen of all ages and ladies, their dinner finished, leaning back reflectively at the table and picking their fine all they are worth. Not only is there no affectation or embarrassment, they twiddle the toothpick about in their lips for a while, after the digging is completed. Maybe toothpicks are an institution of the deep south. I recall travelling on the Rome to Pisa train and seeing, in the seat being fascinated, in the dining car, by the sight of all the diners, their chief occupation, prying with a toothpick, back turned, a model of modesty.

Allan McComb Master Breeder Of Holsteins

W. H. Hicks, M.P., presented four Master Breeder Shields at the annual meeting of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada. A former president of the Association, Mr. Hicks was one of the first to receive a shield. He and the late P. H. (Pete) Moore were recipients of the earliest shields in 1935, they superintending the Agassiz and Colony herds respectively. In the 32 years since the award was first authorized, 96 breeders have qualified, the latest group being Allan B. McComb, Belleville, Ontario; Edwin Pitcher, Maryland, Que.; W. H. and Hardy Shore, Glanworth, Ont., and Fred M. Snyder, Waterloo, Ont.

ALLAN B. McCOMB

Always a Hastings County man, Allan B. McComb was born at Eldorado, started his Holstein herd in 1941 at Shannonlaw and moved in 1950 to Glanworth, Elgin, and Fred A. Farm close to Highway 401, north of Belleville. The first purebred Holstein was a 4-H calf for son Delbert who is a partner in the business. A winning a Master Breeder Shield, Allan gives full credit to his wife and to another son, John who is now a teacher.

The 1941 calf led to the purchase of three females at the 1942 Prince Edward County Sale, one of which was the outstanding Ruby Reg Apple Pie, Aldebert, bred by Amos T. Hudgin, Picton. She proved an exceptional foundation cow as did two later purchases, Lillaien Triumph Aaille bred by Harvey Meiklejohn of Campbellford, and Pabst Pooch Prancy Burke bred by Bart Beamish, Madoc. The Prancy Burke cow had been named grand champion at the one Championship Show 1943 and probably could not have been purchased had she not been positive. The McCombs had several Holstein admirers and were persuaded to drop their listing to run a positive herd. They spoiled their opportunities to sell breeding stock but figured the herd run as all the best females were retained until the herd could be 32-1000 equal.

When purchased, Ruby was in calf to Glenorchy Bonbur Pride a son of Emperor of Mount Victoria from a daughter of Monarch Pathfinder bought from the Everett Brown when he returned from serving at Mount Victoria. The result of this mating was Glenalcomb R. A.-Sunshine Who did an impressive job as herd sire. He sired two daughters to Mr. Lillian and two daughters for Prancy Burke, these to become famous as the "Twin Sisters" who won junior and reserve junior championships, grand reserve grand championships at Hastings and W Days. Nig (VG) and Binnie (VG) are the only known twins to both make over 150,000 lbs. Burke is the dam of Glenalcomb Pabst Ideal (Ex) in the Kemptville Unit and grandam of Glenalcomb Pabst Sir Echo (Ex) in the Quinte Unit. Next records of Burke's daughters is the 116,800-lb. Glenalcomb Supreme Dora (Ex) owned by Roy Ormiston, Brooklin. Three Very Good daughters of Dora are in the McComb herd including Glenalcomb Pabst Pooch Cora (VG), three-time Hastings grand champion, now a Star brood cow with over 150,000 lbs. and dam of the present herd sire Glenalcomb Startime.

Other bulls descended from the twins are Glenalcomb Lucky Rocket (VG) and Glenalcomb Lucky Jane (VG), both Peterborough winners. The Rocket bull, a four-time Hastings grand champion, sired many of the heifers in today's herd. The late Joe Tully bred two other herd sires that were imported to the program, Glenalcomb Pabst Torchi Billie (VG) and Otonabee Sovereign Annes (VG). In 1961, the McCombs showed six champions and bred another in winning their fourth straight Breeder and Exhibitor awards at Hastings B and W Day.

Allan says the fieldman and officers of the Association have been a big help to him, and he has used all the breed improvement tools such as shows, grading and ROP. With a herd that has averaged under 40 head through the years, two Excellent, 14 Very Good and 46 Good Plus animals have been bred.

HOUSE WILL BE

Diefenbaker was in effect saying that it was impossible for the government with 208 members to get its legislation passed "unless the opposition gave up the exercise of its cherished rights of exerting out its views."

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista) said Mr. Pellingtast told Mr. Diefenbaker regards as obstruction any Commons speech not made by a cabinet minister.

On the whole, the mood of the Commons was jovial after weeks of bickering and "you did-you-didn't" exchanges.

The welcome of the election date, one of the week's highlights, came here in a long time, appeared perfectly genuine on all sides.

Mr. Diefenbaker spun out his election announcement for several minutes, keeping the actual date to the very end.

He said first he had July 1 in mind for the election, the same day previously fixed for two by-elections. This was an apparent slip because the day announced by Mr. Diefenbaker for the byelections was Sept. 10. Moreover, federal elections usually are held on a Monday and Sept. 12 is a Wednesday.

He said first he had also said that because of opposition "delaying tactics" it had become almost impossible to proceed with Commons business.

There had been "no real effort to deal with Parliament's essential business."

In the current session's 63 days, 27 had been devoted to appropriations, leaving 36 for throne speech debate, two on an opposition non-confidence motion and 30 for legislation.

Mr. Diefenbaker went on to mention government measures which had yet passed—one omission was the Senate reform bill providing for compulsory retirement of senators, at age 75, and limiting terms to his final, and key, session:

"Therefore, I shall recommend to His Excellency the dissolution of this House and the holding of the election on June 18."

After the noise of desk-thumping subsided, Liberal leader Lester Pearson said the Liberals were "delighted that the government has met at long last has put an end to the contrived uncertainly which existed for the date of the election."

The country would be glad at the news—"not perhaps as glad as the official opposition."

T. W. Herridge, House leader of the CCF-NDP group, said his party is ready for action in the electorate's verdict.

Cost of the election, apart from party campaign expenses, is estimated at $10,700,000. Some 37,000 enumerators will tabulate the names of those eligible to vote.

Twelve political parties already picked 139 candidates. The Conservatives have 25 in the field, the NDP 80 and Social Credit 20.

Main election issues likely will be unemployment, nuclear weapons for Canadian forces, the series of big budget deficits, the economy and trade problems raised by possible British entry into the European Common Market.

The Liberals have been saying Canada has been stagnating under the Conservatives. The latter say Canada has never had it so good.

Government legislation which will be on the order paper includes the tax-change proposals outlined in the April 10 budget. However, these changes will be put into effect, though retroactive legislation will have to be introduced in the new Parliament.

Also consigned to the waste-paper basket were government measures to ease unemployment and give effect to two recommendations of the royal commission on publications.

Reiterate Plans To Take Over U.S. Naval Base

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuban attempts to overthrow the Fidel Castro government sent spawning in the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and the Cuban government had the right to take over the base's territory, Havana radio said today.

The broadcast, heard here, said anti-Castro elements have taken refuge at the base and are demanding weapons.

The take-over of the base's territory by Castro will be through legal procedures based on international law, the broadcast said.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) The Chattanooga Times says a group of Cuban exiles are already in training and soon to launch a guerrilla force aimed at toppling Premier Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba.

The newspaper, in a story by its Washington correspondent, says the exiles "will announce shortly a plan to mount a guerrilla campaign against Castro and will issue a call for support from the U.S. public and from Cubans as well as from the U.S. public."

The plan, The Times says, is aimed at putting a force ashore in Cuba similar to the one with which Castro himself landed in Oriente province Dec. 2, 1956. Castro's force operated for two years in the Sierra Maestra Mountains until it overthrew the Batista regime.

ELECTION

January they would lean heavily on planned campaign tactics and close attention to public opinion polls. This they followed did in his 1960 U.S. presidential campaign.

The Conservatives, who held a hush-hush campaign council meeting here last weekend, will employ the same aids to campaigning, emphasize Mr. Diefenbaker as the personal vote-getter. The party high command will be in the form of a personal receptionist—coffee, tea cakes, a warm smile and a firm handshake.

NDP Leader T. C. Douglas will work out his original plan of speeding the balance of this month in Saskatchewan, where he will run as the socialist-labor party's leader in Regina. Robert N. Thompson, Social Credit leader, is conferring with his strategy committee on his campaign plans.

Both Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson will make Ottawa home base for the campaign.

Mr. Douglas announced earlier he would make Regina his base. A NDP organization is based on provincial headquarters reporting to Ottawa national headquarters. NDP officials said this has meant some delay in keeping national headquarters abreast of social developments.

Social Credit headquarters is in Toronto, but the party's main strength lies in office here, keeping a watching brief on the national campaign but primarily concerned with the fortunes of Social Credit candidates in the Ottawa Valley area.

Special Placements Officer Named at NES Office Here

Opening the way to a better service for workers in special category groups, a new position of special placements officer has been established at the National Employment office at Belleville

The new special service officer is now working in this city, who has been acting as employment branch supervisor has been taken by Vernon Munro, recently transferred here from North Bay.

The work of the special placement officer covers a wide field, in scope ranging in placement of persons entering employment for the first time, or returning to the labor force because of retirement policy or job obsolescence.

It also takes in mentally handicapped persons, persons "problems" or occupationally maladjusted and others who have a problem of a personal nature.

The aim of course, is to attempt to provide these people with the most suitable type of employment within their capabilities. Emphasis of the special placements function is on counselling.

VOLUME INCREASES

Manager of the Belleville office, Mr. Cecil Hiuser, says that until now the post of special placement officer at Belleville has been but a part-time position. However, the volume of work now being handled indicates the necessity of a full-time post being established.

"We hope to be able to improve our service to people in these special categories," he said.

The employment branch supervisory post being taken over by Mr. Munro is for the development and promotion of the National Employment service operations in the local office area.

Mr. Munro held the post of employer public relations officer at North Bay and has experience in placements in the trade field, as well as on the executive and professional level.

Mr. Munro will be moving his family to the city in the near future.

Labor Scores Another Big Election Win

LONDON (Reuters) Election hopes soared in the ranks of the opposition Labor party today following a big byelection victory Tuesday that sent the ruling Conservatives' take a back seat again to the resurgent Liberals.

Labor retained the Derby (north) election district by a majority three times greater than its 1959 victory in the 1959 general election.

The verdict was the fourth in a series of byelections in which Labor has retained its seats with increased majorities.

For the Liberals, the byelection served as another indicator of their growing appeal to the electorate despite their tiny six-seat representation in the 630-seat House of Commons.

Liberal Leader Jo Grimond said Thursday's byelection showed the voters of Derby "that it is by voting Liberal that they have the best chance of beating Labor" in the next election.

The Liberals recently captured the Conservative seat at Orpington, Kent, and failed by only 972 votes to win a government seat at Blackpool, in another recent byelection.

The standings in Tuesday's contest were: Niall MacDermot, Labor, 18,497 votes; Lyndon Irving, Liberal, 8,479; Terry Wray, Conservative, 7,557; Lynch Natterer, Union of Small Property-ers, 536.

The Labor majority of 8,018 was a big increase over the party victory margin of 2,407 votes in a straight two-man contest with the Conservatives in 1959. The Labor majority on 27,673 votes in 1959 with the Conservative candidate received 20,273.

With the return of the Labor candidate, the standing of the parties in the House of Commons is: Conservatives and allies 365, Labor 253, Liberals six, All others, Independents one, vacant five.

R. H. Tanner Awarded Master Degree

Northern News

R. H. (Bob) Tanner, Dept. Econ. and Comm. notified by his Alma Mater, the University of London (England), that he had been awarded the degree of Master of Science (Engineering). This award results from the acceptance by the University of a thesis entitled, "The Acoustical Design and Performance of a Festival Theatre."

While the other requirements for his Master's Degree were completed before Mr. Tanner came to Canada, the writing of a suitable thesis was delayed and it was only during the last few years that he was able to complete a project suitably related to his research work at the university.

Mr. Tanner's first engineering job was with the British Broadcasting Corporation as a pioneer in the early days of high definition television. He served during the whole of World War II in the British Army in the Royal Artillery and Royal Corps of Signals, and held the rank of Major four four years. He joined the Canadian Electric Company in 1947 in the electronics division and is now manager of communication systems development in the research and development laboratories in Ottawa.

Mr. Tanner is a former resident of Belleville where he was for a time on the engineering staff of the Northern Electric Company. The family moved to Ottawa about two years ago.

Bills introduced by the opposition parties died after members took the opportunity to attack the government or a wide front.

Ken Bryden (NDP—Toronto-Woodbine) dared the government "to have the courage" to vote against a NDP bill that would compel political groups to disclose audited lists of all party contributors.

"If you vote against this bill in principle it will mean you have something to hide," he said.

Mr. Bryden said a political party has the right to accept funds from any source it sees fit but the contributors should be identified by name to the public.

Mr. Bryden claimed the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties will spend $10,000,000 each during the forthcoming federal election campaign.

Shouts of "nonsense" from the government benches greeted this estimate.

NDP Leader Donald C. MacDonald retorted:

"How much did the Tories get from Dr. Oates (the brewers) in the last election?

John Wilde (PC — London South), replying on behalf of the government, said the bill "may have a small measure of merit but this is outweighed by its many disadvantages."

"The secrecy of the ballot can with justification be extended to campaign funds," he said.

"In my home town it is the practice not to tell the candidate where the campaign funds come from—this leaves him entirely free of influence."

Accuse Roberts Of Carrying on Vendetta

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Kelso Roberts spoke with "the zeal of a crusader and the self-possession of a Puritan," in trying to stop judges in Ontario from making extra money, Ernest Singer (L—Sudbury) told in the legislature Tuesday.

Mr. Sopha's accusation followed one by Norman Slinger (L—York Centre), who said Mr. Roberts was carrying on a vendetta against county court judges.

Mr. Singer said the effect of an amendment to the Police Act would be to eliminate judges from police commissions — a move he said was opposed by police chiefs and policemen.

The amendment makes it unnecessary for a judge to be appointed to a police commission, with the only mandatory appointment being the head of a council. The other appointments are left to the discretion of the cabinet.

"Police commission appointments are now open to friendly Tories and he (Mr. Roberts) does not often miss one," said Mr. Singer.

Mr. Sopha said the reason the judges were outside jobs is the pittance they are paid by the federal government—supplemented only slightly from the province.

Mr. Roberts did not reply.

Mrs. Casgrain Gives View On Separatism

CALGARY (CP) — Canadian women could defeat any move toward separation of French and English by teaching their children to understand each other and by spreading the idea of understanding between French and English groups, Mrs. Pierre Casgrain said Tuesday.

Mrs. Casgrain, a Quebec feminist leader and official of the provincial CCF-NDP party, told a Calgary women's service club the separatist movement in Quebec is "not a new state of mind. It is a symptom of something gone wrong. When this happens, people tend to separate and go their own ways."

Mrs. Casgrain said the differences between Canadas two major groups are more serious than ever before. Mass media make every Canadian aware of crises in any part of the country.

Mrs. Casgrain said that "it is extremely rare that one finds a French - Canadian in a high-ranking civil service position or in a large business organization.

She said another sore spot among French - Canadians is that top civil servants are not required to be bilingual.

The Experts Say

Should Store Syrup In Cool and Dry Place

By EDNA BLAKELY

OTTAWA (CP)—Maple syrup will probably always be considered a special spring treat, says Laura Pepper, chief of the consumer section of the agriculture department.

However, with modern methods of marketing, maple syrup has become a delicacy available the year round. With this in mind, the department has come up with a 56-page booklet dealing with maple syrup, sugar, butter and taffy.

The booklet explains that maple products cost more than other syrups and sugars because 30 to 40 gallons of sap are required to make one gallon of syrup. The annual output is relatively small, production is seasonal, and a great deal of work and expense is involved in production.

Quebec produces more than three-quarters of the Canadian output and the balance is produced in Ontario and New Brunswick. The flavor varies according to the type of tree and the region where it grows.

A good tree gives up to 40 gallons of sap in one season but the weather of both the preceding summer and the sugaring season affects the flow of sap. Frosty nights and sunny days provide the best sap-flowing weather.

FEW STORAGE PROBLEMS

Maple syrup should be stored in a cool, dry place and should be placed in the refrigerator with the cap on once it has been opened. To keep it fresh over a period of several weeks, bring it to a boil, then bottle in sterilized pint sealers or other jars of convenient size.

Maple butter should be kept in a tightly covered container to prevent drying. It may be covered with a thin film of water.

If maple taffy is sealed in tin cans, cooled rapidly and frozen immediately before crystals form, it can be stored in a cool freezer for one year.

For instance, maple syrup may be used as a sweetener on breads, pancakes, waffles, French toast, breakfast cereals and fruits. It becomes a sweetener, when added to milk, eggnogs and fruit cups.

The syrup is a tasty glaze on meats, especially ham; on vegetables, particularly carrots, parsnips and sweet potatoes; and on fruits such as apples, pears, peaches, pineapples and cherries.

GOOD HOT OR COLD

Serve the syrup cold as a sauce or boil for approximately three minutes and serve hot on cottage pudding, blancmange, ice cream, custards and puddings. As a base, the syrup is tasty when mixed with chopped nuts and butter for an upside-down cake or buns.

Chopped or granulated maple sugar serves as a sweetener, topping or filling. If the leaf sugar becomes hard, it may be softened by heating in a 300-degree oven on a pie plate for 10 minutes.

Maple butter makes a dandy spread, filling, frosting or sauce. It may be used since as a frosting or diluted with water, milk or cream. Add one-half to one tablespoon of liquid to each cup of maple butter.

Maple syrup which becomes cloudy can be made usable again. Pour the syrup into a large saucepan after removing any sugar as possible. If the syrup is a bit too thick, add three to four tablespoons of water. Boil for a few minutes only, skim the top of the liquid and wipe the sides of the pan with a moist cloth.

This method will not restore the original flavor but the musty flavor, caused by the mould, is not unhealthy.

New Fashions In Waistline Control

By PEGGY MASSEN

PARIS (Reuters)—The 1962 French fashions are causing an undercover boom in France.

The foundation of the new fashions is waistline control, a smooth bodice and a well-defined bosom, with resultant tears for some women whose waistlines are uncontrolled and hipline bumpy, but cheers from the French corset industry.

Industry statistics show that sales are up 10 per cent in the last year and in one leading Paris store the corset department almost doubled its turnover.

In this fashion capital, the best seller is the waist-cincher known as the Guepiere. Even girls with the slimmest waistlines are buying these little corselet belts to stress their natural curves.

HIGH-LINE GIRDLE

Next in popularity is the high-line girdle which combines a whittled waistline with hip control. For the women with "mature" figure types, the all-in-one corset is a favorite.

But no matter what shape a woman wears today, it is gay and colorful. White is banished in favor of concentrate on soft, feminine prints. So the lower fashion follows this lead with a new "dress-free" mood.

Ribbons, ruffles, lace and embroidery—recall the lingerie and underwear styles of the 19th century Victorian bride. Classic black and white colors have been replaced by soft pastels or patterned fabrics printed with floral and lace designs.

LEMON-COCOANUT CAKE ROLL

Sponge Cake (as for Jelly Roll)
¾ cup sifted flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 4 eggs, ¾ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat together salt, baking powder and eggs in large bowl until eggs are very thick —about 10 minutes. Add sugar gradually, while beating. Beat until mixture is smooth as marshmallow syrup and all grains of sugar have vanished. Add vanilla. Fold in flour very, very gently until batter looks creamy and smooth. Do not beat. Pour batter into greased and wax paper-lined 13¼ x 8¼ x 1" jelly roll pan. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 13-15 minutes.

While cake bakes, sprinkle a clean towel with a generous coating of icing sugar (and make the Lemon Filling below). When your cake is baked, turn it out on the towel, peel off the waxed paper and roll towel, sugar and all up tightly. (Sugar will be on outside.) Let cool about 10 minutes. Unroll carefully and spread with lemon filling (below). Roll again, wrap in towel and cool on a rack.

LEMON FILLING

¾ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, ⅓ cup cold water, ⅓ cup canned lemon juice (or fresh), 1½ tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon grated rind of 1 lemon.

Combine sugar, flour and salt in double boiler. Beat eggs slightly and add to sugar-flour-salt mixture. Blend with water and canned lemon juice. Place over boiling water. Cook stirring constantly for 10 minutes. Add butter and lemon juice and rind. Beat again. Cool.

Make cake roll with

SEVEN-MINUTE FROSTING

(but do not frost ends)

1 egg white, ¾ cup granulated sugar, 2½ tablespoons water, ½ tablespoon cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Mix all ingredients except vanilla in top of double boiler. Beat with rotary beater to completely blend and place over rapidly boiling water. Beat mixture constantly with rotary beater for about 7 minutes or until it is fluffy and will hold its shape. Remove from hot water. Blend in vanilla. Beat 1 minute longer.

Sprinkle generously with moist flaked cocoanut.

Easter Dessert

Lemon Cocoanut Cake Roll

by Mary Moore

A jelly roll is a popular cake and we have glamorized one for luscious Easter dessert. Making the cake part is easy and seems a little bit magical for you bake it for a short time — 13-15 minutes — at an exact temperature — 400 deg. Fahr. — and presto, it springs back to your touch and is ready to turn out on a sugared towel and roll up like it. It may be childish but I enjoy rolling that towel up into the cake and I know other girls who do too.

The filling is the next step. Our lemon filling is just right with zesty lemon flavor and soft but set texture.

The frosting comes next. On today's cake it is Seven-Minute and holds the flaked cocoanut in perfection and looks snowy and luscious but for me it is too sweet. It was not too sweet for some of our young people though. You must use your own judgment as to whether you use it, or a butter frosting flavored with lemon juice, on which sprinkle the cocoanut.

James B. — A three-year-old belongs home with his mother, not at a school.

Karen B. — Nursery school would be good for Kip, marvelous for me.

James, B. — Our little sod Kip is only three and already his mother is trying to duck out of taking care of him. She wants to register him in an all-day nursery school so she can be free to do what she wants.

Can't she wait for kindergarten at least? The poor kid will have enough years to go to school without taking on a few extra ones at this end. She tries to tell me Kip will have a good time there and pick up new words and new abilities. The only thing I hear of young sters that age picking up is diseases!

He's still entitled to stay close to home and with his mother. Karen is shirking her duty to want to farm him out at this age.

Karen B. — Jim makes the idea sound grim. Actually it will be sheer joy for Kip and a big break for me because it will make it possible for me to take a part-time job. So, indirectly Jim and me both will be benefited, too.

There's a fine nursery school in the community house near our home. Instead of playing alone at home or in the park, Kip can have a dozen playmates. And there's a wonderful variety of equipment — blocks, wagons and playhouses. Besides, there are experienced teachers who help the kids settle their squabbles and teach them little games.

And each mother must help. I'll have to serve lunch and put up cots once a week. That's why I'll only sign up for three days a week as a salesclerk.

The Council: You've heard of subcontracting, Jim! If there were some phase of your own job that could be performed better by a specialist, we'll be you'd farm it out, get it back and enjoy the way it enhances your final result. Even though Karen is dealing with precious human material here, the analogy still holds. She isn't shirking. She's smelnorating.

All depends upon the professional qualifications of the nursery school personnel. If it's a flunky-duty setup which merely "parks" the little ones so that their mothers may fill Jim's right and should put his foot down on keeping Kip at home. But if the centre is well run, with daily health inspection and a licensed kindergartner in charge, we're all for Kip trying it. Usually these live-wire schools exact so much parent participation, from fathers as well as mothers, that the whole family — not just the pre-schooler — winds up as part of the venture. Kip won't be shunted off to school. His parents will be there, too, via their interest, services and enthusiasm.

Why not? Jim ought not let the word "school" mislead him. Little Kip will be doing what comes naturally only much more of it — playing, singing, clobbering and getting clobbered. The difference is that he's more likely to learn something constructive with day, some of the rules of How to Succeed from the way his teachers handle each situation, than if he played alone with only a preoccupied mother around to yell, "Stop that!" every few minutes.

If Jim were to visit a good nursery school, perhaps the neighborhood one, Karen describes, he'd find it much more than merely custodial. Children usually grow there, Karen to try new experiments in play and behavior, learn to give as well as take. And, above all, their transition from home to school is so smooth as to be almost imperceptible.

As to Jim's misgivings about Karen joining the working mothers, a Stanford University study of kindergarteners found no significant differences between children of the latter and children whose mothers stayed home. Once Kip enrolls, we suggest Jim find out if he can attending were Capt. Mrs. Ashattending the next meeting with Kip and see for himself.

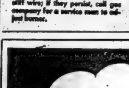
Horticultural Soc. Plans Future Events

STIRLING — Stirling Horticultural Society convened in St. John's Anglican Parish Hall, the open meeting. The president Lloyd Armstrong presided, and the secretary, Mrs. Ashley Brooks, presented an outline of what had been planned for the year at the recent executive meeting held in March. The next meeting will be on May 9th in the evening with an exchange of plants and bulbs. The annual flower show will be held in June at St. John's Parish Hall.

Mrs. Frank Harding read an article on "Vegetables that grow in Alaska," and Mrs. Maurice Clancy gave a timely message on the planting of spring bulbs. Mrs. Leonard Wannamaker gave an evening of perennial sweet peas and their care. Mr. Clair West was in charge of the projector and a most colorful and informative set of slides on floral arrangements was presented. This was a special treat, although some had viewed it last October in the Exhibition at the mowing match. It was well worth seeing as it was filled with helpful ideas for creating lovely bouquets.

Mrs. H. West led in a singsong and at the close tea and coodles were served.

Lady Powell Rally Reported Huge Success



CAMPBELLFORD — The first and second companies of Campbellford Girl Guides held a joint meeting in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Monday evening. Immediately after the color party Commissioner Lieut. Mrs. C. Newman enrolled Lieut. Mrs. J. Hoyt of the 1st Campbellford company who was presented by Mrs. F. Swift. Linda Petherick and Debbie Ellis were also enrolled by Capt. Mrs. S. Ashley assisted by Lieut. Mrs. N. Griffiths.

The correct method of wrapping and tying a parcel for the mail, making a bed roll, folding the colors and Guides History were demonstrated by the respective groups.

At campfire the Guides were told by their representative of the Lady Baden Powell rally last week in Toronto. Those ley Commissioner Newman and Guides Dianne Cahill, Bonnie Mills and Carol Gillespie. They told their impressions of Lady Baden Powell and the tremendous assembly of 5,000 guides who had come by bus and car from such places as Midland, Stratford, Kingston and Campbellford.

Lady Powell showed tremendous stamina for a woman of over 70, determined in spite of a heart attack last fall, to carry on in the best of Guiding tradition. She described Guiding as a game played to develop good, kind, splendid women to make Canada strong and a better country. She quoted Marshal Foch that there was no greater power than a soul on fire. Lady Baden Powell paid tribute to the Boy Scout movement reminding everyone that without scouting there never would have been guiding.

Mother's Helper

WHEN YOU buy things for your baby to wear, generous load washability is most important. Look for tags with information as to color fast ness, shrinkage, whether hand-washing and/or ironing are required and whether an automatic dryer may be used. You'll save yourself time and money if you stick to easy-care clothes, blankets, etc.

Large Crowd Attends School 'Open House'

WELLINGTON — Wellington Consolidated School held their annual "Open House" on April 12th, from 7-9 p.m. with a large number of parents and friends present who were welcomed by the principal, Mr. M. L. Snider.

The teachers in their rooms, welcomed the parents and answered any questions and also talked over any problems with them.

The main theme seemed to be around "Easter". The pupils work books were all on their desks and some special papers on the walls. Each room had something outstanding such as; an Indian village, with all Indian relics, an Indian teepee; a farm display with miniature animals and machinery, hobbies, puppets, wood working made by the boys, and sewing by the girls. In one room models of transportation of various kinds were on display, also different kinds of roads and road signs and many other interesting features.

The program consisted of folk dancing by girls from grades 4 and 5; rounding by boys from grades 7 and 8, and folk dancing by girls from grades 7 and 8. This was presented in the gymnasium and was much enjoyed by all.

At 8.30 the auditorium was filled to capacity to hear Mr. Barnett and his band play several selections. The Misses Nancy Macdonald, Dolores Preston and Linda Thompson favored with a trio number "My Happiness". By all indications this concert was a huge success.

Light refreshments were served during the evening by the ladies of the Home and School Club, in the home economics room.

Montreal Girl Back Home After 9 Months Abroad

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian students are sticklers for detail, says vivacious, freckle - faced Shirley Raphael, 24, back in Montreal after nine months' work and travel abroad.

A 1961 graduate of Sir George Williams University, Shirley landed what she calls a "plum job" in France through the Association Internationale des Etudiants en Sciences Economiques et Commerciales, a student exchange program operating in 37 countries.

Only about 60 of the almost 6,000 young people who took part in the project last year were Canadians. While at present the project covers only Quebec and Ontario universities, efforts are being made to extend it to Western Canada and the Maritimes.

Shirley's job was at the tourist information bureau of the Cote d'Azur Airport in Nice. A special employees' pass permitted her on the landing field.

POSED AS REPORTER

"When a VIP was arriving I'd rush out and wait. Then the reporters would stream onto the field and I would make like another reporter, asking questions and scribbling notes. I couldn't just stand there like a dummy."

After the three-month job was up, Shirley teamed up with an American girl to travel "on the cheap" through Europe.

"We usually hitch-hiked and every person who gave us a lift seemed to feel we must be starving and insisted on buying us a meal. We didn't look like much — I lived in slacks for four months — but actually I gained 13 pounds on the trip."

In Rome, the two girls crashed the set of Cleopatra by pretending to be French actresses. It happened to know the name of the head casting director and told the guard he had an appointment with him. The guard was a very conscientious sort and insisted on conducting us right to the director's office."

SLEPT ON DECK

The director's questions; "Where are your photographs? Do you sing? Dance?" left the pair nonplussed. "I just mumbled something about just having finished my last picture and not being sure I wanted to commit myself further, as we edged out the door fast," Shirley said with a laugh.

After Italy, the girls travelled deck class to Greece. "There we were, sleeping outside with the chickens and carrying our own food. But we saw a lot of islands." Israel, where they took care of chickens, weeded gardens and worked in kitchens, was the last country they saw before sailing for home.

Shirley believes that Canadian girls lack the spirit of adventure shared by their English and Australian cousins.

They're afraid to travel alone. But I found AIESEC members in every country were most hospitable, and it was like having a friend in every place you visited."

Woman Made Partner In Brokerage Business Once Typist in Firm

By GREG MacDONALD

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty-seven years in the brokerage business have reached an exciting climax for Mrs. Violet Cook who has been appointed a full partner in the firm of Doherty Roadhouse and Company.

The charming, trim and attractively grey-haired woman is one of the few of her sex in executive positions in the complex securities field and at the moment, the only full woman partner in the brokerage business.

Mrs. Cook learned of her appointment in March when the company's board decided to increase the number of partners in the firm from 19 to 20.

"I never dreamed it would happen. When I first learned of it, it hadn't been made official and I couldn't tell anyone. It was a strain but you learn to keep secrets in this business. People tell you all kind of confidences."

STARTED AS TYPIST

Mrs. Cook entered the brokerage business in 1935 as a typist with the old firm of H. A. Hodson and Company. She later joined J. R. Timmins and Company and in 1945 went to work for Doherty Roadhouse in charge of the "cage," a brokers' term for the section handling securities.

Her big moment came in 1949 when "after some subtle suggestions on my part," the firm decided to try her as a saleswoman.

She successfully handled the company's Canada Savings Bonds drive and has been selling ever since as, in broker's jargon, "a customers' man."

Her job is to act as a middleman between the firm and the customer. She is an expert on the stock market and on buying and selling stocks and is paid by commission on sales that pass through her hands.

She says about half her customers are women but that is her male customers who give her the most concern.

"The big thing is to make them forget you are a woman, and to convince them you are able to discuss their stocks with them as well as a man.

"Once you are over that hurdle there is no difference . . . except that a woman must prove herself a lot more than a man. Where there is money involved you don't care about the sex, you go to whoever can do the best for you."

'SELF-MADE WOMAN'

Mrs. Cook is well known in Northern Ontario region where she spent time in the early 1950s reliving managers of Doherty Roadhouse offices. She worked in such places as Timmins, Kirkland Lake and New Liskeard.

She is in her own words "a self-made woman." She took her senior matriculation at nights after work but was at least one course a year "just to learn."

She has taken courses in mutual funds and other subjects relating to the brokerage business and in public speaking and flower arranging.

"Think all women in business should take courses that help them to get ahead both in their own field and socially. You've simply got to work hard to get along in a man's world."

Mrs. Cook is also treasurer of the Toronto Business and Professional Women's Club and is a former president of the Toronto Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Her hobbies include working on her master's potato in bridge, color photography, reading and driving "which I find very relaxing."

HELP YOUR CHILD TO ENJOY SHOPPING TRIPS

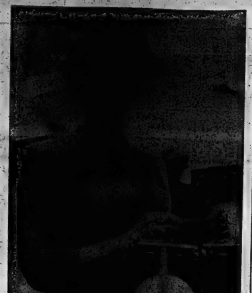
Shopping with young children in town is always less of a chore when the youngsters are well-behaved.

The reason most children act up in department stores is because they're tired or bored or because their natural curiosity is piqued and they want to touch everthing that's on the counter or racks. Shopping then becomes more of a sprint than a spree and all mother wants to do is bundle the young 'uns off the premises before something disastrous happens.

Getting children to behave well under the stress and strain of shopping requires a little advance pacing. A trip to a department store can be quite awesome to a young child. Crowds can be terrifying to someone who's not even 4 feet tall as a counter. And those mechanical marvels, like the escalator and the elevator, do demand some sort of explanation.

Before thrusting a youngster into a strange, new world, it's always wise to fodoctrinate him into what to expect and how he should act. If he's never been in a big store before, mother should explain that people wait their turn to get on the moving stairs or into the room that goes up and down, and that pushing or shoving is not permitted.

Store aisles are always a challenge, so before setting out it's also a good idea to remind youngsters that running and sliding between counters is taboo, and that yelling and shouting are as intolerable in a store as in the living room. Youngsters also should be warned not to wander off while mother is making a purchase, and not to touch merchandise or push buttons without her permission.



Naturally, good behavior is easier to maintain if a child is not required to work at it too long. For this reason, any shopping tour that involves youngsters should be limited. Even grown-ups tend to wilt during a day-long hunt for bargains. In unfamiliar surroundings and faced with so much stimulation, a youngster tires more easily. It's actually unfair to expect him to weather a prolonged period of shopping without kicking up his heels eventually.

Timing is also important in maintaining childish good humor. A child usually is on his best behavior when he's well-rested and his tummy is full. Early in the morning or after a child has had his lunch and a nap are the best periods to take a child shopping. If he shows signs of tiring, it's a good idea to stop for a snack or a dish of ice cream to restore his strength and his resolve to be on his good behavior in the store.

Many mothers we know keep a few little "prizes" tucked away in the handbag to whip out when a child begins to get dangerously bored. An inexpensive picture book or a tencent car often helps calm a youngster in a crisis. One mother owes her new Spring outfit to a dime-store magnet. When her son got fidgety waiting for her to make up her mind, she gave him the magnet and showed him how to pick up pins with it. As a result, she finally found the suit she wanted while the youngster made a clean sweep of the floor.

The first woman juror to serve in the Yukon was Mrs. Wilton Gorham on March 3, 1962.

Eggleton UCW List New Officers

MADOC JUNCTION — On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Maurice Clancy was hostess for the April meeting of the Eggleton United Church Women with 15 members present.

The president, Mrs. Warren Barlow, presided over the program, which had been prepared by Mrs. Murney Kirkey with the theme, "Easter."

Mrs. Fitchett read the minutes and Mrs. Bruce Stapley reported that during the month she had sent out two get-well cards; flowers to a member in the hospital, and two children who were ill were remembered with small gifts.

Mrs. Carl Bridges, one of those on the parsonage committee, reported on the meeting held last Tuesday night at Thomasburg. Mrs. Harlow offered her home for the May meeting and Mrs. C. Fitchett was appointed to prepare the program.

Offering was gathered and dedicated with prayer by Mr. Murney Kirkey. Treasurer, Mrs. McMullen, reported that Eggleton's share to the parsonage fund had been paid; also that one-quarter of the 1962 allocation had been raised and that is at the end of the first quarter.

A letter of thanks is to be sent to Mrs. R. Chambers, who had made a lovely black leather cover for the church hymnary, donated by Mrs. B. Stapley. A letter of thanks received from Mrs. Hector Dunford was read by Mrs. Clancy.

DEVOTIONAL PERIOD

The Scripture lesson, 1st Corinthians 15:1-11, was read by Mrs. Clayton Prest and the commentary was given by Mrs. M. Clancy. A duet solo was contributed by Mrs. B. Stapley.

The theme from the Study Book, "The Red Silk Dress," was given by Mrs. Murney Kirkey, after which a poem was read by Mrs. Keith Johnson.

MORE OFFICERS

Mr. Dyson spoke briefly, explaining that a few more officers should be added to the present list, and these were appointed as follows: representative on the official board, Mrs. Carl Bridges; representative on the committee of stewards, Mrs. Bruce Stapley, and the two representatives on missionary and maintenance committee: Mrs. William McMullen and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett.

Mr. Dyson also expressed thanks for flowers, letters and cards sen. to Mrs. Dyson during her illness.

Mrs. McMullen read a letter she had received regarding a meeting to be held at Thomasburg early in June and it was also decided that all members of Eggleton U.C.W. would send an Easter card to Mrs. Dyson.

The president thanked Mrs. Clancy for the use of her home; the program convener, Mrs. Kirkey, and all who had assisted on the program.

The hostess served refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Friends Honor Mother-to-Be With Shower

WELLINGTON — Twenty-five friends of Mrs. Norman Mills met at the home of Mrs. Charles Broadbridge on April 10th to honor her with a stork shower.

Two contests were enjoyed during the evening with Mrs. Rolston and Mrs. Fourth winning the first contest and Mrs. H. Thompson and Mrs. E. Monroe the second contest.

A birthday price was won by Mrs. Collier who had a birthday closest to the 10th of April.

The guest of honor was seated in a decorated chair and while Mrs. Anne Herrington read an appropriate address, Mrs. Ruth Miller presented her with many lovely gifts.

After the gifts were opened, Doris graciously thanked everyone for being so kind and thoughtful.

Refreshments were served; which included a lovely cake decorated in pink and white for the mother-to-be.

A prize for the lucky plate was won by Mrs. Helen Gaskins and lucky saucer by Mrs. Doris Miller.

Successful Living

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

Home-Wife Needs a Break

DEAR DORIS—My husband and I have always got along well together, and have worked hard to bring up our three children. While they were little I was so busy mending and working and saving to do the things they needed, and pay for our home, that I didn't mind staying home so much.

But now that they are all of high school age and do not need me around so much, I feel differently. Still my husband never takes me out. He goes out to various club meetings several times a week, but can't see any reason why I should get tired of always going out with other women, or staying home alone.

And he does not approve of my going any place if it costs any money. What would you suggest I should do with such a man?—DISCOURAGED.

DEAR DISCOURAGED—Perhaps it's time for some remodelling. How about a new hairdo, a new dress and two tickets to the next good show that comes to town?

When he objects about the money you spend, ask him if he expects to save it all for his old age. You both have a right to live today and it's time you got acquainted with each other in a relaxed play situation.

DEAR DORIS:—I have been invited to a confirmation dinner, but am totally ignorant of the procedures and etiquette required.

Should, or must, I attend the church ceremony; is a gift required or desirable (if so what type or cost) and when is it presented; does one congratulate the girl and/or her parents?—GRATEFUL.

DEAR GRATEFUL—You are expected at the ceremony.

A gift is the usual thing; could be a Bible or prayer book, bookends or jewellery. Or something equally personal. Give it to the hostess to be presented with other gifts—probably following dinner.

Congratulate the girl and the godparents for her having confirmed their dedication of her when she was tiny.

DEAR DORIS—I started reading psychology books, especially about the relationship between boys and girls. From these and other articles I've come to the conclusion that I went to love only one boy and not to flit from one boy to another for dates.

I don't want to go out on a date until I'm sure I've found this boy. Do you think I'm right in this?—SIXTEEN AND SHY.

DEAR SIXTEEN—And how will you pick him? By looks? What makes you sure you can be sure?

Even the Older and Wiser have to get acquainted to form an opinion. You start by having dates with several. You don't have to love 'em to date 'em. You do end up by picking one and hanging on.

DEAR DORIS:—I am 32 years and my problem is I am very shy. I don't drink so it's hard for me to make friends. I'm quite good looking. Almost any girl will dance with me, but when I take a girl for a dance I don't know what to say to her. It takes me a long time before I start to talk to her.

Doris, did you think I'm too old to get married? I'm very lonely and I would like to get married but I'm 33 and I haven't got a girl friend. I go to a lot of dances but can't make any headway. I put my name in the personal column and I got a letter from a girl. I wrote her back but did not get a letter from her. So I sent her a nice card and still no answer. Do you think I should write her again or should I forget her?

Hope you can help me.—THIRTY-TWO AND SINGLE.

DEAR THIRTY-TWO—Youth is a state of mind. You're not old at all. You need help with starting to live.

Much as it hurts, you will have to join something. The YMCA, a church young people's association, a dance class, maybe.

Once you get to know how to dance or to take part in a sport or game, you will have something to talk about to your girl.

Forget the untruthful pen pal.

TO HEARTBROKEN—You can't make him speak to you by weeping about it. If you have a "short temper and bad nerves" work on these—not on him. What boy wants that kind of girl?

* * *

(What is your special problem about people? Ask for Doris' advice by writing to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope).

OOP INSPECTOR

also has testified Wright told him in 1957 Stringer tipped off McDermott and others to raids planned on big gambling joints in Hamilton.

Tuesday, Insp. Stringer denied this vehemently, declaring that he did not know of the raids in advance.

OPP headquarters in Toronto had called for reinforcements from still over the province for the job—including five from Peterborough whom the inspector helped select—but he said there was "absolutely no way" to indicate what they were wanted for.

"I didn't phone McDermott or any other person," he said.

Sgt. Anderson testified that the offensive in Hamilton went ashew when two of the big clubs were found to be "practically closed" on the night set and it had to be "let off."

BLAMES PRESS

He said a phone call to OPP headquarters in Toronto, purporting to be from a newspaper man, said that Hamilton city police were "going around mobilizing the clubs that a raid was pending."

Much of Tuesday's examination of Insp. Stringer centred around his acting as a go-between in August, 1958, in the delivery of a briefcase from lawyer Humphrey, who has acted for McDermott and Feeley, to Anderson with minute instructions on how to raid a club operating illegally on one of two gamblers in Niagara Falls.

The so-called "brief" has been to get the old Ramsey Club, which had continued operations after a McDermott - Feeley operation went out of business. As a sequel to a raid, the Ramsey Club folded, and a "new" Ramsey supposedly bankrolled by the Toronto pair opened. It had since closed.

Insp. Stringer, under close questioning, could not explain why he had been telephoned by Humphrey to act as a intermediary. He had never spoken to Humphrey before the lawyer called him at Peterborough, and said he has never yet met him face-to-face.

REALIZES MISTAKE

After he delivered the raid blueprint to Anderson, he said, he came to the conclusion he had made a mistake and—following the Aug. 7, 1958, delivery —he went to E. W. McNeil, whom he described as OPP commissioner, and "told him the whole thing."

When it was pointed out to him that McNeil—now dead—had retired as OPP chief Aug. 1, he said there must be some confusion in dates but conceded McNeil must have been in retirement at the time.

He had not gone to the commissioner's successor, W. H. Clark, about the matter.

Insp. Stringer's testimony Tuesday clashed on several points with that of Sgt. Anderson, who testified with the help of his police diaries. The inspector time after time said he could not recall points, and at one stage he said:

"My memory perhaps is not functioning too well today."

TESTIMONY DIFFERS

Some points of difference:

1. Anderson said Stringer did not tell him the source of the said brief. Stringer said Humphrey instructed him not to tell Anderson of his connection with it, but the inspector said he did so anyway.

2. Anderson said Stringer told him Magistrate Johnston Roberts, a member of the Niagara Falls Police Commission, had a hand in preparing the brief. Stringer denied this. The magistrate, called to the stand Tuesday, also said he knew nothing of the document until it was shown him recently by Anderson.

3. Anderson said Stringer visited him twice in Toronto, delivering the Humphrey document the second time. The inspector recalled only one visit but was prepared to concede Anderson's diary would be better than his recollection.

In connection with the document, the inspector said that although he delivered it in good faith, he later came to the conviction that those who prepared it were less interested in law enforcement than in personal gain.

TOLD ANDERSON

Regarding the mysterious strangers who visited the fishing camp, Sgt. Anderson had previously testified that on his first visit to him Insp. Stringer told him about this and said they were willing to help get the club closed. The club is outside Stringer's district.

Anderson said he gave the inspector some instructions for the pair, and the inspector promised to get in touch with them. They were the last Anderson heard of it.

"They were McDermott and Feeley, were they not?" suggested Mr. MacKinnon.

"Positively not," replied the inspector, who said he knew both men by sight.

Dealing with the alleged Feeley calls to the inspectors home, commission counsel Wilson said the first one was for 12 minutes and asked if he could explain a call of that length.

"No. I certainly cannot," Stringer said. Inspector Harold Graham of the OPP's criminal investigation bureau had also asked him about the calls and he had not been able to explain them.

"I just don't recall such a phone call," he said.

A possible explanation, he suggested, was that about that time a Toronto real estate man named Joseph McDonald begged him several times trying to sell him real estate in the Southern United States or Jamaica.

The inspector said he ended up buying some property in West Palm Beach, Florida, but not from McDonald. The type of property was not mentioned.

TELLS OF TECHNIQUE

In connection with the said procedure on the Ramsey Club, Mr. MacKinnon probed into previous evidence that similar information on one technique had been given by Inspector Stringer and Feeley.

Cpl. W. J. Shrubb of the gambling squad—now chief constable of Peterborough — had stated that Feeley told him of a way of opening a drain in the club basement and catching dice that might be flushed down during a raid.

Sgt. Anderson said he got the same information from Stringer, though it was not contained in the Humphrey brief.

The inspector said all the information he had came from either the brief or Humphrey, though he could not recall this point. However, if the sergeant had said it, he was prepared to concede he must have passed it on.

Testimony by Insp. Stringer concerning Shrubb also clashed with previous evidence suggesting the inspector wanted Shrubb transferred off the anti-gambling squad and into his district.

CITES 'IMPLICATION'

He said Insp. Graham had given an implication" that he wanted Shrubb transferred to his jurisdiction to get him "out of the way of McDermott and Feeley."

"I don't care for McDermott and Feeley in any respect," Stringer said, "and I never tried to have a man transferred to my district for that reason.

On the contrary, he said, Cpl. Shrubb had asked him about the chances of getting a sergeantcy in the Peterborough district but, after checking with superiors, he had found it could not be done and had so informed Shrubb.

FROM DOUGHNUTS TO DOLLARS—Raising money by selling doughnuts, sponsoring a dance and holding a spring tea and bake sale, the Quinte Secondary School Keyette Club on Saturday afternoon, presented a cheque in the amount of $150 to the Retarded Children's School, its chosen project for the year. Mr. Thomas Stovell, on the right, receives cheque on behalf of the Retarded Children's School from the Keyette Club president, Miss Claudia Durrant.

On Saturday afternoon the cafeteria at the Quinte Secondary School became a gay spring tea room, with the Keyette Club members as hostesses. Special guest, Mr. T. Stovell, president of the Quinte Association for Retarded Children, was presented with a cheque for $150 by Miss Claudia Durrant on behalf of the Keyette Club.

The tea room was cheery with Easter decorations of fresh bright spring flowers. At the candle-lit tea table Mrs. L. F. Reid, Mrs. J. Hayman and Mrs. K. Ford presided. Serving the appetizing delicacies were the active members of Quinte's large Keyette organization.

Under the U.S. plan, the inspectors would thoroughly investigate at any one time only one of many identical dieteins into which the territory of the big nations would be divided. Each side would be free to choose an inside sector of the other without advance warning.

PROVIDES CHECK

From the arms and armed forces found in the chosen districts, mathematicians would project an estimate of each state's total military strength. This would provide a check of governments' declarations of their military strength on which the percentage reductions are to be based. It would also constitute a verification that each state was meeting its disarmament obligations.

Unlike the Soviet plan for total disarmament within four years, the U.S. plan contained no time limit for its completion. The first two of its three main stage would last three years each.

The step-by-step approach to world disarmament contained numerous safeguards including an elaborate international control organization with ever-widening powers.

Each succeeding stage in the disarmament process, would begin only when the control organization "determines that the conditions specified in the treaty have been met."

UN WOULD POLICE

At the end of the final stage, world peace and security would be maintained by a United Nations peace force so powerful "that no state can challenge it."

The general provisions of the U.S. plan had been put forward by State Secretary Rusk March 15, shortly after the start of the disarmament conference. The Russians at the same time submitted a detailed treaty draft.

The U.S draft provided that the first of the three stages of disarmament would include a ban on nuclear weapon tests "under effective international control" and a ban on production of fissionable materials for use in weapons.

It would also bring a 30-per cent reduction in nuclear delivery vehicles and conventional armaments at the end of 10 per cent a year.

The United States and the Soviet Union would reduce their armed forces to a maximum of 2,100,000 men each by the end of this stage.

8 KILLED IN CLASH

MANILA (AP)—Six Communist-led Huk guerrillas and two soldiers were killed in a skirmish between Philippine and Philippine government forces near the United States' Clark Air Force base Tuesday night, the Philippine news service reported.

tion locks and a bridge." It would supply an all-weather road and railway artery along roughly the same route now used by the CNR ferry service to New Brunswick.

The prime minister also indicated that all the engineering problems which might have blocked the scheme have been solved. But he made no mention of when work will start.

Outside the Commons, officials said it will require another two years to draw up plans and six years or so of construction before delays occur. Those estimates would mean possible opening of the causeway by 1970.

The island province, with a population of 104,000, is largely agricultural and advocates of the causeway claimed it would increase markets through more dependable shipments, particularly of potatoes. Tourist income also plays a major part in the island economy.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the most economical crossing appears to be between Jourimain Island, N.B., and Borden Point, P.E.I.

Opposition Leader Pearson welcomed the act as one of "something promised by this government during the last election."

But he added: "It is to be hoped that the costing of this causeway and other great national undertakings in the future will not have to be paid-rries and navigation problems.

Home for Age Gets Pickerel

The pickerel are running in the Moira River but at least three won't live to tell the tale.

Nor did the fish-hungry gentlemen who illegally extracted them from the river enjoy the anticipated repast.

The eight grew at a Lands and Forests conservation officer spotted the out-of-season tactics and promptly confiscated the fish and the equipment that caught them.

The pickerel, one of them an eight-pound lagred beauty, found its way to the kitchen of the Hastings County Home for the Aged.

The would-be extractors? They will hear about their actions later.

'Out-of' increasing deficits"

H. W. Herridge, CCF - New Democratic Party House leader, said the project is obviously an "urgent cause."

Late last year Mr. Diefenbaker said in a speech at Charlottetown that the causeway was one of the most difficult engineering problems ever tackled anywhere in the world.

An official of the federal works department said Tuesday night that no plans or specifications have yet been prepared.

So far the engineers had studied only the feasibility of the final undertakings in the fo- job in view of ice, tidal flow, ture will not have to be paid-ries and navigation problems.

COVERED UNLOADING AREA — Feature of new plant is covered unloading area which can be completely enclosed by lowering doors. Conveyor equipment moves milk cans from truck into factory and returns them after they are emptied and go through the washer.

Modern and Best Equipped Cheese Factory in Ontario Opened in Carmel District

"One of the most modern and best equipped cheese factories in Ontario".

That is the way which Ernest W. Henderson, fieldman in charge for Hastings county, describes the new Foxboro Cheese factory recently built by Harold Elliott of the 5th concession of Thurlow near 37 highway.

The new plant in the Carmel community represents an investment of over $150,000 and contains the last word in milk processing equipment, and labor saving machinery.

Gone is the old sidewood fired boiler, the 30 and 40 gallon milk cans, and the tiers of shelving in the cheese storage room.

Instead there is an oil fired boiler; a conveyor system for transferring the eight gallon cans of milk into the factory and the clear space cold storage rooms with cheese piled on pallets for fork lift loading onto trucks.

YEAR-ROUND OPERATION

The new factory, built by Wilfred Spencer, Hawdon township contractor, has been constructed with the view to efficient year round operation.

Instead of the canopied milk unloading stand the factory has an unloading area which may be completely enclosed during cold weather and the factory is built for maintenance of proper year round operating temperatures.

The big automatic can washer will wash up to eight cans per minute. Vats and other equipment are of the latest stainless steel construction.

The factory handles milk from a total of 131 patrons as well as surplus milk from Belleville dairies.

The plant has four 16,000 pound vats with room for still another if production demands.

Either hot-treating or pasteurization of milk can be done with specialized equipment in the receiving room. Equipment here also includes both clarifier and separator the latter for skimming cream from the whey.

MAKES SQUARE-TYPE

Currently Mr. Elliott is making the square type cheese but the older type round 20 pound blocks can also be manufactured if so desired.

The make room contains the latest in mechanical agitators and air press equipment.

Bill to Set Up Pension Plan Given Approval

TORONTO (CP)—A bill to set up a provincially sponsored pension plan for municipal employees in Ontario passed the legislative committee stage today after Municipal Affairs Minister Cass gave his assurance that he will hear representations from anyone concerned before it goes into effect.

Liberal members of the standing committee on municipal law moved that enactment of the bill be held over until the next session on the grounds that there has been enough time for a proper study of it. Their motion was defeated by Conservative and New Democratic Party members.

There also were protests from representatives of the Canadian Life Insurance Underwriters Association, who maintained that a change in the present regulations governing municipal pensions would provide nearly universal coverage while leaving the field open to private companies.

The government scheme, which is to go into effect Jan. 1, 1963, would make available a uniform pension plan for all 65,000 municipal employees in Ontario.

Both Ray Edwards (L—Wentworth) and Vernon Singer (L—Toronto-York Centre) objected that the effect of the bill and its regulations is to make the plan compulsory after some 25 - underterminied period of time.

LOADING SIMPLIFIED

Loading of bulk cheese onto trucks has been simplified with provisions for mechanical loading. Cheese are stored in the cold room on pallet with a fork lift truck to be used for loading onto trucks.

The move from the old to the new factory was made March 30th although a few minor construction details still have to be looked after. The need for more capacity and for an adequate weight dispensing system motivated the construction of the new plant.

So far the factory operation is being handled by Mr. Elliott and two male helpers although in the flush of the milk season additional help may be necessary. Factory records and over the counter cheese and butter sales are handled by the bookkeeper.

Two wells provide water requirements for the new plant. A new nearby brick bungalow provides living accommodation for the owner.

SPECIAL TANK USED

A new idea being tried is a combination milk and whey truck for transporting milk to the factory and returning whey to the farmer.

No whey is returned in the eight gallon milk cans, but a special bulk tank with a capacity of about two tons is being provided to return whey to the farmers.

"We think it is going to work out okay", noted Mr. Elliott.

For Want of Crocus Pitt's Gout Led to American Revolution

TORONTO (CP)—If William Pitt hadn't been in a fearsome temper because of his gout, the American Revolution might never have happened, a Toronto doctor said Monday.

Dr. Wallace Graham, senior physician at Toronto General Hospital, told a meeting of the Board of Trade Club of Metropolitan Toronto that Pitt, prime minister under George III, was strongly opposed to the Stamp Act tax imposed on the American colonies by Britain in 1775.

He was also against the tea tax, imposed shortly after the Stamp Act, which enraged members of the Boston community and spurred them to hold a voluntary tea party on the Boston waterfront.

Dr. Graham said a severe case of gout made Pitt unable to carry on a vigorous campaign against the measures George III imposed — which gave rise to the public cry in the colonies of "taxation without representation."

Had tea been the cause of gout, Dr. Graham said, is an attendant symptom of gout and it was his bad temper that made Pitt unapproach able. The local allies were seeking his aid for a campaign against the taxes.

Dr. Graham said it is interesting to speculate whether colchicum, the autumn crocus, might have averted the tea tax and the rebellion that followed."

Dr. Graham said colchicum was discovered to be a cure for gout by a Mesopotamian physician around the year 80. It is still the basis of curing and relieving gout, although medical science is not sure how colchicum works.

Dr. Graham said colchicum was largely ignored as a cure for several centuries and that during that period gout may have had a great influence on literature and history.

John Milton, author of Paradise Lost, was a sufferer of gout and Dr. Graham suggested his pain may have inspired his vivid descriptions of the torments of hell.

Canada-Wide Recruitment For Last Survival Course 35 Per Cent Off Target

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada-wide recruitment for the last of four scheduled military survival training courses is more than 35 per cent off target, the lowest enrolment rate in the winter-long program.

The first three six - week courses turned out 31,304 qualified men. The final course, which started Monday, is likely to add only about 11,000 more to past patterns of drop-outs and failures are followed. The government aimed to train 100,000 men, 25,000 in each of the four courses.

An army spokesman in Ottawa said 15,627 men were enrolled for the fourth course as of Monday night. The total is expected to exceed 16,000 by Thursday's registration deadline. Only the Atlantic provinces and Manitoba recruited their quotas.

Central Command spokesman at Oakville, Ont., attributed the recruitment slump to "resumption of a lot of employment" with the spring opening of forests and waterways.

If past performances are repeated during the fourth course, more than 3,000 men will drop out before finishing and another 1,500 will fail examinations at the end of the course.

The drop-out rate in the first three courses averaged almost 20 per cent and 12 per cent of those who completed their courses failed exams. The army considers those who did graduate—6,960 men during the first three courses — could be called on in an emergency along with successful candidates.

Of the 30,586 recruits in the first three courses, 2,861 dropped and 2,143 others did not graduate. In the second course, 4,436 of the 25,982 reggie dropped out and 2,503 missed the exams.

One-quarter of the 26,436 who enrolled in the third course—6,331 men — dropped out and 2,244 failed to graduate.

Army spokesmen said many of the drop-outs are known to have left for civilian jobs. They insisted that many of those listed as deserters probably also quit to take jobs. Militia pay is $108 and $65 for living-out allowance.

Ontario had enrolled less than half its militia training centres at Listowel, Sarnia and one in Hamilton have been closed for lack of recruits. Another has been opened in Timmins.

Only three of the 45 training centres in Ontario recruited their quotas for the fourth course—Petawawa, Sudbury and North Bay. Hamilton's enrolment was down to about 300 by the week of 807 in January and London recruited only half of a target of 500. Even with a target of 2,050 men at four training centres, had recruited only 1,000 by Monday night with 190 more applicants being processed.

67,000 Enumerators Will Start Work on April 30

OTTAWA (CP)—On April 30 67,000 enumerators will begin the preparation of voters' lists for the June 18 federal general election.

Registration day by law will run from April 30 to May 5.

The nominations in the 21 scattered constituencies due voting held on a Tuesday since Monday, May 21, is the Victoria Day holiday. The Elections Act requires, that elections — nominations and polling — be held on a Monday. But if the Monday is a public holiday or a day of religious observance for any of any province, elections or nominations are held on the Tuesday.

AWAIT ORDERS

Within minutes after Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced commons statement Tuesday about election plans, telegrams went to returning officers and district Nelson Castonguay's office to await formal instructions. They were told "arrange to open your office immediately and further instructions follow."

A deadline of March 31 had been set for the returning officers to name deputy returning officers in each of revised boundaries for the 265 electoral districts established within their constituencies.

Technically, however, Mr. Castonguay said, the staff have not yet begun formal election preparations. That will come immediately after he gets word that Governor General Vanier has granted Mr. Diefenbaker dissolution of Parliament and has issued the writs.

Enumerators have already been selected and need only formal appointment by the returning officers.

HUGE STAFF INVOLVED

Upwards of 140,000 paid electoral officials will be employed in the huge job. Besides the enumerators, about 90,000 deputy returning officers and polling clerks are needed.

Preparation for the enumeration work have already gone out and the 67,000 ballot paper will be the next big item to be shipped.

This time the advance polls post a bigger job for the election force. For the first time in Canadian history anybody who has reason to believe he will be absent from his home area on election day can vote in advance.

Previously, advance polling privileges were restricted to travellers, transport employees, fishermen, militia trainees and the Management Main Reason Concerns Fail

By DON HANRIGHT

TORONTO (CP) — Bad management is the biggest reason for failure of Canadian small businesses and inability to get capital is at most a secondary factor, three witnesses told the royal commission on banking and finance Tuesday.

All three backed commissioner W. Thomas Brown of Vancouver who said there is "no divine right to borrow" and commissioner Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, vice - chancellor of Queen's University, who said there is "no necessity to weep over small business."

The witnesses were J. B. Brinn, secretary of the Canadian Small and Independent Business Federation; d'Alton Sinclair, vice - president of Charterhouse Canada (1961) Limited; and Michael Kraegen, who described himself as a Toronto engineer.

WANTS CHANGE

Mr. Koerner called for legislation to bring about a new class of investment company devoted to financing small business. This company would have the right to borrow from a new Crown corporation which would take the Industrial Development Bank under its wing.

Management is the prime reason for success or failure of a small business, Mr. Sinclair said. Financing problems were at the bottom of the list. Any Canadian company with good management could find money in numerous sources.

Enumerators have already been selected and need only formal appointment by the returning officers.

Nine Trucking Firms Still Out on Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Nine trucking firms are still tied up by a strike of Montreal Local 106 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.).

Four companies have signed agreements, the latest agreement coming Tuesday when the Ottawa Transportation Company and Hull Transport and Steamships, Ltd., reached agreement with the union Monday night with 190 more applicants being processed.

Of the nine companies still affected by the Tuesday strike of 1,800 truck drivers, three — Montreal-Ottawa Express, Inter-Nell Transport and St. Johns-Iberville Transport — were reported to be considering new union proposals.

A union spokesman said negotiations are still being sought with Smith Transport, Kinsway Transport, Rimouski Transport, Motorways (of Quebec), Interprovincial Lines and Provincial Transit. Most of these companies operate between Quebec and Ontario.

The Teamsters are seeking a 35-cent-an-hour increase spread over a three-year contract. A federal conciliation board has recommended 18 cents.

Truck drivers' operating out of Montreal now get $1.55 to $1.60 an hour.

Some of the firms still struck-bound were reported to be seeking an injunction against the union on the grounds that it did not wait the required seven days before rejecting the conciliation board's majority report last week.

Fears Choice Between Mart, Commonwealth

LONDON (CP) — John Mc-Ewen, Australian deputy prime minister, Tuesday night expressed his country's fear that Britain may be forced to choose between the Commonwealth and the European Common Market.

McEwen, who also is trade minister, stressed that Australia's concern was not unsatisfactory say settlement between Britain and the Six which did not maintain "to a reasonable extent our traditional access to the British markets" is equivalent."

The minister spoke to an Australian Club dinner after a five-week tour to present his country's case to the leaders of Canada, the United States, Britain and the Common Market countries.

His speech is regarded as one of the hardest-hitting delivered by a Commonwealth leader in London since Britain's talks with the Six opened last fall.

A. B. Collins Honored On 50th Anniversary as Practising Lawyer in City

Congratulations from colleagues in the law profession and from the country's leading statesmen were received yesterday by Mr. A. B. Collins, Q.C., of this city, as members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Law Association honored him on his 50th anniversary as a practising lawyer in Belleville.

Mr. Collins was presented with a silver tray by members of the local law association at a dinner party held last night at the Hotel Quinte. Among the dinner guests was Honorable Mr. Justice L. A. Landreville, now holding sittings of the Supreme Court at Belleville.

Permit me to join in your tendering congratulations to Mr. A. B. Collins, Q.C., on the fiftieth anniversary of his call to the Bar," was the wording of a telegram received from Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker.

The same was also paid to Mr. Collins in telegrams from Hon. Davie Fulton, Minister of Justice; Hon. Leslie Frost, Premier Cameron, a former associate of Mr. Collins; Hon. Earl Rowe, Q.C., M.P.; John J. Robinette, and Hastings county Judge J. C. Anderson.

COMPLETE SURPRISE

The dinner party was a complete surprise to Mr. Collins, whose presence was assured us the proviso that he was to introduce the visiting Supreme Court judge.

The presentation of a handsome silver tray was made by Edward E. Follwell, Q.C., who in a brief address recalled many instances of the recipient's early life as a practising lawyer in the city.

Mr. Collins is a former president on the local law association and has been a member since Robertson Collins, is now can ing the big share of the office load.

In his long years as a practising lawyer, Mr. Collins has had three different partners and by coincidence, each of his partners' last names started with the letter "C"

His fire partner was the late Archie Cochrane, who left the firm in 1936 to become a judge.

The next partner was the late Frank Carbold, while his son, Robertson, has been a firm member since 1946. Mr. Collins became a Queen's Council in 1931. He is also a deputy magistrate of the province and has served briefly as magistrate in the city.

During the 1920's Mr. Collins served as a member of Belleville city council and later acted as city solicitor for more than 20 years.

It was during his period as city solicitor that judgment in the court case Donovan vs. the City of Belleville clarified a law covering municipal contractual undertakings.

As result of this case municipal contracts must now be covered by by-law to make them legal.

WON BIG CASE

Basis of the court case Mr. Collins recalls, was a claim for damages by a contractor whose tender had been approved by council committee and was later turned down in open council with the contract being awarded to another bidder.

As city solicitor Mr. Collins represented the city in local courts securing judgment in favor of the municipality, and also during the appeal which was dismissed in Appellate Court.

Aside from his law practice Mr. Collins has taken an active part in the work of his church and as a member of the Knights of Columbus and has been local and provincial level.

He is a former State Deputy of the Order, the highest office of the Order in the province.

He has also been prominent in politics for many years as a member of the Liberal party.

Two Charged With Murder Sent to Trial

TORONTO (CP)—An Ontario Supreme Court grand jury Tuesday sent two men to trial—one while his preliminary hearing was still going on.

Ronald Turpin, 28, charged with capital murder in the gunslaying of Const. Fred Nash, was ordered to trial before his hearing was finished. Court officials said the unusual step was taken so Turpin could be tried this spring instead of at the fall sessions.

Crown counsel Arthur Klein said there had been sufficient evidence at the hearing for Turpins committal.

In the other case, a true bill was returned against Arthur Lucas, 34, of Detroit, charged with capital murder in the slaying of Therland Crater and Carolyn Ann Newman, 21.

Sobriety Test Brings Term To Motorist

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—A motorist who flunked his sobriety test was jailed for seven days for drunken driving Tuesday but few among those in court expressed eagerness to try the test themselves.

Police said Maurice Halley Cooper, 39, of Minden, failed to touch his nose with the forefinger of his left hand with his eyes closed and his head tilted back. Cooper pleaded guilty.

Magistrate R. B. Dulmer wondered whether a sober person would pass the test. The magistrate said he would try it himself but did not say where.

Provincial Police Constable Raymond Goodwin said Cooper's performance was shaky.

Could a dead-sober person do it?" the magistrate.

"I guess he could," replied the officer, "I've never tried it.

U.S. Airman Given 20 Years For Aiding Reds

WIESBADEN, West Germany (Reuters)—A court martial today sentenced U.S. Air Force Capt. Joseph P. Kauffman to 20 years at hard labor for giving information to Communists in Germany.

The eight-man court also sentenced the 43-year-old bachelor to dismissal from the air force in which he had served 20 years and forfeiture of pay.

Kauffman, barspectacled finance officer, was convicted Tuesday night on charges of betraying U.S. defence secrets to the East Germans. He could have received a maximum sentence of hard labor for life.

The sentence will be automatically reviewed by higher air force authorities.

Kauffman had pleaded innocent.

Election Battle on Ont. May Be Hottest in Years; Candidates of High Calibre

TORONTO (CP) — If quality and number of candidates is any indication, the June 18 federal election battle in Ontario will be a hot one.

Take Toronto Eglinton, where Liberal Mitchell Sharp, a former deputy minister of trade and commerce, will battle another specialist in economics, Finance Minister Fleming.

Next door in Toronto Davenport, sitting member Douglas Morton, a Progressive Conservative, faces strong opposition both numerically — with three opponents already picked and a fourth expected—and in quality, with the Liberals, for instance, running economist Walter Gordon.

Ontario seats are held by seven cabinet ministers, the Liberal leader and one of his chief parliamentary lieutenants and half the 40-CCF - NDP members in the Commons. And the province's 85 seats represent nearly a third the House's 265 seats.

The Ontario race becomes all the more important with indications the Liberal and Conservatives are running neck and neck in the province.

Daniel Lang, president of the Liberals' provincial campaign committee, said Friday Liberal Leader Pearson will spend about half his campaign time in Ontario, devoting half that time to Western Ontario, which he has described as a key area.

And significantly Prime Minister Diefenbaker followed on his election announcement in the Commons by flying to Toronto for a get-together with the Ontario legislature's PC caucus. Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield's organization is in good shape with close co-operation expected between the party's provincial and federal levels.

Both the New Democratic and Social Credit party have promised to contest all 85 seats, although some observers say they are still pending in many ridings in the absence of strong candidates.

The enthusiasm of the opposition parties was shown in statements issued Monday by three candidates in Western Ontario.

"We're Ready for It," said Stuart Phoenix, NDP candidate in Kingsway. "There is no doubt it's time for a change."

"I guess he could," replied the officer, "I've never tried it.

Geoffrey Stiles, 32-year - old Brantford sales office supervisor and Social Credit candidate for Brantford, said the election timing was "good — as far as the state of the country is concerned."

"The situation in Canada today is critical in the fullest extent of the use of the word. We need a party that is going to plan for the next generation of Canadians, not just for the next election."

Ernest Fisher, mayor of Goderich and Liberal candidate in Huron, said early today, after a five-hour campaign strategy meeting:

"We're ready to go. I'm glad it is being called now. The enthusiasm at the moment is very great and it should be a very active campaign in Huron."

Next to Mr. Pearson, who represents Algoma East in the Commons, the best-known Liberal MP is Paul Martin, Sr., member for Essex East. The former minister of health and welfare has held the riding since 1935.

Among the other Liberal professionals seeking re-election are Defence Minister Paul Hellyer, Toronto Trinity and Judy LaMarsh in Niagara Falls, both of whom entered the Commons in byelections held since the 1958 election, and former provincial cattle William Benidickson, Kenora.

In the Conservative camp, all seven cabinet ministers are expected to seek re-election. Besides Mr. Fleming they are Trade and Commerce Minister Hees in Toronto Broadview; Immigration Minister Fairweather in Hamilton Wentworth; Labor Minister Starr, Ontario riding; Public Works Minister Walker, Toronto Rosedale, and minister without portfolio Ernest Halpenny, London.

Among those defeated and indicated yet whether they'll run for another term is Earl Rowe the veteran Conservative member for Dufferin - Simcoe who was defeated in a byelect under R. B. Bennett.

Among the opposition NDP candidates are Douglas Fisher, who in 1957 won Port Arthur from the PCs, and Lewis and Walter Pitman, who won traditionally Conservative Peterborough riding in a 1960 byelection. Of the 85 Ontario seats 62 are held by Conservatives, 17 by Liberals and four by the NDP-CCF.

Prime Minister Delivers Pre-Election Pep Talk to PC Members of Legislature

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker made a flying visit to Queen's Park late Tuesday for a pre-election pep talk to Progressive Conservative members of the Ontario legislature.

In a 45-minute talk to some 85 members and party officials —delivered behind closed doors — Mr. Diefenbaker urged support in the Conservative caucus room—Mr. Diefenbaker stressed party unity and got loud applause and cheers that penetrated into the halls outside.

When he had finished speaking, former premier Leslie Frost, Q.C., led Mr. Diefenbaker and a chorus of For He's a Jolly Good Fellow and four thundering hurrahs.

His speech, it was understood, consisted of a mixture of pep talk, joke and policy. The new benefits Ontario has received under the Conservative federal government — including increased shares of tax moneys under federal-provincial tax agreements.

In his aside during the dinner was Premier Robarts, who invited the prime minister here to meet the Ontario cabinet last week without knowing that Mr. Diefenbaker would announce a June 18 general election, date only hours before his Toronto visit.

Mr. Diefenbaker told waiting newspapermen the meeting also shown a "lot of enthusiasm" although he declined to discuss his speech.

Mr. Robarts and Mr. Frost were unsuccessful about any role they might play in helping to keep a majority of Ontario's crucial seats in the Conservative camp. Both said they had no immediate plans to take part.

The whole visit was over in an hour and a half, sandwiched into the supper recess of the legislature.

Mr. Diefenbaker told a press conference before the gathering that the main election issues will be the record of the present government and of previous Liberal administrations.

Asked whether he was optimistic about the outcome, he said: "I'm always optimistic —pessimistic—period." He refused to predict the outcome and said "I never do that."

Mr. Diefenbaker said he will make a federal campaign party in May. The visit to Canada o' Mr. Diefenbaker and Mrs. Diefenbaker royal will not affect the election campaign.

Mr. Diefenbaker arrived at Queen's Park flanked by G. Ernest Halpenny, progressive Conservative member for London, Ont., and Sen. William Brunt, Dr. Diefenbaker's personal physician.

Earlier Mr. Wintermeyer had told reporters "tonight's buffet is a hostile love feast such as the one they held in April of 1957."

Mr. Diefenbaker also in a room across the floor from the Liberal party's offices where reporters had been told during his sign: "Dear Dief — Ontario's Mr. Diefenbaker. No. 1: Where's the $100,000,000."

This was a reference to the Canada Development Trust fund was reported to have said: "Vote for Diefenbaker and he'll give me (Ontario) $100,000,000."

PAID $100,000?

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A former vice-president of Cuba was reported Tuesday to have paid a $100,000 fine to get back his invasion prisoner son in a private deal with the Cuban government. Libertsion committee headquarters said it was understood Guillermo Alonso Pujol had gone to Havana to complete the transaction for his son, Jorge.

Man Was Given Fortune at 21 To Wed Widow

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Charles R. Goddard was 21, a 76-year-old widow gave him a small fortune for marrying her.

Goddard, in the "marriage settlement", a secret document, today, the tax court of the United States has ruled he doesn't have to pay income tax on the remains of what he says was a $900,000 settlement.

The story of Goddard, now 74, and the widow, Lucinda M. Treat, started in 1908. Court records relate this tale:

Goddard, a native of Southwick, Mass., was a law student when he met Mrs. Treat, widow of a successful cattle dealer. He developed an interest in him and, according to court papers, offered him a fortune to marry her.

The amount, Goddard said, was $700,000 in the month after marriage with an additional $10,000 later. Part of the bargain was that the marriage settlement be kept secret.

Goddard had the money, continued his studies and began to practice law in Hartford, Conn. His wife died in 1913.

WORKS FOR BUREAU

Goddard moved the money to his office safe, came to Washington to work and got a job with the Bureau of Internal Revenue. He was married again in 1922 and his wife had two children before she died in 1947.

All these years Goddard's board remained a secret. He even went into debt to buy property.

The secret was revealed by him in November of 1951. He was working as a $10,000-a-year employee of the bureau when the treasury department decided bureau employees had to file periodic financial statements.

Goddard listed his net worth as $220,284.15, put down that he had $40,000 in a safety deposit box, and added $135,000 "due from others." He said he never received an amount in excess of $8,000 by way of gift bequest or legacy? "Yes . . . marriage settlement," answered Goddard.

The repercussions were swift and Goddard did all he bureau agents. Then a long court battle began, with the government claiming he had failed to pay $32,000 in income taxes for the three-year period of 1945-47 and Goddard's lawyers claiming that bank deposits of about $32,000 were left over from the settlement with Mrs. Treat.

In a ruling last week the court agreed Goddard of fraud. It also concluded that he was "an eccentric miser" who had hidden the money because he was ashamed of the deal.

Former Belgian Colonial Technicians, Administrators May Return to the Congo

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP) — The United Nations is trying to bring back to The Congo former Belgian colonial technicians and administrators to help put the African country together again.

This switch in UN policy results from the growing recognition in UN circles that only Belgians with previous experience in The Congo can work efficiently with the Congolese.

A UN spokesman said the present plan calls for Belgians to work for the Congolese government and public services, as part of the UN's technical assistance program.

Robert Gardiner, the Ghanian diplomat who is special representative of acting Secretary-General U Thant of the UN, is generally regarded as the initiator of the plan.

He has started negotiations with Belgium for an agreement that would allow recruiting of old Congo experts now working in Brussels.

BELGIANS WAITING

The Congolese appear to approve the plan.

While many Belgians probably would gladly return, most of them have adopted a wait-and-see attitude. Many feel they should hold out for the appointment of a Belgian to the top job of chief of UN civilian operations in The Congo.

Such an appointment likely would be opposed by Afro-Asian countries, but Western feeling here is that a Belgian with senior colonial administrative experience would know best how to plan The Congo's recovery and get things done.

At present there are no Belgians on the UN staff simply because the UN secretariat, bowing to Afro-Asian pressure, would not have it.

Now, however, Gardiner is quoted as saying the UN is not The Congo's enemy. The Congolese got rid of Belgians but rather to assist in the transition from colonial to self-governing status.

DRIVEN FROM CONGO

"After we have gone the Belgians will be back here," he is quoted as saying in the Brussels newspaper La Libre Belgique. "We never wanted them to leave."

The letter of independence for this former Belgian colony provided for retention of hundreds of Belgian experts to help the Congolese over the rough spots.

However, less than two weeks after independence, June 30, 1960, the Congolese army and a dissatisfied segment of the population, fanned to fury by the fiery tongue of the late Patrice Lumumbe, went on a bloody and until a while rampage that wrecked the country.

The majority fled for safety. They were men who had spent years here, knew the people and could speak to them in their native languages. Some had been born in The Congo and considered it their homeland.

But, most of all, they knew how. Long experience in how to deal with the Congolese and how to get things done in a slow-moving country.

Now, small businessmen are returning or receiving numbers and a few Belgian advisers have come back on their own. But private agreements with the Congolese government Western observers see Belgian leadership over a long period might save the country, now practically bankrupt except for millions in foreign aid channelled through the UN.

They feel that with smooth-running government administration and political leaders can iron out their differences and establish law and order—foreign investments might again flow in.

The evidence in Katanga supports this view. Premier Moise Tshombe has refused to bow to the central government and the UN—has surrounded himself with Belgian advisers. With their help he has succeeded in maintaining law and order better than anywhere else in The Congo, a healthy economy and well-run government services and public utilities.

Roslin

ROSLIN — On Sunday morning a grass fire started just south of the village and fanned by a strong west wind, it raced across several fields on the farm of Mr. Connell Leslie. The Belleville fire department was called and, with its help, it was soon brought under control and extinguished. Cause of the fire was unknown.

Relatives from Roslin attended the funeral of Mrs. Gilmour, at Tamworth, last Monday afternoon.

Proposal Canadians Run Congolese Training School Is Still Being Discussed

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—The possibility of Canadian participation in a retraining program for the Congolese army still is being discussed here despite the fact Canada says it can not help.

Informed United Nations sources here say the Canadian government last January turned down a request by Acting Secretary - General U Thant for French-speaking Canadian officers to run a Congolese officers' school.

It is understood 20 officer-instructors would be required. Canada's decision is said to have been based on the fact the Canadian Army cannot spare more French - speaking officers than it now provides for the Canadian contingent in the UN Congo force.

The contingent includes about a dozen army and RCAF staff officers at UN headquarters and about 13 others with the Canadian signal unit which provides internal communications in the Congo. Fewer than half the total are bilingual.

UN sources hint Canada may be asked to reconsider its decision, especially since the request originally came from Gen. Joseph Mobutu, commander of the Congolese national army.

Mobutu is the calm young man in his early 30s who 18 months ago set himself the task of restoring law and order in his troubled country. He did so by deposing Premier Patrice Lumumba, later slain in Katanga, and setting up a government of young students until the politicians settled on Cyrillo Adoula as premier.

Mobutu's request for Canadians to train his officers is based partly on his friendship with a number of French-Canadian staff liaison officers at UN headquarters. He is known to have been impressed by their ability and willingness to help.

The Congo and his army.

The UN's retraining program for the army calls for officer instructors from India, Ghana, Ireland, Greece and Argentina, among others. The aim is the program would be officer-training - by French-speaking Canadians.

Without the Canadians, Mobutu is said to see little chance of success in the program. Of the other countries to participate, only the Tunisians speak French. The Tunisians are not highly regarded by the Congolese, who consider the North Africans just as underdeveloped as themselves.

This grab - bag organization plan for the retraining program may have influenced the Canadian government in its stand. In addition, sources here say there has been no thorough survey made of the army's needs. There is even some doubt that 30 Canadian officers, unfamiliar with the Belgian training manuals used by the Congolese army, could do an effective job in the first few months.

Mobutu is said to see, in a Canadian - run officer school, a way of getting rid of undesirable elements in his officer ranks, a process now under way. Some Nkrumaist officers have formed renegade bands which roam the bush and have been blamed for atrocities against UN personnel and missionaries in Kivu province in recent months.

Many of the renegade troops are followers of Gen. Victor Lundula, Lumumba's army chief who was supplanted by Mobutu. Lundula is based at Stanleyville and commands some 8,000 troops whom he has placed, nominally if not in fact, under Mobutu's command.

From his headquarters here, Mobutu is said to have the allegiance of about 12,000 soldiers. He keeps them in check by restricting them to army camp areas and keeping them off the streets and out of public places where they often went out of their way to find trouble and beat UN personnel.

His reorganization of the army appears to be the work of Major Belgian officers of the 3rd Force Publique, hired as technical advisers on Mobutu's own staff. They are kept out of sight, especially when in uniform, and do not command troops.

Some observers here say that the ideal retraining program should be operated by Belgian officers in the Congo before independence. However, because of the delicate political situation within the UN and in Katanga, it is unlikely the UN would allow such a step.

Man-Eating Sharks Turn Australia's Surf Bathing Into a Perilous Pastime

By JOHN BEATTY

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Man-eating sharks have turned Australia's favorite summer sport, surf bathing, into a perilous pastime.

Since the beginning of the southern summer in November, fishermen and bathers have reported the greatest number of sharks ever sighted off the Australian coast.

From Perth, in Western Australia, to Cairns, in the far northeast, surf - bathers have been driven from the water by the man-eaters.

An 18-year-old girl and a 28-year - old man died recently after being mauled and cut by sharks in one of the most savage attacks by the man-eaters in Australian history.

ATTACK NEAR BEACH

New attacks were made within about 30 feet of shore, in about two feet of water, off the tropical Queensland coast.

Radio stations now are sending up monitor aircraft each day around the fidelity - populated swimming resorts, to watch for sharks. They are sighted closer to swimmers, warnings are broadcast for those on the beach and the aircraft dive over the sharks to scare them into deeper waters.

The sharks are mostly of four man - eating species, but most feared is the tiger shark, the which is grey with dark bands and can grow up to 20 feet. One of these caught this summer was carrying 16 bullets.

Shark patrols and life-saving patrols have been doubled on many beaches and at harbor resorts along the Australian coast. Swimmers are being warned against swimming out too far.

Sydney's surf and river swimmers were warned of the threat early this summer. Authorities predicted sharks would move northward, farther than usual because of heavy rain in Queensland which swept thousands of fish down the rivers and attracted the "man-eaters" inshore.

The sharks share no fear, and the small fight of blood in water drives them to frenzied attacks.

When sharks are spotted, lifesavers put to sea in speedy surfboats, carrying heavy lines and accustomed high-calibre rifles. At least 12 sharks have been killed in this way in Victoria and New South Wales.

Canadian Soldiers in Congo Fighting Boredom Amid Crowded Living Conditions

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—Canadian soldiers in The Congo were with strong nerves and hard work their battle to do their job in peace for the United Nations.

Now, they are fighting boredom amid crowded living accommodations, fewer sports facilities to occupy leisure time and rising prices on the few amenities available.

When they arrived here in August, 1960, to set up internal communications for the UN force, the Canadian signalmen often found themselves in the middle of violence between UN and Congolese troops.

Some Canadians were beaten brutally by undisciplined Congolese soldiers. Others were caught — though none was wounded — in occasional exchanges of gunfire between UN and Congolese forces.

Such incidents confirmed in Leopoldville, in then Communist - controlled Stanleyville, in the Congo River port of Matadi and elsewhere.

The Canadians did not fight back, remaining cool in the hope that non-retaliation would calm the Congolese. French-speaking officers of the Royal Chief Regiment worked quietly and patiently with high-ranking officers of the ANC—Congolese National Army—to bring about gradual control of the troops. The system worked. Gen. Joseph Mobutu has strengthened his hold on his army. Leopoldville is calm and there is no sign of the tension that made operations difficult at the start.

While the situation generally throughout the country remains potentially explosive due to disease, unemployment and economic collapse, the 300-odd members of the Canadian contingent move about with much greater freedom. Some Canadian - African friendships have been made.

"All is very quiet so far as we are concerned now," said Col. H. W. G. (Buster) Stephens, commander of the Canadian contingent, made up basically of 57 Canadian Signal Unit. The remainder include staff officers on the military and air operations staffs of UN headquarters.

OFF-DUTY PURSUITS

The signal unit provides radio - teletype communications between Leopoldville headquarters and seven regional points up to 800 miles away in the vast interior. These are vital links, bearing in central Kasai, Sudest and Kindu in the eastern provinces of Kivu, Stanleyville in northeastern Oriental, Albertville, Kamina and Elisabethville in Katanga.

In an average day about 450 messages pass among these points. Circuits are in operation 24 hours a day, seven days a week, except when thunderstorms interfere with signals. In addition to the unit's bilingual signallers operate a switchboard at UN headquarters.

When the unit arrived it was quartered in the university, consisting of the Athenee Royal, a boarding school in the best part of Leopoldville. The spacious grounds include a swimming pool, now closed for repairs delayed by lack of parts, tennis courts, a gymnasium and a soccer field.

CROWDED QUARTERS

The Canadians were forced out last September by the Congo government which said it needed the space for students. From what were the best possible accommodations in Leopoldville the troops moved to a seven-storey apartment building.

At the Athenee Royal the men had a degree of privacy in individual cubicles. Now they are crowded with up to 14 men in a three - bedroom apartment. Some rooms on the seventh floor have been closed because they are infested with rats.

The building's two elevators broke down long before the Canadians moved in and haven't been repaired for lack of parts. It's a long climb for the troops who live on the top floors.

The kitchens, run by Canadian army cooks, have been set up in what used to be the building's ground-floor garage. The men eat under a big canvas marquee on the grounds in front of the building.

LITTLE ENTERTAINMENT

Since the Athenee Royal swimming pool was closed, there is little to occupy the troops' leisure time except nightly open air movies at the side of the building or a trip downtown to the sidewalk cafes.

"It's an unreal, kind of life, for them," said one officer who is concerned about the effect of the hum-drum life on morale.

Most of the troops simply count the days until their six-month tour in The Congo is over. However, despite the conditions, slightly more than 25 per cent of them volunteer for a third tour of three six months.

Most of the volunteers are signallers looking forward to an assignment to one of the seven detachments, manned one bilingual officer and nine signals corps men. There, living conditions in villas are easier and, possibly, happier.

Men selected for detachments are picked, basically, on their record for doing their job well and staying out of scrapes.

Kennedy's Assumption Last January Said Coming True

By HAROLD MORRISON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Last January, when presenting his new budget to Congress, President Kennedy made what was then considered by observers as a puzzling assumption.

At a time when many German wo's still bewailing the Communist wall in East Berlin and after the military garrison in West Berlin had been tightened, Kennedy announced that for purposes of estimating future U.S. defence spending he assumed special military measures undertaken in connection with the Berlin crisis would terminate by June 30.

Political adversaries described this as ridiculous. How could the president conclude that the tensions would conveniently disappear by June 30? They wrote off his statement as political expediency to better portray the prospects of a balanced budget in the new year starting July 1.

Yet events seem to be moving in line with Kennedy's assumptions. The Kremlin has softpedalled its threats and a U.S. report from Moscow describes Western embassies there as baffled by the lull in the usual Soviet harassment of the West.

U.S. diplomats say they also are baffled by the Soviet calm, although they seem to be increasingly hopeful that current Soviet-American negotiations on Berlin may bear fruit.

While France and West Germany watch with anxiety, the new talks have opened in Washington with State Secretary Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin as principals.

In U.S. eyes, negotiations got off to a bad start because the Bonn administration allegedly leaked U.S. proposals to the press so that Russia had a clear idea of how far the United States was prepared to go.

France and West Germany fear Russia and the United States, supported by Britain, might work out some deal on Berlin which might enhance the position of Communists on the continent to the detriment of adjoining Western powers.

CUT PAYMENTS

There also is reported to be a French-German fear that if the United States works out some compromise with Russia, there may be a U.S. move to reduce military aid to Europe and thereby ease a worrisome U.S. international payments problem.

While some observers see the reason for the U.S. desire for a settlement on the Berlin issue as a way of strengthening the U.S. dollar through reduced foreign aid, the reason for Soviet willingness to compromise does not seem too clear.

One speculative answer is that Soviet Premier Khrushchev may be dangling a Berlin settlement as bait for a summit conference. Another is that he may have so many economic troubles at home that he also would like to see his military and other foreign operating costs reduced.

Canada Has Good Chance to Get '68 Games

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Fitness Council was told Monday that Canada has a good chance of getting the 1968 Winter Olympics in scenic Banff National Park.

Meeting here for the second time since its formation, the advisory council was told by Olympic officials that the idea has been well received in Europe.

Health Minister Monteith announced that the federal government is likely to spend "substantial funds" to develop the Rocky Mountain playground into a suitable site.

The Calgary Olympic Development Association already has received a $25,000 grant from the federal government and $40,000 from the province of Alberta and the city of Calgary.

BATS CHANGES GOOD

James Worrall of Toronto, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, said chances are reasonably good" that the Banff site will get the nod from the International Olympic Committee.

The committee is expected to make its decision at a meeting in Kenya in June, 1963. Norway, France and Switzerland also are bidding for the 1968 games.

After Mr. Monteith's opening address, the 30-member council spent two days of closed session to consider requests for sports and fitness grants. A news conference was scheduled for tonight.

The council advises the government is distributing $5,000,000 in grants to sports and physical fitness organizations and the provincial governments.

Town's Still Talking About Academy Awards, All Bad

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

The town's still talking about the Academy Awards — nice to have something supplant Elizabeth Taylor for a while. The talk is all bad, even though there have been duller Oscar shows. And the academy hierwigs can point to the show's ratings—that, as always.

Here's another point of discussion: Is it fair for a picture like Bendix' Lili or West Side Story to sweep almost everything in sight?

Was West Side Story really that good in photography? (Not compared to the magnificently pictorial El Cid). And how about those West Side Story costumes? Authentic, yes, but hardly an achievement in design.

The joke is that the second most important man in creating the night's show—after Jerome Robbins, who conceived it all—didn't get even a nomination. He's Leonard Bernstein, who wrote the music.

Unhappiest girl in town is Connie Stevens, for an odd reason. She just got word that her television series Hawaiian Eye has been renewed for another year.

Most actors would rejoice. But another year of TV means Connie won't be available for features. She hasn't done one in 18 months despite the success of her tear-jerking Parrish and Susan Slade.

Bob Hope is glowing over the English reviews of Road to Hong Kong and the smash business the film is doing in London. He admitted on the Critics' Choice set that he was against the title.

"I wanted The Road to the Moon, because we go there in the movie and it's right up to the minute," he said.

Belly Dancer Does Twist On Nights Off to Relax

By ANDREW MESSELS

NEW YORK (AP)—To Soraya Melik, a belly dancer from Turkey, the twist is a joke.

Twice a night, six nights a week, at the Latin Quarter she twists more of herself more often—and in more directions—than the average twister's scurrilous could stand in a month.

"The twist, she says. "I do it sometimes on my night off—to relax."

Soraya is one of about 35 girls who undulate nightly in variations of cobra all represented in the area of Eighth Avenue and 28th Street in Manhattan. The cabaret bear such exotic names as the Port Said, the Ta-ra-n-i, the Arabian Nights, the Egyptian Garden, the New Life, the Grecian Palace, the Brittania and the Kephisia. The dancers have names to match.

What westerners irreverently call the belly dance is a highly artistic form of entertainment in the first place. More recently, however, other New Yorkers have discovered the spots, and this caused a mild boom in the sort of bump and grind that went out with the local proliferation of burlesque.

What makes a girl become a belly dancer, and where does she learn?

In the case of Soraya (and that's her real name), she learned the steps as a little girl in Ankara, Turkey. Five years ago she came to the United States and worked as a hairdresser. Then, she says, "I saw so many American girls dancing. I thought: 'Why shouldn't a Turkish girl dance?' " So she did.

It was nervous for a while, she said, "People expected me to undress. I tried to explain that this is an ancient and honorable dance, but they still expected me to strip. I wouldn't do that."

WOULD MARRY

You get the idea talking to the dark, curvy dancer that she's not against marriage.

"No, I'm not married—YET," she said. "The trouble is, working six nights a week from 9:30 till 4 o'clock in the morning, you don't meet many eligible young men. But I wouldn't mind getting married."

Asked how she liked show business, Soraya replied:

"I like it fine, but when I get married it will be up to my husband to decide if I should keep dancing. I like myself, Turkish girl, I believe the husband is king."

Election Candidates to Be Sounded on Nuclear Views

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Nuclear arms for Canada will be raised as an issue in the forthcoming election by a vocal disarmament group headed by two respected religious spokesmen.

The Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament, formerly known as the Canadian Committee for the Control of Radiation Hazards, will try to get every candidate and every political party to forswear nuclear weapons for this nation's defence day.

President of the organization is the Very Rev. James A. Thomson, former Moderator of the United Church of Canada, now on the faculty of McGill University, Montreal. Its vice-president is Abraham L. Feinberg, rabbi emeritus of Holy Blossom Temple in Toronto.

INTERVIEWS LEADERS

Rabbi Feinberg interviewed leaders and spokesmen of the three parties on Parliament Hill Monday in an attempt to assess their positions on universal total nuclear disarmament. In the order of his visits, he reported his findings at a press conference in this way:

New Democratic Party—Unequivocally opposed to nuclear weapons for Canada, and in favor of Canada withdrawing from NATO if it becomes a nuclear pool.

Liberal—Under present circumstances and with available public information, nuclear weapons for Canada appear unnecessary, but if NATO worked out an agreement by which all nuclear weapons in the alliance would be under collective control, Canada should not refuse to participate.

Conservative — External Affairs Minister Green, who told reporters that talks had been "very good" and had gone over "the whole problem," asked Rabbi Feinberg not to make any statement on his views.

TO ASSESS REPORTS

Dimitris Roussopoulos of Montreal, leader of a university student group within the nuclear disarmament organization, said the committees will assess reports of interviews with candidates and party platforms and add the campaign literature of the parties.

The stands taken by candidates and parties would then be made public through groups all across the country, so individuals could make up their minds.

Rabbi Feinberg, who led the delegation to Parliament Hill Monday, Thomson was ill, said Mr. Green had cautioned against taking a stand against trying to get written commitments from candidates, which would be contrary to the Elections Act.

"We want to centralize and dramatize this issue. The campaign will pursue its policy of submitting to candidates the question as to his or her attitude, and we shall try on our schedule to get written commitments from candidates, which would be contrary to the Elections Act.

Amateurs Take Over

Kramer Quits Pro Tennis

NEW YORK (AP)—The long and bitter battle between professional Jack Kramer and the United States Lawn Tennis Association is over. The amateurs won.

The end came Tuesday when it was announced that Kramer is stepping down as czar of the pro game.

The free - wheeling Kramer gave the USLTA jitters for 12 years. One by one, he snatched the cream of the amateurs, The U.S. and Australian Davis Cup teams were severely depleted by his raids.

Then, was talk Kramer was even grabbing second-line players to force the amateurs to agree to an open tournament.

Crowds then began falling off at Kramer's pro matches. Twice he staged tournaments in Forest Hills, N.Y., and came out dripping in red ink. He said last February he would run no more tours in the U.S.

ARE REGROUPING

The remaining professionals are regrouping their forces, minus Kramer—to persuade the world tennis bodies to permit open tennis events. Their organization is the International Professional Tennis Players Association.

"One of the obstacles to open tennis always has been the resentment of the amateur bodies to Kramer," Harry MacKay, former U.S. Davis Cup captain and a vice-president of the organization, said Tuesday.

"This way the amateur associations are not going to be able to oppose open tennis on the ground that it would just help Kramer's pockets."

MacKay, who announced Kramer's fall, said the pros have vowed to build up their own outfit and give it a strong inter-national voice.

EPL Final To Open Friday

OTTAWA (CP)—The best-of-seven Eastern Professional Hockey League final will begin Friday at either Hull or Kingston, the EPHL announced Tuesday night.

The venue depends on the outcome of tonight's semi-final decider at Hull between Hull-Ottawa Canadiens and Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers.

If Hull wins it will entertain Kingston Frontenacs in the final opener, winning the right for the first home game because of its first-place finish ahead of Kingston in the regular season.

If Kitchener wins, the Beavers will travel to Kingston for the first game of the finals. Kitchener was third during regular league play.

Other dates of the final will be announced later.

Cleroux Underdog To Folley

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bob Cleroux of Montreal, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion, counts on a heavy hand to move him a step closer to a world title shot when he battles Nino Zoro in Daly City tonight.

He will go into the ring an underdog with odds of around 2-1 favorite over the more-experienced campaigner from Chanda.

Cleroux, 24, bulls in to take two punches for the chance of landing one, which could prove dangerous against a boxer of Zoro's stature. Cleroux has never been floored in coming up a 21-2-1 record as a professional and has scored seven wins with nine 10 ages amateur bouts.

The 29 - year - old Folley claims a right hand offering a surprise knockout loss to Argentine Alfredo Lauante last year and vows to throw more punches than usual.

"I know he does try to punch," Cleroux's manager, Al Gilbert, said Tuesday. "He's guy stands up and fights, it's better for Cleroux."

Folley has stopped 33 foes in compiling his 37-3-2 mark in ring and has No. 3 heavyweight contender, Cleroux is No. 4 position.

The scheduled 10-rounder will start at 9:30 p.m., PST (12:30 a.m. EST). There will be no radio or television coverage.

Elliott May Meet Snell Yet

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) Herb Elliott, Australia's unbeaten miler, retired from competition Tuesday and dashed hopes of a "mile of the century" duel with New Zealand's Peter Snell.

"It is no use attempting to run a record mile unless you give yourself completely to training," Elliott, a medical science major at Cambridge University, said. "I realized I was not interested in smashing records any more and that I should do something about it."

Elliott, who smashed the four-minute barrier 17 times, held the world record of three miles, 54.5 seconds for nearly two years until it was beaten three months ago by Snell, 3:54.4.

Track fans had been looking forward to the meeting of these two great milers in the British Empire Games at Perth, Australia later this year.

Elliott says he will not run in the Commonwealth Games in Perth, being keen on Peter Snell. Snell said: "I would have liked a crack at Snell."

Elliott, 25, left the door slightly open for a possible comeback.

'Pop' Matthews May Bring Son Here

TORONTO (CP) — Veteran English soccer star Stanley Matthews, who plays for the Toronto City club during the summer, may be joined in Canada this season by his tennis playing son.

The chairman of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association's junior development committee, E. C. Condon of Ottawa, had invited Stanley, Jr., to play in four Eastern Canadian tournaments this summer.

Young Matthews, 16, is all-England junior champion. He won the outdoor title last summer and the covered court event in December.

He has been invited to take part in the Quebec province championship at Montreal, the Ontario event at Toronto, the Stanley Bay invitation tournament in Ontario and the national open junior championships at Ottawa. These junior events are scheduled between July 30 and Aug. 25.

IT'S REALLY SECRET

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Air Force launched a satellite from Vandenberg Air Force Base Tuesday—because a secret it wouldn't even give the time of launch. Asked if use of the term "satellite" meant the unit was in orbit, a spokesman replied: "I can't say."

In the Dressing Rooms

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Coach Rudy Pilous of Chicago Black Hawks was concerned over the condition of Toronto Maple Leafs goalie Johnny Bower Tuesday night—concerned that the Leafs may play more inspirational hockey without him than with him.

Pilous is a great one for trying to think along logical lines in figuring all the angles in the Stanley Cup final.

His Hawks swarmed the best-of-seven series 2-0 with a 4-1 triumph Tuesday night.

Bower left the game midway in the first period with a groin injury and Don Simmons replaced him.

"I don't know if Bower will be able to play in Toronto Thursday or not," said Pilous. "But if he doesn't, the Leafs may be more inspired and just that much tougher. They will play better defensively as a team to help him. . . .

ADJUST TO STYLE

"I wish we had that kind of defense," he added. "After smearing the victory, we are up against it," continued Pilous. "We have a little more slip going for us. We have adjusted to their style now. We feel we have some breathing room."

Meanwhile, in the Toronto dressing room, Bower limped out and left for a hospital to play overnight. He said he believed it was a pulled groin muscle but wasn't sure whether he would be able to play again in the series.

Coach Punch Imlach said he wasn't worried about it.

"Simmons is a good goalie and has a good playoff record. If we have to use him in the next game, he'll be a better man because he'll know he will be playing."

"It's tough to play against the Hawks, three officials and 20,000 fans.

WORTH TWO GOALS

"I wish we had that kind of a crowd behind us in Toronto. They're worth two goals to a team."

Imlach thought a moment and added: "I guess both teams are a bunch of homers. We win two at home, then they win two at home. It's okay with me if it keeps up that way."

Imlach stressed this because if the series goes seven games, Toronto will have played four at home.

Asked whether he had any complaints about the officiating, Imlach said:

"Why protest? The score was 4-1. Some day we might get the same kind of officiating and then we'll both be even. It was a bad night for the officials and a bad night for some of our players."

MONTREAL (CP) — Four years as an ice-maker have convinced Ed (Sticky) Dublel that curling needs a new morality.

"Something has to be done, soon or the players are going to be swinging at each other with the brooms," he says.

Dubiel is 25, a chunky six-footer of affable mien. But he makes his points about curling with hand gestures and unmistakable bitterness.

"Sure the game is booming," the former semi - pro baseball umpire said in an interview after the season winding up at Montreal's four-sheet Greystone Curling Club.

"But what riles me is the attitude of the newcomers to curling—and they make up most of the players.

"More so than in any other sport, there is squawking and alibiing.

"No one is ever a loser, at least not in his own mind. They'll find someone or something to blame for every fall-ure."

A sampling of locker room beefs and excuses:

"That ice fell off to one side like a ski slope."

"How can you curl when the rink is like an ice box?"

"You would think they would scrape the ice at least once in a while."

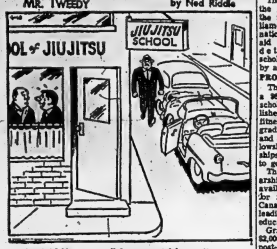
"No one is going to tell me those rocks were all the proper weight."

Seasoned curlers, fellows who have been at it for 10 years or more, are exempted by Dubiel.

"They seldom say much."

And women, for the most part, fall into the same category.

But in mixed competition they undergo a big change, shedding all docility.



"They pick up their cue from the men and then they're just as bad," he said.

His pet peeve, however, is the "glass skip."

"He's the fellow who sits in the gallery behind the glass with a drink in hand and plots strategy for someone else's game.

"He never misses a shot."

Fitness Council Endorses 'Amateur Sports Awards'

OTTAWA (CP) — Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Howie Meeker, former stars in National Hockey League rinks, have teamed up to stake a new contention in the Canadian sporting world—off the ice.

They and Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs star forwards are co-sponsors of a proposal to establish a system of national awards to outstanding amateur sportsmen.

Their suggestion met a favorable response Tuesday when put to the National Fitness Council at its second meeting.

The 20 - member advisory group endorsed the proposal to establish "Canadian amateur sport awards" to be presented "by Canada" periodically to outstanding athletes.

Details still have to be worked out but it has been suggested there might be more than one award a year and perhaps an award for each major sport or each field of athletics. It is not known whether the awards would be in the form of a trophy, medal or plaque.

The council, set up to advise the government how to spend the new $5,000,000 annual parliamentary grant to develop a national, fitness program and aid amateur sport, disclosed details of a comprehensive scholarship scheme prepared by a special committee.

PROPOSE 130 AWARDS

The committee also recommends $600,000 federal - provincial scholarship program be established to provide 100 national fitness scholarships for undergraduates, 20 national fitness and amateur sport graduate fellowships and 10 special fellowships. The program is subject to government approval.

The 100 undergraduate scholarships, worth $1,000, would be available to Canadian residents for first year's study at any Canadian university for courses leading to a degree in physical education.

Graduate fellowships, worth $2,000, would allow a year's post-graduate study leading to a master's or doctor's degree in physical education or recreation, or for any other type of educational program primarily related to fitness or amateur sport.

The special fellowships, open to persons "occasionally employed in a senior capacity" in the field of fitness or amateur sport, would permit a year's post-graduate or special study related to physical education. Such awards would be worth $4,200 for a married person or $4,000 for an unmarried person.

ADVOCATE BURSARIES

The committee also recommended establishing a system of $1,000 bursaries based on students' needs.

Among other projects announced by the council Tuesday was the proposed allocation of $300,000 this year to produce movies, booklets and other literature publicizing the council's aims and policies.

Grants totalling $16,000 to the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada for sending athletes to international meets, and $97,577 to 35 unspecified sports and athletic groups also were announced.

Council chairman Ken Farmer of Montreal said a policy statement and application form for assistance would be sent shortly to 55 sports bodies.

Confliction of Dates

May Quit Hoop Series

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's YMCA Blues apparently will have to drop out of playoff competition for the national Senior B basketball championship it was learned Tuesday night.

Coach Murray Waxman said his team is unable to play on the dates set by the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association because they conflict with the Jewish Passover holidays.

The Blues were to meet Saint John, N.B., YMCA in a two-game total-point series here Saturday and Sunday with the winner to advance to the national final against Sarnia YMCA in Sarnia April 23-25 in a best-of-three set. But the high holidays fall on April 24-25.

"We can't play on those dates and since there is no point to advancing we have been told we'll have to cede the series with Saint John," said Waxman.

He said he discussed the problem by telephone with Stan Mockford of Willowdale, Ont., secretary of the CABA. Mockford told him to try to negotiate satisfactory dates with the Sarnia team.

Waxman said: "We asked the Sarnia officials if they would agree to move the dates back a couple of days. But they said they couldn't do it because three of their players would be unavailable."

Waxman said the players on his club offered to put up money "out of their own pocket" to guarantee expenses for the Sarnia team if the dates were set back.

"But they still wouldn't accept."

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Meaford Chevies pounce into town this evening all gassed and ready for their fourth OHA intermediate "A" semi-finals bout with the red-shirted Pepsis.

The Chevies spotted our side two victories before they shifted into the gear that won them their group playoff and handed the soft-drink crew a neat 7-2 shellacking in Barrie last Sunday afternoon.

Now they figure the giants from the city are not as big and tough as they were reputed to be, and tonight they'll throw all gears wide open in an effort to cop the victory and square the best-of-seven series at two games each.

Coach Jean Paul Lamirande has other ideas. He takes the club to Barrie Saturday and if he wins tonight hopes to wrap up the series then.

"I knew is would come, sooner or later. Like death and taxes its arrival is inevitable. Like a mother-in-law it pops up when you least expect it and like a stray kitten you don't know what to do with it after it arrives.

This time it came by telephone. The voice at the other end relayed it slowly. Just so there would be no misunderstanding.

"The bet was," the voice said, nursing each word slowly and deliberately, "that Chicago would double the score on the Toronto Maple Leafs last Sunday night. As you know the Black Hawks won the game 2-0. I figure I should collect the bet."

"The other side of the big wager claims that because the Leafs did not score it was impossible to double 'nothing.' Who is right? Should I collect or write it off to experience?"

Technically speaking, I do not think you can collect the bet. You cannot multiply "nothing by two" and come up with something.

Wager-minded people have made this question one of the most controversial since a guy named Hoyle wrote the well-known gambling masterpiece. It has been one of the most argument-provoking items since woman.

I remember one case where the bettor framed the wording of the wager to read "will double a score." This, too, caused an argument since his selection won 2-0. The opposition refused to pay the bet since, he maintained, twice nothing is just that—nothing.

But the bettor claimed he had said "a" score and this being the case "a score" represented one goal. It didn't go the courts but the loser paid since he figured he had been the victim of a neat piece of fine printing.

Morally I believe you should collect. You wagered that the Hawks would score twice as many goals as the Leafs—at least I assume that was the bet, only couched in "double-the-score" phraseology. And since the Hawks scored three as against none by Toronto, I think your pal has a moral obligation to pay.

But here's an opinion by one of the news-room "experts" (brother you really touched off an argument here.)

Says the news-room "Skeptic." "Certainly, he wins the bet. If the score had been 2-0 he would have won. You can double nothing by scoring nothing. In other words 'twice no' scores is double one no score. Let's put it that way. It is drawing the line a bit fine but then sports desk Ferry Masons are not always right.

Literally 3-1; 4-2; 5-3 figures is doubling the score as against 2-2; 3-1; 4-2; 5-3 and so on. Morally I believe a team beating another 1-0; 2-0—and so on has doubled the score and would want to collect any bets.

Hawks Win Wild Swinging Battle 4-1

Fists, Sticks Words Fly

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs had a friendly surroundings at home ice today, probably thankful they escaped alive from this rabble-rousing home of the defending Stanley Cup champion Chicago Black Hawks. They left behind two nightmarish games and one injured goaltender.

They got their lumps Tuesday night in one of the wildest cup final games in history. And 20,000 blood - thirsty Hawk fans loved every minute of it as the Leafs went down to a 4-1 defeat following a 3-0 shutout two nights earlier.

The win-at-home, lose-on-the-road series if squared at two games each following a pair of Leaf victories in Toronto. The gladiators next square off in the best-of-seven set in Toronto Thursday night.

It was a brutal, fist- and stick-swinging battle that produced 29 penalties, a blown fuse that ignited some useless arguing, frayed tempers and a chagrined Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League. There was some pretty good hockey, particularly by the Hawks.

"I deprecate the whole thing," Campbell told The Canadian Press in an interview. He was referring to a stick duel between Frank Mahovlich of the Leafs and Stan Mikita of the Hawks at a time when all the players had to do was stick around until the clock ticked off the final seconds.

HIT ONLY AIR

The Toronto cause was already lost. The Leafs were getting nowhere when Mahovlich and Mikita starting swinging. They waved their sticks like baseball players taking vicious cuts at a ball. Fortunately they stood well back and missed all the smoke-ladened air in Chicago Stadium.

The Hawks' Eric Nesterenko, who has done a tremendous job of shadowing the starry Mahovlich in this series, stepped in between them and received a whack on the arm from the Toronto left winger's stick for his trouble.

Mahovlich and Mikita were given game misconducts and were each slapped with an automatic $50 fine that goes with the offence.

"The action taken by the officials and linesmen and the authority I have in connection with the incident," Campbell said. In effect, this means no official action will be taken.

BOWER HURT

The game might have been costly to the Leaf cause, although coach Punch Imlach wasn't unduly worried. Goalkeeper Johnny Bower suffered a groin injury in the first period —which took 1½ hours to complete what with fights and penalties — and went to hospital here overnight for observation.

Bower pulled a muscle mid-way through the session when he executed the split to stop a blazing ankle-high drive from the blueline by Bobby Hull. A few minutes later he skated to the Leaf bench, apparently in pain. After a conference involving Campbell, the coaches and game officials, the period was temporarily halted and the players went to the dressing rooms.

Spare goaltender Don Simmons, who quit hockey to take a job as a milk salesman last year when he was ticketed for a trip to the minors, was called from the stands to take Bower's place. The Hawks greeted him by scoring a goal on their first shot. Simmons allowed three goals more before the game ended.

Hull, the Hawks' 50 - goal scorer during the regular season who brushed off would-be Leaf checkers with a flick of his powerful arms, scored two goals. The others went to Reggie Fleming, whose speciality is penalties.

Red Kelly scored for the Leafs at 19:08 of the first period after Hull and Fleming had built a 2-0 lead.

Fleming's goal were the only ones he has scored against Toronto in 15 league and four playoff games this season. His second, in the middle period, caused great commotion.

GOAL LIGHT DEAD

The goal judge pressed the button but the red light wouldn't go on. A line had blown and Toronto players, particularly Bob Pulford, promptly blew fuses of their own.

They claim it wasn't a goal Pulford sassed referee Frank Udvari. He was given a 10-minute misconduct, which calls for a $25 fine.

Mikita, a big star in this series, set up the play for Hull's opening goal at 10:36 of the opening period and has a good chance of equalling or breaking two Stanley Cup records.

Mikita has 19 points on six goals and 13 assists in 10 playoff games this season, one shy of the mark set by Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings in the 1955 playoffs. And he is one off the record 14 assists set by Fleming Mackell, then of Boston Bruins, in 1958.

The pattern of the game was set early when the Hawks, who used muscle and skating to beat the Leafs' Sunday, adopted the same strategy. Leaf bodies were spilled all over the ice. Seventeen seconds after the opening faceoff Toronto's Bobby Baun and Hawks' Murray Balfour traded punches.

This was Chicago's softening up process.

BREAK UP BRAWLS

Fights broke out at other times but no clean-cut punches were thrown as Udvari and linesmen Matt Pavelich and Neil Armstrong skated in fast to break them up. All told, Udvari called four major penalties, two game misconducts, one 10-minute misconduct and 17 minors.

Imlach was somewhat critical of the officiating. "It was tough to play against the Hawks, three officials and 20,000 fans," he told reporters.

The eager Houston Colts have drawn first blood in the battle of harvests in the National League.

After one week of play, the colts are scurrying along in fourth place, only two games off the pace, and New York Mets are looking for their first victory.

The two new National League clubs met for the first time Tuesday and the Colts grabbed a 3-2 decision on Don Buddin's three-run homer in the 11th inning.

The older Mets, with a veteran lineup of faded names, were supposed to be long-ball hitters. The Colts were reported to be a fiery band of line-drive hitters. But the Colts turned to power for all their runs on Norm Larker's two-run homer and Buddin's winning blow. Gus Bell's homer that tied the score with two men out in the ninth was the only explosion by the Mets, who have lost all five starts.

Pittsburgh Pirates rebounded from a five-run spurt by Chicago Cubs in the first inning and handed the Cubs their seventh straight defeat 10-6. It was the sixth victory for the unbeaten Pirates.

BOMBARD THE GIANTS

Los Angeles Dodgers bombarded San Francisco Giants for eight runs in the early innings and held on for an 8-7 decision with Frank Howard and rookie Tim Harkness of Lachine, Que., hitting home runs.

A scheduled night game between St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies was postponed, because of cold weather. Cincinnati Reds and Milwaukee Braves were not scheduled for action.

Bobby Shantz of the Colts and Jay Hook of the Mets were hooked up in a fine scoreless duel until Shantz suffered a "crack" in his left shoulder while making an off-balance throw in the sixth inning. The little lefthander had given up only four hits.

The Colts finally broke through for two runs on Larker's homer in the sixth but the Mets got even with an unearned run in the eighth and Bell's homer in the ninth. The winning blast by Buddin, formerly with Boston Red Sox, was hit off loser Herb Motford, who took over in the sixth inning after Hook left for a pinch hitter. Jim Golden won in relief.

Chicago, tied a major league record by using five pitchers in the eighth inning but couldn't stop the Pirates from rallying for six runs in the last two innings.

Harvey Haddix, the last of four Pirate pitchers, was the ninth lefty to beat the Cubs this season. Barney Schultz, third of seven pitchers thrown into action by the Cubs, was the loser. Rookie Lou Brock and Ron Santo homered for the Cubs, Don Leppert for the Pirates. Leppert drove in four runs with his homer and two singles.

The Dodgers recovered from Monday night's 18-8 loss to San Francisco and knocked out Mike McCormick, who was making his first start of the season. In addition to the homers by Howard and Harkness, Tommy Davis continued his batting splurge with a bases-loaded double and Maury Wills drove in the other run with a triple. Don Drysdale won his second with relief help from Larry Sherry in the seventh inning.

Yanks Whip Birds, Cats Claw Nats

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Floyd Robinson, not a go-getter by Chicago White Sox standards, seems to be the much-needed power hitter manager Al Lopez has sought to revitalize his spluttering attack on the last two American League season.

Robinson doesn't burn up the baseparths like teammates Luis Landis and Luis Aparicio, but his bat bat has sent him to the top of the league's list of runs batted in with 13.

Robinson, 23, who hit .310 as a rookie, is going along at a .500 clip at the start of his sophomore season and rulled Minnesota Twins Tuesday with his second home run, a pair of doubles and seven RBI. The White Sox won 8-0.

Most as dynamic as Robinson's hitting was New York Yankees' approval of the re-ducted milage to Baltimore's outfield fences as the Yanks crashed a pair of home runs in whipping the Orioles 8-3.

PITCHES SHUTOUT

Dick Donovan of Cleveland Indians pitched his second straight shutout over Boston, blanking the Red Sox 5-0, and Jim Bunning of Detroit Tigers, backed by four homers, defeated Washington Senators 9-2. Kansas City Athletics spotled Los Angeles. Angels' debut in new Chavez Ravina Stadium with a 5-3 victory that knocked the Angels out of a tie for first place with the Yankees.

Robinson, who hit 11 homers and had 46 RBI last season, backed rookie Joel Horlen's six-hit pitching with a two-run, first-inning homer off loser Camilo Pascual (1-1), had a two-run double in the fifth and a three-run double in the ninth. He also had a single and has 12 hits in 34 at-bats. Horlen is 1-1.

Baltimore moved in its distant outfield barriers during the winter and, Bill Skowron took aim on the 371-foot fence with a 3g... breaking shot in the seventh inning. He also drove in three runs, while Boyer had two RBI, one on his fifth-inning homer, and Elston Howard also had two RBI.

Jim Coates, who pitched four innings of hitless ball in relief of Whitey Ford, was the winner. Reliever Dick Hall (0-1) lost. Gus Triandos homered for Baltimore.

BEATS SOX AGAIN

Donovan beat the Red Sox again with his second straight five-hitter and got all the help he needed from Willie Kirkland's two-run homer in the first inning. While rookie Al Yeager hit his first round-tripper of the year, Kirkland had four hits and threw out a runner at the plate. Bill Monboquette, who had a 12-inning, 4-0 victory over the Indians last week, was the loser.

At Kansas City rookie John Wyatt (1-1) gave up only four hits until he tried in the sixth inning. Don McDevitt and Bob Grim finished up, while Ken McBride lost and is 1-1. Four of earned as they scored twice in

The Athletics' runs were on the third and fourth innings to overcome a 1-0 count.

Lead Series 2-0

Siskins Defeat Macs 9-5

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Writer

KITCHENER — The Waterloo Siskins moved into a comfortable 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven OHA Junior "B" semi-finals here last night when they dumped the Belleville McFarlands 9-5 in a free-scoring game.

The clubs play the third game of the set back here on Friday at 8.30 with the fourth scheduled for Belleville on Saturday night at eight o'clock.

Siskins dominating play most of the night, jumped into an early 2-0 lead, fell behind 3-2 during a rash of penalties, and tied it 3-3 at the end of the first period.

Three unanswered goals in the middle heat made it 6-3 for Waterloo and they outscored the Macs 3-2 in the final twenty minutes.

The Macs, failing to hit most of the time, let the Siskins roam almost at will. The winners outshot Belleville in every period but it was 41-4 count in the second period and 39-21 overall.

Bill Goldsworthy was cited out to be a one-man shot for the Siskins, scoring no less than three goals, all in the last two periods. He was the only double scorer for the winners, who got a goal and two assists each from Ted Snell and Terry Oliver. Wayne Clairmont and George Bardwell added a goal apiece while Terry Vail set Goldsworthy up for four of his five goals with pin-point passing.

Defenceman Larry Mavety sparked the Belleville attack. He scored two goals and assisted on another. Moe Hunter had a goal and an assist and Pete Weston drew two helpers. Paul Zakos and Billy McGhee potted one goal each with single assists going to Bucky Ehlier, Bob Boyle and Dave Smith.

In the penalty department the more aggressive Siskins picked up nine minors while Belleville drew six. The roughest of the Macs was pint-sized Gary Duval, who surprised the Siskins with his hitting, and drawing two of his club's penalties.

Five of the six goals scored in the first game with men in the sin-bin. Dave Smith was off when Bardwell opened the scoring at 1.07, Clairmont completed a pretty pass play for a 2-0 score at 3.27 as the Siskins carried play and blazed Parker consistently.

Belleville took just three minutes and one second to move ahead 3-2 when the winners ran into penalty trouble. Mavety got the first with his club playing five men to four at 13.34.

Hunter tapped in Weston's corner pasmout while the Macs were two men up at 15.40 and Zakos scored on a blueline backhander with one Siskin in the penalty box at 16.17.

Snell tied it 3-3 while the Macs were a man shy at 18.47 and Goldsworthy bagged his first at 5.15 of the second to put his club in front to stay.

Oliver connected on a quick clapshot at 9.55 and Goldsworthy triggered another at 19.02 for the 5-3 score.

The Macs pressed and had some good chances early in the third especially while Oliver was in the penalty box at 3.33 but just after he returned, the winners went up 7-3 via Goldsworthy's third on Vail's rebound.

Billy McGhee stickhandled from his own blueline to Bob Zupan's doorstep for the Macs' fourth marker at 9.33 but Goldsworthy poked in . R. Smith's goalmouth pass to get that back at 12.47. Mavety's blueline shot surprised Zupan at 16.17 but Goldsworthy scored his fifth on a soft dribbler at 18.43 to complete the scoring at 9-5.

Belleville: Parker, Mavety, Howland, Zakos, Reid, Weston, Hunter, D. Smith, McGhee, Ehrler, Boyle, Kellar, Duvall, Lee, Goodfellow.

Judge May Have Fanned Willie Mays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays was late for the Los Angeles-San Francisco baseball game Tuesday. He was in court arguing about $3,200.55.

The San Francisco Giants outfielder didn't get into the game until the seventh inning, as a plush-hitter. With runners on first and third, he struck out. Los Angeles won 8-7.

Mays may have done the same thing in court.

A court argument about whether Mays still owed money to his divorced wife's lawyer and an investigator lasted for nearly two hours. Superior Court Judge Joseph Karesh took the case under advisement but indicated he might order Willie to pay.

Private detective Harold Lipset told about peeping on the centerfielder for Mrs. Mays, for which he says Mays owes him $1,752.75. Lawyer Grant Adams told about money he said Mays owes him as his wife's financial adviser.

Board Renews Bus Service

CAMPBELLFORD — The regular meeting of the North-East Northumberland District High School Board was held on Friday evening in Campbellford District High School with the following present: chairman, G. W. Rutherford; W. B. Loucks, L. Mountjoy, P. G. O'Sullivan, A. Buchanan, D. D. Bennett and Dr. J. R. Trimble.

P. G. O'Sullivan reported that he had studied the liability insurance policy and recommended that certain changes be made on the renewal date.

Mr. Kenneth Ames, bus operator was present to address the Board concerning transportation, for the next academic year. Mr. Ames was advised that his service had been completely satisfactory to the board and it was moved and seconded that the transportation contracts be renewed under the same financial arrangements as previously.

A request from the Public Utilities commission was received asking the Board to provide the necessary plumbing in order that a water meter may be installed, to which the committee agreed.

The secretary reported that Gordon Colby, a representative of the Electro-Vox Company, had visited the school and explained the operation and installation of the public address and inter-communication system.

WILL INSTALL CLOCKS

It was moved by Alan Buchanan and seconded by L. Mountjoy, that the Board enter into a contract with International Business Machines and the Electro-Vox Company for the installation of controlled clocks in the classrooms and an intercommunication and public address system. Arrangements are to be made to be left with the property committee and with Principal R. Hall with power to act. The motion carried.

It was decided to advertise in the Globe and Mail for teachers for positions at present unfilled.

A request from the executive of Ross Downey for the use of the auditorium for their Town dances on Friday nights beginning in September was received, and the construction submitted to the Board. It was moved that this matter be considered at the next meeting with any suggestions regarding the matter to be directed to W. D. Bennett and Dr. Trimble for reconsideration to the Board.

Principal R. M. Hall reported, saying that the local business communities had been extremely co-operative in the work experience program, whereby students had the opportunity of spending three days in various offices.

Mr. O'Sullivan reported that the proposed building program had been presented to three councils in the High School District.

REPORTS READ

Correspondence was read including a report of the inspection of the school by the Ontario Secondary School inspector and a report of the annual inspection by the Medical Officer of Health.

A letter was received from the Ontario Hydro Commission regarding the plan to provide electrical appliances to schools.

Former French Premier Debre May Be President

By DAVID DANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Former French Premier Debre of this time. Some observers bre headed for a country holiday have also ventured that he could be an heir to the presidency of the republic.

Debre will go down in history as a premier who held office longer than any of his predecessors in this century.

When he resigned Saturday to make way for former banker Georges Pompidou, a close associate of President de Gaulle, Debre had been premier for three years and three months.

Debre's contribution to the first republic was more than staying power and faithful service to a rather aloof master.

Much of the detailed work on the republic's new constitution was his. He had, as the Guardian of Manchester observes, tried to transfuse British-type cabinet government into a French vessel.

FOUR ELECTED CABINET

The idiosyncrasies of the powerful president tended to overshadow this.

Debre wanted to see the cabinet drawn largely from the elected assembly. It is from countries such as Canada and Britain.

As premier, Debre acquired some influence in handling most of the day-to-day business of government.

His departure from office is inextricably tied up with the course of events in striferent Algeria.

Debre and other leaders of the Gaullist Union for the New Republic were in favor of a general election as a means to end Algerian settlement, De Gaulle decreed otherwise — and Debre would not take place until the fate of the current assembly runs out next year.

This is said to be one of Debre's reasons for resigning

BEGS MERCY — Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr., excommunicated with two other persons Monday in a segregation row, kneels before Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel of New Orleans and begs his mercy. An unidentified woman tries to shield the archbishop from Mrs. Gaillot's pleas. The women gathered in front of the archbishop's residence for a prayer pilgrimage. Mrs. Gaillot arrived minutes after the archbishop appeared.

Tweed

TWEED—Mr. Jim Thorne son of Kingston spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tommy Thompson.

The Cubs and Scouts were out in the weekend for the annual sale of 'Hot Cross' buns. Proceeds will be turned over to the Scout and Cub committees who supervise the financing of both groups.

A social evening was enjoyed on Saturday evening by members and wives of the Royal Canadian Legion. There was a large crowd in attendance. A sing-song was held followed by dancing. It is planned to hold social evenings every second fourth Saturday at the legion hall for the members and their wives.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hanley and family of Mattawa spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. F. Manion and Mr. and Mrs. N. Champagne.

The feature was sponsored by the Kingsmen Club and created a great amount of interest. The pot proceeds of about $350 will be used to carry on the work of the Kinsmen.

Councillors, Reeve Take Healthy Raise

WEST GUILLIMBURY, Ont. (CP)—Reeve and council give themselves salary boosts totalling $2,400 but it will likely be the last for some time.

A by-law was approved making the reeve's salary at $1,600 —an increase of $300 a year; councillors will get an extra $150, bringing their pay to $750 a year each.

The new rates are the top permitted by provincial statute for communities of 1,000 persons — a status West Gwillimbury reached this year.

West Gwillimbury is south of North Bay.

Astrological Forecast

For April 19
By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Getting quick results is quite common, and associated with immaturity. Realize everything cannot "fall" to you. Be wary of those who claim to know all answers.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Career matters highlighted. But don't "fight" those who work with you or for you. Diplomacy still a key. Recently, many you know may have had chip on their shoulders.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): If you write down ideas, make calls and consult authorities, you are likely to find this quite a profitable day. Strike while ideas are hot!

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Ultra-sensitivity today could work two ways. Could make you aware of needs, feelings of loved ones. Or you could feel insulted and ready to "lower boom." So be liberal in understanding of others' problems. That way you succeed.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Definite urge to give, spend, invest. Express this by fulfilling program of action. Means today you begin investment program, or fix goals and resolve to attain them.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Question may arise involving finances, whether to borrow, save or spend. Take note of caution. Trust intuition. Check references and read fine print. Then analyze situation.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Cycle up due to lunar position. Take best advantage of this by striving to meet new people, embarking upon adventures in everyday life, such as attending play or co-operating in community project.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You may wonder if you should have "gotten out of bed." Maintain sense of humor. There appear to be endless details. But if you take care of one thing at a time, you have remarkable success.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Favorable for travel, for relations with members of opposite sex. And for putting creative ideas on paper. But don't procrastinate, for opportunity could fly past you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Could be wonderful evening at home if you display affection, appreciation. Best today to rely upon experience. Using research before taking financial plunge could result in profits.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Caution is key . . . whether driving auto or forming conclusions based on gossip. Treat others with respect, no matter what rumor says. Others will respect you, after attention is fully understood.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Take your time today. Rushing will eventually result in delay. Mars moving into your Solar sign . . . which could mean restlessness. But good financial news before day is over.

If today is your birthday . . . you are independent, inventive, fiery in nature. You give of yourself completely when it comes to both work and loved ones.

General Tendencies: "Quiet types" apt to surprise by speaking up today. Cycle up for Virgo, Libra, Scorpio. But those who make news headlines apt to be born in March. Special word to Pisces: Don't skip meals or break traffic rules today. But do express enthusiasm.

CHARGE YOUTH IN MURDER OF 2 TOTS

Name-Dropping Occupies Board Another Day

Identities of Many Named Are Withheld

TORONTO (CP) — Another day of name-dropping occupied the Ontario royal commission crime investigation as it heard detailed evidence of a gambler's claimed connections in high places.

Some of the names were "dropped" in another sense, at the insistence of Mr. Justice D. Roach, the identities of many of the prominent figures appearing in Wednesday's testimony was withheld.

The information emerged from the testimony of Chief Constable W. Jack Strubb of Peterborough, a former member of the provincial police gambling squad, about conversations in 1956 with Vincent Feeley, a convicted gambler.

Chief Strubb said Feeley claimed he discouraged efforts attempting to persuade him to "arrange a fix" with Ontario gambling clubs.

FEELS OF OFFERS

Strubb, on anti - gambling squad corporal at the time, said Feeley told him:

"Mr. Mc——, a member of the legislature, would set up gambling in Orillia, a tourist service station on Highway 400 if he co-operated with the gamblers.

"2. The gamblers had "arranged" with Magistrate Blank for dismissal of a gambling case against the Orillia Athletic Club.

"3. Another Magistrate Blank had been "getting" on one occasion when Feeley was arrested.

"4. A third Magistrate, Blank was to be lenient with accused in a Peterborough gambling case.

Feeley, his partner, Joseph McKeown and former OPP police officer Robert Wright are appealing their conviction and six-month sentences for obtaining information illegally from a police officer.

Strubb's lengthy account of his talks with Feeley was still incomplete when the commission adjourned for the day. (CUOTVA 1000)

Apart from the various Blanks, whose names are known to the commission, Strubb quoted a character analysis of both two police officers whose names were released by the commission:

OPP Inspector Allan Stringer of Peterborough was "a good man to have would do anything for a dollar."

J. F. Cronin, then a sergeant in the provincial police squad, was "taking money from every gambler he knew."

Insp. Stringer, a previous witness denied allegations in earlier testimony that he declined to accept bribes from gamblers on the condition that tips to gamblers of impending raids.

The commission also heard secret police reports that Cronin

Deny Maclean-Burgess Warrants Issued to Frighten Them Away

LONDON (CP)—British Attorney-General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller today refused to tell Parliament why warrants were issued Wednesday for the arrest of former diplomats Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess who defected to Russia 11 years ago.

Sir Reginald said the application for the warrants was made with his approval, but he would not be in the public interest to disclose the reasons.

He said this in accordance with normal practice, the commissioner of the Metropolitan police explained why the application was made at this particular time.

The explanation given Wednesday was that Scotland Yard had received reports that there might "may be contemplating or may have left the Soviet Union." But Manningham-Buller said the warrants were not issued because of reports that the two were about to fly to Britain.

The attorney-general said "if they are arrested they certainly will be prosecuted."

He denied a suggestion by George Brown, Labor opposition leader, that the warrants were publicized to warn Burgess and Maclean off Sir Reginald said news of warrants usually leaked out and it was thought best to make an official announcement.

Conservative Sydney Silverman said that the impression had been given all over the world "that the government are more afraid of an investigation into these matters than the hitherto criminals can possibly be."

"No, sir," said Sir Reginald.

There have been suggestions in the British press that bringing Burgess and Maclean to trial would disclose flaws in the security network that would embarrass Britain with its Allies.

SESSION ENDS ON RANKLING DIVORCE ISSUE

327 Petitions Talked Out

OTTAWA (CP)—On the ranking issue of divorce, Canada's 24th Parliament broke camp Wednesday night.

It was expected to be formally dissolved today.

The end came at 6:45 p.m. EST Wednesday after the CCF-New Democratic Party group silently rejected a third and final appeal by Prime Minister Diefenbaker that it allow passage of 327 divorce petitions covering Ontario, Newfoundland, the only provinces without divorce courts.

Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena) and Arnold Peters (CCF—Timiskaming) before the divorce plea—they cost the petitioning parties $1,200 and $1,500 each—to try to force the government to remove such cases from Parliament.

FEELS NECESSARY

Mr. Peters told reporters: "It may save this sin it have no chance for a change (in divorce procedure) when we come back."

Mr. Diefenbaker said divorce petitions were being dealt with rights provided by Parliament.

Mr. Howard said all the prime minister had to do was to give some promise that the government would bring in a measure to change the system. A royal commission would be a help.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he cannot place Parliament in pawn to the wishes of two MPs.

Veterans Affairs Minister Churchill, government House leader, said the actions of Mr. Howard and Mr. Peters are a shocking affront to Parliament and to the people of Canada, for whom the two CCF MPs would "stand condemned."

Mr. Howard said every attempt had been made to work out a satisfactory plan for divesting the Commons of responsibility for divorce cases.

"But it seems that the minister was not telling the truth. (CUOTVA 1000)

Revenue Minister Nowlan demanded an apology.

DOFFS ROBES AND JOB — Commons Speaker Ronald Michener is helped with his coat of office by his wife after the pre-election adjournment of Parliament Wednesday night. The speaker is selected by the party in power at the start of each Parliament and has to seek re-election as any MP. By tradition, a French-speaking MP would be chosen Speaker in the next Parliament, but a CCF suggestion in the Commons Wednesday was that Mr. Michener be reappointed to serve as permanent Speaker following British tradition. Reports Finding Boys Dead In Warehouse

Victims May Have Been Indecently Assaulted

TORONTO (CP) — A curly-haired youth of 19 was arrested Wednesday night and charged with the capital murder of two little boys whose bodies were found in a suburban furniture warehouse only a few hours earlier.

Charged in the deaths of Michael Atkinson, 2½, and Ronald MacLeod, 3, was Gary Alexander McCorkell. The children disappeared around dinner time while playing.

McCorkell worked as a shipper in the warehouse in New Toronto and reported finding the bodies in the building.

The children apparently died of strangulation or asphyxiation. An autopsy was scheduled today.

Chief James Mackay of the Metropolitan Toronto police department said he believed the boys were murdered and may have been indecently assaulted.

LASTS FIVE HOURS

Top homicide detectives and about 40 other officers swung into a five-hour investigation when the slayings were reported. The bodies were on the second floor of the Bargain Furniture Limited warehouse. The boys' parents had been in sight of their homes on Lakeshore Boulevard West.

The children were reported missing by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atkinson and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacLeod, at 5 p.m. Police and neighbors joined parents making a quick house-to-house check without success.

Meanwhile, a youth was seeking help from the Lakeshore Hospital next door to the warehouse. A hospital orderly hurried into the warehouse, established that the two boys were dead and called police.

Michael and Ronald were last seen alive at 3:45 p.m. when Mrs. Dorothy Bruce, Michael's grandmother, gave them and four of their playmates some cookies.

James Sheffield, who lives in the same apartment building as Michael's parents, said he was looking out his window when he saw the two children playing on the rear door of the hospital.

SEES TWO RUNNING

"A man came to the door. they talked and then the man closed the door. Sheffield continued. "Then a little while later I saw the two boys running around from the hospital and then they ran to the warehouse."

Det. Sgt. Wilfred Sheehan, told police he found the boys fully-clothed on the bed.

Police said the suburban area in full force. The area around the warehouse was sealed off before many residents knew of the incident.

Chief Mackay said the children often played together in the loading bay of the warehouse and believed they were taken into the building after they apparently led them to the shipping room door.

There are two surviving children in the MacLeod family and one in the Atkinson family.

French Prepare Drive Against Secret Army

ALGIERS (Reuters)—French security forces today prepared to launch a tough new drive against European terrorists in Algiers and the western city of Oran.

Three developments Wednesday signalled the French government's strengthened determination to crack down on the outlawed Secret Army Organization, which earlier this week was operating almost without interference in Oran.

Christian Fouchet, French high commissioner for Algeria, returned to Algiers by air from Paris with President Charles de Gaulle's approval for "energetic measures" to be taken against the terrorists.

The new French government headed by Premier Georges Pompidou announced the appointment of Gen. Michel Fourquet, 61-year-old air force commander, to succeed Gen. Charles Ailleret as Algerian commander-in-chief.

Louis Joxe, minister for Algerian affairs and the man who negotiated the Franco-Algerian cease-fire, arrived in Algiers shortly after Fouchet for an inspection visit.

MUST BREAK CONTROL

Government officials in Paris were reported to be convinced that the Evian cease-fire agreement with the Algerian nationalist regime can never be put into effect if the Secret Army can control of Oran is not broken.

Fouchet himself went immediately from the airport to the "symbolic" conference with Abderrahman Farès, Moslem president of the Franco-Moslem provisional executive, which has taken over the internal administration of the territory since the cease-fire.

Eight Judges, Six in Ontario, Are Appointed

His appointment fills one of the two judgeships created in the High Court of Justice by an amendment to the Judges Act approved at the parliamentary session just concluded.

Appointed the county and district courts of Ontario were Patrick McMurtry, 56, of Port Arthur, junior judge of the Thunder Bay district; George E. Wallace, 46, of North Bay, and William T. Carroll, 52, and W. A. E. Sheppard, 62, both of Toronto.

Seven vacancies in the county and district courts of Ontario were created by the Judges Act, which increased the number of judges.

J. G. Roberts, 43, of Toronto has been chosen to succeed Judge J. McGregor as junior judge of the Thunder Bay district.

Name 3-Man Commission To Revise Ontario Ridings

TORONTO (CP) — A three-man independent commission was named Wednesday by Premier Roberts to prepare a complete redistribution of the province's electoral districts.

Vernon Singer, Toronto lawyer, clerk of the Legislature and chief election officer for Ontario, will be chairman.

Mr. Roberts said he expects the commission's report to be ready in time for legislation to be presented to the next session of the legislature in the fall.

A redistribution was first promised by former Premier Leslie Frost in 1959 because of the fact that it would be handled by an independent commission was announced by Mr. Robarts Feb. 22.

It would be the first such redistribution since a select committee of the legislature increased to 98 from 90 the number of seats at Queen's Park. Since then, many of the urban ridings in Toronto and elsewhere have mushroomed until some members represented as many as 10 times the number of constituents as other members.

The new committee has been given power to recommend the number, area and boundaries of the province's ridings.

There are, however, a series of guides it must consider, according to the government mo-

Reds Willing to Negotiate On Neutrals' Test Ban Plan

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia will accept this week's neutralist proposals as a basis for negotiations on a nuclear test ban, chief Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin told the 17-nation disarmament conference today.

But Zorin said negotiations would be possible only if there were a moratorium on tests in the meantime. He said the next few days would show what kind events would take, a reference to planned U.S. tests.

Service Station Practices Of Oil Companies Criticized

OTTAWA (CP) — Service-station retail practices by some oil companies should be considered through amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, said a report of the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission made public today.

Some arrangements cannot be economically justified in terms of benefit to the public," the report said. They created a "continuing tendency" to increase the . . . be a prohibition of exclusive dealing and tying arrangements . . . which are likely to lessen competition substantially, tend to create a monopoly or exclude competition from a market to a significant degree."

The report dealt with an inquiry into distribution and sale of automotive oils, greases, antifreeze, additives, tires, batteries, accessories and related products.

A public hearing here last September followed an investigation into the situation started in 1953.

Evidence before the commission from retail and supply spokesmen said that some service stations are restricted by oil companies in the brand of accessories they can offer the public.

Justice Minister Fulton, in a statement accompanying the report today, said its recommendations would receive "careful study and consideration."

Three specific practices were criticized.

One is called "full-line forcing," under which a supplier refuses to sell one product to a dealer unless he buys other products.

Another is called "solus" operation—on condition that a full line of other items is accepted.

Another is called "tie-in" buying. A supplier agrees to sell or lease a commodity on condition that the buyer takes another sales item from a source specified by the seller.

The third arrangement is the market-access agreement under which an oil company would obtain accessories for its service stations from a selected supplier—in exchange for a special commission on all such sales made to those service stations.

Said today's report:

"It is clear that the power of an oil company to increase the rental of a leased (service)

CRIME, LIQUOR, MEAT, LABOR BIG HEADLINES

Ont. Legislature Closes Session

TORONTO (CP) — Crime, meat, liquor and labor produced headlines for the Ontario legislature's 1962 session, which ended Wednesday.

The session, first for John Robarts as premier, was only 10 days old when Liberal leader Wintermeyer dropped a bombshell in the form of an hour-long speech in which he asserted organized crime was flourishing in the province thanks to the ineptness or connivance of officialdom.

Mr. Wintermeyer wound up his detailed indictment by calling for establishment of a royal commission to investigate the allegations. Later, when a Progressive Conservative backbencher dared him to repeat the statement outside the House, the Liberal leader accepted the challenge.

Four days later, Premier Roberts announced that Mr. Wintermeyer's allegations would be investigated by a royal commission under Mr. Justice W. D. Roach.

ATTACK CONTINUE

Appointment of the royal commissioner left the question rumbling but the commission hearings have nearly discussed in the corridors and opposition attacks on Attorney-General Kelso Roberts continued unabated.

An RCMP crackdown on what it was described as a ring selling tainted meat for human consumption prompted bitter opposition attacks on the government.

These attacks subsided little after a measure was passed requiring all such meat to be dis-

Barmaids Now Lady Dispensers Raising Old Bull and Bush Roar

LONDON (AP) — The girls down at the Bull and Bush roared with laughter today when they heard a hotel manager was calling his barmaids — lady dispensers.

"Nobody customer call me that — and get away with it", said barmaid Myrt in an interview. .

"Nor me neither", chimed in barmaid Maudie, "but it does git you a kick."

She thought for a moment and added:

"Wot they sooner dispense ladies!"

Myrt for Myrtle and Maudie for Maud are but two of the thousands of British women who practice the ancient and honorable art of barmaiding.

From the sads — dispensing side of the bar they comfort, pride, advise, counsel and listen patiently to the gulpers on the other side.

And, while no one's taken a poll, the chances are that there are 10 to 1 that the majority don't mean to be called lady dispensers.

But a man in Hunstanton, County Norfolk, thinks differently.

He is James Mansfield, manager of the Golden Lion Hotel at Hunstanton.

In Hunstanton, Mansfield said he has started calling his barmaids lady dispensers.

"I think the new name is more attractive" he said.

Explaining the reasons that prompted his move, he added: "In other parts of the country I have found that the barmaids like to be called lady dispensers.

"You know until I started using the term I just wasn't getting the right people coming here".

That also gave them a laugh down at the Old Bull and Bush.

Senior Citizens Hear Reports On Conference

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Belleville Senior Citizens Club was held on Wednesday in the Recreation Centre Hall on Pinnacle St.

The meeting got with so many members in attendance was opened by the president, Mr. Charles L. Ryckman, who, while acting as chairman, at the same time welcomed all present. He also extended greetings who had attended the 10th annual Conference of the Senior Citizens of the Ontario Recreation Committee, which was held in Moira Secondary School on April 7th. He gave a three minute report on the Conference, which embraced several groups, such as those who were interested in arts, crafts, sports, mechanics and Senior Citizens. All groups met jointly for the opening ceremonies to hear the addresses given by Mr. W. W. Harris the Zone Chairman. Mayor C. M. Haig and two conference group leaders and then each group retired to meet separately.

GROUP DISCUSSION

The Senior Citizens group discussion was under the chairmanship of Mr. L. Dudley from the Provincial Department of Recreation.

The reports could be summed up in the following way: The conference as a whole has an obligation to the older people of this province, which in a small way it has been quite well recognized. The old-timers' Hall of Fame idea across this country upon which the present superstructure of progress and convenience has been erected for the benefit of the present generation.

Elder folk should expect from the community favorable consideration, such as employment based on ability, skill and mental capacity, freedom from want in daily life and security after attaining age, the right to live in dignity and comfort, a fair share of the community's recreational, educational and cultural resources, to live independently as one chooses and the right of access to all available knowledge on how to improve the later years in order to enjoy some of the benefits of modern conditions.

On the other side of the ledger it was emphatically stated that the older people have an obligation to the community to prepare themselves to become active and healthy, useful, self-supporting citizens as long as health and mental competency will permit to make available the benefits of their vast experience and knowledge and attempt to maintain such relationship with friends, friends, neighbors and church groups, etc., as will make them a respected part of society, useful, throughout their later years, and to leave with posterity some samples of physical mental and spiritual health and to seek to develop positive awareness of new vice in years after retirement.

"We are not here to celebrate. The elixir of life is continual mental stimulation. Let not the sands of time of any cause for despair but rather the opposite, in view of past achievements and future outlook.

In words of Robert Browning — Grow old with me, the best is yet to be; the last of life, for which the first was made. Our times are in His hands who saith. A whole I planned. Youth shows but half Trust God, see all, nor be afraid.

A delicious dinner was served by members of the staff of the school cafeteria, followed by brief entertainment by the Rose Schryver Barbershop Quartet. Many interesting items of art, crafts, mechanics, etc. were on display and everyone agreed that the Conference had been a highly successful one for all the different groups.

A choir was organized by Mrs. Atkins to lead in community singing. Several new members were introduced and welcomed bringing the total membership to 170. A social evening was spent with all enjoying progressive euchre. The winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. Gist; ladies' second, Mrs. Trotter; men's first, Mr. Young; men's second, Mrs. Thorn. The door draw was won by Mrs. Mabel Orth. The refreshments committee served lunch.

Two more teachers were acquired by the Board of Education during the past week, bringing the total number of teachers acquired to date to 98. At this week's meeting of the district high school board the engagement of a number of teachers for next September was confirmed and Board secretary Roy Dubnage said today that two more teachers were required at Moira Secondary School. The full requirements of teachers for Belleville Collegiate and Quinte Secondary School have been engaged.

Approval was also given for the use of lockers by a class from the Urban and Rural School Trustees' convention to be held in Niagara Falls in June.

A change in one of the school bus routes to afford greater convenience for students was approved. The Richmond bus originating in R-4 which proceeds along the 5th of Thurlow and turns right on Bridge and into the city by way of No. 14 highway will now cut off east of Foxboro and come into the city by way of the River Road and Corbyville.

Mrs. E. A. Fleming will be added to the special committee appointed to assist in planning home economic class studies.

WILL SELL INSTRUMENTS

Stringed musical instruments at one time used by band members at Belleville Collegiate will be put up for sale, the board has decided. The instruments have not been used for a number of years and have been in storage.

Prices will be obtained for the purchase of 100 additional lockers at the Collegiate, work on the contract will be signed with the Belleville Outfitters for the supply of transformers at the supply of transformers at the supply of rental basis. Previously transformers acquired were owned by the school.

A committee of J. J. Trudeau, A. Greaves and Ted Reid the chairman of the board, has been appointed to report at the next engineering consultant in connection with the re-wiring program at the Collegiate.

Terrace Bay Man Praises Work of Depts.

The Belleville city police department, the Belleville General Hospital, and the LaSalle Ambulance service, have all come in for plaudits from a Terrace Bay man, who is grateful for service and consideration following a recent motor accident in the city by which his daughter was injured.

A letter from John A. Ferrier expressing his gratitude to the above departments, was read this week in city council.

Mr. Ferrier in his letter said the ambulance was at the scene within two minutes following being called while ambulance personnel demonstrated their efficiency in extricating his daughter from the wrecked vehicle without further injury.

Sidney Liberal Association Names Officers

Gerald Herrington was elected president of the Sidney Liberal Association at a meeting held yesterday evening at the Walbridge Orange Hall. Riding president Roy Gilly was in the chair. Also elected to the executive were Glenn Meyers, first vice-president; Lloyd Knight, second vice-president; and Ruth Sheppard, secretary-treasurer.

The executive for the association's delegate convention was also elected and Mrs. Maurice Sheffield is president with Mrs. Glenn Meyers and Mrs. Casey Reaboite as first and second vice - presidents respectively. Mrs. Frank Lonny was elected secretary-treasurer.

Robert Temple Liberal candidate for South Hastings, addressed the meeting. He said that the future of Canada depended upon many such meetings and advised that a lot of work was going to be required during the next few months leading up to the June 18th election.

Mr. Temple stressed the need for government action in providing a chance for every student to carry on his education as far as his ability and work could take him. He said that this could be accomplished through a system of bursaries, loans to students whose marks proved satisfactory and who would be required to pay back such loans once they were established in jobs and making money.

The speaker rebuked the Diefenbaker regime, charging it favoured its own Bill of Rights by denying James Coyne the right to defend himself before Parliament when government policies decided he wanted to get rid of him. The Bill of Rights he commented, was a fine thing but only if it were to apply to everyone.

IN MEMORIAM

LAZIER — In memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Mr. Ernest Lazier, who passed away April 18, 1960.

The golden gates were open,
The years ago today,
And God looked down and whispered,
"Come home, dear child, I say."
So he has gone home forever,
But left behind a memory dear,
Just entered God's eternal home,
And left the gates ajar.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by wife, Mary Lazier, son, Mac, Sherman, daughter, Irene and families.

FRASER — In loving memory of our dear mother, Sarah Fraser, who passed away April, 1956.

Two dear bright eyes, a tender heart
Her joy to make some other bright.
If sick or suffering one she knew,
Some gentle act of love she'd do;
Thought of self, but few and rare,
Of others all.
I know she said, well done, dear mother.
—Sadly missed by sons, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

HUNTER — In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Alfred Hunter, who passed away April, 1956.

The deepest sorrow we cannot show,
Of the loss of one we loved so
And while his sleeps a peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by daughter Pearl, son-in-law Ernest Marshall, grandson Harry and Sunday Alexander.

—Mrs. Russell Williams.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to kind friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement.
—Clarke and Robert Hollins.

Trenton Attitude of Trenton People Toward C of C Is Criticized

By EULA BONTER—Phone 2-3939

TRENTON —The opinion that many people in Trenton should hang their heads in shame over their attitude towards the Trenton Chamber of Commerce, was expressed by H. J. Emery of Toronto, at a special directors' luncheon of the Trenton and Chamber in the Gilbert House Restaurant.

Mr. Homer Emery is the Ontario representative of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

In a dynamic, ten minute address to the local Chamber representatives, he said, among other things, that he was "shocked and surprised" to find that the town of Trenton, with 12,500 inhabitants, has only 88 Chamber members.

"This is a disgrace," said Mr. Emery. "Trenton should have at least 250 chamber members."

Mr. Emery compared Trenton Chamber membership with Bancroft, a town of 2,600 population and 160 Chamber members.

"Trenton has everything — industry, commerce, tourism," said the speaker. "You people might as well fold up if your Chamber is going to be a Chamber in name only."

Mr. Emery outlined the local group to "build up the image of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce in the community" to such an extent "that the people in the town would be ashamed not to be members."

In a question and answer period following Mr. Emery's address, Douglas Whitley, past-president of the Trenton Chamber, said that while he appreciated the speaker's interest, he thought that the picture was not as black as painted.

"The Trenton Chamber has gone down as far as it can go," said Mr. Whitley. "The only place to go now, is up."

Mr. Whitley gave a brief resume of Chamber activities, covering the past two years. He said indications were that the local group should be able to boast 175 members at the end of the present membership campaign.

Mr. Whitley said that the Trenton Chamber had struggled for survival against seemingly overwhelming odds. He said that the Chamber no support and that other groups had shown very little interest in Chamber activities.

Mr. Emery intimated that he was sorry if he had stepped on anyone's toes, but he reiterated his concern about the local Chamber, urged its members on to greater efforts and offered all possible assistance from the Ontario headquarters.

Present at the luncheon were Miss Marion Baker, Douglas Whitley, Don McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Van Bailey, Ben Kroeze, Jack Goldberg, Norstand Sprague, secretary, Ted Hurst, Ian Darling, directors and two reporters. George Kerman, Trenton president, put in a brief appearance but could not stay for the duration of the meeting due to previous business commitment.

Norstand Sprague was unanimously elected to represent the Trenton Chamber on the Lake Ontario Parkway Association.

The Trenton Chamber will hold its annual meeting May 2.

Shown at a Trenton Chamber of Commerce luncheon in Trenton yesterday are: Ian Darling, H. J. Emery, Ontario representative of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and Nostrand Sprague, Trenton secretary. Mr. Darling is displaying a place mat to the Ontario director. Last year the local chamber supplied hotels, motels and restaurants in the Bay of Quinte area with several thousands of these place mats, advertising Trenton.

Public School Choirs Give Enjoyable Musical Recital

TRENTON—Enthusiastic applause greeted the twelfth annual music recital of Trenton public school choirs and soloists in the high school auditorium Tuesday night. An estimated 700 persons were in attendance to enjoy the varied program, which was under the overall supervision of Mrs. Jane Rathbun, public school music supervisor.

The program had been planned around the four seasons Dufferin school choir assembled into fall with such selections as "Autumn Lament," and "Nature's Goodnight."

Choirs from Queen Elizabeth school took up the theme with such rollicking tunes as "Sleigh Ride," and "Frosty the Snowman."

College Street school choirs reminded the audience that spring is here, no matter what the thermometer says, with "Robin in the Rain," and "Girls and Boys Come Out to Play."

Songsters from Prince Charles school marked special holiday days with lilting tunes and solemn Easter songs, while the North Trenton school choir rounded the program between "Pumpkin Time," and the Christmas carol season.

Back to the original thought of unrolling the seasons, went Bayside school choir, Trenton Street Senior public school choir with such ditties as "June is Bustin' Out All Over," and "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

Solos, duets and instrumental numbers were ably handled by Jill Cook, Jill Cook and Kathy Scott, Donna Sidor, James Coutoulakis, Susan Brown, Margaret and Gerald Burford and Bill McDonald (who fairly brought down the house with two bagpipe selections.)

Choir directors were Miss Rose Connelle, Mrs. Edith Richards, Mrs. Colleen Stickle, Mrs. Ina Hay Burke, Miss Barbara Woodbeck, Mrs. Eunice Graham, Mrs. Marion Calnan and Don Burke.

Accompanists were Miss Connie, Mrs. Joyce Kastner, Mrs. Jean Duncan, Miss Marion Bush, Mrs. Jean Amm and Mrs. Jean Little.

Toastmasters Will Hold 'UN Assembly'

TRENTON — May I promises to be a memorable day in Trenton. On that day, the town will be turned into a United Nations Assembly, in miniature, by members of the Quinte and Belleville Toastmasters' Clubs.

Delegates from 15 countries around the globe will gather to debate on such world-shaking problems as: "Resolved that China be granted a seat in the UN Security Council," and "Resolved that all foreign troops be removed from Berlin and the city be turned over to the government of East Germany."

The censorship of South Africa for its apartheid policy, self-determination in Algeria and the devaluation of the Canadian dollar will be discussed.

The "for-real" UN assembly might do well to send along a delegate to the May 5th Trenton meeting. Who knows? They might pick up a few ideas.

Quinte (Trenton) Toastmasters will mark a first anniversary in May and an election of officers will be held.

The local group has come a long way in the year since receiving its charter from Toastmasters International. Many members of the club have been asked to speak or as adjudicators at speaking contests in the area and the Quinte Trenton area is gradually becoming aware of the self-improvement organization. Club members pay tribute to good fellowship, fine speakers and the Trenton-Belleville radio outlet as the reason for the club's outstanding success.

Trenton Defeats Crawfords

The Trenton Wilson, leading all the way, defeated Belleville Crawford Metals 90-66 in Trenton last night to grab a one-game lead in their two-of-three play of Quinte basketball league finals.

The second game, which was scheduled for Moira Secondary School here Monday night, has been postponed. The gym is not available that night. No other date has been set.

Trenton lost command early last night and never looked back against a Belleville squad that had only four regular players and manager Tom Hookings in the lineup. It was not enough to cope with the high-scoring Trenton crew.

Action was rough and tumble most of the way. Hookings and Trenton's Cal Bambers were both ejected from the game in the last minute of play for roughing.

Will Borden dropped in 31 points to pace the Wilson's balanced scoring attack. Seven players in the lineup shared in the scoring. Carl Craven backed Borden with 18 points while Bob Burleigh hit 12.

Teddy Bateman paced the Crawfords with a 25-point effort. Larry Campbell added 16, Terry McCabe and Larry McDonald 12 points apiece.

Belleville (Crawfords (66) — T. Batchelor 25, T. Hookings 4, L. Campbell 16, L. McDonald 12, T. McCabe 12.

Trenton Wilsons (90) — W. Borden 31, W. Whitby 6, C. Bambers 5, C. Crews 18, J. Therriault 4, B. Burleigh 13, M. Jeffery 8.

Another June Election

Another June election!
Brides should sue.

Maybe poets, too, have a case. But politicians would argue that a June election assured at least one perfect day in the month for some, though guaranteeing it will not be perfect for all.

Gardeners, golfers, tennis players, fishermen and the just plain lazy may also complain that politicians appear to be bitten by the June bug and bent on invading their pet season of activity.

But they cannot place all the blame on the shoulders of Prime Minister Diefenbaker. He is just travelling in a rut worn deep by the previous Liberal administrations. In the more than two decades in which they ruled the country, between the setting of Bennett's sun and the rising of Diefenbaker's orb, the Liberals called five elections. One of these was the wartime winter election of 1940 where special circumstances dictated a decision during the period of the stalemate. Of the other four, three were in June, in 1945, 1949 and again in 1957. Diefenbaker broke the string with his March election of 1958, but that, like the 1940 wartime election, may be considered a special case. Here we are back to the old June tune. What makes it even more monotonous is that some provincial premiers have also hummed it with considerable frequency.

There are, of course, obvious advantages to a June vote. Campaigning is out of the way before voters scatter for their summer vacations. The election day itself, and the weeks immediately preceding it, fall at a time when the weather is likely to be good, when travel is easy and when gatherings can be held outdoors, as well as in halls and other buildings.

The only reasonable alternative to June, a month which duplicates most if not all of its advantages listed above, would appear to be October.

But there is one other consideration—June is a month in which economic activity is generally at a peak. After the long winter, a start has been made on all the projects people have carefully planned during their indolent weather. And the labor market has yet been called upon to absorb the flood of new graduates from the nation's schools. This just may have something to do with the popularity of June as an election month.

Or, of course, politicians may be moved by the same emotions as poets.

Premier With No Experience

Georges Pompidou, the new premier of France, has never held a seat in parliament, nor any other elective office.

No other fact could illustrate in such a striking fashion the transformation which France has undergone since Charles de Gaulle assumed the presidency and drafted a new constitution.

In the U.S., General Eisenhower became President without ever having served in Congress.

In Canada, where a man might gain a wealth of political experience in provincial affairs, he could find himself Prime Minister without ever having sat in the House of Commons.

Even in Britain, it is conceivable that a political party might draft a brilliant man from another field of endeavor and see him lead his party to power in his first election.

But that France should have a prime minister without previous political experience—in what a change from the pre-Gaullist days when the premiership was the reward of consummate skill in reconciling the conflicting views of three or four different parties and wielding them, for a time, into a unit sufficiently large to give the premier a majority in the assembly!

There will be those who will see in this development nothing but good—for much of France's post-war woes were laid at the door of the instability of its rapidly-changing governments.

But is not this change a measure of the degree to which President de Gaulle has made himself the indispensable man in France? And what happens when Time dispenses with the indispensable? Is a man who has had no political experience likely to prove politically adroit enough to seize the helm before the ship of state comes broadside to the wind?

Electioneering Campaign Shifts Into High Gear

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

Ottawa—So the campaign is on . . . at long last . . . but this actually is hardly news . . . with all concerned having been electioneering ever since last Fall.

Up to this week, since the close of the 26th Parliament's previous session, Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been in every province but Ottawa and made at least two political pitches in each and every riding, with a high of 11 different appearances in Quebec and eight in Ontario.

And that is not counting several "Meet the Prime Minister" sessions, "Backstreeting", when on like whirlwind meet-the-people tours, the Prince Minister, as he did only a couple of weeks ago in Welland, Ontario's London district, spends a morning-to-midnight day whistle-stopping through a half dozen different places.

Then he is starred in at least four provincial political conventions, including Ontario's.

By no means out-footed, Liberal Leader Pearson has twice toured the West coat of the Pacific Coast and door-knocked in Toronto, Quebec City and Maritime municipalities in two swings along the Atlantic seaboard.

With no responsibilities in Parliament to restrain his movements, Pearson has moved around the country, CCF-NDP Leader T. C. Douglas has been rowing at will.

So the actual start of the campaign proper, becomes a mere formality.

People will hardly know the difference.

But what may have escaped general notice and what has been truly astounding is the sheer, the incredible neatness of the timing of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's first cocktail party for Prince Minister Diefenbaker.

Look how he's spending the Easter holidays.

Next Wednesday he'll be at the Lakeshore Conservative rally in Mount Forest. Friday in Vancouver for a political whoop-de-do and Monday or more of the party faithful . . . Saturday he is booked for an afternoon at the Legislature in Victoria . . . and then he flies back to Ottawa to chair a meet visiting British Prime Minister and old Commonwealth friend Harold Macmillan.

The remarkable feature of all this is that the Prime Minister has been in every province for weeks — and for some events, months.

And still it dovetails so nicely with the campaign schedule.

HUSH HUSH . . .

Truth to tell, the Victoria and Vancouver dates were set up back last Fall at the time of the first election scare when Parliamentarians were saying the Prime Minister would be calling the vote for the first Monday in November.

As the weeks, then the months rolled by, and the second election alarm bell — again false — was rung for a vote which Parliament Hill said was "sure" in April, Prime Ministerial Special Assistant John Fisher began compiling a timetable for the PM.

It is set onto the wall of his office, and for all to see, in case so that it may be quickly shut and locked against prying eyes.

It looks for all the world like a blind of railway timetable boards which hang on the walls of stations in the larger cities, quoting the arrival and departure of the 36-hour schedule of trains.

And, under this big board, John Fisher has pinned the Prime Minister's speaking dates in the various ridings, each piece of pin denoting a public platform appearance in a different region: the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, the Prairies and West Coast.

The board is full for the next eight weeks, with a pin up for almost every single day from now through the third week of June.

Campaigns take careful coordination well in advance, and this one has been planned down to the last day before E-Day.

But who, after all the campaigning that has been going on all these months, will really notice the difference?

Being Kind To Lobsters

Arlington Street, Advocate

The human is the most compassionate animal on earth with the single exception of some birds who pester pet . . .

The rest of the earth's creatures kill or make, eat each other without a qualm.

As New Englanders we love to dine on lobsters, crabs and shrimp. Our common habit is to bring a pot to a rolling boil and toss them in . . . We create cane sinners by the thousands that they are among the lower forms of life . . . but, they do feel pain, obviously.

The pain to crustaceans . . . is as all sensation, according to authorities!

They point out that the large crustaceans, who inhabit our cooler sea waters, die quietly, peacefully and comfortably if the temperature of the water is first rise slowly to about 100 degrees or higher. Obviously that is only warm to human skin.

So, the recommended method is to put these creatures into cool, fresh water but then stay there for a while. This, itself, has a tranquilizing effect, since the fresh water dissolves the native salt from their bodies. Then turn the heat on and bring the water to a slow boil, and keep it at the recommended time.

According to authorities, there won't be a quivering sound come from the pot. As we added above, it is recommend that a metal mesh be put at the bottom of the pot, so that the feet of the lobsters or crabs cannot touch the sides, get a foothold on the bottom of the pot . . .

Here's to more, humanely home-cooked crustaceans.

Drunk Drivers Commended

Wall Street Journal

A judge in a western court of appeals over a drunk auto driver's conviction between two trees has won our admiration.

After pondering the evidence, the judge called both men up in front of the bench.

"I want to commend you two drunk drivers for running into each other instead of some innocent person," said the judge. "If this sort of thing can be encouraged, I think we may have hit upon the solution of a highway problem."

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

BREAD AND WINE..

On Thursday evening of that week which we have come to call Holy Week, Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper.

It was his divinely simple way of showing his companions and devotion to him meant complete identification of their lives with his. He held up bread and wine as it his body. He raised the chalice full of wine as a symbol of his blood. He bade the disciples partake of these elements. This was among other things — to show them that the duty and privilege of following him consisted in the complete identification of their lives with his. As the bread and wine were eaten, digested and became part of their bodies, so the spirit of Christ Himself was to become one with their spirit. He was to live in their hearts. He was not just to be a fondly remembered friend, a king enthroned in a far away heaven — he was to be their Companion.

In addition to the symbolism involved in the Lord's Supper, there is in his farewell discourse tried to make plain to his disciples a great truth which is him involved. "In that shalt know me and I in him, the same beareth much fruit: for apart from me ye can do nothing . . . If a abide in me and my words abide in you ask whatsoever ye will and it shall be done unto you."

By symbol and holy act, Christ taught his companions the meaning of his ministry, around. Because of his elevated-up position, he can't burn feet-first, but buttocks-first, and in that double-over position it is much more difficult for him to move from the womb to the world awaiting him outside. It could be that you've never heard of "posterior birth" because it so often is called "breech delivery." The term "posterior" may also refer to position of the skull at time of birth. Most babies present "occiput anterior," i.e. back of skull is forward. If in opposite position it is called "occiput posterior."

Dear Dr. Molner: What do these readings mean: Cholesterol, 298, and sugar (blood) 118? I'm wondering on any serious condition? — Mrs. B.H.

Both figures mean "milligrams per cent." That doesn't mean "118 per cent" of anything, however.

The term "per cent" simply means "per hundred," and in both these cases "per hundred cubic centimeters of blood." That is, 100 cubic centimeters of blood, or 100 milligrams of cholesterol for the first reading.

Blood sugar depends on whether the test is taken before breakfast or two hours afterward, which usually runs between 80 and 120. Hence the range you cite is normal. The cholesterol reading, however, is high according to current standards.

Examples of Elders

If young people are coming in value and respect above all else, is it not mostly a case of aping their elders? The trend of modern government is to offer social security as the beginning and end, and to repudiate the principle of greater reward for greater effort.

Britons Like 'Farmotels'

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

It used to be that most people either were raised on a farm or had at least some visiting acquaintance with one. In recent years the farm population has been declining and the urban population increasing so that the situation has changed.

In Britain, however, the change has been so pronounced that a new type of enterprise has emerged.

"Farmotels" are being built along scenic country roads. These are combined farms and motels in which the visitors have a chance to see farming at close range but still have the comforts of the set-up, featuring home-

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 19th, 1942

In order to assist in the conservation of automobile tires, gasoline and automotive equipment, merchants report that there is a sharp increase in the number of shoppers who are carrying their own parcels thus reducing the demands upon delivery services.

The regular meeting of the Belleville Eagleowen's Educational Club was held on Monday evening at the Engineers' Hall which was filled to capacity for the occasion. Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. J. F. Johnston, general superintendent of the Southern Ontario District. He addressed the meeting on the part which railway employees are playing in assisting Canada's war effort in providing transportation facilities.

Enjoy Today, Don't Worry About Future

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Of all the foolish and futile experiments, "living one day at a time" deserves to be the silliest; for it is better as a definition of what the marriage will be like than calling a paper boat in a bathtub an indication of one's progress in steering a real sailboat through a storm.

The highly conscientious person who will not put off until tomorrow what should be done today always puts off until tomorrow what can be enjoyed today; he will not violate his maxim where duty is concerned, but elects where pleasure is concerned, and this inconsistency is what makes him life spiritually bleak and emotionally ungratified.

The most convincing evidence of a divine Providence lies in the fact that the majority of children reach the age of 10 without fatally injuring themselves.

Architecture is such a frustrated craft because most architects want to build houses of other architects, but they are forced to build them for clients.

"Brainwashing" is what They do to Us; "indoctrination" is what We do to Them.

Glancing at the new spring styles for men, the sartorial colonel of Nicholas Chamfort's pieces observed two centuries ago, that "Change in clothes is the tax which the industry of the people levies on the vanity of the rich."

What a marvellous literature we would have if only our books were as imaginative, as tasteful and as colorful as their jackets.

Speaking of books, what is called a "psychological novel" is commonly an author who has abandoned his imagination to write a tell, and doesn't know enough about the art of fiction to write a straight novel.

It may be true that "only the brave deserve the fair," but that's because only the brave can live with the fair; it takes a man who is quietly confident of his powers to handle a beautiful woman.

Whatever the social perils of a city, it is not nearly so lonely a place for a stranger to be as a small town where he is not accepted; there is something for everyone in a city, but a small town is rigidly constructed of "ins" and "outs."

A politician is a man who is invariably seen with his wife on two occasions — before an election and after an indictment.

All public speakers, I am told, overprepare; the best way to tell who knew no depth try to make a fool is to laugh, and those without depth will fall by it by going around in circles.

Small Electric Charges Are Created by Friction

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: All winter when I change the linen on the bed, I get electric shocks. You should see the sparks fly! Is there any help for people like me? — Mrs. A.B.C.

Anybody can encounter this sparky experience with static electricity. Small electric charges are created by friction, especially when conditions are dry. The friction of your shoes on the floor (or more commonly on carpeting or a deep rug) can build up enough of a charge to make a spark.

One answer is to touch some metal object so that the charge disperses before it builds up high enough for sparks. Nylon and silk garments tend to accumulate these static charges. Cotton, which absorbs traces of moisture, isn't as likely to. That's why, in operating rooms, people wear cotton gowns and clothing, and avoid silk or nylon.

The little shocks don't harm you, but are annoying.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of birth control pills. Are they normal, healthy, proven, etc.? — N.K.

Pills appear to be effective, but they have to be taken on schedule. Miss taking them, and there is a "rebound" characteristic which makes pregnancy more likely than it would be if the pills are used, and then stopped, for this purpose. The same medication is also used for other gynecological conditions and menstrual abnormalities.)

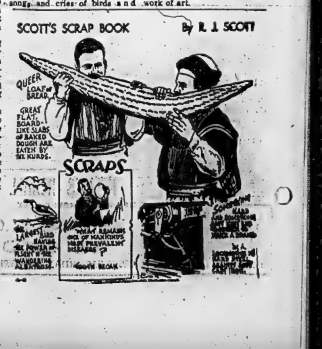
Dear Sir: I have three children. The last, a boy, was called a "posterior birth." I had never heard of it, but the doctor said it was better than twice as long. Will you please explain? — Mrs. C.S.

Ordinarily a baby is born head first, and after the head has emerged, the rest of the birth is relatively easy. However, sometimes the baby turns

THE PACKSACK



By GREGORY CLARK

Serenely seldom if ever comes out of a TV set. But there is no other word to describe the effect of a program a local viewer had to be heard all over Canada on Easter Sunday afternoon in most areas. It is called "Last Summer," and was first shown in Peterborough, Ont., during the winter. It is being repeated in response to requests from all over the country. It has a future film depicting the life of an extraordinary variety of birds and other creatures on the Canadian prairies and in other parts of the continent. Dr. W. H. Gunn, whose recordings of the sound of nature have an international reputation, has filled the production with the songs and cries of birds and the various other accompaniments to the picture. Some notes of the commentator, has been held to a minimum. It is like a splendid voice of Budd Knapp. Thom Benson is the writer and producer. The photography by Dick Bird of Regina, Kenneth Lloyd of Peterborough, Cleveland Grant of Winnoosh, and William Carney whose previous work for CBC is well known.

There seen hundreds of nature films in my time. But "Last Summer" is in a class by itself, and very great credit to the men who conceived and created it. Easter Sunday, the perfect occasion for so gentle and beautiful a work of art.

Summer Course For Teachers Planned Here

The official general announcement of the 1962 summer courses of the Ontario Department of Education has now been forwarded to all school inspectors in the province and it is expected that the booklets will be available to schools within the next few days. Included in these booklets for each teacher will be the official application form.

Of particular interest to teachers in Belleville and district is the announcement of the course in Junior Education for teachers of Grade 4, 5 and 6 to be held at the Harry J. Clarke School in Belleville.

Admitted to the course will be teachers who hold a certificate or a letter of standing qualifying them to teach in an elementary school in Ontario and who submit evidence of two years of successful teaching experience, at least one year of which shall have been in the elementary schools of Ontario, as certified by the inspector concerned. Each applicant must furnish proof of the required teaching experience by having his inspector sign the appropriate statement on the summer course application form.

A feature of the Belleville course will be its experimental nature, by which teachers may elect to take any one of three choices of study. Information as soon as they have received the application forms from the Department of Education, teachers should complete these forms and secure the required certification from the school inspector. When the applications have been received by the Department Minister, the teachers will be provided with further information regarding the experimental courses and the selection of subject groups.

The principal appointed to organize the summer course at Belleville, Mr. J. C. McColl, BA, M Ed., of Peterborough, has visited the city within the last few days and plans for organization of the course are now well advanced. Mr. McColl advises that at least eight full-time instructors will make up the teaching staff.

NAME-DROPPING

now retired, earned a small fortune for tipoffs to gamblers.

Shrubb told the commission he was unable to report in writing to his superiors as his meetings with Feeley because previous confidential reports had fallen into unauthorized hands.

MAKES OPAL REPORTS

As a result, he made oral reports to Inspector Lyle Z. McNeil, who was then OPP commissioner, and made only two copies of his written reports one for himself and one for Sgt. John Anderson, chief of the anti-gambling squad.

Shrubb said Feeley told him the contents of a number of confidential reports. When he reported to the gambler that his filing-station offer was designed to get Shrubb off the force, Feeley boasted in reply that this was unnecessary because he knew of existing orders and "no harm was being done."

Before the offer of the gas station Shrubb said Feeley offered through an intermediary to bribe the officer to provide tipoffs.

He promptly got a call from a man calling himself only "Wilson," whose voice he recognized as Feeley's, rejected a request for a meeting but eventually met Feeley after two more calls.

Shrubb said in the gambler's Cadillac outside Shrubb's home, the officer's report said, Feeley said he would be banished to the service station with Shrubb as "penitentiary."

MENTIONS 'FRIENDS'

Four stations were to be erected on Highway 400 and, Feeley told him, help political "friends," Feeley had arranged for one franchise. The report said he would be "one member" whose name is known to the commission but who was called only "Mr. Blank" — had arranged it through the minister of highways to be settled after the member got out of hospital.

From the context, it did not appear that "his member" referred to Feeley's constituency representative but was meant to designate some MPP he was negotiating with.

The Ontario highways minister at the time of the meeting, Mr. Al. Lacroix, is a Conservative, now provincial treasurer.

At the same meeting, Shrubb's report said, Feeley said "Mr. Blank" would be the next attorney - general (Kelso Roberts) was then and still is in that office) and Inp. Stringer would be the next OPP commissioner.

NAMES OPP

Though wrong on his appointment forecasts, Feeley was right on a couple of other points brought up during the talk in May.

1. He named three OPP undercover men who were trying to infiltrate gaming clubs at Windsor and St. Catharines and indicated their wage regarded as harmless.

2. He tipped Shrubb to a bookie establishment operating in Thorold, and a raid resulted in a conviction.

"Just eliminating competition, I suppose," said commissioner Roland F. Wilson observed, and Shrubb said he imagined that was the idea.

Eventually, the officer said, he told Feeley that he would not go in on the service station deal. The last he heard from the gambler in 1956 was a Christmas Eve call in which he reported a "good year" on his operations.

MENTIONS MAGISTRATE

"Magistrate Blank" came ing to Shrubb, Feeley claimed ing to Shrubb, Feeley claimed a raid on the Tiedale Club at Peterborough was to be followed by a guilty plea, a small fine and no jail term.

"You know how these things are done," he quoted Feeley.

Wednesday's two anonymous persons join an identity-shrouded "Mr. X," who appeared in a secret session before the commission two weeks ago and whose name, it was also represents Feeley and McDermott said later he complained of being shadowed by "operatives" while staying at a hotel here.

Prince of Wales H-S Fails In Bid to Keep Principal

Members of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association went the principal of their public school to remain at her present position and she transferred to another school in September.

This week at a regular monthly meeting of the city public school board, a delegation from the Association members requested that the board reconsider its decision to move Principal Mrs. Orma Slack to the new Parkdale school.

The board's decision was that it would be unable to accede to the request and Mrs. Slack will become principal of the new school at the beginning of the fall term.

WILL HONOR THREE

The board and its teaching employees represented by the Belleville Public School Teachers' Association will meet at the Masonic Temple, May 28, to honor three members of the teaching staff who are retiring on the site for new schools. They are Miss Queen Alexandra School; Mrs. Edna Emery, home economics teacher at the Harry J. Clarke School and Queen Alexandra School, and Miss Frances Young, Sir Winston Churchill School.

Letters of resignation were received and are accepted from Mrs. Joan Burgess, Mrs. E. F. Dupree, Mrs. Beverley Durno, Mrs. Edna Emery, Mrs. Muriel Nightingale and Mrs. Pauline Hutchinson.

The board approved appointments to the probationary staff of Miss Mary Ellen Stephens of Cobourg, Miss Gayle Morrison of Thornsbury, Miss Marilyn Herrington of Deseronto and Miss Diane Haggerty of Picton.

RESIDENCE POLICY

Employees of the Belleville Public School Board as a matter of policy will be required to live within five miles of the city limits if it has been decided by board members.

The new policy will include all employees of the board including teachers and has been decided on to ensure satisfactory operation of classrooms and buildings.

Persons applying for employment with the board in the future will not be considered unless there is assurance of compliance with the ruling and present employees will be advised they will be expected to continue to reside within the five mile limit.

COMMENCE NEW SCHOOL

Information was received from the H. J. McFarland Construction Company that work on the site for the Parkdale School will commence immediately.

Tenders will be called for the replacement of the roof on the east wing of the Sir Winston Churchill and the alley and building committee of the board will endeavor to secure the most satisfactory settlement possible on the board's loss owing to the defects that have developed in the original roof.

The superintendent reported a small but steady growth in school enrolments with a total of 4,948 at March 31st and an overall attendance of 95.45 per cent for the month of March.

At the meeting were chairman William Townson, and trustees Hazel Pugh, E. B. Bishop, F. F. Clarke, L. A. Langabeer, Morley Lovelace, James Hendrie, Mac Smith and G. H. Tull.

colored with powdered charcoal.

In a bid to indicate a vigorous new approach to government problems, Premier Roberts and his re-shuffled cabinet will face a busy week of new measures and amendments to existing laws.

Some of the bills were designed to meet persistent opposition criticism. An example came in liquor laws and regulations which abolished liquor permits, restored hotel room-service discontinued during the Second World War, and relaxed some other regulations on sale.

A whole series of bills dealing with labor and industrial safety, many of them rushed through in the session's final days, indicated a growing concern with the effects of labor unrest on the general economy.

AVERTS HYDRO STRIKE

One piece of emergency legislation averted a threatened strike of Ontario Hydro employees and handed the dispute over to arbitration.

Premier Robarts announced two measures aimed at dealing with longstanding and developing problems.

A province - wide housing program is unveiled is designed to lift public housing out of government intentions in the realm of low-cost housing.

The second measure was creation of an economic council, formed by cabinet minister, bers the benefit of a cross-section of expert advice on issues confronting Ontario's economy.

The 34 - day session was nearly a four-month one, the longest in the legislature's history. The 1960-61 session ran 60 days.

The royal assent given Wednesday to 97 bills by Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay in the session's dying minutes the number of bills passed by the House now to 189. It put in force of them government measures.

SESSION IS COSTLIEST

It was the costliest session in history, it was the cost-liest. Provincial Treasurer Allan brought down a record $1,200,000,000 budget with educa-tion, welfare and highways claiming the lion's share of the expenditures.

The session's final hours were a mixture of happy politicking and tradition.

Premier Roberts and Mr. Wintermeyer were both in good form as they fenced in good-natured criticism of each other's records while members heckled or desk-thumped according to their persuasions.

But all sat silently, the clerk read a prorogation speech listing the laws taken during the session while the lieutenant-governor sat in the Speaker's chair.

Standing of the 98-seat legislature is: Conservatives 69, Liberals 22, New Democrats 5. There is one vacancy.

station at the end of the relatively-short lease period, or to terminate a lease on short notice, placed on it in a strong position to induce or persuade a reluctant dealer to follow a distribution policy acceptable to the oil company."

MUST TAKE INTO ACCOUNT

It added:

"The commission considers that the unequal bargaining position of the typical lessee dealer and the oil company requires it be taken into account as an offsetting factor in the substantial profits made on behalf of some oil companies that there was no lessee station that lessee dealers operate outlets in 1958) follow directed buying policies with respect to products sold by the oil company or recommended suppliers, or that no lease had been cancelled because of the failure of the lessee to buy on an exclusive basis."

The commission said that while exclusive distribution of gasoline through service-station outlets has become a standard practice, this doesn't justify the "extension of that system to all products which are produced by the companies."

DEALS WITH LESSEES

It also dealt with a submission that oil companies regarding practices in leases are financially-assisted retail outlets. It the submission noting that lessee dealers are on an upward trend.

The oil companies argued that it would not be reasonable for their investment funds to be used to assist competitors selling tires, batteries or accessories. Some argued that the profits from such stations weren't sufficient to cover operating costs, especially with rising urban land prices.

Said the commission: "It appears . . . that when the direct rental revenue . . . ases to be depended upon as a return on investment to the oil companies, there is small danger that there will be unnecessary duplication and proliferation of such facilities.

"Practices which work in this direction, such as forbidding and directed buying, would not appear to be in the public interest where they are likely to result in larger investments in capital than are necessary to provide the public with efficient service."

Returns on such "redundant" use of investment capital must ultimately be borne by the consumer as long as such dependent continued, said the commission report.

carried out last year's threat by simply refusing from the evidence given in the Commons committee which deals with the divorce cases.

The last time any number of divorce petitions failed to be passed was in 1956 when 30 were washed out by sudden dissolution of Parliament.

Apart from the divorce petitions, the Commons sped through the last bills which the government had requested it pass.

These included an interim supply bill of $1,704,710,347 to pay government expenses until the end of October and a $138,416,981 money bill to cover bills for the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1962.

Defence Counsel Ill and Action Is Postponed

Illness of defence counsel has resulted in postponement of the court action brought by John Parrott to unseat Alderman Dos-sid J. Whalen.

The hearing was scheduled for this afternoon before Hastings County Judge J. C. Anderson but Mr. Ben Hurley, defendant Whalen's solicitor, is in hospital for an appendectomy and the action has been set back to May 8th.

The application to unseat Ald. Whalen contends that the councillor as undisclosed principal tendered for the purchase of city property through another man, William R. Brewster.

That application also contends that Alderman Whalen failed to disclose his interest in property east of a one-foot reserve on Elizabeth Road, Victoria Ave., and Bridge Street East, and used his influence to persuade council taking over certain streets until the one - foot reserve had been deeded to the city without charge.

Since the application was filed city council has voted to take over the streets in question, and this week work is commencing from Stanley Park Ltd., the one-foot reserve on East Bridge Street.

Accused Given Two Years on Theft Charge

A 27-year-old Toronto man, Howard Daniel Dean, was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary here this morning by Judge J. C. Anderson.

He had been charged with being in possession of a stolen car, previously stealing grain by judge and jury, pleading guilty.

Dean re-elected this morning before Judge Anderson and pleaded guilty to the charge.

The car, owned by Arthur J. McDonald, was reported stolen from Toronto on March 6, and was recovered here in Belleville on March 9th.

When recovered by city police, it was equipped with a set of licence plates, which had been stolen from a vehicle in Oshawa.

Mr. Dean had sicked to be tried by judge and jury and a preliminary hearing was held on April 9 at which time he was defended by Robert Temple.

He was committed for trial but later requested a "speedy trial".

events, the kind of international control system the West has demanded and Russia has rejected.

The plan was submitted to the conference three days ago by the eight nonaligned countries at the conference—Brazil, Burma, Ethiopia, India, Mexico, Nigeria, Sweden and the United Arab Republic.

Dean said Zorin's statement was "unfortunately most unclear" but apparently accepted only those parts of the neutralist plan which coincided with ideas put forth by the Soviet Union.

The Russian move came less than 24 hours after President Kennedy told a Washington press conference that the United States intends to proceed with the tests in the Christmas and Johnston Island areas. Only a change of views by the Kremlin can alter this situation and there is yet no sign that the Russians are about to do this, the president explained.

'Thirty-Nine' Club Is Thriving

DEAR DORIS:—With reference to the "39 Club" in Kingston.

The club is exceeding our fondest hopes, both in numbers and enthusiasm. We hold weekly meetings and last week we had over eighty present. Those joining may pay the full five dollar fee at once, or if their circumstances do not permit, they may pay by instalments.

DORIS CLARK

Our meeting consists of very brief business, a rousing sing-song, games (once a month) and dancing to record player music. We are singing at our Easter party, and will have a small orchestra.

We are sponsored by the Kingston Recreation Committee, and His Worship Mayor Mills.

Our requirements for membership are that applicants be between the ages of 30 and 65, unattached, and must conduct themselves properly at the meetings.

Judging by the good, friendly spirit of our crowds, and the numerous compliments we have received to date, the benefits being derived by our members and guests are amazing.

Members have mentioned the improvement in their health, and outlook on life since they have been coming to our meetings. They particularly enjoy the newsy weekly bulletin—for some, it is the only mail they receive, and they look forward to it.

Our male membership is steadily increasing, and the men are our greatest supporters. I hadn't realized before, how lonely men (particularly widowers) are; perhaps more so than widows.

We invite any further inquiries, either from you or your correspondents, as we are very proud of our club and we do want it to be an unqualified success.—MRS. R. H., Kingston.

DEAR MRS. R. H.:—Thank you. Letters have come from several Canadian centres asking for more details. I think you have started a trend.

DEAR DORIS:—Last fall we moved into town. However it was the wrong part. There are no girls in my grade living nearer than five blocks away. I chum with a girl younger than I am; she bosses me, criticizes me. She's prettier and takes advantage of it. I know I'm not her type because I'm not wild and do not swear.

Could you please tell me how to get a chum in my grade and whether or not I should break off with the girl I do chum with?—A BIT SHY.

DEAR BIT SHY—Could be your very reserve irritates the bossy one. "Then when you act ladylike, she swears at you to jar you.

You don't have to limit yourself to the girl who lives near you; nor do you have to throw her over when you make another friend. Look for someone in your own grade, or at least your own age, and don't be afraid to walk five blocks to improve the acquaintance after school.

DEAR DORIS:—My husband and I have been happily married for thirteen years. For the past few Saturdays he has been going skating by himself, as I can't skate.

My cousin home Saturday evening and all he talked about was some beautiful girl in a yellow sweater he saw. This made me very jealous and my husband is quite tactless. He said this girl wanted to skate with him and that he couldn't get over how beautiful she was.

I am so angry now, I just cry myself to sleep thinking of this. What do you suppose I should do to prevent my marriage from falling apart?—WORRIED.

DEAR WORRIED:—Angry? Don't you want your husband to have an eye for beauty?

He shows real confidence in you when he tells you such a thing. The only thing that could cause your marriage to fall apart at this stage would be your own unreasonable jealousy.

TO TROUBLED HORSE LOVER:—Does it matter too much if you cannot attend an evening movie? At 14 your parents are justified in setting a limit on the time you are out at night. As for no TV—good! This can turn you toward hobbies which are far more satisfying.

You love animals. Apparently kittens, puppies and goldfish have been had. Since rabbits, white mice, hamsters and guinea pigs do not seem to have passed the censor, would your family consider a horse, or riding lessons?

One ambitious girl of 13 made a bargain with her mother to do the weekly house cleaning, for which she was paid a cleaning woman's wages. After saving up for several months she had enough to buy a pony. She has now graduated to being assistant cook in the household. With this money she supports the pony. She shows him at horse shows and loves it.

The latest is that her young brother is now doing the cleaning in order to save up for his own pany.

Communists Call Prague 'Paris of the East Bloc'

By LOYAL GOULD

PRAGUE (AP)—Communists call this Czechoslovakian capital the Paris of the East bloc. There are night clubs, strip joints, jazz spots, swank restaurants—all the things the Communists usually condemn as evidence of capitalist decay.

It's communism with a juke box, as one Englishman here put it.

A Westerner's eyes might pop coming here after a tour of the rest of the drab Communist world.

You see people pretty well dressed. Stores seem well stocked. Restaurants serve international foods. Strip dancers travel to Cole Porter's Love for Sale. You can order Scotch whisky, bubbling Crimean wines.

This is a showcase for communism, not only for Westerners, but also for visitors from the rest of the Communist world—except Albania and Red China—and from the emerging African and Asian nations the Communists want to woo.

PART OF PLAN

"It's all part of a grand plan," said a Western European businessman who visits often. "They want to remove from communism the symbol of a badly - clothed, unshaved fellow potted with a bomb."

But communism under the regime of President Antonin Novotny exists behind the glitter of Prague. There are the secret police and many curbs on freedom of the individual.

Plain clotheman keep long vigils outside hotels where foreigners stay.

They do their best to stop Czechs from making contact with foreigners, even with those from the rest of the Soviet bloc.

The night life seems gay to the visitors, but to the Czech it is nothing like the "golden Prague" of the past.

"Look carefully," said an elderly Czech who knows Western life, "and you'll see that nothing is done with the lightness and the ease you find in the West. Its too forced here. There's no freedom in it."

LACK OF FREEDOM

Though they are much better off than people in most Communist countries, Czechs complain. Their biggest complaint is lack of freedom.

If the tourist could see the realities of Prague, he would not see non-Communists shelling their beds any more. He would see a more subtle side of Communist ways.

For example, a pensioned Czech suspected of "ideological deviations" is judged by a neighborhood committee that decides whether his pension should be reduced.

Children sent to church by their parents cannot receive a secondary education.

Children as young as six years of age start to learn Communist theory.

Western newspapers and magazines are banned from newsstands.

Despite police pressure the people manage in one way or another to show friendliness to Westerners.

May Soon Use Helicopters For Short-Haul Logging

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — Helicopters capable of lifting loads of up to 10,000 pounds may soon be used in short-haul logging operations in Canada.

This possibility is envisaged by A. D. Wood, head of the flight research section of the National Research Council's aeronautical establishment, in a report analysing prospects of reducing logging costs through the use of helicopters.

Mr. Wood's report says successful use of helicopters for a variety of purposes in recent years has led to speculation on the possible application of this aircraft in logging operations.

This interest has been accentuated by the recent development of helicopters with at least two turbine engines capable of lifting loads with a weight equivalent to that of cut timber.

PLAN BIGGER COPTERS

Helicopters of this type with the ability to carry a load of about four tons now are in production. Manufacturers also have plans for larger machines capable of picking up loads of 10, 20 and even 40 tons.

Mr. Wood said the study was undertaken to compare the known economics of conventional logging methods with these to be expected through use of helicopters.

The report concludes that there is little immediate prospect of reducing over-all logging costs in Canada by the use of "flying cranes."

However, the report says that despite this the outlook for the future is not entirely discouraging. There was possibility that helicopters would in due course offer economy over conventional logging methods in areas where very short hauls are adequate.

"In Eastern Canada it appears that conventional logging methods will continue to be cheaper than helicopter logging in the foreseeable future wherever the haul radius is greater than five miles," the report says. "In Western Canada the same will be true wherever the haul radius is greater than 2½ miles."

SHORT HAULS ONLY

The report says that introduction of the helicopter in short-haul operations would eliminate costs associated with trucking and haul roads from timber stands to mills. The greater proportion of other costs, including those for logging camps, also would be eliminated.

Helicopter operating costs would also continue to decline with the development of multi-engine, turbine-powered aircraft of this type.

Mr. Wood says the report's conclusions result from a comparison of estimated helicopter logging costs with those of typical conventional logging operations.

"Situations undoubtedly exist where timber is otherwise inaccessible and its market value sufficient to warrant the use of helicopters at a cost which would be uneconomic elsewhere," he said. "It is quite evident that even in these extreme circumstances the permissible haul radius will be extremely short."

Question: I'm planning to stay at a hotel in the city and will arrive by car. Is it proper to hang garments in the car and carry them into the hotel, or must they be packed into suitcases? — Mrs. A.R., Patchogue, N.Y.

Answer: A few suits and dresses may be carried in a hotel on hangers. The bellboy will take them to your room, along with you luggage. The garment, should be fastened securely to the hangers. It's also wise to enclose them in garment bags for protection, and to make a neater package for the bellboy to carry. Bags designed for this purpose are available in most department stores.

Question: How much should one tip in a beauty shop for a haircut, permanent, shampoo and set? I usually get a $1 tip, but I'm not sure if this is correct. Would you please advise me? — D.Y., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: A tip equal to 10 per cent of the bill used to be the norm, and still is in some areas. However, if the same operator does the entire job, then a 15 per cent tip would be more compatible with the service rendered.

Question: We recently put our house on the market and several neighbors have asked what the sales price is. I know they're not interested in buying. They're just interested in the price. I've been giving some vague answers and wonder if it's correct to decline to give out this type of information. — Mrs. C.H., Northport, L.I.

Answer: If your house has been advertised in the paper, then the price is in the public domain, so there's no reason to keep it a neighborhood secret. Ordinarily, anyone may correctly refuse to give out personal financial information, but in a case like this a "nosy" neighbor might well be on the scent of a buyer for you.

Question: When declining a beverage at a meal, whether it's wine or coffee, I always thought the correct thing to do was turn the glass or cup upside down on the table. A friend tells me that this is quite wrong. Is it? — Mrs. E.N., New Haven, Conn.

Answer: Your friend is quite right. It's wrong. The glass or cup should be left as is. The proper way to decline a beverage is to murmur "No, thank you," or merely shake your head negatively when it's passed your way.

Minerva Chapter 138 O.E.S. Holds Successful Spring Tea

Even though weather conditions were somewhat dismal yesterday afternoon, there was a large turnout for the Spring Tea and Country Store held under the auspices of Minerva Chapter No. 138 O.E.S. at the Masonic Temple, on Foster Avenue.

Mrs. Pauline Clare and Mrs. Edna Dobbs (who was responsible for the lovely decorations) were the conveners for this most successful event, while Mrs. Dorothy Tugnett, Worthy Matron; Mrs. Winifred Gunsolus, and Mrs. Nellie Clarke welcomed the guests at the door.

ATTRACTIVE TEA ROOM

Inviting the guests to the tea room, which was sandwiched with a stately white arbor, encircled with potted daffodils, fern and Easter lillies, were Mrs. Hazel Wilson and Mrs. Grace Vanzner. The spring theme in decorating was carried throughout the hall with spring flower motifs on each of the windows and on the various sales tables.

The long tea table was most attractively appointed with its snow-white linen cloth centred by an artistic arrangement of yellow and white 'mums interspersed with greenery and daintied by tapering yellow candles in tri-branch silver candelbra. Gleaming silver its service kept trays of appetizing relishes added to this attractive setting.

Those pouring tea at different intervals during the afternoon were: Mrs. Margaret McKeever, D.D.G.M., Port Hope; Mrs. Fidele Brown, W.M., of Brighton; Mrs. Jessie Bird, W.M., Tweed; Mrs. Aileen Baker, W.M., Trenton; Mrs. Vera Young, W.M., Amelisburg and Mrs. Pearl Johnston, W.M., Belleville No. 2.

The quartette tables were also most attractive with embroidered luncheon cloths and daffodil centrepieces. The ladies who served were: Mesdames Nellie McBurney; Doris Pound; Lila Pound; Ida Calvert; Joan Towman; Joan Dillon; Georgina Rendell; Florence Calhoun and Kate Cook. Those replenishing were: Mesdames Mae Finkle; Ila Sinclair Little; Mary Parsons; Gladys Smith and Lil Jordan.

Those performing the necessary kitchen duties were: Mrs. Hazel Dixon, Mrs. Beatrice Haggery, Mrs' Koy Wardle and Mrs. Viola Brown.

SALES TABLES

The various sale tables were located along one side and across the front of the hall. At the apron table where Mrs. Kay Ewing and Mrs. Grace Hendrick, Mrs. Dorothy May and Mrs. Gladys Smith were in charge, was a grand assortment of aprons in print, broadcloth and gingham materials in the two popular styles, as well as a few for the little girl in the family.

Next to the aprons was an elaborate display of beach hats, as well as a number of men's straws and children's cowboy hats. Mrs. Vera Crawford and Mrs. Rhoda Gray were in charge of the miscellaneous table and here was the usual assortment of nick-nacks and novelties, including costume jewelry, scarves, stole, tea towels and pillow slips and novelty drift-wood centrepieces.

The pantry shelf had everything to be desired in the line of preserved goods such as: pickled beets, beans and cucumbers, chili sauce, relish, jams, jellies, marmalades, preserved fruits, as well as home made salad dressing. Sale of these items was in charge of Mrs. Jess Bushell and Mrs. Kay Bushell.

Mrs. Elsie Humphreys, Mrs. Janet Williamson, Mrs. Eva Heath, Mrs. Annie Ireland were in charge of the candy table which was laden with a tempting assortment for the sweet-toothed, including light and dark fudges, maple creams, divinity fuge, homemade chocolates, Easter eggs and candy suckers displayed in little cups, Easter baskets, and more generous amounts in chocolate boxes.

DELICIOUS HOMECOOKING

The homebaking table, as usual, was sold out in short order and here Mrs. Gladys Batchelor, Mrs. Evelyn Tebworth, Mrs. Ila Williamson and Mrs. Marjorie Collyer sold a fine assortment of delicacies, including pies, birthdate loaves, cup cakes, assorted cookies and homemade bread and buns.

The garden centre in charge of Mrs. Ruth Allin and Mrs. Adams, was well patronized and here were for sale such as: crisp packages of seeds and flower bulbs, potted African violets and other plants.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart Z. Rosenberg

Once...so the tale goes, there were three princes. They travelled far and wide, armed with a most unique endowment: they were supremely capable of finding valuable and agreeable things which they did not seek, when ever they went.

These were sons of Serendip, that fabled land, men capable of "serendipity" — the joy of the unexpected pleasure of life.

Most ordinary mortals have it the other way 'round. They make big plans, misuse details for happy moments. But often, fatigued from their elaborate anticipations and weighed down by their preparations, they are denied joy when the "big moment" arrives.

What is worse: in the pursuit of happiness — when they work at it, too hard — happiness often passes them by.

Clearly, men need to order their lives according to some pre-arranged program, called ar or schedule. Priorities need to be established, working habits must be organized, and in general, a systematic approach to the tasks before us is a useful, even a self-protecting pattern of behavior.

But over-organization can sometimes be more self-defeating than disorganization. Here are a few typical examples:

1. Over-attention to nonessential details on the part of doting parents planning the "wedding-party," often helps destroy, rather than build, good family relations. Parties are lovely, but sometimes too much can spoil the truth!

2. Tourists are often so busy keeping up with schedule that they miss the simple joys everywhere about them. The camera-bugs in particular, are often pre-occupied snapping away, that in search of the "good negative" they usually miss seeing the positive! In a word, they become the average snick-snap party, so noisy is not merely the clicking, tinkling of glasses. It is something others' conversation chatter; everybody's talking, nobody's listening.

The cocktail party may indeed be a gigantic symbol of modern life. We are never prepared to hear the other fellow, because we're too busy listening to the sound of our own voices.

In such a circumstance, we are never quite ready to enjoy very much in the world we meet; we are much too busy studying our own reactions and our own responses, or our own lines.

The technician tends to specialize more and more until he becomes supremely expert about fragmentary particles of knowledge or experience, while the trees, are right!

But he misses the beauty of growing away from the total, the broad and the comprehensive. He is landlocked on the smaller islands of life. He's over-preparing for too little and thus remains underdeveloped for tor long.

There is a more relaxed attitude to the whole of life.

The art of serendipity — lighting upon and experiencing the joys of unanticipated pleasures — can be cultivated by more of us. There are ways by which we may appropriate the talents even if we've not inherited it:

1. Don't pre-invest all of your emotions in everything you undertake. Save some heart and mind for the experience of the moment itself.

2. Don't rigidly establish an overbearing program of personal action. For, if all you can do is follow the rules you've dogmatically put down, you'll be weighted down by the Book of Rules, rigidly written, when faced with new opportunities and possibilities.

3. Learn the happy art of improvisation. Instead of learning to "play by heart", learn to "play by ear". Awaken for the new sounds, look for new adventure and react openly and freely to the new situations.

Plans — pt. mice and men — go awry. It is wise to "have a little list", to know what it is you really want. But the secret plan is to become enslaved to the plan itself. Make room for the unexpected — and be free emotionally to enjoy it.

Pictured signing the register following their recent marriage in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, are Mr. and Mrs. John Dolan, Bridge Street, Kingston. The bride is the former Nedine Audrey Flunder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Flunder, Belleville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dolan, Belleville.

DOLAN—FLUNDER

A lovely springtime wedding was solemized in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, March 31, 1962, at 2 p.m., when Nadine Audrey Flunder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Christie Flunder, Belleville, was united in marriage to James Douglas Dolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Richard Dolan, Belleville, with the Rev. H. D. Davis, pastor of the church, officiating.

Tall white standards filled with colorful spring bulbs and white gladioli, interspersed with fern, decorated the altar, while white satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mr. S. Alec Gordon, church organist, played traditional wedding music and also accompanied Mr. Robert Reid, guest soloist, who sang the Lord's Prayer during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiantly lovely in a floor-length white taffeta satin bridal gown, having a cell skirt, enhanced by a scoop neckline and sweetheart chapel train and featuring long fitted sleevess buttoned at the wrists. A chiffon rose headdress adorned with pearls held in place her waist-length veil of three-layered net. She carried a bouquet of beautiful yellow roses entwined with ivy leaves and white flowered bells.

The maid of honor was Miss Joanne Twinning and the bridesmaid, Doreen Flunder, sister of the bride and the junior bridesmaid, Christine Flunder, also a sister of the bride,were identically attired in street-length royal blue satin dresses, featuring sweetheart necklines and three-quarter-length sleeves. Their headdresses were royal blue satin and trimmed with white bow veiling and their shoes were tinted to match. They carried white carnations interspersed with ivy leaves.

The demure little flower girl was Susan Dolan, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a short white satin dress accented by bow at back, featuring a round neckline with three-quarter-length sleeves. She carried a golden basket filled with yellow 'mums centred white 'mums.

PAINTS FROM WHEELCHAIR — Mrs. Bertha Watmough, whose arms and legs are crippled by polio, began painting three years ago with a brush held in her mouth. As her technique improved she switched to oils from water colors and now sells most of her work. Here she wields her brush as she sits in a wheelchair at Calgary's Bethany Hospital. (CP Photo)

Calgary Woman Paints With Brush Held in Mouth

CALGARY (CP)—It took Mrs. Bertha Watmough two years to perfect painting with a brush held in her mouth.

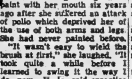
"I used to get paint all over everything when I was learning. In fact I still do."

But Mrs. Watmough, mother of two boys, is an artist of considerable acclaim in Calgary.

She sells most of her work and has had an exhibition of 30 paintings at the Allied Arts Centre in February.

Mrs. Watmough began to paint with her mouth six years ago after she suffered an attack of polio which deprived her of the use of both arms and legs. She had completely palsied below "It wasn't easy to wield the brush at first," she laughed. "It took quite a while before I learned to swing the way I do now. I said practice makes perfect but I guess I've a long way to go yet."

Mrs. Watmough, a native of Dawson Creek, B.C., was seated in her wheelchair beside a window in her bright "painting room" at Bethany hospital.



A group of patients and nurses at the hospital decided she should paint to help her fill time. She enrolled for lessons at the Allied Arts Centre in Calgary three years ago.

"Recently I have begun painting flowers because I can have real models," Mrs. Watmough said, indicating a floral study set on a chair.

The water colors with which she learned to paint have been replaced to her sons who show a keen desire to follow in their mother's artistic footsteps.

Mrs. Watmough now prefers to paint in oils since "I can cover mistakes."

"If I don't have trouble, I can finish a painting a week."

Mrs. H.S. — Our children act as though they're ashamed of us.

Rosalie S.F. — How can we include them in every move we make?

Mrs. H.S. — We have two married children, a son and a daughter. Now that they're solidly established in beautiful homes on Long Island, now that they've prospered and grown wealthy, they pay very little attention to us, the parents who made it all possible. And when they're living particularly fancy parties they warn us clearly not to turn up there that weekend. We're given to feel it would ruin them socially to have their friends meet their parents.

I blame most of this on my son's wife. She was a poor girl and now she can't resist her chance to put on the dog. Since my daughter and her husband live next door, they follow suit and we're left out of the picture. The worst part of this snobbery is that our grandchildren are deprived of seeing us, since they're too young to travel into town alone to our apartment. But the fortunate we can join them always prove mutually delightful.

Rosalie S.F. — I'm speaking in behalf of my brother and myself, and our respective spouses. We're not the terrible four my mother makes us out to be.

Our parents had a preconceived notion about what would happen when their children grew up. They expected us to continue in the pattern they had followed with their parents, where everybody lived together or practically next door, where visits, parties and other ventures became "en masse" expeditions. No one did anything individually. They moved as a family.

They refuse to concede that things have changed. Why can't we just be good friends? Why do they insist that we're ashamed of them, just because we want some "private, independent life among our contemporaries? Granted they gave us a good start. That's all the more reason to allow us to move along freely. Are they trying to tie apron strings around us again at this late date?

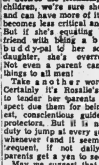
The Council: Since The Council can remember 'way back when,' we recall a teacher's report card entirely played by the pianist during which she played a silent movie. It was entitled, "If we can't be the same old sweethearts, then we'll just be the same old friends." The difference presented here between the E's and their children calls for some such compromise.



Peace and good feeling may return between the generations when a few old-fashioned words are redefined in the light of their present meaning. Take friendship, for instance. If Mrs. S. desires the friendship of her children, we're sure she has it and can have more of it, as she becomes less critical and sulky. But it's not by equating being a friend with being a bosom buddy or pal of her son and daughter, she's overreaching. Not even a parent can be all things to all men!

Take another word, duty. Certainly it's Rosalie's duty to tender her parents the respect due them for being earnest, conscientious guides and protectors. But it is not her duty to jump at every summons whenever (and it seems to be frequent, if not daily) her parents get a yen to see her.

May we suggest that Rosalie and her brother invite their parents to visit their homes regularly, unless there's a good reason not to. We concede that there may well be such reasons. Sometimes the mere presence of a "maverick" in a homogeneous circle may cramp someone's style, slow the fun and inhibit the conversation. Even though the older folks may actually sit in intellectually, there's a tendency to defer to them, to explain comments, and treat them as outsiders, when the others are young-marrieds. (Aside to Mrs. S.: Honestly, you don't miss much by not being at some of your children's social events. Have a few of your own, why don't you?)

As parents grow older, Rosalie, they add burns to family gatherings. Your friends may enjoy seeing them as young pets 'family heirlooms', treated with love and tenderness. And your children will profit from your example of filial appreciation. Your parents are your origins and fascinating as such. Colonel Glenn's were referred to similarly by President Kennedy to the people who launched the Astronaut!

this finer blend you'll be proud to serve!

Easter Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Mary Moore has given Orange Glazed Ham as the 'meat' in her Easter dinner menu. The orange glaze is easy to apply and if you follow the simple instructions you will turn out a ham that has a professional finish.

When I served this preview Easter dinner I mentally moved wood to describe its spectacular, crowd collecting power. Hollyhead advertises proud. Its full color audience appeal.

Our table centre was yellow candles and a low bowl of two dozen daffodils with some pussy willow which I bought for 35 cents just before the market closed.

Then came on the colorful food:

EASTER DINNER MENU

Cream of Asparagus Soup; Orange Glazed Baked Ham or Sweet Pickled Cottage Roll; Mustard Corn or Bean Relish; Broccoli with Sour Cream Hollandaise; Glazed Carrots or Potato Puffs; Sliced Tomatoes and Avocados on Lettuce with Herb French Dressing; Lemon Coconut Cake Roll (see Wednesday) or Almond Cherry Pie (see Saturday); Coffee.

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP

Cook 2 cups cut-up asparagus with 2 tablespoons each chopped onion and celery in 1 cup water until very tender. Force through sieve. Add this puree to 4 cups hot milk (or half and half milk and cream) in top of double boiler. Add 2 tablespoons butter, 2-3 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper and paprika. Heat through. If desired garnish with a puff of unsweetened whipped cream topped with a barely cooked bright green asparagus tip.

Glazed Baked Ham or Sweet Pickled Cottage Roll: I bought a 4½-lb. sweet pickled cottage roll because I did not want spending left over. Use same method for whole or half ham. Simmer, covered, ham or cottage roll in water to nearly cover for 3 hours. Cool in cooking liquid. Remove and drain. (Discard liquid or use to make pea or bean soup.) Cut off rind if ham is used. Score fat surface in diamond pattern. Push 1 whole clove into centre of each diamond. Glaze: Mix together 1 teaspoon mustard, 2 tablespoons icing sugar and ½ cup (6-oz.) fresh frozen orange juice concentrate. Drizzle a little of this sparingly over fat surface. Bake ham or cottage roll at 300 deg. F.for 1 to 1¼ hours, basting sparingly with glaze every 15 minutes. Double amounts for glaze if you are basting a whole ham. The broccoli is perfect with this Sour Cream Hollandaise: In top of double boiler beat 4 egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add 6 tablespoons dairy sour cream, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon cayenne, ½ teaspoon dry mustard. Cook, stirring constantly for 1 minute. Turn off heat and stir until thick — about 3 minutes.

Glazed Carrots: Boil whole small (or lengthwise-quartered large) carrots in salted water until nearly tender. Drain. Melt together 2 tablespoons sugar and 2 tablespoons butter. Add carrots and carefully turn over low heat, until carrots are thoroughly glazed.

UCW Meetings

The monthly meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women was held April 12, 1962.

During the Devotional Mrs. Willman read a portion of "The Passion of our Lord." Mrs. K. Brinkert closed with prayer.

As the reading of religious books is being stressed for the Lenten season, Mrs. Bartleman introduced a summary of the Fortress Books and books from the Lenten Book Corner. Beginning with the Fortress books some of those stressed were "Four Centuries of the English Bible," "The Lord's Supper" and "Marriage," a most helpful book for married couples, or those contemplating marriage.

The Lenten book corner had a number of interesting books also, a few of which are "The Meaning of the Cross," consisting of several short sermons, "Little Folded Hands," childrens prayers, and "More Power to You," which is an interesting book for teenagers giving them helpful hints to manage their everyday problems and how to better understand themselves.

A short skit was performed by Mrs. Quast, Mrs. Lindeman and Mrs. Grills to promote the C.L.C.W. magazine "Lutheran Women."

A short business meeting followed including the Christian Service Committee report at which time Mrs. Bartleman distributed articles of two layettes to be sewn.

The meeting adjourned and lunch was served by Mrs. Bartleman and Mrs. N. Brinkert.

Hostess of Dining Room For Members, Senators Knows Each by Name

By EDNA BLAKELY

OTTAWA (CP) — Germaine Rondeau was only 14 when she started working in the parliamentary dining room in 1930. Since 1955 the attractive redhead has been hostess of the sixth-floor dining room for members of the Commons and Senate and their guests. She loves it.

When she was 19 she spent three months working in an office. "I nearly died, it was so unconscious," she says. "Here there is always something new and something different."

She heard about the dining room job from her aunt, a waitress there for many years. She started several short sermons, "Little Folded Hands," childrens prayers, and "More Power to You," which is an interesting book for teenagers giving them helpful hints to manage their everyday problems and how to better understand themselves.

Sunday School Lesson

Breakthrough to Mankind

By ROY L. SMITH

A scientist was teaching the Sunday School lesson to a group of youngsters, and was drawing upon his scientific background for much of his illustrative material.

"We scientists," he said, "wrestle with the question of beginnings. Concerning the first beginning — how matter and force have produced the world in which we live is our problem. We can formulate many of the laws, on the basis of the evidence supplied by microscopes and telescopes, but occasionally something happens which we cannot explain.

"We cannot explain, for example, how it should have happened that suddenly, out of a series of lifeless molecules a living cell appeared. Nor can we explain why living cells conduct themselves as they do.

"There is the matter of the human embryo, for example. We have watched it from the time the first two cells united to make one. Then we watched it bifurcate and become two, four, eight, 16, 32, 64, etc. But there comes a time when a little group of cells gather together, apparently agreed between themselves to work together. And as we watch, we suddenly discover them all pulling in a cooperative fashion, and soon they force a strange fluid throughout the whole.

"The doctors know a thousand ways which enable them to stop the beating of a heart, but not one of them knows even one way to start it beating. Here is a mystery. Something new has entered in upon the scheme of creation.

"Then there comes a day when one of the creatures with a beating heart stands up a little straighter than all the rest, and with a strange tone in his throat, he declares 'I am.' The appearance of the first self-conscious individual was one of the pivotal points in all the history of the earth.

The International Sunday School lesson for April 22: "Christ Reigns." Matthew 28; Hebrews 1.

"And as this creature that declared 'I am' grows and matures he begins to ask one of the simplest and most thrilling questions ever asked, 'why?' Other creatures may have asked in their dull way, 'How?'—but to this one, now called man, was given the ability to ask why and to seek answers and in that first why there was the forecast of all the research laboratories and libraries in the world."

In the process of asking why, the creature called man came to the great stories he became convinced that there was, somewhere in the universe, a vast creative and formulative force, to which he gave the name God.

It was another one of those cataclysmic days in human history, when one of these 'self-conscious creatures' suddenly shouted to his mates, "I believe." By this declaration he launched him-self out in the universe of speculation, and began to choose between ideas, morals, hope, and theories.

Having dared to say "I believe," born in a creator, he found himself asking a question that would not down. "What is the Creator like? If He made me, I become dependent upon Him—I am at His mercy. How then, can I please Him, gratify Him, and meet His requirements of me."

The most baffling question of the age was, "What kind of power, or force, is this Creator? Is there any way that a man can contact Him, win His approval, seek His co-operation, and work out His destiny?" And with this question the whole field of religion was born.

Suddenly, there appeared in a small village in one of the most unimportant states in the Roman Empire, a man and his wife who had come as pilgrims, answering a summons of Rome. And that night a baby was born to them. For the first 30 years of His life He lived in obscurity, and we know little about the circumstances with which He was surrounded. Then one day He underwent a strange experience on a river's bank, and from that day forward He began to teach and preach a new way of life which, He said, He had been commissioned by the Creator to reveal to men.

Because He soon came into conflict with the authorities He suffered death, being crucified and buried (in the third day He arose and continued preaching as though nothing had happened. And as a consequence of it all, men here and there began believing that the Creator had broken through mankind and revealed Himself. And that is why we call Him the Son of God, our Lord.

FIRST OVERALL and FIRST IN CLASS Shell "4000" Car Rally '62

JOHNNY JONES Montreal — Driver

LOU LALONDE Driver

Confident and comfortable all the way

"The Lark really handles," says Lou Lalonde, winning driver, "I have never been on worse roads—other cars were bogged right down to their doors in mud yet the Lark, with its fantastic manoeuvrability, powered through the mud and wound the stalled cars like a broken-field runner with the goal in sight."

Johnny Jones, the man with the maps and computers said, "The Lark is really a comfortable car." "Other navigators looked like Mexican Jumping Beans on those rough roads—didn't bother at all." "This comfort factor means a lot when you're in a car for as long as 18 hours . . . helped us stay fresh and alert."

A Studebaker Lark driven by John Jones and Lou Lalonde of Toronto came FIRST over all cars in the gruelling 4,128 mile Shell Car Rally. Only LARK has won this vicious test of endurance two years in a row.

Competing against cars representing every major manufacturer in the world, the handsome Lark ones again proved its reliability. Other cars faltered and broke up on rough, rutted roads. Too fragile suspension systems gave up—too little road clearance created havoc, too tiny engines balked and died. The '62 Lark carried on, expertly grappling with adverse road conditions and terrible weather. The Lark swept across the prairies, soared over mountain ranges, mastered speed trials with ease and matched the driver's commands with race car handling. For the second year in a row the '62 Lark has won, beating all comers in the world's longest, most gruelling race.

What LARK'S Victory Means to YOU

It means you can be sure the Lark is everything it is claimed to be . . . fast, dependable, economical, comfortable, sure-footed. Other manufacturers make these claims. Lark proves them!

The features that have proved Lark the unbeatable, long distance Rally champion are the very features you want in your personal car. A rugged, powerful engine, superb handling, sensible road clearance, positive braking, amazing economy and more interior room and comfort than any other domestic, family car.

Go to your Studebaker Dealer now. Drive the car that has decisively beaten all other makes and models. Buy a Lark and be assured your car will be the same as the one that won the Rally. won the "Car of the Year" Award, and is winning thousands of new friends and admirers across Canada.

Why not test drive the '62 Lark and form your own opinion! Tonight!

Patty Conklin Helps Provide Midway for World's Fair

By JIM PEACOCK

SEATTLE (CP)—Patty Conklin, raincoat and cap on to protect against the drizzle outside, sat in the automat at the World's Fair, drinking machine-made coffee and pondering the task of setting up a $2,500,000 gallery on the fair grounds.

Traces of mud on his expensive shoes gave evidence that he had been out on the lot helping his workmen assemble a new ride or showplace. He prefers doing that to sitting in his office.

His 270 slacks were neat and pressed to knife-like creases and he carried a tie in his sport-coat pocket, "just in case I have to run upstairs to somebody's office."

He'd asked the reporter to meet him in the automat where he could escape the constant ringing of the telephone on his desk. Even here, people kept delivering written messages.

"I need this job here like I need a hole in the head," he said.

JOB IS CHALLENGE

But the 50 - year - old Toronto businessman, in partnership with Roy Bell, New Orleans amusement park operator, took the job of providing an entertainment midway for the Century 21 Exposition next year because it offered perhaps the greatest challenge of his 34 years in the amusement business.

"We took it on because the fair gave us an exclusive contract consisting of all the rides, shows and concessions on the midway. It's the first time in the history of World's Fairs that this has been done.

"We're both behind the eight ball. We've got to do a job. Our reputations are at stake."

A Brooklyn - born Irishman who sold peanuts around New York's old Madison Square garden when he was 16, saved his money and parlayed it into a $30,000 profit on kewpie dolls within a month, John Wesley Conklin has built up his reputation in the amusement business through years of operation of rides across Western Canada and throughout Ontario and Quebec.

Since 1927, he has run the midway at Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition, and it was there that authorities planning Century 21 sought him out and asked him to tackle the World's Fair assignment with Bell.

IMPORTS RIDES

Modify, he took it on "because I love what I'm doing."

Anyone following him around the midway area in the heat of construction can see he means what he says. His mechanical and technical knowledge of amusement park rides is so thorough that he can do any of the jobs of his 300 employees.

"Maybe I cant do it as well as they do it but I can do it."

He takes great delight in providing new rides, all of which he tries out — and insists key members of his staff try out — before they're ordered into the midway. For the World's Fair, running here from April 21 to Oct. 21, he and Bell have imported 13 rides and funhouses from Europe which have never been seen before in North America.

"We'll be using more lighting in the midway here than has ever been used in any amusement area anywhere," Conklin adds. "We've got 60,000 incandescent light bulbs and nearly three miles of flourescent lighting."

As he finished his notes, Patty Conklin remarked: "Sometimes I don't know what I'm doing here anyway. I ought to be somewhere resting, or maybe just not worrying about anything, just taking it easy."

By this time he was posing in one of the rides for a photograph.

"Say," he called, "you ought to see the ride I've got going up over there. . . ."

Jack Hutton interviews a Canadian high school student who builds his own telescopes just for fun.

Canada's Smartest Young Mathematician

By JACK HUTTON

"Figures don't seem much fun any more. I find working with pure mathematical concepts much more interesting these days—and more challenging."

Speaking was a tall 18-year-old high school student from Waterloo, Ont., who had just been chosen as Canada's top high school maths scholar.

Robert Zarnke, quietspoken with a shock of sandy hair, is the top Canadian entrant in the annual competition sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America.

I visited him recently to find out more about someone who had just finished ahead of 4,858 students from Ontario, Quebec, Labrador, Switzerland and Germany.

Bob, who admits he does not find the standard high school maths course particularly challenging, was calm about his victory as we chatted in his living-room. "I thought I'd score higher," he said.

When did he first become interested in mathematics? "It was probably in Grade II," said Bob. "Since then, I've had a chance to read a certain number of outside books. And I've been very lucky in having excellent and helpful teachers.

We visited his neatly-kept room where a small bookcase testified to Bob's outside reading. Sample titles: "House of Intellect" by Prof. Jacque Barzun, "Element of Calculus," "Introductions to Atomic Physics," "Einstein's Relativity."

BUILT TELESCOPE

Only one thing in the room seemed not dedicated to study or sleeping—a four-foot-long white telescope leaning against one corner.

"I built that myself some time ago," explained Bob. "It has a four and one-quarter-inch reflector and must be about 180-power. Some day I'd like to have a solarium to carry this further."

"Of course, you can only do so much with a 180-power telescope," he grinned. "I've been working on something that involves more mathematics recently, a spectroscope."

Bob showed me the plywood base which his father, a school caretaker, had built for the spectroscope. Eventually the young mathematician-astronomer will be able to split light into its color spectrum.

"The problem is that you need money for these things," he added. "But by getting your own parts and working on it yourself you can save a great deal. I just keep on collecting them."

What are the future plans of Bob Zarnke?

"I hope to enter the maths course at the University of Waterloo next fall after finishing Grade 13," said Bob. "One of the professors has been very kind in suggesting books to read already. I'm looking forward to carrying on these studies."

Bob's accomplishment seems even more creditable when one realizes that 200 schools from Ontario competed along with 19 from Quebec, one from Labrador, one from Switzerland and one from Germany.

Top girl in the competition was Barbara L. Keyfitz of Forest Hill Collegiate in Ontario. The top school (based upon scores of the top three students) was North Toronto Collegiate. The school with the most students in the top 30 was the University of Toronto Schools.

TRY YOUR LUCK

If you've a pencil handy, you might like to try some of the questions from the 50-minute examination which the young mathematicians tried.

They set a standard at which you might aim.

1.—If 5X equals 25, then X equals; (a) 4 (b) 5/2 (c) 1/5 (d) 3/5 (e) 1/4.

2.—It is given that one root of $2X^2 + pX + q$ equals 6, with p and q real numbers, is 5 plus 2i ($5 + 2i$ equals square root of minus one.) The value of q is:

(a) undetermined (b) 5 (c) six (d) minus 13 (e) 36.

The answers: 1 (5) 2(d).

WATCH-OUT

Just noticed an article in an American magazine advising girls on methods of remodelling their boyfriends' personalities. What a prospect!

Their suggestions: group therapy (get him out with the gang); indirect suggestion (mention how some other chap should improve himself—and hope the hint sinks home); intolerant compliment (praise him for something you hope he'll develop.)

Just doesn't seem fair to the fellows somehow.

Dr. Cyril James, Principal of McGill, Resigns

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. F. Cyril James, economist, author and a strong advocate of the one-world approach to education, will resign Dec. 1 as principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, a post he has held since 1939.

The resignation was announced "with regret" Wednesday by R. E. Powell, chancellor of the university, who said a successor had not been chosen.

Dr. James' letter of resignation said:

"I hope to devote my time to the problems of higher education in the less developed countries of the world and to the affairs of the international Association of Universities, which is deeply concerned with those problems.

"It is also my hope that I may be able to resume that research and writing in the field of economics which administrative duties have interrupted during the last two decades."

Dr. James has stirred his share of controversy during his time at McGill—the most expansive in the university's history.

In 1959, following a visit to Russia, he incurred the wrath of then Quebec premier Maurice Duplessis with a statement that Soviet education was far ahead of its North American counterpart in many ways.

Dr. James also was a major fighter for federal grants to universities, a movement not calculated to endear him to Mr. Duplessis who looked upon such grants as a threat to provincial autonomy.

Dr. James, a 58-year-old native of London, came to McGill in 1939 from the University of Pennsylvania to reorganize the commerce faculty and teach.

Before the year ended, however, Dr. Lewis Douglas resigned as principal and Dr. James found himself, at 34, the second youngest principal in McGill history.

Size he took that helm McGill's student population had virtually tripled with enrolment of 9,500 now.

Expert Criticizes Warship Building Program in U.K.

LONDON (Reuters)—A naval expert fired a broadside Wednesday at what he termed the inadequate warship building program of Britain's navy service"—the Royal Navy.

"No one can be satisfied with your new construction during the last 17 years," said Raymond V. B. Blackman, editor of the annual Jane's Fighting Ships, the international authority on the world's navies.

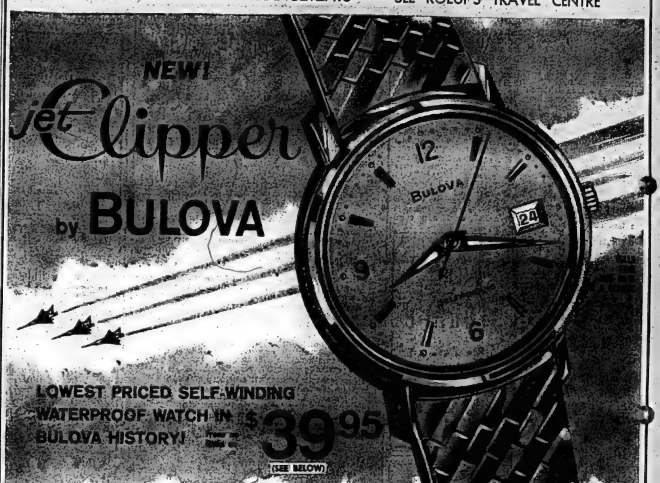
Blackman said in an article in the Navy League's journal that he could contain himself no longer when he saw that the new construction provided for in the 1962-63 navy estimates amounted to "the bravo total" of one assault ship and two as replenishment oilers.

Blackman said that since 1946 Britain has scrapped 15 battleships, scrapped or sold 30 "flattop" aircraft carriers, retained 33 cruisers, and scrapped or sold 56 frigates and escorts—besides returning 38 to the United States—and 116 submarines.

New construction during those 17 years has been 9 frigates, 12 submarines and 200 coastal and inshore minesweepers—all comparatively small craft.

"We find that in one world emergency or disaster after another, no British warships are near enough to give immediate succour and take charge of one—as they did in former days," he said.

Claimants for Jobless Benefits Up 20,000



OTTAWA (CP)—The number of claimants for unemployment insurance benefits rose by 20,000 in February to 718,000 at the end of the month, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The total was 185,000 less than the corresponding figure for 1961. Some 329,000 initial and renewal claims were filed, 114,600 fewer than in January and 39,000 fewer than a year earlier.

Total payments in February were $58,000,000. The average weekly benefit payment was $34.36.

Leaders Jump to Attack Amid Desk Thumping as Legislature Comes to End

TORONTO (CP) — Staccato desk thumping punctuated spirited wind-up speeches Wednesday by Premier Roberts and Liberal Leader Wintermeyer as the 26th Parliament of Ontario prorogued.

Both leaders took a purely political tack. Their gibes battle-based on promises versus actions, ended in noisy desk-banging when a combined Liberal and New Democratic Party vote of no confidence in the government was lost to the Progressive Conservatives by 39 votes to 35.

Mr. Wintermeyer rose to attack first. He waded into the government on its role during the celebrated "battle of the economists" over a proposed sales tax plans.

He said the government side "never got off the ground" in trying to debunk Liberal claims that the purchase tax could be lifted on most items up to $25 without destroying the government's finances.

"We expected far - reaching amendments to remove many irritants in the tax structure but, as usual, the government did nothing."

BITE PROMISED

Mr. Wintermeyer's next target was "the government's great vision of northern development."

"At the beginning of this session the government promised a grandiose development scheme. Instead, it is inverting $14,000,000 less this year on northern highways."

He dismissed the education department by attacking Mr. Roberts for taking on "this vital task" while he was preoccupied with his job of premier.

Mr. Wintermeyer said Labor Minister Warrender failed to exercise ingenuity in handling the Royal York Hotel strike and the threatened strike by Ontario Hydro employees.

In reference to government legislation which prohibited a Hydro strike he said:

"Sensible school would have prevented this short-sighted piece of arbitration and this scar would not have been on the face of Ontario."

ACCUSES OCF

Mr. Wintermeyer then turned on the NDP backing in his left.

With a broad smile, which rarely left during the entire speech, he accused NDP Leader Donald C. MacDonald of "shooting first and adding questions later."

He was particularly critical of NDP accusations during the South Renfrew byelection campaign that the province was selling timber licences in the area was abused.

"The honorable member said at the time he offered:

'I have no time to go into the facts but will make the charges anyway.'

Moving on to the federal election campaign he said:

"The strategy of Mr. Diefenbaker, by his rapid appearance here last night, shows he is going to fight the election in Ontario. He feels just as Ontario goes, so goes Quebec. That's all right with us."

He charged Mr. Diefenbaker "bought out Ontario" last time by promising the province $100,000,000.

TRYING TO BUY?

"Now he is sending $105,000,000 to buy four seats in Prince Edward Island."

That was a reference to an announcement by the prime minister Tuesday that the federal government will build a causeway to link the island with the mainland.

Mr. Wintermeyer charged that in any case we didn't get the money.

"If Mr. Diefenbaker had done right by us we would not have been saddled with a sales tax," he said.

Mr. Wintermeyer ended to an approving roar by his party supporters.

It was his most spirited speech of the session. Even Mines Minister Wardrobe, a persistent heckler, shouted at one stage:

"Keep going, John. It's the best I've ever heard from you."

DEFENCE EFFORTS

Mr. Roberts launched his counter - attack by defending Speaker William Murdoch (Essex South) against charges that he favored the government benches in his rulings.

He also debunked charges made by a number of new members that the atmosphere in the House, "at times reprehensible," was unbecoming a body.

"When 96 men debate important matters there will be times to create tensions," he said.

"I'm not unduly perturbed by the conduct of the House, except that there is far too much interjection."

The premier went on to refute a number of charges made by Mr. Wintermeyer.

Referring to the sales tax he declared:

"I'm happy that our team did a satisfactory job."

On the Royal York strike charges he said:

"The honorable show an abysmal ignorance of the issues."

TWO THIRD PRONTE

Mr. Wintermeyer's criticism of the government is based on two "dired fronts," Mr. Roberts said. "We don't intend to act quick enough. Then they claim legislation we do introduce won't be implemented."

He also charged the opposition with relying on newspaper clippings instead of doing their own research.

"Often I don't know whether I'm replying to a member or to the newspaper," he said.

Referring to charges that Ontario had spent the $100,000,000 promised by Mr. Diefenbaker, he said:

"We got the money within two years of the promise and I think that's the gravy train ever since."

Mr. Roberts said that in 1956-57 the total federal grant to Ontario was $214,000,000. In 1962-63 it will be $316,000,000.

"I got these figures from an impeccable source" he said.

Elmer Sophie Hall — Sudbury — interjected:

"That's the one you're a disfen-bloower."

J. Y. Murdoch, Noranda Mines Founder, Dies

TORONTO (CP) — James Young Murdoch, 71, founder and lifetime head of Noranda Mines Limited and prominent in other business fields, died here Wednesday following a brief illness.

He was born in Toronto and attended public school in Jarvis, Ont., and high school in Cayuga. He graduated in law from Osgoode Hall, Toronto, in 1913 and was made a King's Counsel in 1920.

The year he was called to the bar he became part of the present legal firm of Holden, Murdoch, Walton, Finlay, Robinson and Pepall. He was associated with the firm until his death—for many years its senior partner.

Noranda was founded in 1922 and Mr. Murdoch became the first president of the company which soon became one of Canada's richest gold-silver-copper mines.

He was made president of Canadian Copper Refiners Limited, Wabi Iron Works Limited, Fleetmour Porcupine Mines and Golden Manitou Mines and a director of Bellhaven Consolidated Gold Mines, Metals Equities Incorporated, Wright - Hargreaves Mines, International Mining Corporation, Hallnor Mines, Mordick Mines and the Canadian Mining Association.

DIRECTOR OF COMPANIES

In all, he was a director of 33 companies, some of them in the fields of banking, oil, insurance and railways.

His primary interest was Noranda Mines and after guiding the company through its early stages of development and construction he watched it develop into one of the best known mines in North America.

He was a key man in the company as it branched out to embrace metals refining and fabrication.

Associates and competitors were unanimous in recognizing his keen insight and vigorous turn of mind with which Mr. Murdoch constantly enlarged and consolidated the Noranda organization.

He remained president for 38 years and on his retirement in 1956 became chairman—a position he held at the time of his death.

He was appointed a member of the Canadian National Railways board of directors in 1936 and resigned in 1951. When his resignation was announced in the House of Commons the late C. D. Howe, then minister of transport, it was disclosed that Mr. Murdoch objected to the expenditure of $12,000,000 on the CN Centre in Montreal.

He is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter. A private funeral service will be held in Toronto.

Diefenbaker Puts Election Show on Road by Asking For Dissolution of House

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker planned to put the June 18 election show on the road today with a flight to Quebec City to obtain formal dissolution of Parliament from Governor-General Vanier, the last official act to launch the opening machinery.

Opposition Leader Pearson planned to spend the day with his Liberal party policy and strategy advisers, preparing campaign speeches, posing for campaign photographs, recording campaign messages.

New Democratic Party Leader Douglas was to visit with the ladies of the Regina CCF Women's Club, giving them a pep-talk for personal which he hopes to represent in the new Parliament.

Social Credit Leader Thompson will open his campaign Saturday in Red Deer, Alta., in Diefenbaker's riding he, in turn, hopes will elect him.

Mr. Diefenbaker now plans to open his campaign in Moose Jaw, Sask., as also opened the first two weeks ago in Strathroy, Ont. Some of his colleagues say he really opened it the day after the last election campaign ended on March 31.

Mr. Pearson's opening now is set for Wednesday or Thursday, followed by a visit to Newfoundland. He also has had opening dates in Timmins, Ont., and Quebec City.

Only the election wheels really start turning in the quiet of Governor - General Vanier's 25th century - comfortable - furnished study at the Citadel in Quebec City today.

There he will be ancient but, elements of the old fort. Prime Minister Diefenbaker will hand the Queen's representative a written memorandum of advice, officially advising the Governor-General to dissolve the 24th parliament of Canada. He ended its rancorous 65-day session Wednesday night, shortly after the government said—by Opposition obstruction.

Gen. Vanier's handwritten "approved," and his signature at the top of the memorandum will set the machinery in motion for drawing up the vice-regal proclamation of dissolution, to which the Great Seal of Canada must be fixed, and issuance of the election writs.

Once the writs are issued, Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay can send out official instructions to returning officers to have enumerators start the early Monday morning, April 10, to bring up the voters' lists in the 263 constituencies. The job must be finished by Saturday night, May 5, to permit time for revisions.

Parliament At a Glance

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

WEDNESDAY, April 19, 1962

The 24th Parliament was adjourned until a fall sitting date for the federal general election on Monday, June 18.

A total of 327 divorce petitions from Quebec and Newfoundland were dismissed died on the order paper.

Defence Production Minister O'Hurley indicated Canada won't buy submarines from Britain unless the U.K. makes aircraft purchases from Canada.

Royal assent was given in the Senate to two bills covering remaining 1961-62 estimates and election interval government expenses.

Student Must Change Hairdo, Short Skirt

VANCOUVER (CP)—A cute 16-year-old redhead said Wednesday she was told to get out of a suburban North Vancouver school and she got out until she altered her "rats nest" hairdo and changed her short skirt.

Despite the order of principal J. D. Siddon of Delbrook High School Tuesday, Evelina Stadiuk returned to school, She said she had refused to change her dress or hair style and has the backing of her father.

A second girl, Wannie Parr, 16, was also ordered out of her Grade 11 class. Her mother, Mrs. G. H. Parr, said she returned with her hair down.

"The rats nest" is a bird's nest in which the hair is combed back from the head.

Evelina said in an interview she had been warned for the last two weeks about her style of dress and hair styling. Her father had received a letter from the principal saying she had resisted all attempts to change and that if she came to school Tuesday without making the required changes she would be sent home.

ESCORTED BY FATHER

Her father, Jay Stadiuk, had escorted her to school, and remained there.

Mr. Siddon declined to comment.

Mr. Siddon's orders follow the recase of a parent-teachers association survey in which the majority of 1,000 girls polled favored standardized school dress including below - the - knee skirts, middy blouses, cardigans or pullover sweaters, saddle oxfords or flat socks, leotards in cold weather, Windsor knots or saddle shoes and neutral lipstick.

Extreme hairstyling, sheer fabrics, short skirts, tight sweaters, nylons, high heels, sandals, nail polish and makeup other than lipstick were vetoed.

Russia Breaks Nickel Contract

TORONTO (CP)—A 1,000,000-pound-a - month purchase contract between the Soviet Union and the International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd., has been broken by the Soviet Union with four months still to run, R. S. Wintle, chairman of the board of the company's annual shareholders' meeting Wednesday.

Mr. Wintle said the Soviet Union cancelled the contract last month after two years of uninterrupted deliveries, giving no reason.

Inco officials believe the Soviet economy now is saturated with nickel as a result of annual domestic production of 160,000,000 pounds and imports from Cuba.

Liberal Medical Care Plan Would Not Be Compulsory

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal party today unveiled a medical care plan which, it said, would entitle all residents of Canada to doctor and diagnostic services.

Liberal Leader Pearson said the plan represented a "major social advance." It was flexible and realistic, and based on cooperation with the provinces.

"There will be the closest consultation with the medical profession," Mr. Pearson said in a statement.

If everyone joined the plan, the cost of the federal treasury would be "somewhat over $200,000,000 in the first year," said a pamphlet outlining the Liberal program.

This was not mean any large burden on the economy, because people and corporations are paying most of the costs in one way and another already. Through economic growth we can afford the extra costs for better health care."

Anyone who wished to make his own arrangements would be free to do so.

Doctor services would be provided without charge to all children up to age 16, to most retired people and to the unemployed.

For all others, the plan will cover doctor bills "above a low annual cost."

There will be no charge to anyone who does not go to a doctor.

Liberal action will take fear out of health costs," said the pamphlet. "The maximum amount of doctor bills that anyone will be required to pay will be a small part of the family budget against unreasonable demands for services.

"Now these payments are made will be arranged in agreement with the provinces. They will be designed to cover rather than add to any of the total cost of medical care."

The federal government would pay the rest of the cost from general revenue.

SUPPLIES LOWER

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's wheat supplies at March 31 totalled 481,900,000 bushels or nearly 288,000,000 bushels lower than a year earlier, the bureau of statistics reported Wednesday. Stocks on farms were estimated at 136,900,000 bushels compared with 233,900,000 a year earlier. The wheat total compares with 769,600,000 bushels a year earlier, the record 904,000,000 bushels of 1957, and the 10-year average of 720,000,000 bushels.

House to Be Dissolved Today, Longest in History, Productive, Controversial

OTTAWA (CP)—The Parliament to be dissolved today sat more days than any other in Canadian history but the process it was both productive and controversial.

First Parliament with a majority Conservative government since 1935, it probably will be remembered most for three inventions:

Passage of the Canadian Bill of Rights in 1960, the government's unsuccessful attempt to legislate the firing of the governor of the Bank of Canada in 1961, and Hazen Argue's bolt to the Liberty party from the Commons headship of the CCF-New Democratic Party group in 1962.

This Parliament, Canada's 26th, also produced the longest session on record. Its 174 sitting days in 1960-61 eclipsed the previous mark of 168 days in 1955. It saw the biggest peacetime budget debate — $700,000,000 — the last fiscal year ended March 31.

When it adjourned Wednesday pending dissolution for the June 18 general election it had totalled 1,479 days from its election on March 31, 1958. It was in session almost half the time—805 sitting days. You have to go back to the beginning of the government of 1911-17 for the previous record, 567 sitting days.

BIG BUDGET DEBATE

The Parliament of 1958-62 also established another noteworthy mark: The biggest government majority in the Commons in Canadian history.

The 265-seat Commons started its five-session life with 208 Conservatives, 49 Liberals and eight CCF members. At dissolution, it had 208 Conservatives, 51 Liberals, eight CCF and two Democratic Party MPs, and two vacancies.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, fortified by the huge Conservative mandate, set out in earnest to implement a long and varied list of election promises.

The extent to which he fulfilled them will be one of the main issues of the forthcoming election campaign, along with high unemployment, trade, defence and financial squabbles which are in this parliament throughout its life.

The one issue which attracted the most public attention concerned the government bill to arm Canada's forces with nuclear weapons. The Liberals divided on it and it is understood the main opposition party opposed it. Made Havilland of Canada Carling Limited CL-44 cargo plane.

Mr. O'Hurley was asked whether the plane would be tested from shipyard workers at Belfast or about the plan to buy British submarines.

The minister said he received such a project Tuesday. He said the workers will be protected and Canada will get the benefit of advantage, such as for new industries and conversion of existing plants.

Maurice Bourget (L—Levis) asked the cost of submarines from Britain is an "insult" to Canadian shipyards.

Wants Britain To Spend Equal Value in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Production Minister O'Hurley indicated Wednesday that Canada will buy submarines from Britain unless the United Kingdom makes purchases of approximately equal value from the Canadian aircraft industry.

He said in the Commons that the government made compensation for defence purchases placed abroad. No contract of negotiations with British officials said these negotiations would include British purchases of defence equipment in Canada and it is understood the main item would be the Canadair CL-44 cargo plane.

Sharp Increase In Rabies Cases Is Reported

OTTAWA (CP)—A sharp increase in the number of laboratory-confirmed rabies cases in Canada for the year ended March 31 was announced Wednesday by the federal agriculture department.

The health of animals division listed 1,071 cases in the 12-month period compared with 227 in 1960-61. The highest number of cases recorded was 2,300 in 1958-59.

Rabies, believed to have originated in Central America, Quebec and Manitoba from the wolves they carried, were also found to have afflicted 66 varieties of various kind, 247 livestock and 757 wild animals.

The disease was most prevalent in the province of Ontario—862 cases, Grey County reported 123 cases, Simcoe 84, Bruce 37 and Eastern Ontario, Renfrew County 73.

GETS $400,000 DAMAGES

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A dentist, who was paralyzed from the waist down when he fell while leaving an airplane, settled a damage suit against Trans World Airways Wednesday for approximately $400,032. Dr. Byron G. Wilson's suit charged that a ladder he moved while he was leaving the plane caused him to fall 19 feet. His spinal cord was severed, doctors testified.

JFK Must Convince Business It Is Still Free to Set Prices

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Whatever the merits of his intervention in the great steel imbroglio, President Kennedy is going to have a tough time convincing United States businessmen that their prices in future are to be set in an entirely free market.

Both Kennedy and the business today is less free to set prices, wages and working conditions than it was 36 years ago — or even last week.

At his press conference Wednesday Kennedy, in a magnanimous mood after the steel industry's backdown on price increases, said he believes in co-operation of industry and labor in a free economy with the government role kept to a minimum.

But it is apparent that Kennedy's heavy pressure on the steel-making chain factor in the price cuts, gives the government role new significance.

The U.S. government has now taken a hand in settling major labor-industry disputes, but the steel crisis may mark the beginning of the end of informal co-operation and the start of a definite government position in the industry — unless governments intervening.

Obviously the Kennedy administration feels that big labor and big industry hold too great a responsibility for disrupting the economy to be allowed an entirely free hand.

The relationship both union and industry leaders now will weigh their positions with great care before forcing with government guidelines.

"There is no question business now is fearful" says The Wall Street Journal. It quotes a steel executive as saying: "Every-one is going to be very reluctant to try to pull off what steel tried."

That conclusion seems justified. Few businessmen would want to put themselves in the position of U.S. Steel's Roger Blough and Bethlehem's Gilmore and very different kind of visit to the White House Tuesday just one week after abruptly informing the president that his price-setting plans were dead.

Hull Meets Kingston in EPL Final

HULL, Que. (CP) — Hull-Ottawa Canadiens struck early for four goals within nine minutes and then fended off the determined Kitchener - Waterloo Beavers to gain a 4-3 victory Wednesday night and clinch their best-of-seven Eastern Professional Hockey League semi-final series 4-3.

The win climaxed a great comeback by the Hull-Ottawa club which at one point had been 3-1 down in the series. The Canadiens, who headed the EPHL in the regular season, entertain Kingston Frontenacs in the opening game of the final here Friday.

Len Ronson shot Beavers into the lead at 9:11 in the first period but it was a goal by Jacques Laperriere three minutes later that broke the game open for Hull-Ottawa.

BREAKS GOALIE'S STICK

Before the first period ended Jimmy Roberts and Keith McCreary had added two more goals for Canadiens, with Bob Eliott making it 4-3 at 11:56 of the second frame.

After that the Canadiens, aided by some fine goal-tending by Cesare Maniago, fought off a determined rally by Kitchener. Sandy McGregor and Jim Nelson narrowed the margin but the Beavers were unable to get the equaliser, which would have sent the game into sudden-death overtime.

Ernie Banks Hits Homer Number 300

CHICAGO (AP) — Ernie Banks's 300th major league home run may have jolted Chicago Cubs' long-dormant timely ... they are playing a 162-game instead of a 154-game schedule.

Banks drilled his four-bagger in the 10th inning Wednesday to give the Cubs a 3-2 win over Houston Colts and their first victory after seven successive defeats.

The 32-year-old Banks, who may have latched on to a new lease on baseball life in his switch from shortstop to first base, now has belted 13 hits in 34 trips for a .382 average.

He also slapped a triple and two singles in the Cubs' opening 1963 triumph.

Dotty Lamour Back in Town To Plug Road to Hong Kong

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A famous figure was back in town this week, and it belonged to Dorothy Lamour, who starred as the "jungle princess" 25 years ago.

"I don't mind admitting it," she said. "In fact, people think I'm so much older than I really am that I have to correct them. Don't forget I started as a kid." She is 47.

Dotty was back in town for a Bob Hope Television show which airs next Wednesday on NBC. She'll be plugging their mutual movie (with a guy named Crosby), The Road to Hong Kong.

"My role in the TV trailer is bigger than the one I've got in the picture," she said.

DIDN'T LIKE PART

You'll recall that Dotty almost staged a sitdown strike last summer when she was asked to come to London for a guest part in the movie.

"Imagine — me doing four lines and one small number in a 'Road picture!'" she said, still bristling at the thought. "Those jerks — Bing and Bob — I don't know but I still love them."

After many transatlantic phone calls, Dotty agreed to go over and do her stint.

"Now I feel like the cat that swallowed the canary," she said, "I read the reviews from England, and they're all great for me."

"That'll show 'em Dotty still knows a few tricks."

AWAY NINE YEARS

Lamours last movie was Road to Bali nine years ago.

"I've had plenty of scrips sent to me from Italy, from England and from here," she said. "But you should see what they want me to play.

"One of them had me as a woman living with a married man. Another was an alcoholic. Or a prostitute. I'm not about to do pictures like that. I always made pictures that the whole family could see I'm not going to turn my back on that now."

Even though I haven't made a picture for nine years, the public is amazingly loyal."

2 Canucks Enter Marathon

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

BOSTON (CP) — Hamilton's Gordon Dickson, and Toronto's Orville (Ted) Atkins were billed as the main Canadian hopes in the 86th annual Boston Marathon today.

The strong foreign entry included Finland's Eino Oksanen, 30-year-old Helsinki police detective who is defending champion and twice winner—in 1959 and last year.

Another win for Oksanen, helped by fellow-Finn and pacesetter Paavo Pyatynen, would mean an unprecedented fourth successive championship for Finland.

The weatherman promised chill breezy and a temperature possibly in the mid - 40s—conditions that Americans say would favor Johnny Kelley, 51-year-old Groton, Conn., school teacher who has been the only U.S. winner in 15 years. Kelley won in 1957 and placed second to Oksanen in 1960 and 1959.

LAUGHS AT REPORT

LONDON (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa flew to London Wednesday to begin a three-week vacation and laughed off an Ottawa rumor that she is to succeed George Drew as Canadian high commissioner in London. She said: "I left Ottawa the report was that I was to become ambassador to Ireland. Now this."

Not Allowed to Joke About Commercials in Britain

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Brad Ashtiel, who writes a 45-minute Saturday night comedy show on the British commercial network, returned to London this week after a busman's holiday in New York.

In two weeks, he crammed a lot of television-viewing into his schedule — and was overwhelmed by what he saw.

"I tell you," he marvelled, "the way you people can poke fun at anyone."

"We've so many taboos in England—we can't make say jokes about the Queen or the Royal Family, for instance. But what your comedians say about your president and his wife!

"We aren't allowed to joke about commercials, either, and you people do that all the time. We pretend they don't exist. When the time comes, somebody in the show will murmur something about 'Coming back in a moment.'"

SPEED IMPRESSIVE

Perhaps even more impressive to Ashton was the speed of U.S. television humor.

"In London we aim for about five laughs a minute from our audience," he said, "and at least a quarter of them come from pies in the face, trousers falling down, mad cows chasing in.

"American comedians aim for character and warmth—not necessarily comedy. They get away with subtle humour we could never use: Our audiences would never understand it. I asked one of your comedy writers if he tried to tailor his mats. 'Hell for the hick town audiences, and he said that you don't have any hick towns anymore.'"

Will Fight TV Airing Of Boxing

NEW YORK (AP)—James A. Farley, Jr., one of three members of the New York State Athletic commission, believes televising of boxing should be eliminated completely. He will fight any renewal of Madison Square Garden's TV contract.

Farley says in an article in the next issue of Sports Illustrated magazine that the death of former welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret was "an accident and the attacks which have been heaped on boxing since are unwarranted and unfair." But to save the sport, he says, TV viewing of boxing must be eliminated completely and return-bout clauses must be done away with.

Farley says TV has destroyed the fight which brought fighters, and has taken the personality out of boxing.

"TV has taken a once flourishing sport and reduced it to a pitchman's stand for razor blades," he says.

Johnson's new electric clutch eliminates double-lever controls and makes single-lever operation foolproof

The invention of Electramatic Drive makes the Johnson V-75 and 40 Sea-Horse the most convenient-to-drive-outboards you can buy.

A single, foolproof lever controls the throttle and electrically engages the clutch. The pictures below show how the lever and clutch work. Push the lever forward to go ahead, back for reverse. The single-lever makes it impossible to move the wrong lever or race the motor in neutral. The clutch has two electromagnets. One for forward, the other for reverse. As you move the single lever forward an electric contact is made. Instantly the clutch is activated. Move it back to neutral, and instantly the clutch cuts out. When you move the lever backwards, the other electro-magnet cuts in and back you go.

Will the electric clutch wear out? Hardly. Since electromagnets have no moving parts, wear is virtually eliminated. And the electric clutch action is smooth, instant and totally silent.

Electramatic Drive is available on both the mighty V-75 (illustrated) and the Sea-Horse 40. Your Johnson Dealer can show you which of these powerful Sea-Horses offers the measure of power, dependability and economy you want. See him now.

Your Johnson dealer also carries a complete line of Sea-Horse accessories, including generator kits, power-tilt kits, radio-noise-suppression kits and propellers. With almost a thousand dealers across Canada, service is never a problem when you own a Johnson.

This is the foolproof, single-lever Electramatic control. Forward for ahead—back for reverse—neutral is in the middle.

This is the Electramatic clutch . . . simply two electro-magnets and two clutch springs. Smooth, fast, long-wearing.

Rambler American Custom 4 Door Sedan — Rambler Classic "400" 4 Door Sedan — Rambler Ambassador "400" 4 Door Sedan

When other major manufacturers have so many sizes and models why does Rambler offer only 3?

The market has been flooded with cars of every shape and size. There are small cars, compact cars, medium-size cars and large cars. In spite of this, our competitors continue to add new models each year. We feel they know the public wants sensibly-sized cars but are reluctant to drop existing lines. We have no such problem.

We went into this field because we knew the kind of car you were looking for. And we continue to build only sensibly-sized cars because we believe in them. We offer only three Ramblers. The economical American, Canada's lowest priced compact, the all-purpose Classic with $1,000 worth of extras and the luxurious Ambassador V-8 that gives you top performance. We believe that from these three you may choose the car you want and need.

From the introduction of our first Rambler, we have stressed maximum usefulness to the user. Our guiding policy has been "no change for the sake of change". And this included costly styling changes. Rather than add to the variety of models and sizes, we have concentrated on major improvements.

This year we added self-adjusting Double-Safety brakes, found only on Cadillac among North American cars. And we have provided a factory installed battery and coolant, both guaranteed for two years. In addition, we have been able to substantially reduce our prices while giving you these extra values.

For an outstanding example of sanity in the showroom, visit your Rambler dealer soon. Take a test drive in Rambler, Canada's best all 'round car value.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

You won't find any Bobby Hulls, Rocket Richards, Stan Mikitas, Gordie Howes or Jean Beliveaus in their ranks, in fact, there is none that even remotely resembles such top hockey society, but they have more fun summer and winter than the Chicago Stadium hardest hot-potted after a new shipment of baby octopi has arrived.

They're labbed the City Interdepartmental Sports Association. One-third wears the blue and brass of the police department, the remaining third the helmets and whalesuits of the city public works department.

They have the blessing of Fire Chief Gerald Vance, Inspector Clare Hollis of the Robert Simpsonstables and wherever is in charge of extra-curricular activities of that earnest body that labors within and at the shadow of the city hall.

They play hockey in the winter and softball in the summer. Their shots sometimes find their thoroughly-goals in a televised European ice show I once saw. They run bases like a flock-rabbits with the swift. Some of them can hit, others look like they're trying to spear a pickerel.

But that matters little to them. They are just "a bunch of good guys" who want to blow off a little steam, sports-wise and they do it without benefit of outside help.

And they do it by the book. There are no monkeyshines, and ability or no ability, they go out there on hockey cushion or softball diamond as serious as a debutante at a coming-out party.

They play for the pure hekuvit. They pay their own way and they derive a dollar's worth of fun from every nickel invested. Some persons or persons frosted them to softball and hockey trophies, others have their own "world parlor" and "Stanley Cup" playoffs. And all fellowships comes when the "shindown" point is reached each year.

They top each season off with a grand party which includes their wives and sweethearts, a dance and a buffet luncheon. Last summer's softball finals was a standout. A hockey ball is coming up where the champion Fire Department squad will receive the trophy and rewards and the accolades that go to champions.

Indicative of the spirit of sportsmanship and good fellowship that is apparent in the league was the gesture made this week by two of the association's top men.

Lou Foote of Public Works and Fred Smith of the Fire Department teams donated a special award to be given to the "most sportsmanlike player and high scorer." They did this of their own accord and paid for it with personal funds.

The winner was Lyle Wannemaker of the Fire Department team and this reporter had the honor of making the presentation at a special ceremony held in the office of Fire Chief Vance. Lyle was thoroughly surprised but insisted in a brief word of appreciation that "a lot of others in the league were just as much entitled to the award."

"Pothey" is the Rudy Pilous of the Public Works Department squad while "Smitty" looks after the well-being and activities of the Fire Department team. Detective Harold Reid is the "Punch Imlach" of the Police Department squad and he and Inspector Heyse see to it the boys give and play their best.

As I mentioned before the intersquad rivalry is exceptionally keen but as a whole good-natured. As in any other league or association everybody likes to be a winner, but friendship is a great healer of aches and scratches. The City Interdepartmental Loops should be proud of its record and its activities. It was originated by Messrs. Foote, Smith and Stan Pinkle.

A truce has been declared until after the "Winter Hall," and softball plans are laid down. I understand a fourth team, the Public Utilities, will enter the Departmental Softball League this year. This should make for a better loop, besides there will be a "fourth" more fun. It looks like a good summer for "the boys."

Pilous Has His Hawk Horses Ready

Bower Status Uncertain

By BILL MacDOUGALL

Coach Rudy Pilous of Chicago Black Hawks asks what's wrong with the way the Hawks are playing now. Nothing, he answers himself, and the hats are wearing him out.

Losers of the first two games of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final, the Hawks were being written off by many as probable losers in their quest for their second straight cup.

But the hockey who went for broke on Toronto Maple Leafs must be shaking in their boots in anticipation of tonight's fifth game. Two games in the windy city this week and Chicago has tied the series, sending Leafs home thoroughly licked with a crippled goaltender.

"Well, what's wrong with what we are doing now?" Pilous roared Wednesday night to reporters' questions. "We can adjust ourselves. We can play it clean, we can play it rough, we can skate, we've got a 'boiler' club—just point it out and we'll oblige. We are younger than those other guys."

"We've got the league's leading scorer, the best centre and best goalie in the business."

ALSO HAVE FANS

Besides, Chicago has the most exuberant fans in the National Hockey League.

"I wish we had that kind of crowd behind us in Toronto," a Leafs coach Punch Imlach said. "They're worth two goals to a team."

Pilous just shrugged off that comment.

"That's just the way our fans are," he said. "They're real hockey fans, win or lose, seven straight during the season and in the playoffs. Sure we're a little sluggish. So what do they do? They start calling us bums. We've got to hold the puck all the time."

Imlach took Wednesday off with a slight dose of flu, but was expected to be back in harness today.

NOT SURE ABOUT BOWER

The status of a far more serious Toronto casualty — goaltender Johnny Bower—was uncertain. He pulled a groin muscle in Tuesday's game and was detained in Chicago until late Wednesday. Medication is he'll be out the rest of the series.

That means Don Simmons, an experienced spare netminder Leafs have kept on hand since late in the season, will take over. He filled in Tuesday night for a little more than two periods, allowing three of the four goals.

Pilous isn't tooting an untuned horn when he thinks his team. As he says, he has left winger Bobby Hull, a 50-goal scorer during the season who has counted seven times in 10 playoff games; starry centre Stan Mikita, who had 25 goals and 52 assists in season play and now is clutching for two playoff records.

And then there's goaltender Glenn Hall, who at times stood off Montreal Canadiens single-handed in the semi-final and who's still showing his mitts against the Leafs.

Mikita, with 12 points on six goals and 12 assists, is one point off the record for most points in a playoff season. That record of 20 was set in 1935 by Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings. He 13 assists put him one behind the playoff mark of sore-retired Fleming Mackell of Boston Bruins who chalked up 14 in 1958.

Leads League With .474

Musial Hits Hot Opening Clip

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals says his blistering start in the 1958 National League season may prompt him to try it again in 1963.

"I told John (St. Louis manager Johnny Keane) I wanted to play just this one more. But I think he knows it I had a good year I'd probably be back."

Musial, 41, lashed out two hits in the Cardinals' 15-6 victory over New York Mets Wednesday and thus improved his league-leading batting average to .474.

He had to share the spotlight with another oldtimer, pitcher Warren Spahn of Milwaukee Braves, and veteran Enos Slaughter of Chicago Cubs.

Spahn gained the 310th victory of his career in a 5-4 decision over San Francisco Giants while Banks' 300th career home run with two men out in the 10th inning gave the Cubs a 3-2 decision over Houston Colts. Slaughter batted Los Angeles Dodgers 14-0 and the unbeaten Pittsburgh Pirates edged Philadelphia Phillies to their seventh straight victory.

TWELVE LEAGUE RECORDS

Musial's two hits gave him a total of 3,410, only 20 short of Honus Wagner's 3,430 in the League record. He needs only two more total bases to be the Babe Ruth for second place in the all-time list behind Ty Cobb.

The undefeated Cards, who have won games, pounded 13 hits off four Met pitchers, included Gene Oliver's homer run by Kenny Boyer and one each by Julian Javier and Carl Warwick. It was the sixth straight win for Casey Stengel's winless Mets.

The Mets threw two Canadian rookies at Sherm Jones in the 3rd inning. He gave up two runs on two hits and was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning.

Ken MacKenzie of Gore Bay, Ont., hurled the sixth and seventh frames for New York. He was touched for two runs on four hits and issued one walk.

PROMISES KEEPT VICTORY

Banks' homer gave the Cubs their first victory in eight starts this season. The blow, off reliever Dick Farrell, made Banks the 30th man in history to reach the 300 figures in the majors and tied him for ninth on the all-time National League list with Chuck Klein of the Phillies and Lefty Dick Ellsworth went the distance for the victory.

San Francisco had a 3-2 lead on doubles by Jim Davenport and Jose Pagan and Don Blasingame's homer before Spahn started Milwaukee's winning rally in the 8th. He reached man in the eighth inning. Before the inning was over, Eddie Mathews doubled in two runs and Frank Bolling singled in two more. Homers by Mathews and Hank Aaron produced the first two Milwaukee runs.

Bob Skinner's three - run homer and Earl Francis' sturdy relief pitching were the keys to the Pirates' triumph. Francis blanked the Phillies on three hits after taking over for Wilmer Mizell in the third inning. Bill Mazeroski also had a homer for the winners, Jack Hamilton, the Phils' highly-touted rookie righthander, was the loser.

Veda Pinson drove in five runs, three on a homer, and Jim O'Toole pitched a four-hitter in Cincinnati's shutout of Los Angeles. Jerry Lynch also homered for the Reds, O'Toole, who had all the room he needed on Pinson's first-inning clout, retired 17 men in a row at one stretch.

The Dodgers again started Tim Harkness of Lachine, Que., at first base. The six-foot-one, 170-pounder made a good account of himself, getting two of the Dodgers' four hits—a double and a single.

Wins One-Sided Decision

Folley Verdicts Cleroux

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Canadian heavyweight champion Bob Cleroux wants a return shot at his conqueror, Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz. Folley says he'll be glade to oblige if the price is right.

The price wasn't too right for Folley Wednesday night as he soundly boxed his way to a one-sided decision over Cleroux of Montreal mauler in 10 rounds at San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

Cleroux collected a $7,500 guarantee, while Folley picked up only 25 per cent of a disappointing net gate of $12,860.00 or $3,165.

Folley, No. 3 ranked challenger for Floyd Patterson's world crown, still yearns for a title shot. But his victory over Cleroux, the No. 4 man, doesn't figure to put him much closer to his goal. Patterson is set to defend his title against Sonny Liston some time this year.

WANTS RETURN MATCH

Cleroux's manager, Al Bachman, said a return match might be held in Montreal in June. Folley and manager Bill Swift said it could be arranged if they get the proper guarantee.

Referee Frankie Carter repeatedly urged both men to fight more, and had trouble getting Cleroux to break clinches.

Carter scored the bout 146. Judge Rudy Ortega had it 9-0, Judge Bob Mitchell 9-1 and The Associated Press 9-2.

Under California scoring, the winner of each round gets from one to five points and the loser nothing.

Cleroux, at 205 pounds 12 pounds heavier than Folley, continually waded in swinging to the body with an occasional shot at the head. Folley counterpunched with telling left and rights to the head. He shook up Cleroux in the seventh round but neither appeared in danger of going down.

Homers For Only Run Of Game

Pappas Whips Yanks On 4-Hitter

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

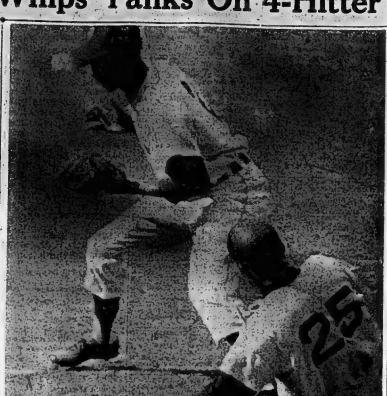
A month ago Milt Pappas' ride was throbbing. Now his right arm is throbbing. But manager Billy Hitchcock of Baltimore Orioles is smiling.

Making his first start since he left hospital last month, Pappas, 23, set New York Yankees down on two hits for six innings and accounted for the American League game's lone run as the Orioles whipped the world champions 1-0 Wednesday night.

The right-hander, sent to hospital in March for an appendectomy, allowed only two singles and one walk while providing the Orioles with the run they needed on a 340-foot homer in the fifth inning.

Reliever Hoyt Wilhelm, 38, a knuckle ball specialist, preserved Pappas' triumph when his arm stiffened. Wilhelm struck out six straight Yanks, then had to pitch out of a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the ninth inning to nail it down.

Don Mossi pitched a five-hitter for Detroit Tigers' 5-1 victory over Washington Senators, Chicago White Sox edged Minnesota Twins 3-2 and Los Angeles Angels defeated Kansas City Athletics 2-1.



HITS SIXTH HOMER

Pappas' homer was the sixth of his career and the first hit off Yankee starter Bill Stafford, who left for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning after struggling the Orioles on two hits.

The only run off Mossi was an unearned tally that came across in the seventh inning when Dale Long and Willie Tasby singled and Steve Boros threw wild on Bob Johnson's grounder. The Tigers, however, had already built a 5-0 bulge against Joe McClain as Al Kaline hit a first-inning homer and started a four-run rally in the fourth with a double.

Homers by winning pitcher Ray Herbert and Al Smith gave the White Sox an early lead before the Twins tied it. Floyd Robinson, who had four hits and seven runs batted in Tuesday, was lifted for Chicago with a run-producing single off Don Lee in the fourth. It was Robinson's third hit, increasing his league-leading batting average to .556.

Bo Belinsky, making his first major league appearance, got the victory over the Athletics with Art Fowler's three-inning relief work. Belinsky also drove in the tie-breaking run in a three-run fourth inning with a single after Bill Moran's bases-loaded single tied things for the Angels. Norm Bass was the loser.

JUGGLING ACT — Jake Wood, Detroit Tigers' second baseman, juggles ball on attempted force out of Washington Senators Dale Long in the 9th inning of game at Detroit yesterday. Wood was charged with an error on the play. Senators' Willie Tasby grounded to shortstop Chico Fernandez to start the play. All were safe but had no effect on the outcome of the game as Tigers won 5-1. (AP Wirephoto).

SWEET TEET SERIES

KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuters)—The West Indies defeated India by 123 runs in the final Test match Wednesday to make a clean sweep of the five-match series.

India started the last day needing 227 runs with five second-innings wickets left. Their hopes fluttered only briefly during a seventh-wicket stand of 83 between Polly Umrigar and Rusi Surti.

The West Indies won by 123 runs on a first-innings total of 253 and a second-innings total of 283. India's first-inning total was 176.

Series All Square

Meaford Shades Pepsi's

The Meaford Chevies tossed everything they had into high gears here last night and skated out of Memorial Arena ice with a close but well-deserved victory.

They shaded the Belleville Pepsi's 2-1 in an intermediate tilt that belies a "crowd" you could count on your hands, and squared their semi-finals series at two games each.

The fifth of the best-of-seven series is slated for Barrie on Saturday next. Dates of future games are to be announced.

The game deserved a better spectator fate. It was by far the best intermediate tussle seen here this winter with the issue a stake until the final minutes.

The Chevies showed little care for the vaunted power of the Pepsi's. They shot into "overdrive" at the opening whistle and had their "foot to the floor" in desperate defensive action to protect a one-goal lead during the last half of the final frame.

It was fast, boisterous and at times ruggedy hockey. Both squads hit each other hard and often with the Pepsi's drawing most of the fifth minor penalties handed out Tempers flared more or twice but no damage resulted.

Both teams checked closely and hard. The second overtime decision passing was stymied often by back-checking Meaford front lines.

The teams missed not a few chances with both goalie standing out in a fast first period. And it was not until the end of the second period that the first real light flashed. Ron Hull firing home the Pepsi's lone goal with MacDonald and Goegan assisting.

The teams were playing a man short at the time, Jones and Cain sitting out a high sticking penalty.

Five minutes after the Chevies roared back in a score-tying drive, McCallum knotting the count on a passing play with Parker.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle from then until 10.16 of the third period when Meek drove a slow screened shot from just inside the blueline that slipped past Bender for the Pepsi nets.

The Pepsi's finished their power in a desperate effort to get the equalizer but Gordon "Red" Henry in the Meaford nets and a packed defence tossed back the Belleville bid. Barclay was taken out of the game with 20 seconds to go but the Chevies withstood the attack.

Both Barclay and Henry in the respective nets came up with some fine saves. Barclay stopped at least three Meaford attackers when they broke into the clear and raced in on him alone.

The Pepsi's outshot the Chevies 30-24.

Belleville — Barclay, Goegan, Botly, Jones, Baker, Taylor, Rowbotham, Dorn, Goyer, Hull, MacDonald, Crawford, Landrande, O'Meara.

Meaford — Henry, Meek, Wheeler, Smith, Lobsinger, Abbott, Parker, Graham, C. MacDonald J. MacDonald, McCallum, Walmsley, Bernard, Pitter.

Wings Win In Overtime

By REMY d'ANJOU

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Citadel hopes of making the Memorial Cup finals faded Wednesday night as Hamilton Red Wings defeated them 4-3 in overtime.

Howie Menard's goal at 59 seconds of the second overtime period gave the Red Wings a lead in the best-of-seven series to determine the Eastern Canada champion.

Citadels were beaten 6-2 in the opener here Monday night and now must go to Hamilton for the next two games scheduled for Sunday and Tuesday night. The fifth, if necessary, also is slated for Hamilton.

Winner of the series meets the western champion.

Menard scored on an open set play from Gordon Bolduc while Jocelyn Cardinal cut out position on a picture play that caught the 3,000 spectators blinking.

The first two periods were dull and slow, though Hamilton forced Cardinal to make 29 saves.

SCORES ON BREAKAWAY

Lowell Macdonald gave the Wings a 1-0 first period lead when he scored on a breakaway from Real Turmel evened it up late in the second period, beating Hamilton goalie Buddy Blom with a screened shot.

Citadels came from behind twice in the third period as the game opened up.

Paul Henderson gave Wings a 2-1 lead with another breakaway goal but Jacques Mercier tied it when his pass from behind the Hamilton net hit Blom's stick and bounced in.

Pit Martin, outstanding in the first game, gave Wings the lead again, faking Cardinal aside and scoring from close in after racing in ahead of Quebec defence. With 70 seconds left, Rene Drolet sent a screened shot past Blom and forced overtime.

Joe Brown Ortiz Meet Saturday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Challenger Carlos Ortiz of New York apparently is planning a crowding, aggressive attack in his battle plan to relieve Joe Brown of his world lightweight title.

The two square off here Saturday night for 15 rounds or less. The match will be nationally televised.

The 23-year-old Ortiz concluded boxing workouts Wednesday and the pattern of his attack thus far has emphasized offence, with defence secondary.

This was also true when Ortiz was preparing for the original date of the fight Feb. 24. His shot at the 35-year-old Houston, Tex., champion was delayed when Brown developed a severe case of tonsillitis.

Brown's trainer, Bill Gore, said the champion will be in peak form.

Whether Ortiz can pedestrate Brown's defence remains to be seen. The titleholder is a skilled boxer.

Sports Snapshots

By GRAHAM COX

WINNIPEG (CP)—The chairman of the Royal Canadian Legion's sports training committee doesn't think it's so odd that his organization should have been given a $50,000 federal grant while the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada got nothing.

Phil Nutter, who is also president of the Manitoba and Northwest Ontario Legion Command, simply points to the Legion's list of accomplishments in track and field promotion. He asks what the AAU has done.

He was commenting on the surprise of Ken Twigg of Toronto, national chairman of the AAU, at being left "out in the cold" when the governmental sports advisory committee recently announced its schedule of grants.

"Ken Twigg is a nice young fellow who finds himself with a big job, and he looks to the Canada Council or Physical Fitness to bail him out by way of a gift of $10,000 so he can stage the Canadian championships in his home town of Toronto next August.

"They always wait till they find something that starts to look good, then try to take it over."

SAYS LEGION ACTIVE

Nutter says that during the last year the seven major track and field undertakings in Canada were the Canadian championships at Lambert, Que.; the AAU's junior Olympic training program; the national coaching and training clinic at Toronto; the Eastern championships at Waterloo, Ont.; the international meet of champions at Winnipeg; the Canadian indoor championships at Winnipeg, and the Eastern Canadian indoor championships at Hamilton.

Of these seven, Nutter says, the first six were staged by the Legion and the seventh by the Argyle Highland Regiment.

Further, the 36-year-old lawyer says, the Legion operates three travelling coaches' clinics in Manitoba, a leadership training camp at the University of New Brunswick, a physical fitness and sports efficiency program in Nova Scotia and a physical fitness and athletic program in Saskatchewan.

He says the AAU's national junior Olympic program "would have fallen flat on its face" had it not been for the co-operation of the Legion which, for example, held 67 training schools and track meets in British Columbia in which more than 12,000 athletes competed.

"The list is by no means complete, but serves to answer Mr. Twigg's question. Perhaps we should ask him for the AAU's list of accomplishments in this field!"

HELD NATIONAL MEETS

Twigg is quoted as saying the Legion's coaching clinics are fine, but "what, good are they if we can't get our young athletes to compete in Canadian championships if they can't afford the travelling and other expenses?"

Nutter says the two major events held in Winnipeg, in January and March, brought together "many hundreds of Canadian athletes" under the "very finest conditions." With the exception of Newfoundland, every province was represented.

These two events, with a total budget of $30,000, drew more than 15,000 persons and, including $3,000 intended for use in maintenance of their indoor track, cost the Legion a total of $19.68.

"There were no government grants here, nor were any sought," Nutter said, adding the results were due to the voluntary efforts of more than 700 persons at each event.

"My personal opinion is that the only way this will ever run anything is by government grants.

"... Should the advisory council yield to pressures and give Twigg his $10,000 to run a track meet in Toronto, what then of the untiring efforts of thousands of Canadians who look upon the promotion of amateur sport as a duty and obligation?

"Surely grants of this nature should be related to an active program of accomplishments."

Italians Refuse Transfers

ROME' (Reuters)—The Italian Football Federation announced Wednesday night it has suspended the granting of transfers for Italian soccer players to join Canadian clubs because "private agents" have been interfering.

The federation said that when Canadian clubs first made inquiries about obtaining Italian players, the federation had not placed obstacles in their way "with the aim of developing football in North America."

But the federation said "because the relative clubs have not been perfected through the exclusive channel of the Canadian Soccer Association, but have involved direct interference by private agents, contrary to our regulations, the federation has decided to suspend the concession on transfers."

The Trots

MONTREAL (CP) — Shadydale Payoff, a four-year-old bay gelding owned by R. S. Floyd Jr., of Bridgeton, N.J., paced a fast track in 2:07 5-5 to win one of three $1,200 races at Richelieu Raceway Wednesday night.

Shadydale Payoff's victory came in the ninth of a 10-race program. She returned $7.90, $4.10 and $2.80 to her backers.

Adios Prince, a six-year-old chestnut horse owned by Desmenteglide Gilbert of Chicoutimi, Que., and Macduff's Lassie, seven-year-old brown mare owned by Mr. and Mrs. Allan Walker of Owen Sound, Ont., won the other feature races.

Adios Prince won the fifth race and returned $4.70, $3.60 and $2.60 while Macduff's Lassie won the seventh and paid $7.80, $4.10 and $2.80.

No Favorites In Rich Houston Golf

HOUSTON (AP) — The $30,000 Houston golf classic got under way today without a strong favorite but with $124,200 in the bank.

Bill Casper and Mike Souchak, a couple of long hitters, held a narrow edge in speculation that has varied from day to day since Arnold Palmer withdrew his entry to concentrate on business affairs.

Souchak holds the 72-hole record for the 7,100-yard, par-70 Memorial Park course. He won $6,000 in top money with a 271 in 1955 but since then had managed no better than a fifth place tie in 1957.

SLIGHT PAUSE

GLASGOW, Scotland (CP)—The land of the haggis isn't especially noted for delicate cuisine, but one Glasgow restaurant has a talent for impression. The headwaiter was heard to summon one of his waiters these words: "Carconi Gar-con!" A slight pause, then: "Hey, Willie."

Fulton, RCMP Say Grilling Of Boy Mistake

WINNIPEG (CP) — A police interview of a Winnipeg schoolboy has been termed a mistake by the RCMP and Justice Minister Fulton.

Alex (Sandy) Lamb, 13, was questioned in the RCMP office at Vincent Massey High School Feb. 19 about his political beliefs.

Mrs. Mildred Lamb, the boy's mother, said the half-hour interview occurred a month after the publication of a letter from Alex in the Winnipeg Tribune. The satirical letter attacking a right - wing viewpoint suggested that Santa Claus was a Communist because he distributed free gifts.

Quoting her son, Mrs. Lamb said the RCMP officer, dressed in plain clothes, had branded her and her husband as subversives.

WOULD BE BRANDED

Alex was told the RCMP would make a point of branding him a security risk to any prospective employer unless he "changed his beliefs."

Mrs. Lamb said she sent a letter of complaint to Mr. Fulton. In Vancouver Tuesday Mr. Fulton was quoted as saying a letter of apology has been sent to Mrs. Lamb.

"We received a complaint," he added: "We found an overzealous member of the force had made a mistake police routine in having this interview at all."

In an interview in Saskatoon Wednesday he said in any action like this "we would be left in the hands of the RCMP commissioner."

Later in Winnipeg, RCMP Superintendent J. J. Carmichael said the boy was mistakenly interviewed by a junior officer, "over-zealous and unaware of police routine."

"This action was contrary to all our established policies," he added, and the interviewing officer had gone to the collegiate to investigate a boy's normal participation in normal activities. Antique furniture should also be attend this sale.

Baby's Body Found in Box

FALCONBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) Provincial police Wednesday called in Insp. Ken Grice from Toronto to aid in the investigation into the discovery of the body of a newborn baby girl.

Police said the body was in a cardboard box with towels and newspapers. The box had been tossed onto a mine dump outside this centre near Sudbury.

It was found by truck driver Robert Richard, 44.

Police said an autopsy showed the child had lived for more than 24 hours after birth and had suffered a fractured skull—apparently from pressure on the sides of the skull.

Wife's Gold Bed Costs Ghana Minister Job

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters) — Socialism today appeared to have triumphed in a months-old feud over Mary Edusei's gold-plated bed.

The feud was climaxed Wednesday with the dismissal of her husband, Krobo, 47, from his post of industrial minister and seizure by the government of his new mansion on the outskirts of Accra.

His dismissal was announced shortly after his return from London where he made a vain last-ditch attempt to persuade Mary to give up the £3,000 bed she purchased last month from a fashionable London store.

The purchase touched off a storm of protest in Ghana and where President Kwame Nkru, mah's Socialist government is demanding that government officials "conform to the modest standards of life demanded by the ideals and principles" of the ruling convention party.

Mrs. Edusei, however, stood her ground and refused to return the bed — complete with its 2,340 gilt screws — to the store's offer to refund her money.

She also apparently turned a deaf ear to the appeal of her husband who declared that "a bed is not gold is not socialism."

As for the new Edusei mansion, the government was ordered to take control of the luxurious estate which, with its swimming pools, marble floors and chandeliers, has been valued as high as $200,000.

British Ban Soccer Stars Playing Here

LONDON (CP)—The English Football League has banned players from Colombo Canadian clubs during the summer layoff.

Among the players affected by the announcement are veteran winger Eddie Lesley Matthews, England skipper Johnny Haynes and Tottenham Hotspur wing-half Danny Blanchflower.

Earlier this year the Federation of International Football Associations warned it was irregular for players to spend the closed season "guesting" for clubs under the jurisdiction of foreign associations.

To get around this many players planned to get a free transfer from their clubs at the end of the English season, sign a Canadian team during the summer months, and then be transferred back when the English season reopened. Now this has been stopped.

In a circular to its 92 members the league said that if a player was given a free transfer he wouldn't be reregistered the following season.

FUEL-SAVER FILL CAP

...preserves fuel quality...saves money!

Your Co-op, constantly working to help members reap more profits from their farms, now introduces the new Fuel-Saver Fill Cap, adaptable to fit any fuel storage tank.

This simple device lowers the percentage of evaporation loss and checks fuel deterioration in your Farm Storage Tanks. Recently invented by a Co-op member, it has been thoroughly tested for effective results and is now exclusive with Co-operative in Canada.

Actual scale tests have shown that a farmer using 1,200 gallons of gasoline a year lost 67 gallons a year through evaporation—when using the Fuel-Saver Fill Cap, this was reduced to only 17 gallons!

This is another "extra" Co-op service. For added value, place your confidence in this fine line of top quality petroleum products that give you the best possible performance—CO-OP Heavy Duty Oil, CO-OP Cetane, CO-OP Lubco (Multi-Purpose) grease, and top quality CO-OP Gasolines.

Many People Wish Concrete Prosperity Seen in London Had Stayed Around Corner

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP) — Londoners have been walking and peeping about beneath the feet of huge construction cranes for the last five years.

The giant structures are visible at nearly every turn. By day they pierce the skyline like Martian war machines bobbing and swinging above the city's low-level roofs.

At night they are immobile. But on their arms the contractor's neon-lit name gleams like a beacon heralding architectural things to come.

Of European cities, London was embarrassingly late in covering up its war wounds. Suburban houses and council flats were first on the government's list.

But in the mid-1950s the office-building boom in the central areas really got going. Now, with some of the more elaborate plans completed, many people wish the concrete prosperity had stayed around the corner.

FEAR CROWDING

The objections to the new buildings are both sociological and aesthetic. Critics complain that the office blocks are ugly, functional orange - crates that disfigure pre - war London's eclectic architectural harmony.

They also warn that the vast increase in office floor-space, now 25,000,000 square feet more than it was in 1939, will produce an over-concentration of employment in the city and destroy London's atmosphere as a place to live as well as work.

The London of old impressed by its horizontal sprawl and not by its vertical grandeur, its built-up mass, broken only by parks and the half - munched green belt, sprawls across 4,600 square miles from Windsor to the North Sea, from the Weald of Kent to St. Albans.

The city as such had no skyline except confined outlines from the Thames bridges and a hazy view from the hills of Hampstead Heath. Its three tallest landmarks were the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral, floating serenely above the bombed-battered financial district, Nelson's proud column and the soft Gothic lines of the Houses of Parliament.

SURROUND ST. PAUL'S

Today Big Ben is dwarfed by the monolithic cliffs of the Shell Building on the South Bank, described by one newspaper as a structure that "is not merely lasting in human appeal but aggressively emphasizes the individual significance of the individual."

Also nearby, and visible from Kew in the west to Canning Town in the east, is the 34-storey, 385-foot Vickers Building. This grey glass-and-straddle-paper skyscraper is for the moment the tallest building in Britain.

Down river St. Paul's dome is being slowly swallowed up by new office blocks, some part of a county-council plan and some not. A total of £75,000,000 has been spent on buildings in the City's square mile since the war and current blueprints call for £25,000,000 more.

In the West End the victor of the Nile, Copenhagen and Trafalgar no longer gazes majestically out across the city he saved from Napoleon's armies. With New Zealand House nudging his shoulder, Nelson is face-to-face with insurance clerks on the 16th floor.

CRITICIZE COUNCIL

Most criticism of the new buildings is directed at the London county council which pioneered planning and building controls in the 1930s but now appears to have succumbed to the demands of big business.

Sometimes the building boss are foiled. An LCC-approved scheme to turn Piccadilly Circus into a carnival of overpasses, throughways and blunt business blocks was abandoned after national protests from all over the Commonwealth.

Similar protests are being heard concerning the latest project. American architect Lewis Mumford has labelled the cladding of "a unique city" and poet John Betjeman declares the ruthless materialism that mars Wordsworth's "sight so touching in its majesty."

In a pamphlet called The Paper Metropolis the independent Town and Country Planning Association calls for positive and far-reaching planning controls to halt London's "remorseless growth."

REVIEW URGED

Twice recently a peer in the House of Lords has urged the government to set up a commission of technical experts to review the problems of placing high buildings in the central area.

Government spokesmen argue that the LCC is consulting with the Royal Fine Arts Commission and in the light of past experience, is constantly improving its building policies.

Says a council spokesman:

"The LCC considers that tall buildings, properly sited, may be a very good thing."

But, says the unconvinced Sunday Times, "unless something happens soon London is in danger of becoming completely square."

CITY'S FACE CHANGES — The heavy concentration of office buildings built in London since the Second World War has added 25,000,000 square feet of office space and has raised a controversy over city planning. Highest among the skyscrapers is the 34-storey Vickers Building (right foreground) which dwarfs Big Ben and the House of Parliament (left). On the South Bank is the Shell Building (centre background). — (CP Photo)

Church Bells Ring Joyously Over Jerusalem

Over 6,000 Visitors Crowd Ancient City

JERUSALEM (AP)—Church bells rang joyously over Jerusalem's walls today as the holy city prepared to celebrate Easter resurrection of Christ.

The great doors of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre cracked open at dawn for the day long rites in its hallowed vaults—in most Christians the exact place of Christ's crucifixion, burial, and resurrection.

In the same crumbling church the pageantry of Good Friday came to a close Friday night as darkness crept across the hills of Judea.

Robed and bearded priests lifted an effigy of Christ's body from Calvary—now a richly ornamented chapel lit by candles and clusters of hanging lamps like warm golden icicles—and withdrew the nails from the cross.

The procession carried the body, wrapped in a sheet, down the winding stone staircase to the stone tomb where, beneath eight glowing lamps it was anointed and sprinkled.

WORSHIPPERS FOLLOW

A column of worshippers followed the body to its burial in the white marble tomb that still reveals some bare rocks from Christ's original sepulchre. The services were intoned in seven languages.

Overhead, in the immense dome of the church built by Emperor Constantine 1600 years ago on ground where God Christ is claim held secret worship, which was restored by the crusaders, Arab Christians will attend Easter services to witness the awesome moment when "Christ is risen."

Jerusalem is filled with more than 6,000 visitors from all corners of the globe, including troops from the UN emergency force in the Sinai.

More pilgrims are entering with special permits through the no-man's-land that splits Jerusalem between Israeli Jews and Arab Christians. No Arabs are allowed to cross the frontier, guarded by watchful troops on both sides.

COMPANIES WILL TAKE ACTION AGAINST UNION

Will Try to Halt Depot Picketing

MONTREAL (CP) — Eight of nine companies affected by a truck drivers' strike which has almost paralyzed truck traffic between Quebec and Ontario will take court action today to halt picketing of their depots.

The walkout was called by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters a week ago to back demands for a wage increase.

A spokesman for the companies' negotiating committee said Friday they will seek injunctions to halt the picketing and three firms—H. Smith Transport, Drummond Transit, and Inter - City Truck Lines—also will file formal complaints against the unions and some of its officers in criminal court.

The possibility of legal action to recover money lost during the strike also was being considered.

CHARGE VIOLATIONS

The companies have threatened legal action almost since the walkout began, charging that the Teamsters violated the law by walking out only three days after a conciliation board report was issued. They say the law calls for a seven-day "cooling-off period."

The Teamsters say they would welcome a chance to settle the issue in court.

The eight firms expected to take legal action today, a move believed to be unprecedented in Quebec, are H. Smith Transport, Drummond Transit, Inter-City Truck Lines, Kingston-Smith Transport, Husband Motorways, and Montreal-Ottawa Express.

Representatives of the ninth firm — St. Johns (Iberville) Transport—are out of town, but may join similar action Tuesday, the spokesman said.

TAKE UP BLACK

Although the strike has cut truck traffic between Quebec and Ontario by an estimated 80 per cent, the volume of freight that is tied up is much smaller since other methods of transportation have taken up the slack.

However, the union now is trying to negotiate a new contract for all Ontario drivers and company officials fear they may try to extend the walkout into that province.

The union recently rejected a conciliation board recommendation for a 16-cent-an-hour wage increase.

They are seeking a 30-cent increase.

The drivers now earn a basic wage of $1.55 an hour.

FIRE LOSS IS HEAVY

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario fires last year claimed the lives of 178 persons, injured 342 others and cost about $40,700,000 in property damage, it was reported Thursday in the annual statement of the Ontario fire marshal. The report said there were 25,922 fires in the province last year and that insurance companies paid some $35,400,000 in fire coverage.

Easter Featured in Variety Of Ways Around World

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Easter is the eve of the resurrection of Jesus.

And its mingled bustle and blocos shed a special weekend luster in the affairs of cities and men.

Behind the Iron Curtain and outside it, in totalitarian lands and the free, the faithful prepared to mark an event that to them is the great beacon of human destiny.

Orthodox and Baptist churches in Moscow scheduled special services tonight and Sunday, as did churches elsewhere in Communist countries.

In Madrid, solemn processions moved along the streets. Business and public entertainments were banned for the day except activities of a religious nature.

Rome, where Pope John, 80, led the observances, swarmed with an estimated 150,000 visitors. The city's 300 church bells were silent today, but rang out tonight at midnight masses commemorating the resurrection.

Other throngs—and estimated 6,000 pilgrims — crowded the walled city of Jerusalem, and thronged the traditional passageways of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, traditional site of Christ's burial and resurrection.

In Canada, Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal Leader Pearson planned to spend the Easter weekend privately, but preparing campaign work for the June 18 federal general election.

Peace parades were popular in Canada. A group calling itself The Peace Society began a two-day march Friday from the International Peace Arch on the Canada-United States border to Vancouver — some 35 miles — bearing the slogan: No nuclear arms for Canada."

Said Gambler Asked Police To Close Opposition Club

TORONTO (CP) — A known gambler once asked provincial police to close a club in the Niagara Falls area because it was running opposition to an operation in which he had an interest.

The evidence was given at Thursday's session of the royal commission on crime. The hearings resume Tuesday.

W. Jack Bilkey, former member of the OPP anti-gambling squad and now chief constable of Peterborough, said that in 1958 Toronto gambler Vincent Feeley urged him to crack down on the Ramsey Club in Niagara Falls, the club was run by a United States-Canadian combine in opposition to a gambling operation being run by Feeley and partner Joseph McDermott.

Feeley, in telephone conversations with Chief Shrubb, then a corporal on the squad, allegedly gave the police information on the easiest way to execute the raid.

Chief Shrubb produced a transcript of a telephone call from Feeley in which he boasted that he "fit you do anything down there, that'll tell Cec Fay (Niagara Falls police chief) because he's been a horseplayer and gambler all his life."

He also said raids on the club were always known in advance. "They (the police) come down and in minutes from they

No Way to Describe Filth Of Principe Prison in Cuba

Woodruff Mead, 22, of Watertown, N.Y., has been flying for American Aviation Corporation in Miami. A week ago, he took two men up for a demonstration flight and didn't come home until Friday night. This is his story as told to The Associated Press.

BY WOODRUFF MEAD

Miami, Fla. (AP) — I can't tell you how scared I was and there's no way to describe the filth of that Principe Prison where they had us for a while.

But I'll start at the beginning.

I took off with two men I thought were Harold Moore and Jim Statham. They wanted a demonstration ride and to take moving pictures of Miami Beach. We left Tamiami airport 20 minutes after 11 on the 13th—yes, Friday the 13th; I'll never forget.

(When the three returned to Miami by commercial airliner a week later, the FBI arrested the two passengers on charges of kidnapping and hijacking.

POWERFUL REBEL TUNISIAN ARMY READY TO MOVE

Has Been in Exile For Seven Years

LE KEF, Tunisia (AP) — A powerful nationalist rebel army with a backbone of Communist-made arms and leaders who accept revolution is getting ready to move from its exile into Algeria.

The thousands of troops are expected to constitute the main force behind the Algerian nationalist government when it sees itself up in Algeria after the self - determination referendum, which presumably will result in independence.

Some believe the army of 30,000 tough, disciplined fighters in Tunisia and 12,000 in Morocco is becoming a political force to itself.

At his headquarters, Col Houari Boumediennes, chief of staff, worked on plans for massive movement back into Algeria as he called on his men to "be prepared and think of to marrow."

Thousands of soldiers resumed training along the Algerian frontier after three days of muscle-flexing parades and reviews.

READY TO TAKE OVER

For more than seven years the troops have been camping in the mountains of the homeland, staging occasional raids into Algeria, preparing for Algeria's take over.

In recent years, their depots swelled with Soviet and Communist bloc-made weapons and military supplies, political commissars have been assigned to each unit. Their task is to make sure the soldiers understand the Algerian revolution.

Each officer is addressed as "brother." No rank insignia is worn on camouflage uniforms and olive-green fatigues.

ARMS WERE

Western diplomats are alarmed by the army's resemblance to Communist armies and its emphasis on revolution. They fear this ideological similarity, plus specialized weapons requiring technical assistance, may constitute the first step toward bold for the Soviet bloc in independent Algeria.

Most soldiers put in periods of work on farms to prepare themselves for what is described as the first agrarian reform in an independent Algeria.

Five Men Steal Boat, Aircraft Kicked Out of Cuba, Arrested

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Five men kicked out of Cuba Friday after a week of questioning were arrested by the FBI upon their return on charges of stealing transportation for their trips to Cuba and hijacking a boat.

The FBI said two of the men, Leonard Malcolm Oeth, 36, of Orlando and Thomas Hoyt Healy, 32, of Coral Gables, were charged with kidnapping to pilot Woodruff Mead, 22, of Miami and forcing him to fly them in his plane to Cuba on April 13.

The other three, William Thomas, 32, Richard Cobb, 30, and Clarence Lee Jones, 22, all of Key West, were charged with stealing the 36-foot shrimp-trawler Tegesa and Julia from Key West and sailing her to Cuba April 14.

The FBI did not give a reason for the two trips to Cuba but say whether they were related. Neither the trawler nor the plane returned to the United States.

Mead, interviewed in his home after returning on the same plane with the five, said Oeth and Healy flew to Cuba to ban captors they wanted political asylum.

Mead said Oeth and Healy, who identified themselves to him as James Anderson and Ham and Harold Moore, asked for a demonstration flight over Miami Beach so they could photograph the hotels and beaches.

Instead, he said, one drew a pistol and forced him to fly them to Cuba. They landed at Camp Libertad Field near Havana and were taken into custody and interrogated, he said. They remained in various prisons until they were released Friday.

Salan Captured Crippling Blow To Terrorists

Tight, Security Screen Placed Around Prison

By BASIL CHAPMAN

PARIS (Reuters) — The French government today clamped a tight security screen around former general Raoul Salan, chief of the terrorist Secret Army Organization, who was captured Friday in Algiers.

Salan, France's most decorated soldier, is being held in grim Santé Prison here along with his former top aide, former General Edmond Jouhaud, condemned to death a week ago.

Salan's capture may have dealt a crippling blow to the Secret Army which has been using all-out terrorism to sabotage the government's plans for an independent Algeria.

Salan will be replaced by a high military tribunal both for his Secret Army activities and for his leading part in the abortive Algiers military revolt a year ago.

He already is under death sentence passed in his absence, but French law grants him the right to another trial.

PRISONERS ON STRIKE

Salan arrived at Santé Prison just 12 hours after he was arrested in Algiers. His arrival at the prison touched off a spectacular protest demonstration by the other European prisoners, many of whom are held for terrorist crimes.

Serious fighting erupted after a group of prisoners broke out of their cells and attacked riot police. About 20 prisoners and five policemen were injured.

A wing of the prison was set on fire. Firemen battled the blaze for several hours before extinguishing it.

THOUSANDS JEER

Salan was jeered by hundreds of angry Parisians as he passed through the city in a police motorcade.

First reaction among Europeans in Algiers to his arrest was shock. But the European who vowed the Secret Army would fight on."

The only former general still active in the Secret Army ranks is Paul Gardy, former foreign legion inspecto-general.

Government sources said Salan were his wife Lucienne, his 18-year - old daughter Dominique and five or six accomplices.

Will Appeal Acquittal Of Constable

TORONTO (CP)—The attorney - general's department announced Thursday it will appeal the acquittal of former provincial constable Robert J. Wright on three charges of bribing police.

Wright was acquitted on these charges last month, but Mr. Justice J. F. Donnelly sentenced him to 18 months on a charge of attempting, to obtain information from a police officer illegally.

Wright was released on $15,000 bail April 4 pending his appeal.

The survey does not include normal deaths, known suicides, slayings or industrial accidents.

Will Operate As Separate Tourist Bodies

The Highlands of Hastings and the Land O' Lakes district of northeast of Tweed will operate as two separate tourist associations rather than form into one large region.

This was decided this week at Madoc when representatives from the two areas met at Madoc.

The meeting passed a resolution to be forwarded to Hon. Bryan L. Cathcart, Minister of Travel and Publicity, recommending formation of the Highland of Hastings district with boundaries extending from the Bay of Quinte to the southern boundary of the Madawaska Tourist Association.

Tweed and Rungerford were not included in the recommendation although these two municipalities may become part of the Association at any future date.

Officers of the two tourist associations as separate entities was considered the most logical course geographically and otherwise.

The chairman executive for The Highlands of Hastings Association includes Reeve Mc-Murray of Gilmour, (representing Madoc Chamber of Commerce), President; Walter Elliott of Belleville, Vice President; Mrs. Hattie of Stirling, Secretary; Earl Dickneoder, Belleville, Treasurer. The executive committee will include Mrs. Gordon Bellerville, Madoc (Grant Brett and Wes. Hulin) and Marmora: also one representative from Frankford, Stirling (Jim Holt) and Ox-ford (Mr. Hawley) along with Warden Harold Varty. The complete executive membership will be named following meetings of the individual areas.

Says Stolen Money Used to Pay Blackmail

RENFREW, Ont. (CP) — A former Renfrew supervising school principal, sentenced to three years in penitentiary for embezzling school funds, was quoted Thursday night as saying the stolen money was used to pay blackmail.

Allan Gay, former supervising principal of three public schools, was arrested in November, 1960 and entered the following February after being found guilty of embezzling $35,000 from the school board's capital accounts.

S. M. Cooper, chairman of the school board's special recovery committee, told the board Thursday night that the board's solicitor had interviewed Gay in Kingston penitentiary and was told by the former principal that the stolen money was used to pay blackmail.

However, Gay had refused to reveal the identity of the alleged blackmailer to the solicitor.

Judge Reserves Judgment in Logan Request

Judge Thomas J. C. Anderson Thursday reserved judgment in the case of Logan vs. Logan made by Mr. Ed Logan for a court order requiring the removal of debris around the Bee Hive block by its owner so that the Fire Marshal's regulations may pass in his old premises. His counsel stated that on the face of the evidence presented he was favorable to the issuance of the order, but stated that there were several points of law to be considered further.

Mr. Logan's case was presented by local lawyer J. D. Chevrier, who outlined that his client had been inconvenienced by the lack of action on the part of the defendant to clear up the rubble which is the property which hinders reasonable access to Mr. Logan's adjoining premises. He emphasized that this condition had existed for some time, was unsightly now and had affected his client's business. Mr. Logan's evening customer relations and forcing him to remain in unsatisfactory financial quarters.

Mr. Logan was not currently working, but had retired but merely seeking a means of legally requiring Mr. Safe to clear up the unsightly accumulation of debris in question, but rather, that it be done in accordance with the City of Belleville and provided under the municipal act.

"All the city has done has had personal attacks on speeches," he commented.

Mr. Logan also submitted several points of law to Judge Anderson to consider regarding the various aspects of the case.

In reserving his decision in order to consider these points Judge Anderson said that he felt the public interest was at stake as well as Mr. Logan's and that it would appear that others could be affected as far as neglect of duty was concerned in the matter to hand.

Foremen's Clubs Hold Seminar In Ottawa

The second Annual Seminar of the Council of Foremen's Clubs was held in Ottawa University on Saturday, April 14th with some 90 members in attendance. Hosts for the occasion were the Ottawa Foremen's Club, the meetings were presided over by Keith Flemming, Ottawa-Hull Club, Past President of Canadian Council.

In the absence of Mayor Charlotte Whitton the delegates were welcomed by Alderman Brown. Father Belanger, Dean of the Faculty, gave a spiritual address in which he stressed the present day need of guidance, both in industry and in our personal life, one with another.

The first session was taken by Thomas Foulkes of the E. B. Eddy Co. on the subject "How and Why Foremen Can Cut Waste". this was the sphere where good leadership can make the difference between success and failure of the plan, he said, waste exists in a very wide field and involved man power as well as materials.

Jules Chartier of the Dominion Rubber Co. of Montreal then gave a discussion "How to Get the Most Out of Your Employee". His treatment of this topic was one of "What Do You Want From Your Boss", and he went on to say that employee expected the same from his supervisor, and in return, would give of his best; Mr. Chartier's talk was in essence an autobiography well rounded complete in analysis and humour in approach in his role of Personnel Manager for his company, Mr. Chartier's duties keep him in all continental North of America.

The third session taken by A. A. White dealt with the topic "Right of Management to Manage" the collective agreement, he said, spelled this out; it was the various interpretations of the same rule that confused both labor and management. Mr. White is a member of the Central Ontario Industrial Relations Institute and has addressed many dinners acting out of the collective agreement and unit bargaining.

EXPERTS HOLD PANEL

After dinner, a very powerful group of experts with Keith Cowan of the National Productivity Council as Director, gave the group "Food for Thought". This session could have lasted well beyond the time first was allotted, but in the time at their disposal, the panel gave the group some statistics and aims of the Council. The prime aim, said Dr. Layman, is to bring Canada back into the good rank of world suppliers by reason of research and development. It was mentioned that assistance given to smaller firms by means of income tax in order to encourage research. Mr. Orr of the Research Department of the Council, made some predictions that in the field of Petro-Chemicals, it was probable that the need for lots of these products would disappear in the next 10 years or even less; we would be faced with a new concept of products and a need for re-distribution of skilled personnel. Now, he commented, was the time to do our planning, and to do this in the face of ever-increasing competition, was no easy task. It was the Council's intention he said, to recruit the experience of Labor, Management, Big Business and the Government' departments to find the answers and in this the Foremen of Canada could play a very important part.

At the close of the seminar Mr. F. V. Grandonie installed the new officers of Region 3, for 1962-63 and stated that the 1963 seminar would be held in Peterborough, Ontario sometime in April.

Mr. William Tinkess, president of Region 3 welcomed the incoming president, William R. Gander of the Quinte District Club and Robert Day, vice-president of Peterborough-Kawartha Club. The executive committee will meet in June, 1962 in Pembroke.

Easter Flowers Brighten City Market

A fair crowd was in attendance on the local farmers' market this morning here in the city both vendors and purchasers. Early morning shoppers enjoyed a beautiful bright morning much unlike many other previous market days.

Flowers for the Easter weekend added a touch of color to the market various kinds being offered, including a colorful assortment of tulips, ranging in price from 50 cents and up according to bunch size.

As for maple syrup and spring season produce prices have not varied from last week. Although the syrup-making season is at an end it has not affected the price in any way, being offered on the market this morning for 90 cents per pint $1.50 for a 36-ounce tin $3.25 a half gallon and $6 per gallon.

A check on earlier market reports indicates the price of maple syrup has remained unchanged since the beginning of the season which began during the first week in March.

Poultry prices have gone unchanged with turkeys were selling here this morning from 35 to 45c a pound and eggs have sold at a steady price for the past few weeks. Eggs were offered today at 40, 42 and 50c per dozen for small, medium and large size.

There was a good variety of late season produce on sale, ranging from 70c a six-quart basket to $2 and up per bushel.

There was no indication that last year's late season potato shortage was fair as a large variety of potatoes were being offered and selling at 90c a bushel.

Election Machinery Here Already Starts to Roll

With the general Federal election now only 30 days away, the election machinery in the riding of South Hastings has already started to roll.

Riding returning officer William Vantassell said today that he had acquired office space on the second floor of the Victoria and Grey Trust Company building at 175 Front Street. The telephone is WOodland 2-1933.

But before election time rolls around there will be a lot of excess count in the riding to determine those eligible to cast ballots.

The enumeration will commence on April 26th and be completed by May 5th so that the voters' lists can be printed and posted well in advance of the election date. The enumerators will be named by a total of 253 enumerators, 138 in the city of Belleville, 35 in Trenton and 65 in the rural areas of the riding.

Starting next week rural enumerators will start coming in for instruction, while next Saturday Belleville and Trenton enumerators will get their instruction.

This year there will be 150 polls in the riding with the central poll being a double one.

There will be six advance polls, two in Belleville and one each in Trenton, Tweed, Deseronto and Frankford.

Mr. VanTassel stated that all persons who expect to be away from their home on the day of the election may vote at the advance poll.

Three-Way Contest Looms In Riding

A three-way contest in the riding of Hastings-Frontenac is expected in the June 18th federal election.

Thomas Neil of Barlgowe was named Liberal candidate at a meeting held in Marmora on January, while the Progressive Conservative nomination meeting is slated for May 9th at the Madoc Armoury. The nod is now held by Rod Bryden of Norwood, who was elected in the by-election following the death of Sidney Smith.

The New Democratic Party has called a nomination meeting to be held in Marmora town hall on April 22nd.

Infant Boy Suffocates In Carriage

TRENTON — On Thursday, 33-day-old Michael Storms, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Storms of 12 Wilson Crescent, suffocated as he slept in a carriage in front of the Storms' home.

Dr. W. W. Weaver, the family doctor, said later that in his opinion the baby had regurgitated part of his feeding and sucked the formula back into his passages.

The fire department was called but relayed the emergency call to the Rushnell Ambulance Service as two trucks and all available men were engaged in fighting a grass fire and a fire in a motor in a Dufferin Ave. apartment house. An ambulance was rushed to the scene but the child had been pronounced dead by the time it arrived.

Fire Chief Cecil Ellis said later that the emergency was a good argument in favor of installing a two-way radio system in fire trucks and in his car. This week, Trenton council delayed action on a request from the chief that such equipment be purchased.

On Feb. 27, LAC Storms, Mrs. Storms and their 18-month-old daughter were forced to flee from their home on Sidney Street in their night attire after the frame dwelling burst into flames following an explosion in the cellar of the house.

PUC Approves Purchase Of Automatic Equipment

TRENTON — By the end of 1962 water services to the town of Trenton will be operated by remote control from the east Trenton filtration plant.

At the last meeting of the Trenton Public Utilities Commission, it was announced that equipment will have been installed and working by then.

The PUC commission members gave the nod to the purchase of $34,653 worth of equipment for this purpose at Thursday's meeting of the body.

The flow of water from the wells west of the town and from the Sidney Street well, as well as operations of the town's various pumping stations, will all be regulated automatically by a push-button method.

Meantime, Cliff Gunter, operating foreman at the filter line plant, will, in effect, be "sent back to school" to take his intermediate water works operator's course in May and the succeeding months remaining courses are held in Toronto and sponsored by the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

Trenton Memorial Hospital will be given protection by the town water from Oct. 1 to May 15 on the Dufferin extension which is used to keep the operating room at the required temperature during the cold season when approved sealing off the unit's supply of water giving the hospital permission to break the seal if for any reason the use of a water back-up system, whereby water could be pumped and re-used, should seem inadequate. William Mann of Trenton Page told the commission members that during the past year had been broken March 29 and that the hospital authorities had asked for permission to use back water in the unit during times when the water might freeze in the cooling system.

A by-law, stipulating that only Trenton and Frankford Hospital will be allowed this special concession, will be drawn up by the manager and a solicitor.

Mr. Page, asked for and received, permission to invest $900 in a Burroughs "graphotype" machine to replace a hand operated machine, Gardenwood Ave. for $157.75.

Mr. Page explained that this machine makes stencils of customers' names for billing purposes and that the hand machine he wished to buy would cost $1,700 if new and that the used machine was only three years old and in good condition.

Eben James came before the commission to ask that something could be done to speed up the tie-in of a 44,000 gallon pump line with a new 1000 KVA transformer back at the Sidney Street well.

Mr. Page said that the line would have to be strung from Dufferin Ave. and that the PUC couldn't guarantee to get it in by June 1, or even June 15 because easements must be gained from the Canadian National Railways as the line must cross railroad land.

"If we go and put a line in and somebody comes along and says they don't want it, are we going to do with a 44,000 volt line?" queried Mr. Page.

A long-distance call was made by CNR area engineer G. A. Vanderwater at Belleville, and an appointment was made for Mr. Page and Mr. James to visit the engineer's office and lay the problem before him.

Charles Hilton, commission chairman, reported he had stated on the subject of hydrants in the Westmount Park subdivision, in Murray Township, west of the town.

Mr. Page said that he had been advised that the main divider that since he had installed that 8 inch line, he did not feel like paying the commission a $60 annual rental fee for each hydrant.

On Thursday, Commissioner Clifford Baker said it is not interested in paying the rental fee.

Last month, the commission passed a resolution to the effect that if the hydrants fees were not forthcoming from some source, water service to the Park subdivision will be cut off.

On Thursday, Commissioner Clifford Baker said it is not interested in paying the rental fee.

"If the fire chief calls the manager and tells him that the water turned on and the manager calls me, I don't know what I'll do," he said, "but I know what I'll do," said the mayor, enigmatically.

Lessening of Political Strife In Trenton Noted by Grills

TRENTON — In a brief and humorous address to the Kiwanis Club, Mr. Grills, M.P. for Lee Grills, MP for Hastings South, said that the town should not be run on a political basis.

Mr. Grills termed his address a "practise up on speaking", and commented that the remarks he did not necessarily reflect the views of the Kiwanis Club of Trenton.

Mr. Grills said that he had never been known as a strong fighting politician and that he had no prejudice as far as anyone's political affiliations were concerned. He did admit, however, that Trenton was one of the more friendly places in his riding which takes in Trenton, Belleville, Picton and Bellaire, part of Thurlow, Tyendinaga and Hungerford townships, (including Tweed, Deseronto and a section of Belleville) and has a overall population of 70,000.

Mr. Grills stressed the need for "unity" in Trenton, but he said that a tendency on the part of citizens to be divided against themselves, is decidedly disappointing.

"Politics serve a good purpose", said the speaker, "Let's get the parties alive, but forget about politics when we vote."

Grass Blazes Keep Fire Dept. Busy

TRENTON — While Good Friday was a holiday for most people, it was anything but for members of Trenton area firefighters.

In Trenton, the firemen were called out a number of times to fight grass fires, started by well-meaning citizens with the object of cleaning out the dried grass and weeds preparatory to spring.

Firemen from Brighton fought for more than two hours to contain a large grass fire on the Wooler Road, west of the CNR subway. At least 30 acres of ground were burned out. The fire, aided by a light wind, at times leaped perilously close to frame buildings in the area.

Home owners on the Telephone Road took advantage of the fine weather to burn dead grass and weeds around their homes.

At one time, a pall of smoke hung over the town's north end.

Around 1.30 p.m., the Trenton department was called to fight a grass fire near the residence Fwrm, west of the town.

Diefenbaker, Mr. Grills said that the Progressive Conservative leader was "worthright" in his statement that "a strong man", "keen", "able", "human" and "democratic".

Mr. Grills recalled the dying moments of Canada's 24th Parliament. He said that Finance Minister Donald Fleming had handed Agriculture Minister Roland Michener and the members of his staff; that the Opposition party members had followed suit and then Mr. Michener had risen with them all "many happy returns."

Mr. Grills said that he now found himself in an unusual position . . . he is still a Member of Parliament but there is no Parliament. He is still responsible also for his riding and for the town until election day June 18.

As for the 26th Parliament, Mr. Grills said that it had been a very hard-working Parliament and that the many people as possible with jobs. This is best illustrated by the government's minor works program and the crash program to provide vocational schools to train much needed skilled workers. It would have been ideal to have introduced such a program in 1950."

In his closing election Mr. Grills said that regardless of which government was chosen . . . regardless of which majority of parliament was selected for his own riding . . . people should remember that they were "stuck with them until next election day," and support them fully.

The speaker was introduced by E. M. "Parker Jr., a vice-president of the Trenton Progressive Conservative Association and thanked by Jack Richardson.

Kiwanis president Mouzar Aziz, vice-president of the Trenton Liberal Association also thanked Mr. Grills.

Church Women Continue Study

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Department of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints met at the home of Mrs. W. L. Cannify, 239 Dufferin Ave., on Wednesday evening.

The worship period was conducted by Mrs. W. Harrison using the theme, "The Restoration." Prayer was offered by Mrs. A. B. Mason.

The roll call was answered by each woman in turn giving a meal preparation short-cut that she had found helpful.

Mrs. W. L. Cannify taught the lesson on "Food Essentials for Our Families." She gave excellent suggestions of foods that could be used for all age groups, explaining the value of each food and how it meets the body's requirements. Mrs. Cannify said, "wise food buying requires a knowledge of good and better planning today than it used to because of the many new foods products on today's food markets".

The business meeting followed with Mrs. J. C. Rae in the chair. A letter was read from the General Department of Women from church headquarters at Independence, Missouri, giving some detail of the women's classes at the world-wide church conference being held there.

Mrs. Rae asked the ladies to remember in prayer the missionaries, mentioning that Elder Ed Perrett and family leave for Korea next month.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by all. Lunch was served by the hostess.

What Does a Lawyer Look Like?

Some interesting testimony is being heard by the Ontario royal commission on crime. This week Inspector Allan Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police told of talking to two men, dressed in fishing clothes, who showed up by a river outside his cottage in Algonquin Park. They described themselves as Niagara Falls lawyers, but later the inspector found the names they had given were false.

Inspector Stringer said the men did not look like lawyers to him.

Now this is interesting. What do lawyers look like? Can a trained policeman tell a lawyer on the street? Perhaps—by the cut of his clothes or the way he walks. But on a fishing stream, in fishing clothes? Aye, there's the rub. Fishermen do not all look alike. Some are natilly dressed, some in the oldest of clothes. But we will swear that you cannot accurately determine a man's station in life by the clothes he choose for his fishing expeditions. The only thing by which these Algonquin Park strangers could have been judged as far as we can make out, was their faces. Is there a typical lawyer's face? At one time, we'll grant you, most Supreme Court judges, when they were on the bench anyway, looked as if they had just bitten into a very sour pickle. But even that is changed. Judges no longer seem to unanimously believe that the dispensation of justice requires a look of unremitting severity. And as for lawyers, why some of them are as jolly as some undertakers while others are as sad-looking as some comedians.

Mother Knows Best?

Rejecting $14,000 worth of advice to the contrary, the City Council has decided to retain the existing 30-mile-hour speed limit on Dundas Street West. The Council appears to believe mothers—and fathers—know best—or at least that they know better than professional traffic experts—and that the increased speed limit would be a hazard to children living in the vicinity of this stretch of Highway 2.

It is to be fervently hoped that this decision proves to be the right one. If it is not, the price for error may be paid by some child.

Having regard to the amount of pedestrian traffic in the area at many periods of the day, the 30-mile speed limit does not appear to many motorists to be a reasonable one. Unreasonable speed limits are flouted by most motorists. It only takes one car to kill or maim a child. We have yet to be convinced that it is more dangerous to have traffic customarily moving at a rate of speed which requires pedestrians to be cautious than it is to impose a lower speed limit which may result in a sense of security which is false, because conditions make it inevitable that this lower limit will be frequently broken.

Time Sense

Twenty scientists are spending a week in a pitch-black cave in Italy. They are trying to determine why men lose their sense of time in total darkness, while animals keep their "time-clocks" running. Some of the men are said to be mentally six months fast. None have been able to guess the right time in five days of trying.

This may sound strange. We suggest that it is not. Time would seem to drag in darkness. Deliberate efforts to estimate the time would almost inevitably result in errors.

But it seems to us that the men, far from having lost their time sense, in one meaning of the phrase have recovered it. A professor on the surface conducting the experiment reports that almost all the men in the cave retire between 7.30 p.m. and 10.30 p.m. and arise, thinking it is broad daylight, at 6 a.m. in the morning. They are failing hopelessly in an effort to keep their customary living schedule. But are they not following a more natural schedule? Primitive man, we would presume, would rise and go to bed with the sun—and this is approximately what these scientists far underground are doing, although they are not aware of the fact.

The United Nations in the Congo, with all its mistakes and with all the divisions of opinion behind it, has been doing its job of preserving world peace. A Korean situation has been avoided there.—Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien, former U.N. civilian chief in the Congo.

The vast majority of people are afraid of ridicule. I've got past that.—The Secretary of the International Flat Earth Research Society, commenting on Colonel Glenn's orbital flight.

Defends Nurses' Residences

Finnish Daily Mercury

Although nurses' residences, as they are considered with most Canadian hospitals, have been under criticism from time to time, largely because of their operating costs, it came somewhat as a surprise when the Ontario Minister of Health boldly stated that they should be abolished.

He was lending support to NDP leader Donald Fleming, Mr. Macdonald, who contended in the legislature that the residences for nurses were taking away from the sisterhood traditions which discouraged young girls from entering the field of nursing.

We emphatically disagree with the views of Ontario Health Minister Dymond and Mr. Macdonald. As many of the student nurses in the Guelph hospitals are from Ontario, are not local girls, some form of housing will have to be provided for them. The residence fulfills this need and we feel it gives assurance to both the student nurse and her parents that she will be adequately cared for. We believe that for parents to expect the hospitals to look after their daughters, while they are in training,

Mr. MacDonald says that with the nurses' residences, that the students are withdrawn from society, and that subjected to the same kind of discipline found in a reform institution. Nursing education, he believes, should be taken from the control of hospitals, and made available on the same basis as any university course.

Under the present training, the student is afforded the opportunity of actual patient-care, which is a most important factor in nursing education. The type of training he believes, is not like that of a college student—it is an intensive course with little leeway for distractions. We feel that all the student nurses at both the Guelph hospitals today, will agree with this.

Men's Styles Alter Faster

"Ottawa Journal

From the Men's Clothing Manufacturers' Association of Ontario, meeting in Toronto comes word that a change in the style of the average man's suits, which used to come once in five years, now comes once every two years.

This is cheering. Now when a fanatic gets out of style we can go on wearing it and in two years he is back in fashion or, at worst, out of style in new fashion. Perhaps it will be the latter, for these clothing men seem to have thrown themselves into the regular cycle of single- and double-breasted suits. At a fashion show during their meeting in Toronto they showed what appeared to be a one-and-a-half breasted suit. And there was something called a "divve-ivy"; pleats and belts in the back of the coat; in the produce business neither pleats nor cuffs nor even in some cases, pockets. "Divvy-ivy" or no, that sounds like the suits now packed away by moth-balls in thousands of closets. Let pants without pockets become the style and many a man will be ready with a coat that lost their pockets years ago.

Need Pockets Strengthened

Sherbrooke Record

An Irate Ontario citizen in a letter to his local paper voices a complaint that will be greeted with sympathy by men the most everywhere. He criticizes clothing manufacturers for failing to put decent pockets in men's clothing, especially in the trousers.

How often does one turn out the pockets to find a gaping hole in the bottom? The pocket lining is often very little better than cheesecloth although the suit itself may be made of the finest woollen cloth.

For the average man, pockets are his office equipment. Bills, receipts, letters and notices are filed in the coat pockets; bus tickets, pens, pencils, etc., repose in the vest; keys, wallet and small change in the trousers' pockets. Thus the wear on the pockets exceeds by many times the pressure put on other parts of the suit.

Railway and public utility companies whose employees usually carry considerable cash in their pockets have especially heavy pockets placed in uniforms to withstand the extra cost is negligible.

It would appear that the manufacturer producing a suit to sell for $20, $30 or $70 could spend a few cents more to provide pockets that would greatly extend the life of the garment.

Black Sheep Repay Gifts

Ottawa Journal

The black sheep who went West and whose home for money may be the glory of their kindred in Eastern Canada.

Their letters may be more precious than fine gold, if stamped and old enough.

Now London comes a note about a sale of stamps. An "outstanding individual item" was an 1868 Vancouver Island five-cent rose pentforate on cover, which sold for $1,975.

Those who have old letters might also keep an eye open for a New Brunswick one-shilling reddish mauve on a letter sheet. One sold for $1,300.

There may be gold in them there files.

Capt. A. Roy Brown, 24-year - old Canadian pilot, met sudden fame when he shot down Baron Manfred von Richhofen, Germany's celebrated ace, and with 80 planes to his credit, the ace of aces today—in 1918. Richthofen's fall in a Fokker plane was pursuing a Sopwith Camel flown by Lieut. W. R. May when Brown attacked.

Spoil Child, Lose Father

San Francisco Chronicle

A recent survey of unhappy husbands reveals that most of them don't want a divorce.

In fact, most don't know what they want, except they do know they don't want what they have.

Much of the trouble stems from the obligation that many of you American mothers assume—just because you bore the child it should then dominate the rest of your married life, which in this country is apt to be amazingly short.

You eventually antagonize the father, future boy friend and wind up with the child, but no father for it nor husband for yourself.

Whatever happened to that beautiful old - fashioned respect for the father when children were ushered from the house for fear of disturbing him?

You destroy it by listening to too many interfering neighbors who frightened you into forcing the husband to relinquish his father's rights. Now he's a buddy, a companion, a friend to be called.

He is forced to participate in idiotic sports with the little boys; to be at the beck and call of the little girls, who are always going somewhere they shouldn't.

But when they need disciplining they run to you to stop crying "Momma."

Get back to having a man around the house. If your children want a playmate, they'll get plenty at school.

Father is a father and that's all that's necessary.

That's enough for any family. Now let Father rest; he's earned it.

Too Critical

When children become critical of their parents, it is time to cut out their vitamins. They are learning too quickly.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE DARKEST HOUR

There was darkness over all the earth as Jesus expired on the cross. The earth trembled. Even the centurion in charge of the execution declared that this man must indeed be the Son of God.

But never has human sadness and despair reached lower depths than on the day which followed. The disciples had fled and left Jesus to die alone. Peter had denied that he ever knew him. In their homes these twelve companions, who in many ways had tried hard to be faithful but who for the most part failed their Master in the hour of need, must have wept as they saw their hopes for the kingdom toppling in ruin about them. Their friend and leader being executed. They had largely failed him in an hour of need. The grand hope toward which they had all pressed so evidently fruitless and vain.

Yes, from their standpoint it was the closing on the first day of the week something to occur—something which would change these dispirited and despairing disciples into loyal proclaimers of a new faith, a new hope, a new day.

We often hear that the darkest hour is just before the dawn. The darkest hour in human history was just before the dawn of Christ's glorious resurrection.

Billboards Go Mobile

Toledo Blade

Let's see their own wily design, the billboard bugs can be counted on to unveil some stratagem to overcome bans on giant outdoor ads along interstate highways, expressways and turnpikes.

And sure enough, one New York advertising firm has come up with what it calls mobile billboards. Its fleet of interstate limousines sprashed over a guaranteed minimum of 40 square feet, painted on the rear doors of semitrailer trucks or other large rigs.

The mobile billboards obviously have certain advantages. They bring their messages right to within 660 or 330 or 130 feet of the highway, but right on it. Also, they will be surrounded by a captive audience. As one official of the firm explained happily, "A motorist doesn't have to turn his head to look at our billboard, and the line of escape isn't ruined with roadside billboards."

So the motorists of tomorrow may be able to while along modern highways in their cars majestically through verdant landscapes unblemished by huge billboards, but the hard won freedom from commercial distractions will not be a completely victory by any means if every truck trailer he approaches is a four-color, 40 square foot billboard smack dab on its rear.

Carried Girl In Suitcase

West German Bulletin

A 19-year-old girl was recently carried out of the Soviet Zone in a suitcase unknown by her fiance, a resident of Wattenheim, near Heidelberg.

Returning from a visit to the Soviet Zone, the young man boarded the train in West Germany with the suitcase containing the girl. When the train stopped at the demarcation line for "border" inspection, the young man hid the suitcase in a snow-drift next to the railway tracks. After the Soviet Zone "People's Police" had finished checking the passengers' luggage, he quickly got the suitcase and the girl hidden place and jumped on the already moving train with it. The young couple arrived safely in West Germany.

To Your Good Health

Don't Get Caught Dead Sitting on Your Seat Belt

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Now that the effectiveness of seat belts has been proved beyond any question, one added fact of vast importance is being proved, day by day.

Seat belts don't only help a bit; they save the lives of those who use them.

"Don't get caught dead sitting on your seat belt."

And of today's gruesomeness.

Dear Dr. Molner: My five-year-old daughter has had a stye on her eye for a month. The doctor gave her some ointment but after two weeks she still has the stye. What should be done and what causes a stye? — Mrs. M.G.

A stye is an infection of the eyelid. When a stye ruptures, another one can be started from the infectious material which escapes.

Besides the avoidance of rubbing, and the use of an antibiotic ointment, are the logical treatments. Usually a stye runs its course in less than a month.

If in two weeks the stye hasn't changed, it may not be a stye but a cyst, or a chalazion or small tumor. It is a minor operation to remove these. So it may go see your doctor again now.

Dear Dr. Molner: A diabetic friend's fasting blood sugar changed from normal to 300 in four a day. He is perfectly well, but they are both getting sick and his glasses should be changed.

The blood sugar is about 140. How high may it be safely? — Mrs. L.

In some instances, especially if the insulin dose is not too high, say not more than two, suitable cases of diabetes, can be controlled by pills instead of insulin.

However, many diabetics of long duration may find this medical centers.

Dear Dr. Molner: My grandson is suffering from tonsilitis and adenoids. Should they be removed? — Mrs. E.

Yes, sir, it might be. But it might also be a fatal denial. My suggestion: have X-rays.

Note to J.B.: There are quite a few new surgical techniques for the improvement of hearing. They can help some people. Probably your ear specialist may not be a surgeon, get his opinion concerning an operation from someone the money to dash off to one of the big

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

THE LIFE BEYOND

We have no idea what it is within us that keeps telling us to climb higher, to be better, to be somebody in the world. Often we wonder what life is all about, why we should keep striving under a mysterious urge for something, for harmony, and misunderstanding.

We see brave and wonderful folk high in esteem and achievement, swept from their places by ignoble men and women, which makes us wonder what there is in life if that is worthwhile after all.

But to him who is blessed by the spirit of God there is a philosophy, no duress is too cruel, no-failure too great, not to reveal the hidden purpose of the ages which is that a man's life is a piece in the great fabric of the Eternal Plan.

It is this conception that gives to the discouraged and lonely, the simple and the striving, his or her most urgent hope.

The hope of himself alone, or could if he wished.

We are all a part of a plan. That plan is the community of life itself. It is not ours to create in any way, but ours to accept, to give, to invite of our time, our strength, our ideas, our love, and our hope.

If we speculate too much we lose the precious thread itself. It's because we can think of God as the embodiment of all that is good and beautiful and pray to Him in secret and in public that the presence of men's deceit and cruelty is not our waking hours.

Our life herself is something like the death of the rose in summer: precious, beautiful in its fragrance, but budding again in greater beauty when the season comes around.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Probably because of the humility it inspires in us, Easter is in some respects a more tender season for the Christian than Christmas. This may be the reason for the host of fellow amateurs of nature who happens to be a clergyman has suggested that among our Easter duties today, today and tomorrow, we should find time to include one for the myriad creatures who share with us the miracle of life and resurrection.

"Pray," he said, "for the millions of birds, animals, and lowly atoms, that are right this week hatching and bound across thousands of miles of land, from Brazil, Columbia, Yucatan, that they may sing and mate among us in another three weeks. Pray that they get safe passage and safe home. Pray for the birds that now are in the last weeks of their pregnancy, and all the rivers swollen and the trenchery of floods surrounding them. For the fox, the mouse, the squirrel. They are all expecting their time to be upon them.

My friend got wound up. "Pray," he said, "for the flowers that are stirring under the earth, putting up their frail green leaves to reach and catch them. And for the insects, by the billion, free and flitting, the dutiful beetles, each with its part to play right now in the moment of resurrection."

A man can think of a lot of things to pray for, at Easter.

EASTER SUNDAY SERVICES

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

THE COMING OF GEESE
By WINIFRED E. WILSON

Each season brings its own excitement to the bird student, and for many of us the peak is reached when the first flock of Canada geese is sighted over head and their characteristic honking floats down to us. This may not be until around the third week in April at the height of their spring movement, but from mid-March on into May the great flocks can be expected to appear. Perhaps "heard" might be a more appropriate expression, because going about our business on earth we seldom look skyward unless attracted by some unusual noise.

Voices of Canada geese differ. The deep, resonant, double honk of some, combined with the high-pitched call of others, and the result is real music to our ears. The effect of hundreds of birds calling in various tones, their honks overlapping and blending, must be heard in order to be understood and appreciated.

And who can resist the sight of flock after flock — maybe several hundred in each — passing across the sky? Each is in the distinct V formation, and each is led by a well seasoned gander at the point of the V. The aerial procession may continue for half an hour or more while we watch, fascinated. How the geese know that this is the best possible arrangement for their safety is one of Nature's mysteries, but sportsmen agree that it is most difficult to bring down a bird from a V formation.

Without a doubt geese use well-travelled, invisible, paths as they migrate from south to north. When we have discovered one of their flyways, an excellent idea is to place ourselves in the same spot another spring, at the same date, hoping that the flocks will again pass that way. They keep appointments much better than many human beings.

With his various backgrounds, he is much in demand as a speaker of many interesting topics, not the least of which is "Science and Canada's Future."

Various Reports Given Women's Hospital Auxiliary

Mrs. M. F. L. Jones presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary of the Belleville General Hospital, held in Education Hall on April 17th.

Miss Nellis Merry, convener of hospital treats, showed the ladies present how Easter favors the Auxiliary is providing for all hospital patients on Easter Sunday. Each adult patient will receive a small potted begonia and each child will be given a fancy container filled with Easter candies. Flowers for the tables have been made by the Explorer Group of Bridge Street United Church, under the leadership of Mrs. Bryson Leslie and Mrs. Wannamaker.

SPRING CONFERENCE REPORT

Mrs. W. G. Harvey reported briefly on the spring conference of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, Region No. 8, held at the Ongwanada Sanatorium in Kingston on April 4th. Mrs. J. E. Buchan attended the meeting of the Association of Directors of Women's Hospital Auxiliaries, held in Montreal recently. She gave a resume of the panel discussion, "Planned Volunteer Work in Hospitals," which included the talks of the Department of Volunteers should be a full department in every hospital and should be headed by a permanent director. Well-informed volunteers, with a distinctive uniform, could ease the strain on nurses, visitors and staff with their sympathy, friendship and help.

FILM SHOWN

Mrs. Buchan's report was followed by a film "The Gift of Time" which showed the volunteer work of the Greenwich Hospital Auxiliary illustrated how these volunteers contributed generously of their free time and skills to help in the health and welfare of their community. It was most interesting to note the types of volunteer work shown in the film that are presently being carried out in the Belleville General Hospital.

These included escorting new patients to their rooms; receptionist service to take care of lost children and visitors; running a coffee shop; taking patients to treatment rooms and to the pay department; greeting patients in the out-patient department; making poppies for patients; operations; operating an "opportunity shop," and providing a guide service for touring groups.

In addition, the Greenwich Hospital auxiliary volunteers also helped in the care of juvenile patients by reading stories and telling stories; they ran a gift shop and a mobile gift cart; staffed a flower booth; mended torn linen and uniforms; distributed magazines and periodicals for sterilizing; checked daily menus for patients; helped with dental work; answered phones and took messages in various departments, thereby relieving nurses of these duties tasks. The movie was a most informative one on, the uses of free time.

CURRENT HOSPITAL PROBLEMS

Dr. F. B. Ross, medical association representative on the Board of Management of the Belleville General Hospital, gave a short talk, illustrated by slides on the current hospital problem of overcrowding. These slides showed beds placed up in the corridors and beds so close together that there was almost touching, making it difficult for the staff to treat the patients and for visitors to get when necessary. In the crowded emergency room, mobile stretchers were being used as extra beds. Dr. Ross said that a hospital should normally operate at 90 per cent capacity but with a shortage of over 200 beds, Belleville General Hospital is running at 120 per cent capacity. There is a waiting list of approximately 525 cases of hospital beds needed. Three facts point out the dire necessity of more beds at once as they can be made available by one plan or another.

Tea and cookies were enjoyed by all at the close of the meeting.

EASTER BONNETS

New Easter hats may have started with an old English legend that anyone wearing old clothes to church at Easter would have bad luck.

V.O.N. Plans Annual Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held April 16 at the YMCA, with Mrs. J. Nellis presiding in the absence of Mr. Frank Follwell.

She also reported on an executive meeting, which had been held to discuss personnel policies of the local V.O.N. It was resolved to invite someone from head office to a further meeting in order to acquaint the board with the procedure for these policies.

Mr. K. J. MacDonald gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. R. R. Brain stated that plans for the annual tea were progressing and that there would be a nursery provided.

In a letter from head-office, it was learned that the annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Ontario branch, would be May 17. The Board is part of the afternoon's award detailed accounts of their meetings.

The 54th annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada will be held in Ottawa, June 11 and 12. It was reported that Mrs. Stringer, the Grand President of the V.O.N. for Canada, would be present as part of the afternoon's session on June 12 in Government House.

BEHIND THE SCENES

"For each age is a dream that is dying or one that is coming to birth."—Arthur O'Shaughnessy.

Do you ever wonder: What stories lie behind a play's production?

Who was responsible, for instance, for the garden scene in Act II, with a marble balustrade, and a pensive white marble maidcan-like statue displayed in The Chalk Garden, which was presented by the Belleville Players Guild?

The program indicates the stage manager is Beatrice Butler, the designer Vera Butler, Marian Wilson (Mrs. C. Wilson) one of the Guild's busiest managers graciously informed us they are men and wife. "The Butlers are from Dublin," she continues, "and Nora who attended the University of Dublin and graduated from the National College of Art in Dublin, does the most clever things with brown wrapping paper, which she covers both sides with paris then moulds and paints marvelous things such as statues, bas-reliefs. Did you see The Little Girl in The Chalk Garden and Cox, Krappa Last Tape on May 7th? Both members who attend the Workshops of the Guild, the Butlers will be greatly missed by The Belleville Theatre Guild, for they are leaving the city in June to their homeland the first of July.

So back stage, behind the scenes, we mingled out Mrs. Beatrice Butler, as I must admit difficult to believe this rather small, attractive, dark-haired young Irish girl with pink and white roses complexion is a mother of three grown children. Her interest in stage-setting has been a life long one.

"Yet, I never had any inclination to be any of either for it," Mrs. Butler said. Both husband and wife come from the same set-side area, about 15 miles from Dublin, known as Brayhead, Bray, graduating from art school. I taught a year, but the idea in mind I might purchase a home and instead I came to Canada, after my engagement was married in Belleville in 1957. It was here I discovered my interest in stage design. Indeed, we are both sorry to leave Canada. Belleville has been a home as newlyweds and parents. It will always be a part of us."

Mrs. Butler continued:

"Out of course, and it was mostly my fault. At first, with the arrival of our young family, I just played in and made do effort to develop my talent. My interest, I promised myself I'd develop later. There were a little bigger. Then I began to realize that waiting was not the answer.

An interest can be squeezed in somehow with all the others. One can be just as busy with it as without it. Then, I got involved in the Theatre Guild and that grew more and more interested in scene-setting which seemed to fit in with my art training.

"The strange part is: I'm a better wife, mother and person because I have developed an interest such as this. Oh, I know that I am not the only one in the world's tradition about women's place being in the home rearing her children. But I don't want just that life.

I must have, in order to be happy and contented a more immediate expression with a creative accomplishment. While woman's role for creating life is necessary, the growing and developing of family is a long-distance accomplishment.

A woman needs, in the meantime, other interests on a smaller scale, which act as steps and support in a growth with the child-rearing long-range vision. The daily round of cooking housework, baking, diaper-changing must be relieved to release one from monotony and strain to maintain perspective.

At least, it is how I feel about it, and I know I'm a better woman for my interest outside the home. For example, I am a naturally lazy person. But I've learned, in living one, it's a time saver. I'm kept on my toes, as a homemaker, and it's fun. What's more, I do believe Canadian women have more freedom in this respect than Irish women.

"We shall miss the wonderful supermarkets. Central heating, yes the snow, too. But most of all I think, the telephone. At home a telephone is most expensive. Even local calls are costly. I love the telephone, it's a great time-saver. I wish Ireland could have the Bell system."

This behind the scenes, in Belleville, do dreams and only to begin again as this Easter time reminds us. Dreams that have enriched as they have been perhaps enriching, and may God speed the young Butler family, body and soul, in their new life, in Ireland.

A happy Easter everyone!

Last Minute Recipes For Easter Meals

by Mary Moore

The event that makes April 21st stand out in my mind is that our Young Person's Class is having a blitz car wash this afternoon. $1.00 to have your car clean for Easter Sunday. The girls whisk and wash the inside and wheels. The boys do the rest. Proceeds go toward college fees for an African student in Canada.

Saturday columns are usually devoted to answering readers' letters but I want this space for the pie I promised on Thursday to give you today and top a muffin recipe.

ALMOND CHERRY PIE

Almond Pastry: One cup unsifted all-purpose flour, ½ cup shortening, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons ice cold water, ½ cup very finely chopped blanched almonds. Add salt to flour, cut in shortening until like of peas. Sprinkle in water as you toss with fork. Add almonds. Press into a ball and cut a lightly floured board to fit 9" pie plate. Make edge neat by folding. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr about 10 to 12 minutes until pale gold. Be sure not to let this brown. Cool.

Cream Filling: Combine 1 can (13½-oz.) sondensed (unevaporated) milk with ½ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon vanilla and ½ teaspoon almond flavoring and stir until real thick. (This is not cooked.) Fold thicken when lemon juice a stirred into it.) Whip ¼ cup heavy cream till stiff and fold in. Pour into chilled pie crust, pushing it high at the sides.

Cherry Topping: Drain cherries from one 14-oz. can of sour cherries and boil liquid down to measure ½ cup. Mix together very well 2/3 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt. Add drained cherries to boiled down syrup. Stir dry mix in until thick and cook, stirring, over low heat for 2 minutes. Add enough red food coloring to make this a rich red, about ½ teaspoon.

SATURDAY

HOT BOWNT MUFFINS (for Easter breakfast)

(Note: I will be at Marianne and Herbie's for Easter and plan to make these for Easter breakfast to leave her free to get ready for church and go to church.)

Cream ½ cup sugar, 1/4 cup soft shortening or margarine, 1 egg, 1¾ cups sifted cake or all purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk.

Cream together thoroughly sugar and shortening or margarine. Add egg and beat in well. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt and stir in alternately with milk, using enough to blend. SPEAKING of MANNERS

SWEEP AWAY TOUR BAD HABITS

Is the midst of Spring cleaning?

While you're at it, maybe there are a few annoying habits you might give the brush-off, along with cobwebs and last year's Christmas cards.

Irritating mannerisms are as thoughtlessly accumulated as a stack of outdated magazines, and just as hard to part with. Most habits, like cracking one's knuckles or fussing with your hair, are completely and at once unconsciously. It's only when you realize that they're as obnoxious as the habits of old newspapers that you can force yourself to do something about getting rid of them.

Are you guilty of any of the following? If so, then you should give some thought to accumulating more poise while sweeping out a few unattractive habits.

Do you bite your nails?

If not, then do you pick at your nail polish and keep pushing back the cuticle? Cure solution here would be to go without polish and push back cuticle such a good once-a-week treatment that there won't be anything to pick on.

Do you hum or whistle a monotonous tune? This has a grating effect on others, particularly in an office. A Jonny-On-Note is as unwelcome as a tin drivel — and just as distracting when busy people have to think about the din.

You may think you're sitting quietly at the movies or on a train, but are you actually kicking a tattoo against the seat in front? You may not be conscious of it, but the person in front is, and to him it's stepped-up version of the Chinese water torture.

At the dinner table, do you talk with your mouth full? Or do you accent a point with a wave of your fork? The latter is particularly distressing when there's food on it and, alas, the audience is so busy following the fork that they completely forget to follow what you're saying.

Are you in the habit of tilting back chairs when you sit, then scraping the chair along the floor when you rise? Either is likely to win you a citation from a hostess who values the finish on her chairs and the

Tourists Travel on to Avalon To View Natural Wonders

Avalon, Calif. — It was a little like turning the clock back 40 years. The pals hanging outside the airplane's window were not jet engine, but the wing floats of a big amphibian, and for all the world we might have been off on a transpacific flight of the China Clipper.

Summer the air taxi actually uses a huge Sikorsky flying boat that once was a Pan American Clipper, but its transpacific flight lasts only 17 minutes. This time of year it's a chunky Grumman Goose that makes the crossing from Long Beach to the south extremity of Santa Catalina, which from the air looks like a jagged chunk of Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket, Catalina's principal city as far behind the times as the flying boat, and proud of it.

The sleepy seaside village of Avalon is best and fondly remembered as the home of the Avalon Ballroom. From here the magic of radio sent out the sweet strains of nearly every name band worthy of the name back in the days when people used to dance, not twist. Sitting on its own private promontory at the end of the curving cove called Avalon Bay, the rotund Avalon Casino — its right name to dominate the shoreline like a lighthouse.

Few Americans know anything more about the Avalon Casino than what its musicians like. But in 1929 it won an architectural prize, a compliment to the taste of the day. A neo-Arabesque baroque monstrosity, it houses not only the ballroom but also a gaudy theatre and a museum. The multilevered dome of the ballroom, one of the finest in the world, includes a projector that did not come into common use until a generation later.

DISTINGUISHED FISHING CLUB

In a quiet way, one of the casino's neighbors is equally distinguished. The Tuna Club founded in 1898, first set forth the principles of competitive game fishing still observed throughout the world today. The oldest sea angling club in the world, its members, honorary and otherwise, include Winston Churchill. Catalina is worldfamed as a game fish resort, a thing that swims is caught, including flying fish if you can catch them.

The flying fish really do fly from March or April to September and are one of Catalina's prime sightseeing attractions. A nightly summer cruise scares the daylights out of them with a searchlight, and gears them to clear out of the water and fly through the air up to 40 miles an hour for distances of 100 yards or more. Flapping their tail, for power and spreading their pectoral fins for loft, the flying fish performs almost exactly the same principle as an airplane.

Not only do the flying fishes play at Catalina, but also the swordfish roam and the great, if not anticlope, play. So do wild pigs and goats.

The terror of Santa Catalina Island is one of the most untouched natural areas in the United States. A half-paved road, a mountaintop airport, a secluded ranch owned by Philip K. Wrigley (the Wrigley family has owned a good deal of Catalina) and a radar installation are about the only signs of civilization outside of Avalon on this 22-mile long mountain.

The buffalo were brought over by a movie crew 15 years ago and left to multiply, though only the rare-eyed bulls ever are seen by inquisitive tourists. The goats, according to a rather conservative (for California) publicity release, "cannot be strictly called native animals, for legend says that their ancestors were left here centuries ago by the early Spanish explorers."

ODD RUSSIAN ORIGIN

The deer, 1,500 blacktails, originally came from northern California, while the bear are of Russian origin, likely dating to the days when the Russians occupied northern California.

There are scattered working ranches, but the cattle, sheep, ostriches, and Wrigley's Arabian horses are considered a mong the finest specimens in the world. But outside of that, the alternately plunging and climbing countryside of Catalina is as wild as the boar. Wild fig trees, silver as snow, multiply their branches into voluminous tangles, and alternate with prickly pear cactus, spreading oaks and wild apple trees. Dainty wild orchids purple and yellow wildflowers paint the slopes, which suddenly sheer off to untried inky coves and mysterious caves.

Volcanic in origin, the hills are full of minerals, including gold, though many a mining fortune has been lost under the earth to ferret out enough to make it pay.

There are birds on Catalina, too, not all of them indigenous either. A fascinating assortment is penned into the facsimile of a small Bird Park in Avalon. Among the 600 varieties, the most delightful to visitors is the Catalina peacock — a rare, ornamally human voice — such phrases as "Hi, Pal," "Hey, what's Wise Guy?" and other friendly bandinage.

Tourism is the island's only real industry, though it still retains a ranch-like air to Avalon life business. It turned out the way the tourists do.

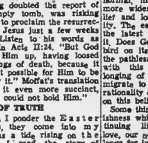
A Lift For Living

Too Great for the Grave

By Dr. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

When the disciples of Jesus first heard the report of His resurrection, they did not believe it. In Luke XXIV is the tale of the women, led by Mary Magdalene, going out to the garden where Jesus was buried. They wished to anoint the body of their deceased leader. When they found the tomb empty they rushed back to tell the disciples. The record is that the disciples "believed not as an idle tale." Peter was one of those in this doubting group. That statement would seem to dispose of the charge that the disappearance of Jesus' body was a preconceived scheme of the disciples. They did not expect the tomb to be empty.

But Peter, who on the night of the crucifixion was a coward that he denied he ever knew Jesus and on Easter morning doubted the report of the empty tomb, was risking his life to proclaim the resurrection of Jesus just a few weeks later. Listen to his words as recorded in Acts 2:32: "This man raised Him up, having loosed the pangs of death: because it was not possible for Him to be held by it." Moffat's translation makes it clearer that death "Death could not hold Him."



TIDE OF TRUTH

Under the Easter records, they come into my mind as I look out to the shore I read the story of those women in the garden on Easter morning. The resurrection of the two disciples in the evening on the Emmaus road. Then they felt the approach of a Presence that convinced them that was the power of God.

I cannot believe that the disappearance of Jesus' body was an invention of the disciples. If they had done that, they would have been guilty of a monstrous fraud. People do not die for a report they know to be false. If Jesus' enemies had hidden His body, certainly they would have produced it when they saw the Christian movement taking root in the streets of Jerusalem. The enemies hid Jesus' body.

Again, are those who say that the inflamed imagination of the disciples saw apparitions, and so they came to believe they saw the Christian movement spring up in the streets of Jerusalem? Recommends Psychiatric Help

DEAR DORIS:—I have never seen anyone suffer from nerves the way I do. I have everything to make me happy. I have a lovely home and four nice children. My husband owns his own business and is a wonderful husband and father in every way. But I am miserable in front of people. Doris, I don't feel nervous at home, but I shake so much in company if a cup of tea or coffee is offered me, I have people asking me if I am ill.

There is no unusual tension at home. DORIS CLARK
I have been like this as far back into my childhood as I can remember. When I am in line at the check-out counter of a store, this horrible shaky feeling comes over me and I shake so badly giving and receiving money that I am sick all the way home thinking what a spectacle I have made of myself.

The doctor says I am nervous and since all his medicine didn't help, I'll just have to live with it. Now I am appealing to you, Doris. Can you help me? I have never seen anyone act as I do.—BUNDLE OF NERVES.

DEAR BUNDLE—Everything is rosy, but just the same you shake. People are good to you, your children are nice, your husband is wonderful, you have many of the blessings of this life, yet for some reason life is too much for you.

My psychiatrist consultant advises a psychiatrist. Something is causing the nerves and it is obviously something very deep in your unconscious.

You can be helped, so waste no time getting your doctor to refer you to the help you need.

DEAR DORIS:—I have been going out with a boy for two months. I always phone him because he said to.

My problem is this: We were to go dancing one Saturday night, but I was not sure what time he would come and got me, so I phoned him. When I did, I didn't get the chance to ask him, because he was so mad, and he also told me to stop phoning him. How will I know if he still likes me?—DOESN'T KNOW.

DEAR DOESN'T KNOW:—What do you care? It seems to me he is the one who ought to wonder whether YOU still like HIM.

However, it just isn't right for him to put you in the position of phoning him. Can't he look up your number?

• • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. H.—You are a combination clinging vine and personal servant to your husband. He fears responsibility and so he bullies you to hide this.

Stop nagging; start being firm about necessities for yourself and the children. Your own personal appearance will add to your self-respect. And you have a right to some time off.

Personal counselling was made for such cases as yours, with a bouncing marriage between too-immature partners. Seek it soon.

• • •

To "V"—If you will write again, giving me your proper name and address, I will gladly send you literature from two correspondents in different parts of Canada to possible cause of your husband's embarrassing sleepiness.

(There's an answer for your dilemma. Let Doris help you find it.)

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. K.K. — The cloths of her choice is said to have a fast crowd.

Mrs. K.K. — Because they treat students' work shabby, my folks are worried.

Mrs. K.K. — To come right out with it, Eileen has been a very good girl by progressive women's college which actually offers what I consider a course in birth control! How sorry they are school can it be if that's the sort of thing it teaches?

We can't put our foot down on Eileen's grandfather left us a trust fund to finance her education and the purse strings are out of our hands for the next four years, anyway. Perhaps we can try moral pressure but whenever we offer our shocked opinion, Eileen pulls up the reactionary baby-clothes, longing for the old Victorian days.

I hope you can straighten her out as to what a college is for.

• • •

Eileen E. — My parents have pounced upon this one course thing in selecting "fast," because of it actually several other colleges offer the same sort of specialization. Naturally it's all a matter of a girl's taste, but the moral standards as to what is the makes of this information.

• • •

When a girl's away from home, I think it's important to the danger from not knowing things than from knowing them. Since they're going to be away from home, it is responsible for her welfare as well as for her education. This school happens to take its responsibility seriously.

• • •

I'm hurt that my parents think I must be ignorant to be good. They've raised me to be knowledge will help me stay that way.

• • •

The Council: Unbelievable and shocking as it sounds, an Article in a leading medical journal revealed, in a recent magazine article, that pediatricians have been receiving increasingly frequent visits from ex-patients, who plead with them desperately to treat their latest problem — pregnancy! — just as willingly as they used to treat earache or chicken pox.

Some of the alert colleges wish to be completely fair to the girls under their wing. While despite close supervision and strict rules they can't apply brakes for a girl whose morals are slippery, they can supply facts. Surprisingly, the most sophisticated young women are found to have unsafe misconceptions, usually mistaken, ideas. The college Eileen refers to not only urges it's students to go straight, but to feel duty-bound to set them straight on questions which can get muddled over by old wives' tales, inside info and double talk.

Mrs. K. — Isn't leading a father pounced upon, in a manner of speaking, when he is taken in her fears that wantonness may be encouraged by the frank discussion of sex? Besides, mentions is one is hygiene.

Mrs. Bernard Hollinger, Foxboro, since 1948 by Dr. Marion Nelson whose unflinching policy is to answer all questions.

At Vassar, too, several years ago, a panic ensued, in which four officials — the college M.D., a psychiatrist, assistant president and sociology professor — reply to any question that students and sophomores present. Other colleges, after weighing student demands, for a time or a while, take the approach to the natural, intimate side of life's mysteries which trouble them.

Certainly sense and free love aren't considered by the high schools. And, Eileen's colleges apparently prosperously supply students with truths to replace their half-truths which ensnare them.

Test Bay Floor Seeking Sites Of Bridge Piers

DESERONTO — The first definite activity of the year for the proposed Hastings-Prince Edward bridges is the crew at present at the proposed site taking samples and tests of the bottom of Lake Ontario, and definite foundation for the piers has been established, the location of the bridge cannot be set.

During the past few weeks survey crews have been working on the highway from the bridges to Marysville. It is proposed that the highway will follow the old highway as far as Marysville and will cross the railway tracks just east of the present crossing and will cross the Belleville Road east of Marysville to join 401 at an interchange just north of Marysville. The highway from that corner to Deseronto will also be widened, as the shoulders do not provide enough room at present.

Many Familiar TV Series Won't Be Around Next Fall

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's time for our annual farewell to the television series that won't be around next fall.

So long, Bob Cummings. Your third series didn't make it. Hope you try again.

Ditto Gertrude Berg. Sorry your college career was cut off before you graduated.

Goodbye to all those crime-and-corruption shows. Things will be quiet around the 87th Precinct, Cain's Hundred will be unemployed. Even Robert Taylor's detectives will be out of their jobs.

Straightaway went thataway. Follow the Sun did. Surfside 6 got drowned. And Target the Corruptors missed. Same with the investigators.

Trouble with all of these shows: They were touchable.

The cowpokes got knocked out of the saddle, too. Maverick went over the hill, followed by The Lawman. There will be no more Tales of Wells Fargo, so may Tall Man. It looks as if Frontier Circus has run out of dates, too.

ANIMALS GO

Farewell to Bugs Bunny and Calvin and the Colonel. Those Hathaway chimps will be in the unemployment line as well.

Other families will be breaking up: Feis and Gladys, room for One More and that long-lasting Bachelor Father.

The girl who originated the role in films is still doing all right, but it looks like curtains for Natmal Velvet on television. The other retreat of a Taylor movie, Father of the Bride, also is a casualty.

Bob Young's Window on Main Street has cracked, and Groucho won't be back. Even the lights of G.E. Theatre have gone out after nine years.

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — Audrey Hepburn and George Peppard do some leisurely shopping in the world's most famous jewellery store in Jurow-Shepherd's "Breakfast at Tiffany's", Technicolor romantic comedy based on the best-selling novel by Truman Capote. The Paramount release closing tonight at the Belleville Drive-In Theatres. 2nd Technicolor comedy hit is "Houseboat", starring Sophia Loren (Best Actress of the Year) and Cary Grant.

Knudson Trails By Stroke

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Nichols, a young Kentucky star who received a football scholarship to play college golf, used a one-under-par 69 Friday to take the 36-hole lead in the $50,000 Houston golf classic.

The 68-69—137 left him one stroke ahead of Toronto's George Knudson, the first-round leader, Jay Hebert, the defending champion, Jack Nicklaus, the former national Amateur titlist, and Bruce Crampton, Australian champion.

Knudson had to settle for a 66-72—138 for the par-70 course. Nicklaus posted a 70 beside his first-round 68, while Crampton posted his second straight 69. Herbert got a 71 with his first-round 67.

Al Johnston of Montreal shot a 70 to go with his first-round 72 for a 142 total.

Leafs Lash Back At Hawks, Win 8-4

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"What this town needs," the man-fan said, "is a thousand or two Chicago hockey fans."

Excluding baby octopi, suckling hippos, rabbits, dead fish, firecrackers, cannon, beer-cans and other scary-throwing missiles. I will go along with the man's statement.

It is hard for battle-scarred war-bitten hockey fan-veterans of a city reputed to be one of the best sports communities in this part of Ontario to go to a game and see almost as many players on the ice as there are people in the pews.

What is wrong with fandom? Or what is wrong with the game?

If Toronto wins the cup here Tuesday, it will be the first time a club has ever taken the cup without winning a playoff game on the road.

If the Pepsi's were paying the charge of the light brigade it would not surprise me to see the Kingston fans cut midway through the second period of the next game.

Television, taxes or both, or what have you? You figure it out.

If the Pepsi's drew a crowd that exceeded 600 the club collectively would faint from the shock.

The Belleville McFarlands junior "B" club rated one of the best of its class, albeit they look to be on the road to elimination, drew 1,224 on one occasion. They had been playing to between 400 and 700.

They came up with a bad game and their next outing saw a little over 400 paying customers scrimmaging the pews.

Is the city "fed up" with hockey or has hockey "had it" with city?

In fairness to all concerned, it must be admitted that hockey attendance, both professional and amateur, with the exception of the National Hockey League has gone through a season of depression.

The Napanee Comets, ex-Ontario intermediate champions and one of the better clubs in the Lake. Shore League folded because of lack of fan support. Other clubs have done likewise. The OHA senior group in Western Ontario played to its poorest crowds in years this season. The Galt Terriers, world tournament representatives played to some 800 hometown fans on its last appearance before taking off for Colorado Springs.

But a lot of clubs have survived although operating on a shoestring. The Pepsi shoestring is down to the metal tab.

Manager-coach Jean Paul Lamirande deserved a better fate. So do the players that have stuck with him through this — there has been no "thick."

Lamirande believed the city that has supported so many fine clubs in the past, would appreciate a hockey club albeit of somewhat lower calibre than the past few years. He knew, or I think he knew, that a lot of people still retained the nasty taste of mondial that was the aftermath of the Pepsi-Belleville Mc. Farlands world champion hockey clash.

But he believed there were many who retained their love of the national winter pastime and would again support a team that bore the city name and colors.

He obtained the help of a number of the old "Macs". He enlisted the help of local players who, in his opinion, could "make the club." He bucked almost insurmountable roadblocks. He fought for a place in the district hockey sun — and finally made it.

He went into debt to equip and supply the club with the necessary items. It was a share-the-wealth program. He had faith in the fandom of this city. And it has let him down.

Tonight the Pepsi's are in Collingwood, set Harris as was formerly reported. They meet Meaford in the fifth game of their best-of-seven intermediate semi-finals series. They play the fifth game here next Friday. I hope a good crowd will turn out.

Fans Match Hawks' Best

By BILL MacDOUGALL

TORONTO (CP) — Chicago faces its zero hour Sunday night. Not only are the Black Hawks a game away from losing the Stanley Cup but the Chicago crowd is threatened with the loss of its unofficial National Hockey League championships in booing, hollering and garbage-throwing.

Both crimes arose here Thursday night when the Hawks took an 8-4 lacing from Toronto Maple Leafs and were rocked with a continuous fusillade of cheers, boos, hats, eggs, programs and unidentified missiles from the normally staid Toronto spectators.

That left Chicago's defending cup champions trailing the best-of-seven final 3-2. No authoritative figures were available on the count of decibels or thrown objects.

If things go according to form, the Black Hawks will be back here for a seventh game Tuesday night. So far in the final the home club has won every game.

If Toronto wins the cup here Tuesday, it will be the first time a club has ever taken the cup without winning a playoff game on the road.

PRAISES FANS

Toronto coach Punch Imlach was happy with the fans' support Thursday night.

"They helped the team—don't think they didn't," he said. "They really got behind us and I think that's why we got such a good game."

Rudy Pilous, Chicago coach, didn't have much reason to talk about the Hawks' fifth game in which they were turned to booing his fans.

"Our men didn't have so much more moving, getting inspired with beer and such, while their (the Toronto) players were on water and soft drink."

But he doesn't underestimate the power of the Leafs fans to retaliate if Chicago goes back to Toronto for a seventh game — and he says it will.

"We'll be back there Tuesday," he said confidently. "And we expect to find Toronto the cleanest city in Canada. Those hockey fans will pick up all the garbage in the city for the last game.

RETURNS FOR CHILDREN

"Some poor kids probably even will be going short on Easter eggs."

Centre Bobby Pulford was the Leafs' star Thursday night. He scored three goals, the first one only 17 seconds after the opening whistle, left winger Frank Mahovlich had two and centre Dave Keon, right winger George Armstrong another.

Billy Harris had one each. Al McDonald got two for Chicago and Murray Balfour and Bob Turner scored the others.

Only once did the Hawks look threatening on the scoreboard. That was late in the first period and early in the second when they bounced back from a 3-0 deficit with three goals. Their lead was short-lived.

An unusual feature of the game was Chicago centre Stan Mikita, who broke two records. He had his usual quota of assists — 15 — a playoff season high than any other player in Stanley Cup history. He assisted on both of McDonald's goals to tie the point record set in 1953 by Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings. Mikita upped the assist record of 14 set by Fleming Mackell in 1955 with Boston Bruins.

The most aggressive of the Chicago players was Left Winger Nick Garen, who threw a punch at a fan in the second period. He "Ted Woolley, who was the razzing McDonald and Mikita from his seat near the Chicago bench, asked police to lay an assault charge but changed his mind later.

In the Dressing Rooms

TORONTO (CP) — Coach Punch Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs took a dig at the Toronto fans last Tuesday night and he is glad he did.

"They helped the team—don't think they didn't," he said in the Toronto dressing room Thursday night after the Leafs walloped Chicago Black Hawks 8-4 to take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final.

After the series' fourth game in Chicago, Imlach said the near-delirious Chicago crowd is "worth plenty" to a home team, and said he wished the Leafs had a crowd like that.

Thursday night 14,130 Toronto fans responded with rousing cheers as well as the Leafs skated out and eggs, papers and other such missiles and even a hat—littered the ice after every Toronto goal.

Imlach served a little praise for his own players, who skated with better than any game so far this series.

LAUDS FULPORD

"The centremen kept us going tonight," he said. "Pulford was going better."

That was Leaf coach's only comment on the three-goal performance of Bob Pulford.

The 26-year-old centre was adequately pleased, but offered no explanation for his sudden outburst. "The breaks came," he said. "Some nights you just get them, that's all."

Except for an officiating mixup, left winger Frank Mahovlich would also have had three goals instead of the two he's credited with officially.

Referee Eddie Powers gave Billy Harris the nod for a goal in the second period that tied the score 2-2 but both the centre and Mahovlich agreed the goal should have gone to Mahovlich.

HIT HIS LEG

"I deflected (defenceman Tim) Horton's shot and it hit Mahovlich's leg before it went into the net," Harris said. The left winger agreed.

"Yeah, it hit my leg; Powers was going to change it but as he moved to the penalty box the public address announced Harris so I told him to forget about it.

"It doesn't make any difference to me. I don't get extra bonuses for goals in playoffs."

Coach Rudy Pilous Simmons will play in the Leafs rink again Sunday night in Chicago in his place at the forward position of Bower. To suggestions that Simmons didn't play as well as Bower might have, he replied:

"Don was all right. He needs a little sharper, that's all."

Chicago coach Rudy Pilous said: "It was a game to win whatever we did was wrong and whatever we did was right."

Pilous said "in spite of the fact we were real goals down we managed to get back and take a 3-2 lead. Red Hay could have scored 4-2 and maybe turn the tide in our favor but he hit the post with his shot. Pete Pilote had a good chance but again the unseen hand stopped him.

"A few of our players didn't play as well as they could have and we had the unnecessary penalties. We'll rectify those mistakes by the time Sunday's game comes around."

SUCCEEDS ARCARO

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Boulmetis, Jr., president of Baltimore, has been elected president of the New York Guild to succeed Eddie Arcaro. Meets Ortiz In 12th Defence

Brown's Title On Line Tonight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Joe Brown of Houston, Tex., risks his world lightweight boxing crown for an unprecedented 13th defence tonight and the experts think he will keep it in a 15- round match with brash young Carlos Ortiz of New York.

The 35 - year - old titleholder, who began professional fighting in 1946 and won the championship almost 11 years later, figures to be an 8-to-5 betting favorite at ringside. Neither figures to have a problem making the 135-pound limit.

A near-capacity crowd of 7,000 is expected to sit on the ringside to be televised by ABC starting at 10 p.m. EST. It will be carried by CFTO-TV Toronto.

Brown's role of favorite left little impression on Ortiz, 23. Ortiz, who has demanded a title chance for three years, calls Brown the most important of what will be his 41st ring engagement.

IS CAUTIOUS

"I don't think it will last 15 rounds," Carlos said Friday. "I won't say I'll get the knockout. I will only say that I hope I'm the one to score it."

It will be the 115th fight for Out Boy, as the boxing crowd knows Brown, a crafty slick pecks a terrific punch with either hand. He has knocked out 38 opponents.

Ortiz is no slough as a puncher. He has polished his sparring partners viciously in training and has scored almost 12 knockouts in 40 matches.

Ortiz has never been knocked down, while Brown has stomped four times.

The title bout sets a guarantee of $50,099 or 40 per cent of the gate and the $60,000 television revenue. Ortiz has a flat guarantee of $17,500.

Lose Third to Waterloo

Mac's Backs To Wall

KITCHENER (Special) — The Belleville McFarlands tottered on the brink of elimination in the OHA Junior "B" semi-finals today after absorbing an 8-3 defeat at the hands of the Waterloo Siskins here last night.

The Siskins lead the best-of-seven series three games to none with the fourth game slated for Belleville at eight o'clock tonight.

Last night's game was closer than the score indicates, at least for two periods. Waterloo led 3-1 at the end of the first but the Macs scored the only goal of the second heat and trailed by a 4-3 margin going into the final twenty minutes.

Then, as in the first game in Belleville, the Siskins exploded in a big scoring way, triggering five unanswered goals for the comfortable, six-goal difference.

Twelve hundred fans took in the holiday tilt and watched a rough and tumble affair. Each club picked up nine minor penalties with Waterloo drawing the heavier end as drew a misconduct.

Gary Duvall of Belleville and the Siskins' Bill Gilmour were drew high-sticking minors at the end of the third and fired up punches to get fighting majors. George Vail had Waterloo's misconduct, back in the game's opening seconds when he scored on a power play.

Waterloo jumped into a 1-0 lead at the 53-second mark of the opening period. Terry Bardwell iirco the first of his three goals, the biggest another at 11.47 and Terry Vail made it 3-0 at 13.55.

Belleville cut the lead to 3-1 at 19.07 when Moe Hunter scored on a solo effort. The Siskins had a man in the penalty box at the time.

The Macs lost no time closing the gap in the middle heat. Richie Gilmour took Billy McGuire's pass and beat Bill Lee at 1.11 while Oliver of the winners was finishing a penalty handed out in the first period.

Belleville failed to tie it however and at 1.24 of the third, George Vail made it 4-2. The Macs then made it close when Terry Vail made it 5-2 at 9.58. Barwell Doug Seifried and Terry Oliver added the final Waterloo markers before the period's end.

Belleville coach Gordie Bell had Grayston Scott back in the Mac lineup for the first time since February 2 when he left the club to join the RCAF but the additional strength up centre failed to stem the Waterloo tide.

Waterloo held a 23-19 edge in the shots-on-goal department.

The winner of this series will meet St. Catharines or Chatham for the provincial Junior "B" championship.

Hull Defeats Kingston

HULL, Que. (CP) — Bob Elliott triggered Hull - Ottawa's scoring attack in the first period and then fired the game-insurance marker in the final period as Canadiens defeated Kingston Frontenacs 4-3 Friday night in the first game of their best-of-seven Eastern Professional Hockey League final.

Player Ban May Cause Soccer Fold

TORONTO (CP) — Harold Ballard of Toronto said Thursday the five-team Eastern Canada Professional Soccer League will fold if the English Football League's ban on players from joining Canadian clubs during the summer layoff is enforced.

Ballard, ECPL president, said: "It looks as if they are trying to torpedo us and I hope they'll reconsider their ban because they haven't any conception of what they are doing to the game."

He was commenting on a report from London that said the English league was told its 92 member clubs that if a player were given a free transfer to play for Canadian clubs in the summer he would not be re-registered the following season.

Ballard said: "So far, our clubs have signed more than 50 players from England and Europe."

Defeat Angels 9-7

Twins' Hit-Hot Rookie Sparks Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's no stopping rookie Rich Rollins, Minnesota Twins' man-from-Mars with a fat batting average.

The unheralded third baseman, obtained from the Cincinnati Reds Friday night, stroking a two-run double in the second inning then starting the winning rally with a leadoff single in the 10th that led the Twins to a 9-7 American League victory over Los Angeles Angels.

Rollins, 24, joined the Twins after only two previous seasons in organized baseball, batting .241 at Wilson, N.C., in 1960 and batting at a .270 clip for Macon, Ga., in the 1961 campaign. But he began to impress as soon as he reached spring training.

He pushed three candidates, including Harmon Killebrew, off the third-base job. He's the No. 1 hero for the Twins with another solid performance that helped snap Minnesota's five-game losing streak.

Rollins is tied for the league batting lead with Floyd Robinson of Chicago White Sox. Each first place in homers with Chicago's Jim Landis second in four and is No. 2 in runs batted in with 12.

The loss kept the Angels from taking over first place in the league from the Chicago White Sox, who beat 7-6(10) Kansas City Athletics. In the only other game scheduled Detroit Tigers edged Washington 5-4. The National League took an open date.

COULDN'T HOLD LEAD

The Twins got off to a 6-0 lead, scoring single runs in the second inning on Rollins' single and a three-run homer by Killebrew. But Dean Chance couldn't hold as the Angels tied things in the fifth on a single by Albie Pearson, Billo, Lee Thomas' double and a single by Bob Rodgers.

Rollins also had a hand in going in the 10th, opening with a single off Julio Navarro. Jerry Kindall sacrificed and Rollins scored on Jim Allison's infield single. Dick Stigman a (1-0) got the decision victory while Art Fowler (0-1) lost.

A home run by winning pitcher Chuck Hinton gave the Athletics o'f winging in the third inning. Norm Siebern's three-run homer in the fifth chased White Sox starter Juan Pizarro (2-1).

Walker Jeft in the eighth inning after Chicago McDevitt and Diego Segui finishing up. Segui balked a run home with the bases jammed in the fourth, then got pinch-hitter Sherm Lollar to ground out to end the batter.

The Orioles scored the clinching run in the eighth inning on singles by John Powell and Jim Gentile, an error and sacrifice flies by Jackie Brandt and Earl Robinson. But Hoyt Wilhelm had to come on in the ninth inning to preserve the victory for reliever Dick Hall (1-1) getting out of a one-on, base-loaded situation on Chuck Hinton's tap back to the mound and a strikeout of Danny O'Connell. Marty Kutyna (0-1) was the loser.

Retches, Dresses, Plays

Butterflies Bother Hall

By BILL MacDOUGALL

TORONTO (CP) — "Mr. Goalie" controls into the Chicago Black Hawks dressing room dresses and retches.

He skates on the ice in Chicago to a tumultuous uproar from the fans.

Still as jumpy as a cat, he spends the next 90 minutes dodging sticks and skates and stopping pucks zipping at him at up to 100 miles an hour.

"Mr. Goalie"—known to fans outside of Chicago as Glenn Hall — has as a severe case of butterflies before every game as most athletes ever get once in their career, yet he's one of the best puck-stoppers in the business.

Does the tension that even makes him retch before every game hamper him? No, says the man who has been a backbone of the club that rose from regular also-ians to one of the best hockey teams in the National Hockey League.

WELCOME IT

"I wouldn't be good for me," he said in an interview. "There have been games when I thought I'd be sick. I've vomited and I find I won't go after I shot pucks.

Hall displayed some spectacular goaltending during the Stanley Cup final series against the Montreal Canadiens and now holds the record for consecutive, especially his left hand, are making things tough for Toronto Maple Leafs in the final, which Toronto leads three games to two.

Hall, 30, has kicked out pucks in 336 consecutive NHL games and needs less than a shutout more to break the record of 445 set by Harvey Johnny Wilson of New York Rangers. He had a goals-against average of 2.65 during the regular season. The previous season it was 2.37.

He's known for his colorful his goaltending job and a job is what he considers it.

"I play it for money," he said. "I quit playing and I quit eating."

His wife, Pauline, is behind him.

"She'd like me to play forever," Hall said.

For the last couple of summers, the Chicago goaltender has done nothing but work on a few weeks of hockey clinic for youths in Nelson, B.C.

He now makes his home in Edmonton and when he's through with hockey, Hall hopes to farm.

"You have to work to beat the band, but there's more relaxing than hockey. In hockey hair the effort is mental."

Card Star Once Lost $60,000

NEW YORK (AP) — There are not many who can lose $60,000 overnight and grin while telling about it later.

Gene Oliver was laughing Friday, at least on the outside, as he told how he hurt his arm in a high school football game the day before he was to report to the Cincinnati Reds' baseball camp.

That was in 1953. Three years later, Oliver was still at his high school football coach's job. But he couldn't throw, however. He couldn't even shave with his throwing hand.

Oliver didn't see St. Louis Cardinals' Stan Musial's wife Lillian with a single, Dick Stigman a (1-0) got the decision victory while Art Fowler (0-1) lost.

A home run by winning pitcher Chuck Hinton gave the Athletics o'f winging in the third inning. Norm Siebern's three-run homer in the fifth chased White Sox starter Juan Pizarro (2-1).

Burnley Defeats Blackpool

LONDON (AP)—Burnley defeated Blackpool 2-0 Friday on goals by winger John Connelly and center forward Jerry Cummings to move to the top of the English League soccer standings with 52 points, one point ahead than Ipswich Town.

Burnley, with four more games to play, now is favorite to win the title and qualify for the money-spinning European Cup of Champions next season. The national champions of Europe compete for the countries qualify for the competition.

Ipswich slipped in the championship race by managing only a 2-2 home draw against Arsenal.

Burnely and Ipswich each have 52 points. Ipswich has only three more games to play — one fewer than Burnley.

The two bottom teams is the First Division drop into the second Division at the end of the season—and it looks as though Chelsea and Northern City will take the dive. Chelsea lost 3-4 to Wolverhampton and West Ham United routed Cardiff City 4-1.

Chelsea is at the foot of Division I with 25 points, and only three games to play. Cardiff is next to the bottom with 27 points and four remaining matches. Then comes Fulham with 29 points and five games to play.

Mazeroski Stance Pays Off

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Mazeroski's newly discovered power of concentration has led to more concentrated power, one of the major factors in Pittsburg Pirate's meteoric start this season.

The flashy fielding second baseman, who gained fame with his home run that won the 1960 world series, had a .367 average in the first-place Pirates' eight-game undefeated streak. Of his 11 hits, six were for extra bases — three hount runs, two triples and one double. He also had eight runs batted in.

"I feel that I'm waiting for the pitcher a lot better instead of hitting off my front foot," Mazeroski said Friday. "I'm not as anxious as I used to be. I concentrate more."

Mazeroski, who hit .265 and .272 in his previous two seasons, said he changed his batting style during spring training with the assistance of coach George Sisler.

Eight Canadians Finish

Finn Wins Boston Race

By JOSEPH McCWEEN

BOSTON (CP)—The Boston Marathon sends on Easter Street and sportswriters here have a ruseful name for the place—they call it the Finnish line.

Kino Oksanen, 31 - year - old hawk - faced, police detective from Helsinki, won the Boston Marathon Thursday—his third victory in four years and the fourth consecutive win for Finnish runners.

Paavo Pystynen, 30, a Finnish army sergeant was second and then came two American runners, followed by Orvilla (Ted) Aikins of Toronto's East York club.

Eleven Canadian runners took part and eight finished over the heart-breaking hilly course of 26 miles and 385 yards. The weather turned wet and cold during the race.

Johnny Kelley of Boston winner and record-setter in 1957, could do no better than fourth. Third was U.S. Marine Lieut. Ron Hill, Bedford, Mass., who still speaks with a Scottish burr from his childhood in Glasgow.

RECORD STANDS

Kelley's record run of two hours, 20 minutes and five seconds in 1957 was considerably faster than Oksanen's time Thursday. Atkinson's time was 2:24.

A total of 181 runners started, the biggest field in years.

Oksanen's time for the record approaches that of Canada's Gerard Cote, from St. Prancois, Que., runner who trained on cigar but won the marathon four times, the last in 1930.

Atkins, 23, received a trophy from the Canadian - American Club of Boston as the first Canadian. Other Canadian performers finished.

Danny Puckhall, Toronto, 29th; George Cvetic, Montreal, 37th; Richard Burke, RCAF aircraftman from Ottawa, 38th; Billy Kerr, Milton, Ont., 43rd; Richard Sadler, Hamilton, 52nd; Claude Gagnon, paratrooper from Valcartier, Que., 70th, and Bruce Mcleod, University of New Brunswick, 73rd.

Gordon Dickson, 29, of Hamilton who placed third here in 1959, was still plagued by a food-tendon injury and dropped out at the three-quarter mark after running with the leaders.

FOR a mighty fine 3-bedroom home just east of the City — on the dividing line (No. 7 and 2) has a garage and a big big lot—only $12,900 for the price or only $11,400 and look at the down payment — $1,500 — I think you will want to handle your phone.

DO YOU HAVE $5,000 ?

Wish that you can buy a wonderful 3-family (triplex) investment property at a full price of only $17,500.00. Not only a couple of blocks from downtown and you will show a net profit per year of $1,800 on this investment. The owner is ready to be the right person for disposing of this property.

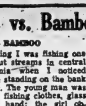
WONDERS of NATURE

The arts department in Art communities is doing a mural on a wall of a house. A lighted candle placed in an art nest makes a mural again proves how artistic these little one are.

They climb the candle and each little formfit cold on the flame when it reaches the wick. As the flame is out, they know that the future is there is nothing left.

The heat of the burning oil seems to draw them crazy and they would wreck a fight.

They attack the fire electing their wings and fly around with no sign of organized fire fighting.



Ants, who live in the woodpiles and nesting places of the Yellow Ant, collect odor to extinguish a colony in bold, for example, get very excited.

Glass vs. Bamboo Fishing Rods

GLASS VS BAMBOO

Last spring I was fishing one of the trout streams in central Pennsylvania when I noticed two people standing on the bank behind me. The young man was dressed in fishing clothes, and a fly rod in hand; the girl obviously was not fishing as she wore a T-shirt, shorts, and sneakers. I reeled in my line and waded ashore.

Both of the youngsters greeted me pleasantly and began talking about the fishing. Then the young man spoke up—

"Excuse me, Sir, but is that a bamboo rod?"

I assured him that it was, and he continued, "Gosh, that's very good.

"May I see it, please? I've never seen a bamboo fly rod."

"Are you serious?" I inquired. "Do you actually mean that you never have seen a bamboo rod?"

"Yes, Sir," he replied. "I've heard of them, of course, but this is the first time I've ever seen one."

"How long have you been trout fishing?"

"This is my second year."

And there it was — two years on trout streams, and he had seen nothing but glass. Doesn't sound possible but it happened. I handed him the rod and answered as best I could, his questions about bamboo rods.

28 YEARS AGO

Glass as a rod material came into being about 30 years ago. The first ones that I saw were displayed by the Shakespeare Co., at the Sportsmen's Show in New York in 1940 or 1941, if my memory serves me correctly. These were of solid glass construction, like bibulo canes of later. Rods of solid glass are exactly what the name implies; they are made from several hundred thousand long, identical glass threads bonded together by one of the resin plastics.

These are of lower cost construction coasts and are still being made in the material cost not lend itself to the production of high-grade rods. I mentioned the fact that they are heavy, lacked a great deal in taper design and action, the salesman in charge of the display booth agreed with me, but went on to say that the public could not keep up with the demand. This obviously appealed to the public fancy.

Tubular glass rod sections, because of the fact that they are tubular and thus have less bulk of material in them, are lighter than those of solid construction. Essentially the materials used in the two types are the same — glass threads and resin plastic. But the construction of tubular rod sections is a great deal more elaborate.

First, carefully designed sections of glass cloth, cut to produce exact taper design, are wrapped around a steel mandrel. Resin plastic holds these wrappings together. Then the section is "cured" and the mandrel withdrawn. The better grade rods and best rods are also made from tubular sections.

Bamboo rods, the good ones, are made from strips of bamboo split from butt-cut stalks of Tonkin bamboo cane. That particular type of bamboo is usually hard and tough. The strips are placed in V-shaped steel forms and planed by hand to triangular strips. The less machine-made rods have strips that are shaped by a rotary knife. Once the strips are cut to pattern, they are bound together, usually six strips to a section, and glued, producing a hexagonal six-sided rod.

Bamboo is porous and it was learned that mercury, under heavy pressure, can be forced into one end of a bamboo rod section and out the other. One company — Orvis — uses this method to impregnate bamboo with benzite, in the way producing a waterproof section that does not require varnish.

BAMBOO NEEDS CARE

Even so, bamboo rods need a great deal of care. Too much heat is likely to ruin a bamboo rod. Storage in damp cases will produce mildew which causes seasta glue to deteriorate so that the rod will come apart. Small sections of deterioration cause the strips to slip slightly and the rod will lose its "set." Overstrain while playing a fish will cause a set.

Conversely, a good glass rod requires little or no care. Its construction makes it almost proof and glass does not suffer from mildew. Glass rods will stand up under all manner of abuse, which would wreck a bamboo rod. Glass rods are made ordeal, straight and true, as a result nothing like bamboo, together by one of the resin plastics.

These are of lower construction costs and are still being made in the material cost not lend itself to the production of high-grade rods. I mentioned the fact that they are heavy, lacked a great deal in taper design and action, the salesman in charge of the display booth agreed with me, but went on to say that the public could not keep up with the demand. This obviously appealed to the public fancy.

But the taper of a good fly rod is a complicated and delicate thing. Because of the flexibility formula, which applies to any material that will bend and return to its original position is this — flexibility of a rod (bamboo, glass or what have you) varies as the cube of the diameter. Consider this for a moment and you can see quite readily why no two fly rods have exactly the same action.

Admittedly, glass rods are improving in quality as the years pass. Eventually they

Smokies Quakers All Even

SASKATOON (CP)—Veteran Laurie Sarsaw scored at 9:10 of the sudden - death second overtime period Friday night to give Trail Smoke Eaters a 7-6 victory over Saskatoon Quakers in the sixth game of their Allan Cup semi-final.

The game, before a sell-out crowd of more than 3,000, deadlocked the best-of-seven series at three games with the seventh game scheduled here Monday night.

Howie Hornby, with two, defenceman Harry Smith, Russ Sutherland, Norm Lazarchon and Cal Hockey scored the other Trail goals. Don Smith, Ron Yaeger, Andy Voykin, Charlie Goodwin, Jackie McLeod and Gerry Melnyk scored for Saskatoon. George Senick, who scored five goals in Quakers' previous game night, assisted on four goals Friday night.

Mary Stewart Breaks Record

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Mary Stewart of Vancouver broke the 17-year-old women's world running record for her U.S. mark of 29.2 seconds.

Robyn Johnson a 16-year-old from Arlington, Va., swam the 400-metre freestyle in five minutes, 27.3 seconds.

And Donna Devarona, 14, of Inglewood, Calif., successfully defended her 200 - yard individual medley championship, setting the third U.S. record of the day and fourth of the meet with 2:18.9.

PENSION PLAN READY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Football League player pension plan, with $1,000,000 already in the till and $500,000 annually coming in starting this year, is expected to be activated in 1962, Pete Retzlaff, president of the NFL's players' association, said Thursday the plan is the biggest step as the benefit program—its guts so far as to be submitted for an internal revenue department opinion.

DESERONTO

Town to Vote on Proposal To Join Napanee H. S. Area

DESERONTO—Two important items concerning the welfare of the town and having considerable influence on the future progress of Deseronto were dealt with at the regular council meeting on Monday night. As the result of a motion of Reeve Lott and Councillor Howard the town will vote on the proposal to join the Napanee High School area on June 11.

Reeve Lott introduced the question and advised that he thought the town should be represented from the school board and, as he said, the matter was one important for the council to make the decision. Council were advised that it would be two years before Napanee could absorb the Deseronto school if the town wished to enter their area. Councillor Detlor suggested that the vote be deferred until the municipal election in December as there was no particular rush to make a decision. The town could make application and would be accepted even after a vote in December if the people so desired. However the council passed the motion made by Councillor Detlor dissenting. It was a recorded vote.

Council spent more time in discussion on the matter of selling a lot or part of a lot to E. Lock and E. J. Gardner for a parking lot. Apparently the property committee had not discussed the proposed sale and the council only had the recommendation of the chairman, Councillor Alford, on the matter. There was some confusion as to the proper area and plan of the lot in question. The council finally agreed to sell the land subject to a survey which will be paid for by Lock and Gardiner.

NO SECONDER

On the school question Councillor Alford tried to introduce a motion that council concur in the recommendation of the school board but he could not get anyone to second the motion. He also proposed a vote of a motion of confidence in the school board.

The other matter of importance in the writers of the town was a letter from the Water Resources Commission concerning the water supply of the town. Frai read was a letter concerning the supply of water to the plant on the Island Yonders in which the engineer, Mr. Hastings, stated the importance and taste of the water and suggested that either a complete new supply should have to be built or the present supply be given a ground source proceeded with. He was referring to the wells which were started on the Island last year. The effort there was not completed.

The letter from the Water Resources Commission dealt with water supply as well as the contaminating waste now being directed into the bay.

TENDERS ARE SEWER

They referred specifically to the new sewage now being constructed by the sewer on Centre street with some fifty houses using the sewer. They recommended that the officials should consider the acquisition of the sewage disposal system. On this matter the council had a joint meeting with the Public Utilities Commission should be held as the latter are considering a $10,000 outlay on the water and sewer. The meeting was set for next Monday night.

The street committee advised that their program for surfacing the streets would have to be altered as the streets were not in a condition for resurfacing. The McFarland conduction Co. recommended that the streets be scarified, graded and gravelled before the surfacing and a light asphalt face oil. The committee were advised to proceed with the work as recommended.

The finance committee advised that there was one copy of the town audit available at the town office to anyone desiring to peruse it.

Council also granted the Kinsmen ball committee permission to raise his fees to four dollars for an outhouse instead of the three dollars he has been collecting.

NO WAY

Mead said he still didn't know the reason for his passengers' actions.

I was at 9,000 feet over Cranberry Pond (a recreation area at the ocean front) and Eastham, sitting beside me, was trying out the controls. A couple of minutes later, I asked him what those islands south of us were. He said, 'I'd like to see what's down there.'

FREE PATROL

Just then, I felt a pistol in the back of my neck. They told me to head south along the coast line to seven-mile bridge (in the Florida keys).

Then they told me to turn off shore and follow a heading of 210 degrees to Cuba.

I bit Cuba about 30 miles east of Havana and followed a highway toward town, looking for a place to land. Finally, I saw a field. I didn't know it would turn out to be a military training field. On my final approach I saw machine-guns pointed right at me—I was scared.

We landed and I turned off the engine. It was a scene mixed-up. The guard arrived and took us to operations in a truck. Then, they questioned us for about four hours each. I guess we were there 12 or 14 hours. Eastham told them he and his Cubans they had forced me to fly to Havana. The Cubans then left. I was met by the FBI, CIA, immigration, and so on.

TAKEN TO TOWN

Finally, they took us into town to G-2 headquarters. They let us sleep. I was there for five days—in one room with a bath.

I was questioned during this time. I'd by interpreters who didn't speak very good English. Finally, toward the end, I was taken to Castro. I was telling the truth. They said I would probably get to go back to the United States.

Yesterday they took us to Primitive Prison for five hours. That place is unbelievable. Men are living on hard stone floors. The blankets are filthy. I was scared in death.

Finally, Thursday night, they took us from Principe to deportation headquarters and told us we were flying to the mainland.

Friday morning, armed guards took us to the plane.

They were pretty nervous on the way home. They didn't talk much.

The Cubas kept all my identification papers. Also, while I was there, I asked if I would be able to get my pistol back; but I never got an answer.

Address on Budget Debate Given By E. Sandercock

(Following are the remarks of C.C.F.—Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P., Hastings West on the Budget Debate, April 17.)

Mr. Speaker is making a few remarks on the budget debate, I would at the outset take this opportunity to thank all those who remembered me while I was in the hospital for a few months this past year. The people of the Riding which I have the honor to represent did everything in their power on my behalf while I was in the Kingston hospital.

I would also like to thank the government and the members for flowers letters and cards sent to me.

There are four members whom I would especially like to mention. The Member from East Hastings, Clarke Rollies—we all know our sincere sympathy to him at this time in connection with the tragedy that happened in his family. The Honorable W. A. Goodfellow, whose family has been saddened by a fatal accident—we all extend our deepest regrets. Also, the Member from Prince Edward-Lennox, Norris Whitney, who is absent from Provincial House during hours each. I guess we were there 12 or 14 hours. Eastham told them he and his Cubans they had forced me to fly to Havana. The Cubans then left. I was met by the FBI, CIA, immigration, and so on.

come everybody gets out of there."

The club was ultimately closed by a police raid and later reopened as the New Ramsay Club. It has been alleged the new operators were associated with the gambling fraternity with which Feeley is connected.

Chief Shrubb said that while the sum fine Feeley had offered him $1,000 a month if he would protect the gamblers by supplying tip offs about raids, "For anyone to detect it would be an impossibility, he told me," Chief Shrubb said. An envelope containing $1,000 was to be placed in his mailbox every month.

Chief Shrubb also told the commission, headed by Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, that in 1955 OPP Inspector Allan Stringer approached him and offered him a promotion to sergeant in the inspector's Peterborough district.

Chief Shrubb was "leery" about the offer because Insp. Stringer's name was mixed up in some matters that had been before the courts.

TO INTERVENE?

Chief Shrubb said he thought the offer was promotion and a transfer was possibly something to "interfere with our duties as policemen in connection with criminal offences were defended by Feeley, Chief Shrubb said, apparently in reference to reports in the OPP office said he dictated in one telephone call he received from Feeley. The cases he mentioned was a case involving gambling clubs in 1956. The raids failed.

After one raid on a nearby Cockfield club Chief Shrubb said Feeley telephoned him and asked if the raid had come two hours before he expected it.

On May 27, 1957, Feeley called him to say the squad would soon start investigation of clubs in the Port Hope area, and was telling Chief Shrubb this just in case he hadn't heard of the plan.

Dissolution of the Parliament elected March 31, 1958, came at 2:36 p.m. EST Thursday in Government-General Vanier's study in the Citadel here.

SETS DATE

Approval followed quickly of an order-in-council setting June 18 for the election and issuance of proclamations—that the old Parliament has been dissolved; that the members of the new Parliament be declared or officially by July 18, one month after voting day, and that the new Parliament will meet July 25. The latter was a "pro forma" date and the actual date of summoning the new Parliament to work will be set later.

Mr. Diefenbaker was in a free-and-easy mood, recalling stories of his legal and political career informally for reporters who accompanied him on the flight to and from Quebec City.

He said he will open his campaign officially in London, Ont., May 5. It will be the occasion on which he will lay down the progressive Conservative election manifesto.

He flew to Port Arthur Wednesday to open the Lakehead Sportsman's Show—a non - political entertainment—and then to Moose Jaw.

Mother of Charged Youth Forced to Leave Her Home

TORONTO (CP)—The mother of a youth who has been charged with the capital murder of two small boys has been driven from her home by an enormous telephone call.

She has abandoned her job as cashier because she cannot face her fellow-workers.

Her 19-year-old son, Gary McCorkell, was in Toronto's Don Jail awaiting trial for the manslaughter killing of Michael Atkinson, 2, and Ronald McLeod, 3, who were found dead Wednesday in the warehouse of a furniture company where the youth was employed.

Mrs. McCorkell, whose family's only source of income was her job, has been separated from her husband for 15 years.

The phone at the McCorkell apartment has been ringing constantly since her son was charged.

"It just rang and rang all day yesterday," Mrs. McCorkell said. "They don't say anything. I would say 'Hullo' and then they would hang up. I just couldn't take it any more."

CAN'T SEE HIM

Mrs. McCorkell has not been allowed to see her son since his arrest but has been able to keep in touch with him through the Salvation Army.

"The police won't let me see him," she said. "They say it's because of the holidays and I should settle down first. I will see him at the beginning of the week."

The only message relayed through the Salvation Army so far was: "Give mum my love."

Gary is the eldest of a family of three, an 18-year-old sister and an epileptic 16-year-old brother, and is a good boy in the eyes of his mother.

Mrs. McCorkell described her son as quiet—"He didn't associate much, but there is a reason—he always took care of my brother. He has always been good to me. I couldn't ask for a better son."

Insp. William McNeely said he believed the boys were first smothered by a man who kept his hands over their mouths so they could not cry for help.

Mrs. Daniel McLeod, expecting another child next month, and Mrs. Charles Atkinson, who is expecting in October, were placed under sedation.

Dr. Hugh van Petter, said that autopsies showed the two children died of asphyxiation due to smothering.

McCorkell, tall, thin, has been employed for about year as a $65-a-week shipper. He has been remanded to April 26 for hearing.

Rescue Teams Bring Miner To Surface

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Rescue teams today brought Russel Baskin to the surface from the workings where he and another miner were trapped about midnight Wednesday in the Macassa gold mine.

The other miner, Ryszard Witchrak, 36, still has not been rescued.

Baskin, 36, was brought to the surface at 6:40 a.m., more than 24 hours after he was first found. A large rock lodged in his abdomen had been removed.

Baskin was reported in critical condition. Hospital officials said he suffered shock, a possible fractured left hand and other injuries.

Baskin said Witchrak was still behind him in the rubble-filled tunnel 4,300 feet underground where the two men were trapped by a cavein.

GIVEN MORPHINE

Baskin was treated through a tube given by Dr. J. E. Nicholls who gave his patient morphine to relieve the pain from multiple pressure sores.

The searchers, who have been working almost non-stop since early Thursday, were continuing to dig the theory Witchrak is trapped near where Baskin was found.

ponent of nuclear weapons, took part in a peace march in Victoria. A nuclear disarmament rally was held outside Ottawa today, ending on Parliament Hill.

Another kind of parade—a "silent, prayerful vigil" — was being held in Quebec in the cause of disarmament and peace in New York's Times Square.

PLAN LONG STAY

The line of men and women gathered Friday afternoon, and planned to stay there around-the-clock until a worship service Sunday morning. Their purpose was explained in a statement.

"We stand here to reaffirm these beliefs . . . that no man should kill another; that war and preparation for war brutalize society; that non - violent means can be found to ease world tensions."

Meanwhile, thousands of Canadians left town for a three-day holiday way generally fair weather was enjoyed across the country.

Across the country, churches scheduled late-night watch services, awaiting the Easter dawn.

In the United States thousands of people flocked to open - air beauty spots for big interdenominational celebrations. Sunrise services were scheduled at many places.

* * *

If today is your birthday . . . you can and like to make your own decisions, don't want "on your own" early. Make moves this year. Be independent. Financial opportunity likely in July, Aug.

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn. Not time to force issues. Tendency is for most persons to wait and see. Those who demand immediate reactions might be disappointed.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21): You benefit by displaying sense of humor. Members of opposite sex attracted by fiery personality. You have pull in day and evening in store! Full steam ahead with confidence.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Practical and typical Virgo approach best today. Others may discourage you. But if you stick by guns, today could see you gaining more than you imagined.

Libra (Sept. 23to Oct. 22): Knowing when to stop very important this day. You can gain much, but temptation will be to push for additional benefits. Sum up original goals and halt when achieved.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Tendency to be ultra-conservative today. You're better off if you 'let yourself go.' Loosen the budget a bit. Entertain friends. Show loved ones you really care.

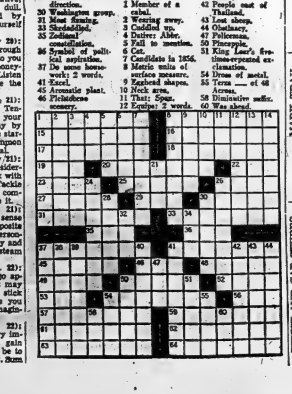
Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Could be red-letter day if you avoid petty quarrel. One close to you could be irritable. But if you are considerate, it works out in your favor.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Excellent for new starts in new directions. Exhibit independence, originality of thought, action. Forget about keeping status quo. Move forward!

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Sense of surroundings comes in fore. Meet obligations. Tonight, good for entertaining at home, "airing out" problems. Intelligent discursion ends needless fears.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Avoid "big promise makers" who just talk.Stick with those who have proved loyal in the past. Give courteous but firm no to big operators.

* * *



If today is your birthday . . . could be year in which you are able to spread your influence, find greater happiness. Indications are that one major cycle ends, new another important one is about to begin.

General Tendencies: Those who call for action win out over those who would maintain status quo. International leaders make known true views. Very little beating around bush. The talk is frank, and action follows.

The Golden Years

Retirement Life's Finest Time Claims a Woman Who Loves It

By THOMAS COLLINS

"I went out to visit a retirement village the other day. I looked at the model home in it.

"I wish I had seen it and could have moved into it when I was a bride.

"Everything has been carefully thought out, and it is very nice. You can eat and sleep and all. But as of now, for me to live there would be like living in luxury and waiting for death. There isn't room for a hobby. I couldn't even put my sewing machine in. And the flowers are already planted. That wouldn't thrill me, because a plant belong to him who sows the seed.

"Keep it for brides. It wasn't meant for me.

This speaks a lady in Fresno, Calif., who would like to point out to people that no time of life is more exciting than the Golden Years.

Her name is Mrs. Dulcie Brown. Her excitement: the world about her.

"The very act of waking up in the morning," she says, "can be a great adventure. You can stretch and lie there and laugh inwardly as you realize you can take your own sweet time about it, not get up at all- if you don't want to.

"How many times in those years when you were the slave of time did you long for this day . . . the luxury of lying in bed in the morning with nothing at all that has to be done today? And if there is you can always put it off until tomorrow. . . ."

LITTLE MONEY NEEDED

Mrs. Brown says excitement can be had in retirement, with very little money, especially if you live in a city. Recreation areas such as parks, zoos and museums are made for you, she explains, and best of all is the fairyland of nature that lies at the end of the bus line. "Every flower, bush and stone can mean something to you. And shouts in the trees and birds . . ."

If you want excitement of another kind, she says, "there never was greater drama on any stage than you can find in the courtrooms of the city. You can sit and watch justice at work as long as you like. . . ."

Then there are the clubs and dances for older people that most cities have. There are picnics, meetings of your church and free lectures all over. You can browse in the library or through the books and take trips back through time to any point you like.

Tiring of these things, you can go to the police station and watch the policemen at work. "They don't mind. In fact they are glad to get the attention. Even the good men in the fire stations do not mind your browsing through and looking at their equipment. They are proud of it . . . and like for you to be, too.

According to Mrs. Brown, you can visit your family, but not too often. "You can find youth all over again by playing for a day with your grandchildren. If you have none there are always some you can borrow from the neighbors.

"Children are wonderful inspirations and as long as you don't stay with them too long. We can share the zip between age and youth for a day, and no more a day at a time with something else in between . . . .

IN HER OWN WORDS

Now listen to her:

"I look back yard is just one more old back yard. But to me it is a world of enchantment. There are orange trees in the spring and their white perfume in the spring and their golden globes of sunshine in the fall. Out there I give my first little seed to the ground. The sun and the rain caress it and present me with an exquisite flower or luscious blossoms. Where on all this earth can you find greater excitement than this?

"I plant a different kind of seed in the beautiful red-bud orchestra. I plant a fig tree and it gives me figs. These aren't just tomatoes and figs for me. They are the way God answers when I call on Him.

"I can eat them with true thanksgiving, for they are my faith in the perpetuity of life.

"My mockingbird flies south in the winter but when he sits once more in the orange tree by the back door, and sings in the morning, I'll be back home.

"There are a thousand things to provide excitement, a million thrills yet undiscovered . . . ."

Let Mechanic Diagnose Your Car Troubles

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

A car owner, convinced that ignition trouble was responsible for poor gas mileage, had new plugs and points installed and the timing double-checked. When there was no improvement, he let the mechanic do the diagnosing. A clicking automatic choke that was "not clean" even quickly found to be at fault.

Another motorist whose car was overheating told his station man to flush and clean the cooling system and remove the thermostat. Two days later he had a crack again with the same complaint. The mechanic took over and discovered that a sticking thermostat valve was the real troublemaker.

U.S. READY TO START NUCLEAR TESTS

SALAN IN HANDCUFFS — Ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, head of the terrorist army in Algeria, is linked to a guard by wrist chain at an airport near Algiers shortly after his capture. Salan was flown to Paris to stand trial as a traitor to France. (AP Wirephoto).

French Army Told to Shoot Members of OAS on Sight

ORAN, Algeria (Reuters) — French troops took up posts in Oran today with orders to shoot on sight any member of the right-wing terrorist Secret Army Organization.

The orders came into effect with the start of an all - out drive by the French government to break the Secret Army's grip on this beleaguered western Algerian city.

The drive is expected to be climaxed early this week by a showdown battle between the French forces and the Secret Army, backed up by many battle-hardened French Army deserters.

In preparation for the expected conflict, 5,000 to 6,000 reinforcements are reported to have taken up key positions in and around the port city.

The shoot on - sight orders were issued four days ago at a meeting in Paris between Charles de Gaulle and Gen. Michel Fourquet, the new French commander-in-chief in Algeria.

Fourquet, who replaced Gen. Jean Emile Jouhaud as commander-in-chief in Algeria, flew to Oran on April 21, apply also to anyone espousing an apartment balconies or rooftops—favorite sniper nests for European Extremists.

TRYING TO RALLY ARMY

The terrorist organization is attempting to rally its forces in the wake of the capture three days ago of its leader, ex-Gen. Raoul Salan.

The Secret Army has vowed to fight on against an independent Algeria despite the arrest of Salan, who was seized in Algiers within a mile of the capture of his top side, ex - Gen. Edmond Jouhaud.

Both men are in Sante Prison in Paris. Salan is awaiting trial while Jouhaud is under the death sentence.

Prince Philip Flies to Ottawa On May 12

LONDON (Reuters) — Prince Philip will fly to Ottawa May 12 on a scheduled British Overseas Airways Corporation flight carrying 107 jet flight, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said Sunday.

The Duke will return to London June 8 on another scheduled flight.

Prince Philip is going to Canada to attend the second Commonwealth study conference in Montreal but his itinerary, announced in Canada earlier this month, includes a number of other events, including a half-day in Quebec City and a visit to the west coast.

He will spend one day at the Seattle world's fair and will attend a dinner of old wild life appeal fund in New York June 7 before flying back to Britain.

RANGER ROCKET TO BE LAUNCHED TOWARD MOON

Take TV Pictures, Scientific Date

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States will employ the most powerful rocket ever today in an attempt to propel the Ranger 4 spacecraft to the moon to take television pictures and gather scientific data.

The launching crew has an 87-minute period late this afternoon in which to fire the 10-story-tall Atlas-Agena B vehicle to put the spacecraft on the proper course for the 229,541-mile journey to the moon.

The shot is one of three major launchings scheduled this week by the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The second and flight of the Saturn super booster is set for Wednesday and the U.S.-British international satellite is to be fired Thursday. The maiden flight of the high - energy Centaur rocket, postponed a fifth time Saturday, also may be squeezed in to the crowded schedule.

The complex Ranger 4 mission involves launching the Agena B second stage into a "parking orbit" 100 miles high and, at the precise moment, restarting it to boost to increase the spacecraft's speed to 24,502 miles an hour to start it on its 60-hour trip to its lunar target.

Sixteen hours after launching, it will be going well, tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., will send a signal to fire a rocket to correct the vehicle's position and move it into a collision course with the moon.

TV ON MOON

Early Thursday morning, when Ranger 4 will be 1,000 miles from the moon's bright side, the spacecraft is to execute a terminal manoeuvre to point its television camera at the lunar landscape.

The camera is to begin operating at an altitude of 1,100 miles and transmit a picture to Goldstone every 10 seconds for the approach down to an altitude of 15 miles.

At this point, the spacecraft is to eject a 12-inch sphere wrapped in a 36-inch coating of shock-absorbing balsa wood. A tiny reverse rocket attached to the sphere is to fire to slow the speed so it will land at a velocity of 60 to 70 miles an hour. The main body of the payload will crash at 6,000 miles and be destroyed.

The instrument package consists of a seismometer, temperature gauge and radio transmitter designed to relay data to earth for at least 30 days.

The body wave date produced by the seismometer, it was said, could reveal whether the moon has a liquid or solid core. The heat gauge, it was said, would determine if the moon has a crust similar to that of earth.

Nuclear Disarmament Pleas Voiced by Demonstrators

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nuclear disarmament demonstrators across Canada staged massive pleas for peace Sunday, coinciding with Easter weekend. Similar demonstrations took place in Britain, Germany, and The Netherlands.

The Canadian campaign for nuclear disarmament organized marches in major cities protesting nuclear tests and demanding Canada not join the nuclear club.

In the capital, about 50 placard - carrying demonstrators marched 10 miles to Parliament Hill and were met by Harry Pope, executive assistant to CCF Leader Hazen Argue, H. W. Herridge, who told them his party favors a ban on nuclear weapons.

The largest demonstration was held in Toronto, where about 650 marchers converged on city hall. Three clergymen—Rev. Glynn Firth, Archdeacon John Frank and Rabbi Abraham Feldman—led them.

Several University of Toronto students heckled the marchers, and carried their own placards criticizing attempts at nuclear disarmament.

"We want to make sure that our Canadian children will live in peace with children of all the other countries of the world," Rabbi Feinberg told the marchers, "and that they will live together on the same planet and not die with them all on the same day."

Similar demonstrations were held in Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, Montreal and other centres.

Meanwhile about 15 marchers from Toronto held services on the Peace Bridge across the Niagara River between Fort Erie, Ont., and Buffalo.

About 1,500 Toronto Tuesday on the start of their 100-mile trek.

Britain's nuclear disarmers set out today on the last lap of a 52-mile march to London, heading for a big Hyde Park rally and demonstration outside the U.S. Embassy.

Most of the 30,000 marchers bedded down for the night on the outskirts of London on the third night of their four - day trek from Britain's atomic research centre at Aldermaston.

They planned to concentrate on new emphasis this year being on the U.S. plans to resume nuclear tests in the Pacific soon.

Chief Electoral Officer All Prepared to Take Vote

OTTAWA (CP)—For a man without a vote, Nelson Castonguay seems to be taking a lot of time worrying about what Canadians would do when election day comes.

While party leaders spend a quiet Easter weekend before launching their campaigns for public favor, the chief electoral officer toiled in his Ottawa office to make sure that 9,000,000 ineligible voters get no chance to pass judgment in a brief, hectic election fight.

To do this he has a team of some 200,000 returning officers, enumerators and other election officials geared for action next Thursday.

"I'm like a football coach," he said in an interview, "every-body else is up on April 23 and since then it's been a matter of hours for my people."

Mr. Castonguay's normal staff of 16 at the central electoral office has been augmented by more than 200 part-time employees and until election day the office will operate in double shifts — 14 hours on week days and eight hours on holidays.

Perhaps the greatest electoral chore starts April 30 when 87,000 enumerators — two in every polling district — go from door to rural areas — start a six-day drive to list the name of every person eligible to vote.

"They will need co-operation from the public, let me tell you," says Mr. Castonguay.

The chief electoral officer is expects there will be 23,483 urban polling divisions and 19,852 rural.

Total cost of the mammoth operations, he estimates, will be $10,700,000, about $1,500,000 more than in 1958.

Another reason for the increase is the change in regulations to allow Canadians ineligible to vote in advance polls. Under such polls were recorded in 1958, with a total of 2,000 operating June 9 and 11 this year, 5,000 will.

Another change is the addition of one hour on election day to give more working people time to cast their ballot. Voting will start at 9 a.m. and end at 7 p.m. rather than at 6 p.m.

Since polling times are set to standard time, it will mean that provinces which have reverted to daylight time will open the polls between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m.

For the 13,726 electors in the Northern Ontario riding of Timiskaming you will have to provide 118 polls and eight clerks to get the votes to gather. The most northerly poll is at Rossbite, 300 miles north of the railway line where there are 60 voters.

Mr. Castonguay intends to take some of the snags out of voting day will be the introduction of

World's Peace Threatened Says Pope Easter Sunday

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John warned an immense Easter throng of pilgrims and the peace of the world is threatened and "we feel anguish at the thought it could be lost."

Nearly 50,000 persons—including thousands of pilgrims and tourists from many parts of the world—heard the Pope plead for peace. It was the 80-year-old pontiff's second such pan ice in 10 days.

His words Sunday and Saturday night were directed not only to Christians, but to all men. Millions heard and saw him on television and radio broadcasts via Eurovue on both occasions.

Pope John celebrated the Solemn Mass of St. Peter's Basilica before a vast throng that spilled out of the basilica into the huge adjoining streets. The Pope spoke after he had celebrated an Easter Sunday mass inside the Basilica for more than 30-minutes.

His words today were more than a repetition of those he spoke Saturday night, when he expressed the thought that "coming Easters could be peaceful —which begins Oct. 11—would be Easter, be a great awakening."

Sunday, after underlining the significance of Christ's resurrection as "a triumph over iniquity" and "an opening of the road to justice and peace," Pope John directed his attention to the dangers to peace.

He said men had not fully heeded the justice of God and that "this was the reason for the tensions that disturb peoples and nations and for the fatal threat that hangs over them."

"Peace," said Pope John, "has been the aspiration of all centuries and of all nations and it is the aspiration of this, our epoch of uncertainty, of fears and of terrible anxieties."

The Pope alluded briefly to modern economic and technological developments which, he said, "have shown their beneficent but which also increase the motives for world disturbance."

"The world today is small," he said, "has motives for fear."

This fear can be dissipated "only with the concerted efforts of all peoples," he said.

"The foundations of peace are truth, justice, love and also generous disposition to give for one's own brothers."

Religious pageantry celebrated the resurrection of Christ and marked the end of the penitential period of Lent. Flowers and fashions welcomed the spring in many places.

Pope John celebrated an Easter mass in the Basilica in Rome. The mass was attended by about 20,000 persons.

The pontiff later stood on the balcony of St. Peter's and addressed more than 250,000 in the courtyard. He warned against godlessness that he said could break the peace.

"The foundations of peace," he said, "are truth, justice, true love and the generous disposition to give for one's own brothers."

Pilgrims from distant lands celebrated the day in the holy city of Jerusalem with a spirit of joy.

Roman Catholics assembled for pontifical high mass in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre and in Bethlehem at the Church of the Nativity, while Anglicans received their communion in St. George's Cathedral.

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twenty-nine persons died in road accidents across Canada during the Easter weekend—two more than the National Safety Council estimated before the week end.

A Canadian Press survey showed that, in all, 46 accidental deaths resulted from auto, train or aircraft accidents.

Last Easter the figure was 37.

Prince Edward Island was the only province reporting no accidental deaths.

In Quebec 12 persons were killed in highway mishaps. Ontario followed with eight road deaths. Three died in car accidents in Manitoba; two each in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia; and one each in Newfoundland and Saskatchewan.

Warm temperatures brought more drownings across the country. Four persons downed in Quebec, three each in Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan, and one each in Ontario and Alberta.

Fires claimed one life each in New Brunswick and Ontario, one person died after a fall in Quebec, another when struck by a train in Ontario, and one death resulted in a shooting accident in Alberta.

The holiday weekend began at 6 p.m. local times Thursday and ended at midnight local times Sunday.

The list does not include injuries or deaths from known suicides or slayings.

Most Festive Day of Year Celebrated by Christians

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The story of Easter was retold in churches and at outdoor services Sunday as Christians around the world celebrated their most festive day of the year.

For thousands of others in many parts of the globe the day was used for protests against the impending resumption of atmospheric nuclear tests by the United States and, possibly, the Soviet Union.

Religious pageantry celebrated the resurrection of Christ and marked the end of the penitential period of Lent. Flowers and fashions welcomed the spring in many places.

Pope John celebrated an Easter mass in the Basilica in Rome. The mass was attended by about 20,000 persons.

Likely To Fire Polaris Missile From Submarine

Perhaps 36 Tests Will Be Made in 3 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of mass and scores of ships of a U.S. task force are preparing for the start this week of U.S. nuclear tests in the air over the Pacific. Some officials say the first explosion could come within 48 hours.

And as the United States gets set to conduct its first nuclear weapons test in the atmosphere since 1958, officials say they are going ahead with a Polaris test is getting ready to fire off another series of its own. Last fall Russia set off about 50 atmospheric tests.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has said if the allies test again his country "will be faced with the need to hold ... tests of new types of its nuclear weapons ... to strengthen its security and maintain world peace."

Indications are there will be perhaps 36 U.S. tests in the next two or three months, above the earth's surface and some probably hundreds of miles aloft.

Speculation on possible fields of U.S. tests has ranged from missiles armed with warheads, to the testing of anti-missile missile radar and communications, the effects a nuclear explosion might have on an enemy nuclear warhead, and research on a defence bomb—a device which theorists say could destroy life without demolishing buildings.

MAY FIRE LIVE A-MISSILE

One of the tests, the New York Times reported in a copyrighted story will be the world's first live firing of a multi-clear-armed, long-range ballistic missile—a Polaris launched from a nuclear - powered submarine, the fuse set but an explosive in the air.

In announcing last March 3 that the United States was ready to start tests in the atmosphere, President Kennedy said his decision was based on Soviet technological advances and some substantial gains in its weapons.

(Reuters news agency reported that before high level talks officials have discounted reports that British Prime Minister Macmillan's visit to Washington attempts to obtain a postponement of the scheduled U.S. atmosphere nuclear tests.)

MARKS OFF AREAS

The Atomic Energy Commission earlier this month announced it had marked off two areas in the Pacific. One encompasses Christmas Island, which is about 1,200 miles south of Honolulu, and the other Johnston Island, about 900 miles southwest of Honolulu.

Most of the men in the U.S. task force will be based on the two islands and among the World Fair Jet Falls on Homes Killing Couple

SEATTLE (AP) — An engine failure at only 1,500 feet caused an air force jet fighter plane to crash into a residential area north of Seattle Saturday, killing two persons.

The crash, just after an aerial salute, marred the opening day of the Seattle World's Fair, attended by President Kennedy at a telegraph key across the continent.

The crash killed two elderly persons in their home, one of two destroyed in the 7100 Delta Dagger interceptor jet which exploded. Four other homes were damaged.

An air force officer told of the desperate efforts of the pilot, Capt. Joseph Wildt of Cincinnati, to restart the plane's engine before ejecting himself and parachuting by safety in Lake Washington.

The plane went three miles further and smashed into the homes in the Mountlake Terrace area just north of Seattle.

Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Smith, both in their late 60s, died in the wreckage of their home.

Wildt's plane was one of 16 F-106s that roared over the fair as it opened its six-month run.

Viet Nam Says Cambodia Army Raids Village

SAIGON (AP) — South Viet Nam accused Cambodia today of sending troops on a raid across its frontier and killing 40 villagers, including 29 women and children.

The semi-official Vietnamese news agency said 200 Cambodian soldiers broke a border outpost, raided the village of Tinh Lac, 120 miles west of Saigon, last Friday.

It said the raiders, armed with machine-guns, rifles and swords, also wounded about 20 Vietnamese and abducted 10 women.

Spurring villagers staged a protest rally Sunday, the agency said, and Vietnamese authorities sent relief supplies to the stricken community.

Aircraft to a Safe Landing

BURRS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A Burrs Falls man drove his car at 90 miles an hour Sunday to guide an aircraft to safety in pre-dawn darkness.

Glen May, who drives through the town's traffic blinking his headlights to guide pilot Fred Harris of Centralia to an emergency landing strip at nearby Emsdale, 15 miles south of North Bay.

On the open highway he sped to Emsdale at speeds up to 90 miles an hour, keeping in front of the aircraft.

"We were just breaking up a party when we heard the plane outside," May said. "It was flying low and we could tell it didn't take us long to realize that if it was a plane, the pilot was in trouble."

Within seconds May had started the rescue operation. Through it all not a word was exchanged with Harris, a commercial airline pilot, who became lost during a night flying course in the single-engine aircraft.

May and neighbor Ross Payne, 25, ran for flashlights when they heard the airplane.

The plane was so low over the town we could see it in the flashlight beam. We signalled to him and he signalled back. We didn't know say Morse code but that's what it looked like he just seemed to know we were going to help him.

While May ran for his car, telephone calls went through to Emsdale and Ernest Thorne, manager of the department of transport airstrip at Emsdale.

At the airstrip, Thorne placed May's car and another at one end of the strip with their beam lights on. Then he drove to the other end in his own car, parking his car and put on the parking lights.

Then as the little airplane, touching down right in the middle of the runway.

Harris, who took off later in the day to return to Centralia, said he became lost when his radio failed in heavy overcast and ran on route to North Bay. He drove down out of the clouds to see the lights of Burrs Falls and was preparing to set down on the highway when the flashlight started blinking below.

"It was a pretty grateful fellow after he was in," said Thorne.

"It was a perfect landing. He was a good pilot. He was calm and cool, fortunately."

TRENTON — Mrs. Yvonne Lewis, 28, of 70 Nicholas Street in Trenton is reported to be in satisfactory condition in Trenton Memorial Hospital today, following an accident on a farm just north of town Sunday afternoon.

However, there was no arrest. Mr. Anderson was merely told that his trailer hitch was obscuring his back license plate and asked to rectify the situation.

NO CONVENER FOUND

Up to the present, no convener has been found for the forthcoming tag day for Trenton and Brighton on May 18 and 19, Mr. Turner said. He hoped that this difficulty would soon be solved. Members agreed that a monthly visit to the school by various local organizations on a rotating basis would be of great interest in the work being done there. Local residents' youngsters. After several other matters of interest had been discussed, Mrs. Sheila Reid, retiring publicity and membership chairman, spoke briefly.

In her talk, Mrs. Reid said the Ontario Association for Retarded Children has founded a scientific research advisory board, composed of leading medical authorities on retardation, to study speed-reading problems. This board helps local associations select research projects and gives financial support. The Canadian Association has succeeded in raising to raise one million dollars towards this project, said Mrs. Reid. Belleville branch agreed to send $100 towards this aim. Mrs. Reid then introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Braxton explained what the association is doing and has achieve in its recreation programs.

"The retarded child in these special programs is not frustrated by trying to keep up with others developing at a different rate," said Mrs. Braxton. She pointed out how these recreation programs help research in perception, discount, recognize colors, etc., and how these programs include self-identification and development of physical fitness. Muscle control may be more difficult in such children because of possible damage to nerve connections. She also found that such children tend to become more withdrawn and recreational programs help to obviate this, said the speaker.

Those present watched a very interesting film on Mentally Retarded Children's summer camp.

Mrs. Braxten then showed photographs of various recreation centres in Ontario. Mentally retarded children are being taught increased use of their minds and muscles through special recreation programs.

Lunch was served by the social committee.

Argentine Navy Insists Vote Be Nullified

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's republic from political crisis ended Sunday night after only one day as the navy put pressure on President Jose Maria Guido to annul provincial elections won by Peronists.

The navy secretary, Rear Admiral Clemente A. Clement, announced that the navy had reached a "firm decision to insist" on the nullification of all that Guido honor a pledge to hold free elections only the results of the March 18 election, which followers of ex - dictator Juan Peron swept sweeping victories.

In a bulletin to all naval commands, Clement said that to assure the "survival of democracy and liberty" in Argentina, it was imperative to outlaw the Communist party and all other totalitarian systems.

The navy, which led the revolt that toppled Peron in 1955, acted quickly after Guido arrived at the Navy Ministry between opposing army factions that had appeared on the verge of sending troops.

Clement said his stand was "fully supported by the armed forces "despite reiterated interferences opposed to its being carried out."

GENERAL THREATENS

Guido had appeared the winner in a struggle with the military when Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania threatened to storm the capital and demanded the resignation of Army Secretary Nicolas Bartolome Carrera and Gen. Raul Poggi, army commander in chief, who had refused to pressure Guido into nullifying the Peronist election victories by decree.

Both Carrera and Poggi resigned and Guido named a relative unknown, Gen. Juan Bautista Loza, as army secretary. Loza then named himself commander in chief, and March 19 turn resigned his command.

But it is suspected Guido's stand that the nullification of the election results by decree would be unconstitutional, and that the Peronist wins could only be accomplished by congress. But no admiral told reporters after Clement's statement: "Guido has not now, Congress or Congress."

Many members of Congress are opposed to cancelling out the election results, which gave the Peronist nine provincial governorships and 43 seats in the lower house of Congress.

White Shrine Installs New Officers

One of the highlights of Bethlehem White Shrine of Jerusalem No. 11, took place recently in the IOOF hall, Belleville when Sojs. Nora MacDonald was installed as worthy High Priestess, with Soj. Reginald Cooper, as Watchman of Shepherds, admidst a setting of blue and white, banana, red roses and ferns.

Girls were made to the incoming WHP and to Soj. Kathryn Bushell the retiring WHP, who opened the meeting. Many out-of-town visitors were present filling the hall to capacity. Before retiring WHP Kathryn Bushell presented each of her officers with a gift, and in turn was presented with a beautiful chest of silver, the gift of the Shrine for the year. A lovely bouquet of white, bronze and yellow mums were presented on behalf of her brother Soj. Lee Collier and her sister Soj. Margaret Archer, by Soj. Nora MacDonald. Soj. Yorke Archer had the honour of presenting her with her PWHP jewel: and Soj. Bessie Hollinger presented Soj. David Hollinger with his PWOS pin.

The ceremony of installation was impressively performed by the installing board headed by Soj. Kathryn Bushell PWHP, assisted by the following staff: installing PWHP, Soj. A most enjoyable feature of the evening was the solos rendered by Soj. Winnifred Treneer of Mizpah Shrine, Kingston, Ontario.

During installation WHP Nora MacDonald carried a beautiful bouquet of red roses, given to her by her husband, Soj. James MacDonald, by two daughters Soj. Beverly Brinkman and Soj. Lynda MacDonald. A memorable feature of the evening was that Soj. Nora MacDonald and Soj. Brinkman had the fact that two of her daughters were officers for her year. Unfortunately Soj. Brinkman's dent her husband was unable to attend and take part in her installation, in order to make her evening complete, however, his flowers were certainly with her as in evidence of the beautiful bouquet he sent roses Soj. Nora MacDonald was carrying.

Following installation all retired to the upper hall where a banquet, in the form of a pot-luck supper had been prepared. The tables were tastefully and beautifully decorated. The floral centrepiece of blue, red hyacinths, and a vase of yellow WHP, the colors being carried out in miniature vases along the tables. The meal was followed through with her colors by presentations to the officers with a lovely corsage of red roses and blue morning glory, WHP and Soj. Archer.

NEW CHURCH EXTENSION — Building committee chairmen, present and past, Mrs. Cs. Burr and W. J. Morrison, combine forces to break ground for new Bridge Street Church Extension at sod turning ceremony Sunday. Ceremony was conducted by Rev. M. Davis (at right). Overall cost of extension with furnishings will be about $200,000.

Turn Sod for New Chapel For Bridge Street Church

With sod turning ceremonies Sunday officially signalling the construction start, the general contractor was expected to move on the job early this week to commence excavation for the new Bridge Street United Church Christian Education Extension and chapel.

The new $135,000 two-storey structure will be a T-shaped extension at the west and north ends of the present church, the chancel facing the east, and to be a fourth entrance to the church from Bridge Street.

Above-ground work on the new church extension will as much as possible be in keeping with the present stonework. Stone from the razed portion of the old Hastings county courthouse will be used to face the new church extension.

Yesterday's sod turning ceremony was held on the church lawn following the regular church service.

Rev. H. M. Davis conducted the ceremony with W. J. Morrison, first chairman of the building committee, and Douglas C. Burr, present building committee chairman, joining forces to turn the first sod.

The present Bridge Street United Church was dedicated seventy-five years ago. It replaced an original structure built in 1854 which was later destroyed by fire.

'Bill' Ireland Was Closely Identified With Trenton Life

William Henry "Bill" Ireland, former Conservative member for West Hastings, prominent in religious, civic and business life, and lifelong resident of Trenton, died at his home, 27 Marmora Street, early on Sunday morning after he had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. Ireland was born in Trenton 78 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Ireland and after receiving his education in the public and nigh school of his native town joined his father in the grocery business and carried on the business for many years after his father died. Later he retired from business and of late years has been interested in the real estate business.

The many phases of community life in Trenton are woven about Mr. Ireland. From his early manhood he took an active interest in the civic life of the municipality and served as councillor and from 1917 to 1919 he served as mayor. In 1919 he entered the provincial field of politics and was nominated and elected to the Legislature as a Conservative for Hastings West and served his riding with fidelity and ability until 1934 when he retired.

During the first four years of his tenure of office he was the chief Conservative Whip of the Legislature in Howard Ferguson government. So popular was he with the Conservative party as a whole he was honored with the position of President of the Conservative Association of Ontario.

Mr. Ireland took an active interest in the education field of his native town and served with distinction on the High School Board and was also chairman of the board for several years. Mrs. Ireland, a great humanitarian, with other professional interests in town, conceived the idea that a hospital was urgently needed in the community. As a result he was named chairman of the board of governors, a position he held until the splendid well-equipped hospital was in Trenton became a reality. To show their appreciation of his efforts, Ireland was made an honorary chairman of the board.

ACTIVE IN CHURCH

He was an active and energetic member of King Street United Church all of his life. He was a member of the Board of Trustees for many years and for a number of terms he was chairman of the board. Fraternally he was identified with the Masonic Order and the Order of Odd Fellows. He was a life member of Trent Lodge, A.F. and A.M. No. 38; St. Mark's Chapter, Royal Arch Masons; the Baldwin Preceptory, No. 6, of Belleville, and Rameses Temple in Toronto. He took a particular interest in the crippled children's work of Shrine and was always ready and willing to advance any project for their comfort and cure. He was also a life member of Trenton Lodge, IOOF, No. 142.

When the Victoria and Grey Trail was established through this city, Mr. Ireland was appointed a member of the Advisory Board of the local branch office. Mr. Ireland had been a keen sportsman both personal and in the political field. He was affable, very well known and had the knack of keeping friendships over a long period of time. The word was his bond and he was never happier when when trying to help a friend or doing something for one of his constituents no matter what his political faith. He was a loving husband and kind father and will be sadly missed by a host of friends.

Besides his wife are one daughter, Mrs. William (Eleanor) McKeown and two sons, William H. and Ralph Ireland, all of Trenton and Troy Store, all of Trenton. His wife the former, Mabel R. Adam, died in 1958.

The funeral will be held in King Street United Church on Wednesday afternoon at 3.00 o'clock with interment in Mount Evergreen cemetery.

12 Complaints Against Union Filed in Court

MONTREAL (CP) — Twelve complaints that a week - old strike of Quebec truck drivers and helpers is illegal were filed in criminal court here Saturday.

The complaints were filed against the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IBT) and some of their local officers by three of the nine firms affected by the walkout which has slowed truck traffic between Quebec and Ontario to a near halt.

Eight of the firms involved also have announced they will seek court injunctions Tuesday to restrict the numbers of pickets at their depots.

The companies were also considering strikes against the union to recover money lost during the walkout.

The criminal action came after the Quebec Labor Board gave the three companies—H. Smith Transport, Drummond Transit and Inter-City Truck Lines—permission to prosecute.

The action is believed to be unprecedented in Quebec.

OTHERS MAY ASK

In addition the companies that already have filed complaints, five others—Kingsway, Smith Transport, Husband, Workways of Quebec and Montreal-Cleary—have been expected to file for injunctions.

A spokesman for the companies' negotiating committee said representatives of the ninth firm, St. John-Iberville Transport, are out of town but may take similar action.

The companies based their action on that fact that the transport firms have been three days after a conciliation board report was issued. They say the law requires a seven-day cooling-off period.

The union called the strike to back demands for a 30-cent increase in the five - driver present basic wage of $1.35 an hour. The conciliation board recommendation of a 16-cent boost was turned down.

Turn Sod for New Chapel Supreme Soviet Is to Re-elect Mr. K. Premier

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev is to be re-elected premier of the Soviet Union today at a session of the Supreme Soviet that may be used by Khrushchev as a platform for a major policy speech.

The 68-year-old Khrushchev, who said a few days ago that he is working harder than ever, is expected to review domestic and world affairs. He was a key indication when a Khrushchev speech appeared on the two or three-day session.

U.S. plans to hold new nuclear tests in the atmosphere are expected to come in for another tongue-lashing from the Soviet premier. On the domestic front, his main worry is to give a boost to his program of stilling agriculture. The parliament probably will be told of increased financial allocations to stimulate agricultural production.

The Supreme Soviet session is the first since election last month, and more than 50 per cent of the members are new. They also will approve a new Soviet cabinet. It is expected to be largely the same as the one Khrushchev has been heading but the only woman member, Minister of Culture Ekaterina Furtseva, may be dropped. She was dropped from the Communist party presidium last October and was not a candidate for re-election to the Supreme Soviet.

Turning Back the Clock?

There may be some momentous significance about the reported "back-to-the-land" call of Red China's Premier Chou En-lai—but he would be a brave and foolish man who, on the basis of one speech to the National People's Congress, would attempt to forecast future developments in that vast country.

Much of China's policy appears inexplicable to us. It is a crowded country, already overpopulated and with much of its arable land depleted by countless centuries of intensive cultivation. Yet the communists have done nothing to decrease the birthrate, and this despite the fact that the earlier interpretations of Marxian doctrine, to which they cling, form no barrier to such a program of birth control. The most common explanation is that Mao believes in the inevitability of war between communist and capitalist states, believes that such a war would be a nuclear one and is pinning his faith on sheer weight of numbers, in the conviction that the laws of chance mean that many Chinese would survive such a holocaust.

Such a policy makes it inevitable that feeding the growing population should become increasingly difficult. But it is also doubtful whether more men on the land will do much to increase production of food—better results, one would have thought, would have flowed from dependence on scientific methods in selection of seed and control of disease and pests. We would have thought, too, that the Chinese would have turned to increased foreign trade, as the best way of obtaining food in exchange for exports of manufactured goods which, with the use of China's cheap and abundant labor, should be able to find markets. The Reds, though, seem to be almost perversely efficient, are anxious to avoid a continuance of the situation which has forced them to place the welcomed orders for Canadian grain.

Possibly we in the West do not appreciate the iron which the Chinese economy has sustained as the result of the estrangement between many of the overseas Chinese and their native land, reducing the flow of goods and money formerly sent home to relatives.

Yet, in the end, surely the trend in China, as in all other countries of the world, must be away from, rather than back to, the land. If the communists are to retain power, they must eventually raise the standard of living of the masses, and living standards can only be raised when a smaller proportion of available manpower is needed to feed the nation. This would appear to hold true even in a country as heavily populated as China.

Rep. by Pop. Solution?

One of the most difficult problems facing Canadian legislators is to devise a workable method of making electoral districts conform to the principle of representation by population.

This difficulty is increasing, rather than diminishing. In the past couple of decades Canada's larger cities have grown tremendously. Rural districts have not enjoyed the same rate of growth—indeed in some cases the population has actually diminished. A trend like this demands that either the number of urban representatives be increased or the number of rural representatives be diminished. Adopting the former solution would swell legislative bodies to unwieldy size. The latter course runs into the objection that a member of the Commons or Legislature could not serve a rural riding larger than those at present existing.

Recently a member of the British Columbia Legislature suggested that members who represent big, sparsely populated ridings should be given more money. It would appear he did not have the problem of representation by population in mind, but was concerned only with the costs of travel in big ridings. Still, by applying the same principle to rural ridings, a practical solution might be found to the difficulty now experienced in giving equal value to every vote. The boundaries of a riding could be decided by population density; the remuneration which the member for the riding would receive, over and above a certain basic indemnity, could vary in ratio to the size of the riding. This difference in remuneration should be sufficient not only to pay additional travel costs, but also to compensate the member for a more limited time the additional time he would have to devote to serving the interests of his widely-scattered constituents, interest which might vary more widely than those of people in a compact rural riding.

A successful political television show seems to be more and more a cross between a music hall turn and a scene in a torture chamber. —Harold Macmillan.

David and Goliath Contest Looms in Calgary North

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — One of the more interesting sideshows in the political extravaganza of the election campaign is the David-and-Goliath affair in Calgary North.

There, young Harry Hays, MP, former Parliamentary Secretary to former CCF House Leader Hazen Argue, and more recently Political Man Friday to NDP Commons Leader H. W. "The Baron" Herridge, is taking on Defence Minister Douglas Harkness.

This is the Douglas Fisher—C. D. Howe set-up all over again . . . the unknown political freshman taking on the big-name veteran . . . but not necessarily resulting in the same sad end. Harkness believes that could pass muster among his own parliamentary colleagues or opponents so thoroughly that none of them picked up even enough votes to save their deposits.

But the young Mr. Pope, not the least disturbed by the formidable aspect of being him, is heading out Calgary way, as a stranger to the cow-country, not just to take on Defence Minister a battle, but to win it.

RARE BIRD

The CCF and its NDP successor have picked up some oddballs, different, even strange and unorthodox ones, like the maverick Douglas Fisher, but no bird any more rare than Harry Pope.

A former Canadian Army officer with a distinguished record in World War II and Korea, he resigned from the famed Royal Canadian Regiment, the illustrious Van Doos, or the "Fifty Dev's" as they are known by Defence Headquarters, because he disagreed violently with Canadian military policy.

He said at the time "that the emphasis on the employment of nuclear weapons by NATO is suicidal and our adherence to NORAD wrong" . . .

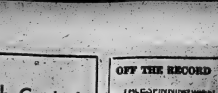
And it is a measure either of unknown Harry Pope or the New Democrats, that it was his thinking on defence policy that has been written into the party's platform.

Stripped of all its qualifications and windowdressing, the NDP defence policy opposes Canadian participation in NATO and NORAD and the use of atomic weapons.

Now having written this policy for the New Party, the young NDP brainbuster is carrying the fight to the enemy from part, Defence Minister of National Defence in the election.

In this he has the full support of the party's constituency executive in Calgary North and the provincial executive. They offered him the nomination.

WESTERN RADICALS



Also behind him are such organizations as the Voice of Women, the World Federalists and the Canadian Peace Committee for Nuclear Disarmament and the Canadian University Service Overseas, a nuclear disarmament.

These are semi-pacifist groups have been making life interesting if not particularly comfortable for Prime Conservative Cabinet, in effect, trying to make External Affairs Minister Green a sort of peacemaker against Defence Minister Harkness and the war.

It is not all that simple, and neither the peace groups with individuals. We may have everything in life turned off, as it were, but it is not the switch on the inside of our lives, we have something indeed to sustain us.

We may have had an adequate livelihood which was cut off. We may have had loved ones taken from us. We may have experienced keen disappointment when something we wanted very much failed to occur. We may be wracked with pain. We may be misunderstood and falsely accused. But if the Fool of Sloam within us can say in personal faith and the support of Christ's church — sends up its living water for our refreshment, nothing that the violent and devastating Senaacherite can do is there assault us. We can really hurt us.

Flags on various civic buildings in the city, including the City Hall, are being flown at half staff today in observance of St. George's Day. At St. Thomas' Church the flag of St. George was flying.

Saint George's Day has been the day of Merrie England for centuries. It was Richard Couer-de-Lion who in 1194 made St. George's Cross the flag of England. For centuries that glorious banner of the cross of success led the English armies. With George chosen as the patron saint in the days of chivalry, indeed the anniversary of his martyrdom on April 23rd, 303, became the national day. In the days when the King of England, Lord of Ireland, and King of Scotland, the Cross of St. George's Day. At St. Andrew and St. George to form the Union Jack.

Saint George left his mark on the world by reason of his noble character as a Christian warrior. Crusaders of England took him as their ideal knight and unfailing saint. So general was the admiration for this Saint that he also became the patron saint of Russia and of Portugal. The legend of the Saint, which no doubt is exaggerated, is believed by some as an invention of the Middle Ages; and even if it was, nevertheless it revealed the spirit that was in this warrior Christian.

GLADNESS IN THE CITY OF GOD

When the army of King Sennacherib was besieging Jerusalem centuries ago, the first thing he did was to cut off the aqueduct that supplied the city with water. You can imagine his saying, "I'll starve them by cutting off their water supply. This will be the end of them." But what Sennacherib did not know was that within the city was the Pool of Siloam made by an unfailing spring which was adequate to save the people from perishing.

It is believed that about that time were written the words of the 46th Psalm: "There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God . . . We may take "the city of God" to mean the church of Christ, or the religious faith and conviction which a spiritual

Tips on How One Can Make Housework a Lesser Strain

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Can housework be made easier for a woman with heart trouble? Yes. There are some tricks to it, of course, and these same tricks can be used by people who don't have heart trouble. This letter brought the matter to mind.

Dear Doctor: Would having a rheumatic heart lesion make ironing difficult? I can't seem to do it without getting dizzy, and feeling odd. — Mrs. R.L.

Ironing, compared with some other household chores, can be a heavy or light work — depending on how you do it.

Is the board too high or too low?

Do you stand up, or do you sit on a stool?

Do you keep at it too long at a time?

Does the room get uncomfortably warm?

Do you do much bending, to pick things up? (This last could account for the dizziness.)

If you have to reach over the board, or stretch to reach it, there is a tiring energy and a tendency to pulling a needless burden on the heart.

The same is true if you stand up when you might better sit. Or if you work too long at a time every time you have finished ironing a garment to hang it up. All wasted effort!

Make your head save your heart. Have a height right for the board, for finished ironing. Don't run back and forth. Place the things to be ironed all in one pile, or basket, on a bench or chair so you can reach them without bending.

You'd be surprised how much effort can be saved. Do you do help rid yourself of ulcers and research projects. Your answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, How To Heal Your Ulcers Quickly And Then Healed. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Let Us Keep Dirty Books From Children

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In any discussion about pornography it is useful to ask people who would censor it always make a last-ditch defence of their position: "But think of the children."

"Even granting that adults should be able to choose their own reading material freely," they say, "we must protect our children to be exposed to such trash."

I am quite honestly puzzled by their attitude. They seem to have such a low opinion of the opinion of children, and little faith in the training and character of their offspring.

During my youth, all my schoolmates and myself were exposed to the most revolting graphic kinds of cards and pictures and illustrated jokes. We weren't amused, we weren't shocked and we weren't corrupted; we simply were disgusted by the graphic dirtiness after the initial curiosity were off.

Children who are at all affected by that kind of thing are already far along the road to unbringing at home. If sex is portrayed as something dirty, cruel, contemptible, unnatural, of shamefully furtive, then the children will respond to such attitudes by taking a pathological interest in the subject pornography or not.

Of course, if any community wants to "protect" its children from smut, it has a perfect right to do so — but it should not be surprised if the results are negligible. Children reared in an atmosphere of love and trust and decent values are not "corrupted" by dirty books or pictures — they are there are going to wander into the gutter, no matter how much mother may vigilantly we may guard against it.

In this a child is seven years old, his basic attitudes have already been shaped and these attitudes are not healthy and productive ones, he is going to look for other outlets — in sex, violence, lying, stealing or truancy. No police power or censorship power can be substitute for the moral function of the parent and the family.

The parents who are so angry and worried about pornography should look to the needs of their children are really expressing deep doubts as to their own effectiveness as parents. They feel they have failed in some way and hope that some outside discipline will help the kids straighten them.

We cannot ask the schools and the courts and the police to do our job for us. Character is built at home, and only at home. Let us keep that in mind for a moment that the prevalence, publicity of an unhappy or unstable child can be curbed by burning books or prosecuting peddlers of smut.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

"REFILLING IS PROGRESS"

In one of the chapters of "The Crock of Gold" by that fine Irish writer, James Stephens, I recall coming across this sentence which came out of the mouth of one of the philosophers: "Refilling is progress."

This sentence has stuck that the only things we keep are the things we give away. And if we don't keep giving our resources and help to carry on the continuing process of refilling of tissue, even our bodies get flabby and we grow sluggish and become unable to see and appreciate what is happening around us.

The machine, left idle, becomes rust. The tool hung upon its nail, loses its keen and glittering edge. Everything crumbles from disuse.

It is the same with our brain. The billions of cells made liquid by the activity of the brain cells, soon cover themselves and we have the impression that the fellow who stands still, and the slier, who really isn't worth while.

Refilling is progress!

They tell us that every seven years we become a new individual, so that if we live to reach the age of seventy-seven and we have given to the world a taste of ourselves, and ourselves to be pushed by others, I have no idea we present a spectacle that nobody wants to see or cares much about. No wonder there are so many old bores and are forgotten even before they are given time to impress themselves upon others.

It's because of this idea that I wish to so many that they must keep in order to have, whereas the opposite is true. You can have by giving away.

The gold of satisfaction always fills the vacancies left from this giving.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One thing the awarding of the motion picture Academy's Oscars demonstrates in its three hour long show is how few of the stars are personalities in their own right. Many if not most of them are just helpless before the great audience they never see to which they are speaking. We are inclined to expect from them the personality or the vigor of personality with which they are so frequently endowed, obviously a little frightened, and they utter their little speeches of thanks with all the fluster of amateurs.

The fact that many of them are chosen by the shrewd manipulators or puppeteers, known as producers and directors, for reasons that have nothing to do with personality. And that is because of beauty or novelty of face, figure or voice. Mostly it is because of malleability. If they are plastic, pliable, modest, receptive to the ideas of those blowsily-looking characters from the cutting rooms or on the stage to receive most of the Oscars — the men behind the scenes — then stars are made their way. But they have tough competition and there is a stage alongside that most mischievous and irresistible imp of mirth, Mr. Bob Hope.

2 Madoc Youths Wounded When Shotgun Discharges

Two Madoc district youths are in the Belleville General Hospital today, one of them in critical condition.

Russell - Melon, age 20, of Cooper, was admitted to the hospital on Saturday suffering from gun shot wounds to the right side of his face, received when a 12 gauge shotgun, held by his brother Robert accidently discharged. His condition is reported as critical.

Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc said today that Russell's mother, Mrs. Louella Cole, and a friend of Russell's, Donald Drive of Courtice were sitting in the front seat of Drive's car outside Mrs. Cole's home. A little girl, Deborah Melon, was sitting in the back seat of the car.

Corp. Doug Sears, said that Russell's two brothers, Robert and Charles, were standing beside the car as they had intended to go hunting after the other had departed.

Robert was holding a 12-guage shotgun in either hand and one of them went off accidentally while he was standing beside the Drive vehicle.

Pellets shattered the right front window of the car, hitting the three occupants of the front seat.

Corp. Sears said, Russell, who was sitting in the centre, took most of the blast to the right side of his face. Mrs. Cole was struck in the chest and Mrs. Colle received some to the side of her face.

The three were rushed to Dr. McIntyre's office in Madoc by a brother, Charles, and were treated there. Mr. Drive and Russell were rushed from there to the Belleville Hospital by Bush's Ambulance at Tweed.

The matter is still under investigation, Corp. Doug Sears and Constable Ronald Devey, of the Madoc detachment.

Miner Recovering After Rock Fall Entombment in Mine

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)— Russell B. Larkin, one leg broken and pressure bruises covering his body, was cheered and recuperating satisfactorily today after 54 hours pinned deep in Matachewan Consolidated Mines.

The 36-year-old driller, father of five children, was believed shocked but talkative, when rescuers brought him out at 8:40 a.m. Saturday after trapped for three dramatic days.

Larkin, a second trapped man had died.

Weary searchers found the smashed body of Ryszard Wichchak, 38, more than seven hours later and brought him up from the rubble of the 4,200-foot level at about 5 p.m. Saturday.

His widow, left under sedation since her collapse from shock Friday, is left with three children, a daughter, Angela Anne, 16, Linda 14, and Jean, 9.

HEARTACHE IDENTITY

On Friday, the rescue team heard Baskin's garbled voice from under the rockfound. Hybris but thought it was Wilchzak speaking Ukrainian. But Witchzak got the news that her husband was alive.

When word arrived that it was Baskin who had been found, Mrs. Witchzak collapsed in hysteria.

Of Baskin, Dr. A. J. McNichol said: "The main problem is "getting him over the extreme shock." He said that the miner is "a tough guy."

The miner's oldest son Roy, 18, works as an orderly in the Kirkland Lake Hospital where Baskin was taken under morphine sedation to deaden his pain.

The other children are Wayne, 12, Bruce, 9, Judy, 7, and Leonard, 6.

"Russell told me he prayed that God would take him quick," said Mrs. Baskin after a short visit with her husband at the hospital. "He told me no one will be able to explain how he felt when he first saw a man's face when they found him."

STATE CONSCIOUS

Dr. Nichinl who stayed with Baskin from the time he was found early Friday evening until rescuers freed the miner from a mound of rock, said he was "fully conscious all the time—although he was delirious for periods."

The doctor said Baskin talked about hunting and wanted to know the score in the Thursday night Stanley Cup hockey game.

Mrs. Baskin said the two trapped men, a diamond drilling team, were close friends and were always off hunting and fishing" whenever they got a chance.

Baskin was in good spirits when found.

"When are we waiting for? Let's get up out of here," he told his rescuers. But it was more than 12 hours before fellow miners got him clear of the rubble, which they had to remove one rock at a time for fear of toppling a huge boulder wedged beside him.

He told the miners that Wilchzak was "still down there" under the rockfall. "He must be dead now," Baskin said apathetically.

The rescue workers, who labored in relays of seven or eight at a time in the narrow tunnel, were not sure whether Wilchzak was dead or in coma when they uncovered his head early Saturday afternoon. Dr. C. N. Brebner went down the mine and pronounced him dead.

Wilchzak lay on the opposite side of the five-foot tunnel. Dr. Brebner believed he was killed immediately by the rockfall. He said the size of the boulder that fell near Baskin indicated he was lucky to be living the full weight of the smaller rubble away from him.

The rescue team went to work at 7 p.m. Wednesday and were within 30 feet of the trapped men 1 p.m. and 1 a.m. that night. Rescue operations under mine manager Ed Bell were going again at once, Mr. McPherson said. But the last stretch was only once during the 65-hour operation. Four fire miners had more than brief rest.

RECALLS FAMED RESCUE

The Easter weekend accident, first reported by The Canadian Press, was the most spectacular in the area since 1928 when Harman Magill was trapped by a cave-in in the Moose River gold-mine. Dr. Robertson Scadding emerged from the workings after 10 days, weak of hunger, exposure and dread underground. Magill, co-owner of the mine with Dr. Scadding underground a day after the cave-in.

The rescue operation held the world's attention for 10 days, while hundreds of miners worked to free the trio. A diamond drill broke through to the men a week after they were trapped and they were led through the drill hole until their rescue.

Not Horseplayer Nor Gambler Claim of Chief

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) Police Chief Cecil R. Pay wants to appear before the royal commission on crime to personally deny previous testimony describing him as "a horseplayer and gambler," his lawyer said Saturday.

Lawyer W. S. Martin issued a statement saying Chief Pay would appear voluntarily at commission hearings in Toronto and "categorically deny these false statements made in all respects false charges that have been levelled at him from a source beneath contempt."

The charges were contained in a tape-recorded telephone conversation between gambler Vincent Feeley and Jack Schrubb, a provincial police corporal at the time of the call in 1958 and now a provincial police constable. The tape was played before the commission hearing Thursday.

Feeley, trying to persuade Schrubb to crack down a Niagara Falls club run by rival gamblers, told the policeman: "I'll you do anything down here; don't tell Cec Pay because he's been a horseplayer and a gambler all his life." Feeley went on to say the club operation regularly cleared out of the club just before local police raided it.

The statement issued by Mr. Martin said Chief Pay's 32 years in the Canadian police force "are the stalwart sentinels that I feel are required to guard his reputation." The chief never gambles except for occasional small bets to the race track for a day's sport," the statement said.

Under the law, judges, prisoners, persons in mental institutions and the chief electoral officer are denied the vote.

There are also provisions for returning officers as well but on rare occasions they can be called to cast a ballot in the event of a tie. "This is a privilege most of them would prefer not have," said Mr. Castonguay.

Million-a-Year Palm Tree Business Withers in 5 Weeks

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)— Henry Soto stood forlornly in the dust, staring at his millions of little wilted palm trees—now after now as far as they represented his biggest dream.

From rags to riches and now, almost overnight, back to rags again. "It's the story of my life," he said.

Soto, 34, by his hope of putting miniature palm trees and other tropical plants in the homes of men over the United States and Canada — offspring North Americans to plant tropical gardens in their homes—and of making himself a multi in the process.

"It's all down the drain. Five years of work and investment shot," he said.

M LARGE CONTRACTOR

Until a week ago the ex-Arizona farmer, 34, considered himself rich. He is one of the largest landscape contractor in the business.

He hoped to net at least $1,000,000 a year from tiniest palm trees sold through supermarket and department store chains.

He employed 100 persons to package the 30-inch palms in airtight wrappers and sold more than 100,000 last year sampling public demand. He hoped to sell palms at a 10,-000-a-day clip. And he waited for his palms to reach the age of four years, when they could be sold. Their size could be controlled by the size of container.

CAME THE RAINS

Rains were heavy this year. Weeds grew between the rows of thick-plasted palms. Last month the 30 acres was prayed for weed control. Five weeks ago trees began to wither, Soto says. One month later, A 100 per cent loss.

ditional Easter parade on Fifth Avenue. The mercury reached 80 degrees—a record high for the date in New York. The previous record was 86, in 1902.

In Canada the weather on Easter Sunday ranged from snow in Manitoba to a sunny 80 degrees in parts of Canada.

Rain interfered with some celebrations.

In Vancouver some 3,000 people attending an outdoor service at the Pacific National Exhibition fled for cover when showers started to fall. But the service continued under cover at Empire Stadium.

Rain also fell at the start of the main Easter parade in Toronto, but the weather cleared and the parade carried on.

It was generally warm and spring-like in Eastern Canada. In contrast, about half an inch of snow fell in parts of Manitoba during the morning, but skies cleared in the afternoon. Temperatures were around the freezing mark.

Burgess and McLean Have No Intention of Returning

MOSCOW (AP) — Guy Burgess laughed Sunday at Scotland Yard reports that he and another runaway British diplomat, Donald Maclean, were planning to return to England.

Chain-smoking Russian cigarettes, he told reporters at the Ukraine Hotel:

"What a splendid uproar about nothing. Both Maclean and I are staying in the Soviet Union. This is our home. I do not often see Maclean but I know that he and I are both staying here."

Scotland Yard has said there was reason to believe the two foreign office officials who defected to the Soviet Union in 1951 planned to return home and got out arrest warrants for them last week.

Burgess, looking tanned and fit, returned Sunday from a holiday at Yalta on the Black Sea.

LIKES SOCIALISM

"I like living under socialism," said Burgess who defected with Maclean in 1951. "I would not like living in expense - account England."

He said one reason that the British government issued a warrant for his arrest was that it is "so easily frightened by a mouse." They are positively terrified of me going back to England."

Pouring out a vodka and lobster lunch, Burgess declared: "This is Queen Elizabeth's favorite drink you know. Burgess said "now let's think of another reason, although I don't intend that I will go back at all."

He paced up and down the room, he gave "my views on what this Congress is all about."

"Mr. Golub and his friend have something to do with it," he said.

He was referring to Alexei Golub, the Soviet sculptor who returned to Russia after seeking asylum in Britain. Mr. Golub gave a press conference here last Wednesday—the day after Scotland Yard issued warrants for the arrest of Burgess and Maclean.

Burgess said of the Golub affair: "He said he returned to the Soviet Union because he didn't like living in Holland.

"So somebody decided it would be a good idea to take him."

Golub on the front pages and put Burgess on them.

"If was a good idea, they thought, to counter Golub's statement that he liked the Soviet Union by making out that Burgess didn't like it and wanted to leave."

Burgess then talked of what he called "point number two" the mysterious behavior of the attorney-general, Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller."

FRIENDS FURIOUS

"My friends in England have already phoned and told me of the publicity which has surrounded the unusual way he announced the issue of a warrant for my arrest," he said.

"Why did Manningham-Buller do it? There has been no action taken against me for 10 long years. So why do it now?"

"I suppose there are dozens of reasons, one is that the British government are so easily flung into a panic. They are positively terrified of me going back to England."

"I have heard that from my confidential sources in England and from my many friends in the establishment and even in M.I. 5 (the British secret service)."

"The British government is far more frightened of my going back than Burgess's old friend Macmolgham-Buller's warrant."

Referring to Prime Minister Macmillan's trip to the United States this week to see president Kennedy, Burgess said "he will do what he is told, just as he has always done."

He agreed to take Britain into the Common-Market simply because Kennedy told him to do so.

"And he would come out a warrant against me like a shot if Kennedy asked him."

CLAIMS COLLUSION

Burgess also spoke of "collusion"—between British and U.S. security services.

"That is very funny, you know, because the British intelligence services are even more frightened of the British are soft 'on communism."

Claim Adviser To King Saud Assassinated

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters) — The Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar claimed today that Youssef Yassin, 70-year-old adviser to King Saud of Saudi Arabia, was assassinated.

Special radio, reporting Yassin's death last week, said he had died of a heart attack.

But Al Akhbar, in a report from Riyadh in Saudi Arabia, said a group of assassins entered "the en Yassin and his guards.

Yassin was wounded and died four hours later, the newspaper reported. He was said to have been the first on the list of prominent Saudis to be assassinated.

Al Akhbar said King Saud later carried out a "campaign of arrests" against persons opposing his policies. It said security measures to protect the king were tightened.

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—India has demanded the withdrawal of Chinese forces from Indian territory before negotiations start on a new treaty to regulate trade between India and Chinese-ruled Tibet, it was disclosed today.

Near-Famine Creeps Across Indonesia Almost Unnoticed

By PETER ARNETT

JAKARTA (AP)—Indonesia's President Sukarno has spent so much time and money on his militant West New Guinea campaign that near-famine has crept across his nation almost unobserved.

For months Sukarno has been telling his people that the millions of Indonesians in the Netherlands must have top priority, no matter the hardship at home.

Indonesia's 90,000,000 people are in no position to argue because Sukarno rules by decree with the armed forces' full backing.

Indonesia today, however, is suffering the terrible implications that are just being brought to light.

Reports earlier this year of terrible food shortages in some parts of Java and Sumatra long ago were denied by local authorities. Then in mid-April, Sukarno's health minister Dr. Satrio, visited the Indramaju district in West Java.

He discovered 80 persons had died of starvation while 8,000 more had been treated at the one hospital for malnutrition. Many others sick, with distended bellies and spindly arms, were found in empty rice warehouses.

Authorities in Indramaju said they had appealed for help to the central government, apparently for fear of being blamed for the disaster. Similar appeals in other areas perhaps have done similar cover - up jobs.

When the truth ultimately revealed Sukarno has appointed himself commander-in-chief of a reorganized economic and military command and said a committee would relieve the situation.

Indonesia is the largest nation in Southeast Asia, Indonesia is staggering under an economic crisis that has diminished foreign exchange reserves to virtually zero. Indonesia needs foreign exchange to buy rice, the staple food.

Indonesia has rich food-producing areas. Poor transportation, marketeering, diversion of food to the West New Guinea front and natural calsities have stood from moving from the "have" areas to the "have-nots."

Rebellion and mismanagement of estates and nationalized industries have wrecked the internal economy. Sukarno's "guided economy," which is more socialist than started to work. Inflation continues because of war jitters.

Vota Vita M.C. Hears Talk On Missions

The Vota Vita M.C. met recently in the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church. The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Nellie Burn.

It was noted that the treasurer's report, given by Mrs. Grace Pearson, was $452.81 had been sent to missions so far this year. The latest Baptist missionary news was reported by Mrs. Grace Bush in her "Lighthouse Flashes."

Two topics on "Home Missions" were given. Mrs. Audrey Irvine spoke on "Eastwood Baptist Centre", a home mission church located in Hamilton. She stated "that people have long been familiar with the terms 'foreign missions' and 'home missions' and that foreign missions immediately brings a vision to mind of the church at work in far-away lands and, while their work is advancement and daring, home missions on the other hand is a Christian social ministry carried on at home on the frontier, in the slums, in the and in the inner city."

EASTWOOD BAPTIST CENTRE

Eastwood Baptist Centre not only proclaims the gospel of God but also reaches out in helping hands to the people in this area through senior citizens' groups, a Drop-in-Club, craft groups, for the children, also five day pre-school nursery, clothing distribution of good clothing to the needy, new Canadian fellowship classes in English for boys under a tutor from McMaster University, couples clubs and friendly hours. Fashion Show On Reserve Nets $200

MONTREAL (CP) — Harry Sidney, a London, Ont., tailor know much about fashion shows but he gamely went along with his wife.

To his surprise, the show realized more than $200 toward helping mentally retarded children from the Caughnawaga Indian reserve near Montreal classes in Beaconsfield, Que., 20 miles away.

Held in a donated Knights of Columbus hall on the reservation, it was organized by Harry, an unemployed painter and father of four small children, his wife, and dressmaker Elizabeth White.

"My own daughter is 46 years old and beyond help," said Mrs. White, "but there are so many young children who have been neglected until now that I feel it's time someone helped."

Just how many children there were on the reserve who needed help, Mrs. White hasn't realized until Mr. Stacey—alarmed last year at the too-frequent occurrence of drownings in the St. Lawrence Thomas was the butt of considerable kidding from the Montreal Children's Hospital for an examination.

"Until I started talking to them, people were just too ashamed to admit they had mentally retarded children," Mrs. White said. "Now they're all there at home behind doors."

This search paid off with the formation of a Committee for Indian Retarded Children. He have elected president, and its first actions was to send a petition signed by 56 parents to the federal government.

Citizenship Minister Fairclough promised to "look into the matter" children at the Montreal Children's Hospital. They examined Mr. Stacey's charges, including two more of the youngsters, and benefit from special classes.

Arrangements for the classes are being made and a bus to take school now are under way. For half a dozen of the more severely retarded, the fashion show was organized. The idea was to raise money to pay for their clothing and transportation to a school run by the Quebec Association for Retarded Children in Beaconsfield.

Models of the dresses were designed and sewn by Mrs. White but a few garments and accessories were donated by the women's wear shop in nearby Kahnawake. An electric frying pan, also donated, was raffled.

Wellington Bantams Win Ontario 'D' Championship

WELLINGTON (Special) — A determined but outclassed Plattsville squad in the Prince Edward Community Centre.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle in the first period with neither side able to deter twins Gary Burley and Tom Lavender gave Wellington a two-goal lead in the second period, but the roof fell in on Plattsville in a wide-open third frame.

The Wellington youngsters took the bit in their teeth and led by the Lavenders and Burley, ripped home seven unanswered goals for the game, the series and the championship.

The game got rugged in the final period, officials handing out 11 of the 16 penalties Plattsville drawing six.

The first minor hockey championship for the villagers climaxed a fine season for the talented athletes. Under manager Dutch Ainsworth and his efficient coach team had a fine seasonal record.

OMHA vice-presidents Albert Wadds of Peterborough and Doug Patterson of Stirling presented the championship and runners-up trophies to the teams after the game.

Giants Drop 9 In Row

Bucs Unbeaten In Ten

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Someday pretty soon," Casey Stengel declared, "we're gonna beat somebody pretty bad."

But the grizzled old manager of New York Mets didn't say when. Nor how. And, admittedly, he's wondering.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," Casey muttered after his Mets lost to Pittsburgh 4-3 Sunday, setting a record in reverse and helping the rampaging Pirates to a record of their own.

It was the 10th straight victory for the unbeaten Pirates and tied the modern National League record for most consecutive victories at the start of a season, set by the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers.

And it was the ninth straight loss for them to Pittsburgh for the Mets, who have yet to win, and tied the modern league record for consecutive losses at the start of a season.

The Pittsburgh triumph also gave the Pirates a 2½-game lead over the previously unbeaten St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped a rain-delayed double header to Chicago Cubs, 11-5 and 5-1. Philadelphia Phillies won their fourth straight over Houston Colts 4-3. Cincinnati Reds beat San Francisco Giants 6-4 and Milwaukee Braves took Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3.

In Saturday's games the Pirates trimmed the Mets 5-3, the Cardinals whitewashed the Cubs 8-0, the Dodgers whipped the Braves 6-1, the Giants edged the Reds 8-6 and the Phillies defeated the Colts 3-1.

LOOKING FOR RELIEF

"We haven't done too well with pitching," Stengel sighed. "We haven't done too well with hitting; we haven't done too well with fielding. But when we catch somebody when we play pretty good, we're gonna beat them."

The Mets played "pretty good" Sunday but a run-scoring triple by Bill Mazeroski in the eighth broke a 3-3 tie and brought the Pirates their 10th straight. Bob Skinner homered in the 11th as Pittsburgh came from behind a two-run deficit.

The Cubs hadn't won in St. Louis since Sept. 7, 1960 until making their sweep and ending the Cards' seven-game winning string. They punished Ray Sadecki (0-1) with three runs in the first and added five in the fifth of the first game, with Ernie Banks and Ron Santo stroking homers. Three runs—two on Billy Williams' homer—in the first inning were all they needed in the nightcap.

Bob Shaw's five-hitter and the hitting of Del Crandall, keyed Milwaukee's decision over Los Angeles, Crandall had a homer and two singles as the Braves handed Don Drysdale (3-1) his first loss.

Vada Pinson, Johnny Edwards and Wally Post hit homers for Cincinnati and Tom Haller for San Francisco in a free-hitting, wind-gasped affair. Joey Jay (3-2) got the win for the Reds and Jack Sanford (1-1) took the loss.

Jack Baldschun stopped a budding Houston rally for the second time in as many days and saved Philadelphia's victory for Wes Covington (1-1). Tony Taylor's run-scoring single produced what proved to be the winning run in the seventh.

Lead Series 3-0

Wings Trounce Citadels

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Red Wings moved to within one game of a berth in the Memorial Cup final by pounding Quebec Citadels 8-1 before a 3,577 spectators Sunday.

The victory was Wings' third straight in the Eastern Canada final. The fourth game will be played here Tuesday night and the fifth, if necessary, also in Hamilton Wednesday night.

The winner will meet the survivor of the Western Canada final between Edmonton Oil Kings and Brandon Wheat Kings.

The Hamilton crew in chalking up its 15th triumph in 18 playoff games, ran roughshod over Quebec. They outshot the visitors 50-11 and only some spectacular work by Quebec netminder Jocelyn Cardinal kept the final score as low as it was.

Buddy Bloom, at the other end, was called on to make only a couple of difficult shots and the losers managed to test him only once in a third period that saw play slow down considerably because of the soft ice and 80-degree temperature.

Paul Henderson paced the winners with two goals. Singles were counted by Howie Menard, Joe Bucktoo, Lowell MacDonald, Pit Martin, John Gofton and Jimmy Peters. Jacques Ruelland scored for Quebec.

The teams shared the eight minor penalties in the clean encounter.

St. Thomas Junior B Winners

ST. THOMAS (CP) — St. Thomas Barons captured the Western Ontario Junior B hockey championship Saturday night with a 7-6 win over Chatham Maroons.

St. Thomas lost the opening game of the best-of-seven series but won the next four to earn a place in the all-Ontario final. They will meet the winners of the Waterloo-Belleville series, which Waterloo now leads 3-1.

Bob Summer scored a hat-trick for the winners Saturday night, while singles came from Wally Chase, Rod Geddis, Rick Eckert and Hugh McGonigle.

The Chatham scorers were Mel Wakabayashi, with three Jim White with a pair, and Jack Roberts.

SARNIA (CP)—Sarnia Teen Town meets St. John, N.B., tonight in the first game in the best-of-three Eastern Canadian Junior B basketball final. St. John was to play Montreal YMHA to decide the Maritimes, Quebec and Ottawa district title, but Montreal dropped out and St. John won by default.

In the Dressing Rooms

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Punch Imlach had a novel-but-he-told story after his Toronto Maple Leafs took the Stanley Cup from Chicago by defeating the Black Hawks 3-1 Sunday night.

"Ron Stewart's injured ribs were so bad tonight we had to freeze them (using a pain-killing drug) so he could play," said Imlach, whose left leg was wrapped up the best-of-seven National Hockey League final 4-2.

"Not only that, but Bob Pulford's shoulder also had to be frozen. He had been suffering since the first playoff game. We didn't want to say anything when the series was going on. We didn't want to tell about it now.

"Actually, I think much of our success can be attributed to our three centres of Dave Keon, Pulford and Red Kelly," Imlach continued. "Three centres are better than any three of the Hawks and I'm including Stan Mikita in there."

While Imlach was telling of his happiness for Toronto's the four-foot-high Stanley Cup was being filled with champagne and passed around the Leafs dressing room like a tin cup. All the players were quaffing and laughing.

CAN'T BELIEVE IT

Coach Imlach's was one of the first of the Leafs to enter the Hawks' dressing room.

"When does all this hit you?" he asked. "I know—it will happen to me at once and I won't believe won it. I know if we got a we could get one."

Mahovlich then picked up the 25-pound cup and held it high over his head.

"We've got it fellows," he yelled. "I can't let it go."

While champagne corks were popping and the Stanley Cup, filled with champagne, was being used like a loving cup, Bert Olmstead, Harris and Pulford started taking flash pictures of the group with their own cameras.

Pulford said that after he tore the ligaments in his shoulder in the first game of the series, he couldn't move his arm or lift it and couldn't shoot."

"I still couldn't shoot by two or three games after," he said. "Not with power, anyway. Even in the fifth game last Thursday when he scored three goals in Toronto's 5-4 win, it still bothered him."

Bert Olmstead, who returned to the Leafs lineup in the third game after a five-week layoff due to an injured shoulder, didn't move from his chair all through the celebration.

Asked whether this was his last game, windup of an NHL career that started with Chicago in 1951 and then with Montreal and finally with Toronto starting in 1956, he replied: "I'm pretty sure it is."

TRADE COMPLIMENTS

Jim Norris, owner of the Black Hawks, came near the Toronto dressing room door. Imlach told him: "I thought your team played well."

Norris accepted: "I thought your team played well."

That was about it.

There was gloom and sadness in the Hawks's dressing room where coach Rudy Pilous admitted the Leafs skated a lot stronger than his club.

"They were to win it, we should have stayed in front once in awhile," he said in reference to Chicago's 1-0 lead with about 11 minutes to play, "but I'm not disappointed that lead."

Pilous was a little disgruntled about the penalties. The Hawks drew six of the 10 penalties. Leaf Larry Hillman was the winning goal came on Eric Nesterenko was in the penalty box.

"There was a lot of clutching and interference called by the (Odarvati) didn't see too well," said Pilous. "I don't think we played that rought to draw the major number of penalties. But we tried as far as we could."

Pilous made a tour of the Leafs' dressing room, shaking hands and congratulating the Toronto players.

Records Go In Cup Playoffs

By RON ANDREWS

TORONTO (CP) — Five records were broken and another two equalled in the 1957 Stanley Cup hockey playoffs, leading the way was 21-year-old Terry Sawchuk, Czechoslovakian born centre with Chicago Black Hawks, who broke two marks and equalled another.

Playing his third year of NHL hockey League playoffs, Milkita established new NHL records in games against Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs. Actually he scored his points in 11 games. The Leafs held him scoreless in the final game at Chicago Sunday night.

His 15 points beat by one the mark set by Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings in 1955. Mikita's total was made up of six goals and 15 assists, the latter also a record.

The former mark for assists was held by Boston Bruins' Fleming Mackell, who had 14 in the 1958 playoffs.

Mikita's 10 assists in the semi-final round also tied Mackell's record in a semi-final series, established in 1948.

HORTON TIES MARK

One other individual record was tied by Leaf defenceman Tim Horton, whose 15 points equalled the record for most points by a defenceman in a playoff year. Pierre Pilote of the Hawks set the mark last year with an identical total to Hortons three goals and 12 assists.

The Hawks and Leafs established a team mark for most penalties in a Stanley Cup series. They were assessed 97 penalties, including 9 minors, four majors, two misconducts and two game misconducts. The total in minutes was 218, 22 minutes short of the record set last year in the Chicago-Montreal semi-final.

The old mark for number of penalties in a series, 71, was also established in the same round between the Hawks and Canadiens and was equalled in the Leafs-Hawks semi-final between Chicago and Montreal.

The Hawks and Leafs also set a record for total goals in a six-game final. The Leafs clustered the Hawks 18-15 for a 33-goal total. The previous mark was 31, established last year when Chicago defeated Detroit and outscored the Wings 18-13.

Chicago's 15 goals against the Leafs was a record for most goals by the losing team in a six-game final, the previous mark being 14 by Boston against Montreal in 1952.

In the opening matches Hawk Eyes defeated Matrecals 7-0; Zephyrs beat Rookie 7-0; Wildcats beat Head Pins 7-0 and Rollers turned back Torpedo Turvies 5-2.

High scores were: Jean Spencer, 768; Marg Hawkins, 707; Lois Calcutt, 700; Marion Mundry 686 and Millie Horton 675.

Belafonte and Clooney Get Mixed Up With Circus, Fish

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Funny things happened to two of the most talented U.S. song stylists during CBS show Sunday night. Harry Belafonte...somehow got all mixed up with some circus acts on the Ed Sullivan Show. And Rosemary Clooney was surrounded by fish, something called Mardi-gras Carnival.

It would have been nice if both of these performers had been permitted to walk out and sing. Belafonte did have the stage to himself for about 15 minutes after the clowns and dogs had disappeared. But poor Rosie had to contend with undersea comedy sketches as well as performing porpoises.

Under one of these unwritten laws set down by the founding fathers of network TV, Easter night is aimed primarily at the children's audience — hence a three-ring circus at ocean zoo and at the circus. It does make for rather dull viewing for adults who are not enchanted by trained fish or clown tricks.

ABC's Ben Casey and its big audience are due for a test of sorts tonight. NBC has scheduled, directly opposite the doctor-drama, a special program called Breakthrough. It is a series of close-ups of live, real surgical operations on diseased and injured hearts and arteries.

The test, of course, is whether the audience enjoys dramatic fiction laid in the life-and-death atmosphere of a hospital or whether it is really interested in learning more about the ailments afflicting the human body.

The NBC show—which this reporter saw at a preview—is one of the most fascinating, dramatic and educational hours within memory.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Somewhere in the Bay of Quinte waters lurks a king-size pickerel with a five and one-half horsepower outboard motor attached to a dorsal fin.

I don't mean that literally. If you can land him you will win the motor, top prize in the first season-open pickerel derby ever staged in Quinte waters.

If you don't land the king-size walleye, try for the second or third economy size. They'll be good for a three horsepower motor and fine rod and reel, respectively.

And don't stop there. There are many other prizes being offered by the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce, sponsors, of the big pickerel run-for-the-open.

The blue-ribbon pickerelist classic is set for Saturday, April 28th, official opening day of the pickerel season in the Bay of Quinte waters, and on Sunday, April 29th, up to two p.m.

The barrier goes up at 12.01 a.m. opening day.

To you city and immediate pickerel slickers and slickerettes goes the honor of winning the top prize. The Prince Edward C. of C. has designated that the 5½ H.P. putt-putt is open only to non-residents of Prince Edward county.

The remainder of the cornucopia of handsome prizes is open to all whether you're a "Spaniard," a mainlander, a Liberal, Conservative or if you get your mail anywhere between Ball-Ball and Aklavik.

The derby will be operated strictly according to organized plans. There will be judges and official weighers. The pickerel with the beef gets the top booty.

Just to keep things in the proper order, all participants must register. This can be done at the Hepburn Picton Bay Marina, Picton. There will be a small registration fee. And you must, with your party, register before weiling a line, or anything else.

You can bring your own boat and motor if you wish—or there are boats, including two large fishing craft, available at Hepburn's Marina.

And remember the derby is strictly a Bay of Quinte affair. No wandering up a small bay or river-mouth. Your catch will not only be ineligible for prizes but you will be breaking official fishing regulations.

And there might be one or more of the eagle-eyed conservation officers of the Department of Lands and Fisheries hovering around just to see the boys keep in line—and keep 'em in Quinte waters.

Just to clear up any confusion that might exist as to the proper waters, the pickerel season opens of, fickelly on April 28th in the Bay of Quinte and Hay Bay. This does not include any inland waters.

The rivers emptying into the Bay of Quinte are included as inland waters and the pickerel season opens for them on May 12th.

And for general information the boundaries separating the rivers from the Bay of Quinte are as follows: The Trent River south of No. 2 Highway bridge; the Moira River south of the railway bridge in the City of Belleville; the Salmon River south of and including Sallmon Island in the mouth of the Salmon River and the Napanee river outside of Unger Island to a point due south of the eastern end of the island to a point on North Frederiksburg township.

Odd as it may seem, city anglers can park their craft across the Moira river-mouth beneath the CPR bridge and fish legally from one side of the boat, and illegally from the other.

So go out and get the big ones. You can get overnight accommodation in hotel, motel or heated cabin by contacting the Chamber of Commerce secretary in Picton.

And a tip—try the deep water fishing first. You might be surprised.

Duff Wins Stanley Cup For Leafs

First Goat Then Hero

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs carted the Stanley Cup back to Toronto today, along with their patched-up warriors, a vote of thanks to those crazy Chicago Black Hawks fans and a wallop at critics who called them boners.

It was 11 long, frustrating years between quips if champagne.

The Leafs beat the defending cup champions 3-1 Sunday night and took the best-of-seven series 4-2. Neither club had won on the road until the Leafs had scalped the Hawks with two late goals.

There are no tomorrows for the Hawks and their frantic supporters. They are glittering hopes of extending this to a climactic seventh game, similar to one Tuesday night but it took the Leafs just three minutes and 55 seconds to get them down to earth.

In that brief period left winger Dick Duff shed his goat horns and tried on a hero's cap for size. He picked the puck to hard-digging Murray Balfour to set up Chicago's goal by golden boy Bobby Hull and then, after Bobby Nevin had tied the score, rammed the puck in the nets behind sensational netminder Glenn Hall for the winner.

NESTER WAS OFF

It came as Leafsthaler Eric Nesterenko, Toronto castoff and a guy who pretty well shackled Leafs' Frank Mahovlich in this series, had been dismissed by referee Frank Udvari for holding.

The post-game ceremonies at centre ice were with coach Punch Imlach of the Leafs shook reporters off his back who had been criticizing dressing-room post-mortems during the series. He had been hiding player miseries.

Right-winger Ron Stewart had his injured ribs frozen before each game of this final set. Centre Bobby Pulford had been playing with an injured shoulder, and defenceman Carl Brewer was skating on a gimpy leg.

That was the "now it can be told" story the lugubrious coach related while players and club officials guzzled champagne.

"We didn't want to say anything since the first playoff game," Imlach said. "But I want to tell about those injuries now."

Imlach also gave an assist to the 20,000 - delela - throwing, horn - tooting, screaming and fighting Chicago Stadium fans for the cup win, the eighth in the Leafs' history. They started kicked up such a racket and created such a mess of the ice with hats, eggs, red ink bombs, streamers, peanuts and just about anything they could lay their hands on that it took upwards of 20 minutes to clear the surface.

This gave Imlach a chance to do some masterminding. He re-united Nevin with Mahovlich and centre Red Kelly on the Leafs' big line after a lengthy absence and he promptly made the coach look good by potting the tying goal behind Hall, who had 35 saves against only 20 by the masked Don Simmons, a replacement for injured Johnny Bower.

Coach Rudy Pilous said hours before the faceoff that his Hawks would "stone" the Leafs, force a seventh game and then keep the cup for another year. He was wrong on all counts because the Leafs, who had been belled early and often in games here, reversed the script and went after the Hawks from the opening whistle.

PLAY OWN GAME

They didn't throw their weight around. They simply went out to play the Hawks at their own game—forecheck and don't allow the opposition breathing room to counter-attack.

It paid off The Hawks, who appeared sluggish in the first period, rarely took a clear shot at Simmons. He was well protected by back-checking forwards and his defensive corps with veteran Allan Stanley showing the way. Stopped to block shots.

Hull got his goal in the third period when Murray Balfour passed out to him from behind the Toronto net. Hull slipped around Bobby Baun as the Toronto defenceman went down. His eight-footer went in Simmons' pads at 8:56 and Chicago was in front 1-0.

Baun made up for this when he tripped a slow-moving Hall. The puck bounced out to Mahovlich, who laid it on Nevin's stick and he fired a 15-footer into the net on Hall's right at 10:36. Nesterenko then got the gate and Duff scored the winner at 16:14.

Imlach outsmarted Pilous in this clutch game because he ordered his athletes to stay on the ice. This was particularly noticeable with the unpredictable Eddie Shack, who leaped off his blades to escape any suggestion that he was a nuisance that Udvari should put in the penalty box.

Pilous apparently had dictated a board-checking strategy. Only his tired Hawks and they were tired — couldn't board-check and skate with the Toronto team. They had to do one or the other. They didn't do either.

Although they had been outplayed badly, the Hawks said dejected their lead in the third period. This was against the run of the play, but there it was and the organist sounded Happy Days Are Here Again as he musically anticipated a Hawk rally.

But as a subdued Pilous said as he walked among the Leaf players in the dressing room: "They checked us to death. That's the story."

Decisions Veteran Joe Brown

Ortiz Wins Lightweight Crown

By BOB MEYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A happy Carlos Ortiz says caution and the presence of former heavyweight Billy Conn steered him away from any reckless attempt to win the 135-pound world lightweight championship by a knockout from Joe Brown Saturday night.

Ortiz didn't need the knockout. He won handily by a decision in 15 rounds. He said it was his easiest fight in 41 ring engagements and it was certainly the worst for Brown in the 12th defence of his title.

Sitting at ringside were former heavyweight champion Joe Louis and Billy Conn, who almost won the title from Louis in an epic fight in 1941.

Conn had the fight virtually sewed up going into the 13th round. Then he decided to turn killer and try for a knockout. It was a costly mistake. Louis knocked him out.

TAKES NO CHANCE

Ortiz said: "When I looked down and saw Conn and Louis sitting together, I decided to take no chances in those closing rounds. I played it safe."

Jack Kearns, veteran fight man sat in front of Conn and Louis.

Conn reached over and tapped me on the shoulder," said Kearns. "He said, 'If Ortiz gets knocked out, I'll get into the ring and shake his hand and thank him.'"

The story of the one-sided bout, as Kearns saw it, was the busy left jab of Ortiz. "Annoying," was Joe's description.

"I've met fighters with hardyet jabs, but this one just kept coming," the debunked champion said. "I could never get set. I just couldn't get off the ground."

Crude, Clownish Display

Macs Crush Siskins 11-3

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Writer

The Belleville McFarlands turned on their tormentors with vengeance before a small crowd here saturday night and handed a sore-bending Waterloo Siskin club a scoring 11-4 trouncing in the provincial junior "B" semi-final series.

Waterloo still leads the best-of-seven set three games to one. The fifth game will be played in Kitchener tonight at 8.30.

Gordie Bell's Macs stuck to hockey most of the time and fired home nine straight goals to chalk up the "most" victory.

Meanwhile the Siskins put on one of the crudest displays of poor sportsmanship seen here in many a moon. The Waterloo club attempted to play it rough all night but once the Macs started to pull away, the Siskins forgot all about hockey and made a complete farce of the game.

The Siskins attempted to injure the Belleville players at every opportunity. They started by high sticking and tried to get more going, most of the time against the smaller of the Macs players. They used their sticks as clubs and spears, completely ignoring the officiating of Art Casterton and Fred Harpham, both of Kingston.

The loers drew 20 penalties, numbering 81 minutes. It could have been double that had the officials caught all the infractions and called it strictly by the book. Belleville picked up 12 penalties, most of which came fr. self defence. The Macs served 49 minutes.

Two of the Macs' "flyweight line", Gary Duvall and "Pug" Keilar, came out of the tilt with face and head cuts. Duvall was deliberately hit over the head by goalie Bob "Showboat" Zopan's goalstick during a wild brawl half way through the third period. Zopan, who played like a clown during the game's second half, came all the way up to the Macs end of the ice to enter the battle which automatically calls for a misconduct. He did not receive a penalty. Keilar was speared just below the eye later in the period but his assailant also got off Scott free. Bucky Ebster was knocked cold by a vicious elbow thrown by the Siskins' 200 pound defenceman, Larry Johnston. Johnston, who had four penalties in all, got away with this one but was nipped earlier for doing the same thing to Bob Boyle.

Belleville centre Doyle Weston, who has been slashed, elbowed and high sticked continually throughout the series, was finally forced to fight Saturday night when Zopan chased him half way to the blueline, throwing punches.

Weston had his revenge later however when he warned Zopan on a penalty shot and made Logan Lee stick before flipping home the rubber. And Zakos caught the goalie out of his net at another time and bodied him heavily, to the fans' delight.

Moe Hunter and Pete Weston starred on the Mac attack, along with line mate Dave Smith. Hunter scored four goals, two on beautiful passing plays with Smith to get the club moving, and had one assist. Weston fired two goals and helped on 3 more while Smith had one goal, the one that tied it 3-3, and two assists.

Bill McQuire also scored one goal and aided on two more while Larry Mavety had a goal and an assist. Don Goodfellow and Bradley Lee added the other goals with Ebbler, Zakos, Reid and Keilar earning assists.

Bill Goldsworthy, Jerry Horrigan and Terry Vail fired the Waterloo goals, two of them coming early in the second to give their club a 3-2 lead after the Macs had led 2-1 at the end of the first. It was 3-3 after two heats.

Belleville outshot the visitors 36-32 and got a strong game in the nets from Gordie Ferguson. Parker played after receiving stitches in his eye when hit by a deflection off his own stick in the pre-game warm-up.

Hunter, whose four goals ran his total to 23 during the playoffs, but fell shorthen to up the total during the brawl at 2.36 of the third. Hunter leaped on the bench when Duvall was clubbed by Zopan, charged into Siskin to the ice and fought with another. He drew a minor, major and a misconduct.

Win 6-4 In Overtime

Meaford Shades Pepsi's

COLLINGWOOD (Special) — Meaford Chevies took a straggle-hold on their OHA Intermediate "A" semi-final series here Saturday, defeating the Belleville Pepsi's 6-4 in a rugged overtime battle.

The victory gave the motor crew a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series. The sixth game is scheduled for Belleville on Tuesday night starting at 8.30.

Over 2,500 paid customers saw the Meaford team roar back from a two-goal deficit in the second period to knot the count in the third frame and force the game into overtime.

Gloom was thrown over the Belleville dressing room when Bob Taylor, a member of the Pepsi's, received word his father, Frank "Chucky" Taylor, had passed away.

Despite the shock of the news, Taylor went out and played one of his better games of the season, scoring one of the team's goals.

The teams split a pair of goals within a minute halfway through the first period. The Pepsi's struck back hard early in the second period scoring three goals in less than seven minutes before the Chevies whittled the margin to 4-2 near period end.

The Chevies "stepped on the gas" in the third frame, scoring twice between 6.33 and 8.58 to knot the count and hold the Pepsi's off the scoresheet.

It took Fitter just 42 seconds to score the winner in the overtime period with Brainard firing home the clincher just 46 seconds later. The Pepsi's opened up the game over the rest of the extra time but the close-packed Chevy defence held them scoreless.

The game was rugged in spots with the Pepsi's picking up eight of the 15 minor penalties handed out. Hull, Baker, and MacDonald suffered minor injuries, Hull requiring stitches to a cut on the head.

Don Hull led the Pepsi's with two goals, both coming in the second period. Davey Jones scored the Pepsi's opener in the first frame, Bob Taylor scoring the final marker in the middle session.

Gary Govey helped on two goals with MacDonald, Baker, and Crawford getting single assists.

Graham scored twice for the Chevies with Lobsinger, McCallum, Fitter and Brainard getting singles. MacDonald and Walmsley each had two assists with McCallum, Graham, Lobsinger, Fitter and Smith drawing singles.

Lose Round 160-151

Crawfords Edge Simcoe

Belleville Crawford Metals handed Simcoe its first loss on home court in three years Saturday night, a tight 83-80 decision, but still lost the OABA Intermediate "C" semi-final round by a total-points score of 160-151.

The loss was a heart-breaker to the Belleville club, which had overcome a ten - point Simcoe lead, chalked up in the first game in Belleville, and had gone ahead in the series by four points.

The Crawfords led 38-31 at half time and in the second half pulled in front 55-41 in the game for a four-point lead on the round.

Then fate took a hand. The Crawfords lost Bert Faulkner with a groin injury, reducing the Belleville lineup to six players. "Mac" McNeal fouled out to make it five and Earl Naismith also fouled out, leaving only four players.

Faulkner returned to the game but could only hobble about and the Simcoe club roared back to regain their series lead.

Simcoe will now meet either Sudbury or Moravian for the provincial championship.

Noel Mason with 19, Brian Stead with 17, Fred DeVriendt and Brian Laird with 12 points apiece, paced the Simcoe club in scoring.

Teddy Batchelor topped the Crawford scorers with 22 points while Don Smith hit for 18 and Bill Green for 10.

Belleville Crawfords (83): T. Batchelor 22, D. Smith 18, B. Green 10, R. Faulkner 8, Mc-Nicol 2, L. Pearson 4, E. Naismith 3.

Simcoe (83): N. Mason 19, B. Stead 17, F. DeVriendt 12, B. Laird 12, P. Adams 8, R. Fisher, B. Eldon, F. Antliew.

Cash Has Six Homers

Tribe Scalps Yankees, Lead League

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who said Yankee Stadium is a graveyard for Cleveland managers? Mel McGaha must think the old hoodoo was just a paper tiger.

It was 3½ years and three managers ago that the Indians last won a doubleheader in the Bronx until McGaha brought the 1963 Cleveland club to town. In fact, they hadn't won a single game here since May 13, 1960, in the last days of the reign of Joe Gordon.

The Indians didn't win only a doubleheader. They vaulted all the way into the American League lead by 25 percentage points over Baltimore's Orioles after shot New York Yankees' vaunted pitching staff full of holes, collecting a total of 28 hits while winning 7-5 and 8-3.

While the Cleveland club was enjoying the fine Easter weather in New York, The Detroit Tigers continued on his home run binge at Boston, The Detroit Tigers first baseman now has six homers in eight games, including two during an 8-6 victory over the Red Sox.

Even Hank Bauer must have been amazed at his Kansas City Athletics, who swept an entire four-game series at Chicago by taking a Sunday doubleheader 7-1 and 7-5 in the weekend series, 13 White Sox pitchers were battered for 30 runs and 40 hits, including six homers.

Jim Kaat of Minnesota Twins turned in the best-pitched job of the day in the league with a four-hitter against Los Angeles Angels. With a little help from a three-run homer by Harmon Killebrew, Kaat won easily 5-0 as the Twins swept their first series in Chaves Ravine. They had lost five straight before meeting the Angels.

Baltimore's home-run hitters enjoyed a delightful day at the new D.C. Stadium in Washington. Jim Gentile, Jackie Brandt, Gus Triandos and Brooks Robinson all hit homers in the Orioles 8-3 romp and the Senators' sixth straight defeat.

On Saturday the Orioles

ORTIZ

round, the fourth, on most scorecards, and even that was possibly a gift. Each man weighed 134½ pounds.

"He just got licked," said Brown's trainer, Bill Gore. The turnout at the Convention Centre was a disappointing 4,881 and the gate gross was $62,535. Brown, from Houston Tex., fought for a guaranteed $50,000 from the gate and television and Ortiz for $17,500.

There was no agreement for a rematch. A rematch seems remote. Ortiz said he was willing but the money would have to be good.

At the end of the 13th round Brown was dripping blood from the corner of his left eye. As he stood dejectedly beaten, the brash New Yorker's was jumping with glee in his corner.

STATE ON TOP

Ortiz did what he had promised before the fight. He stayed on top of Brown all the way, belting the hard-hitting champion get set to throw a telltale punch.

Ortiz slit open Brown's eye in the first round. It bled throughout the fight. Ortiz came out with a slight cut in the corner of his right eye in the sixth, but it was minor.

There were no knockdowns. Ortiz took round Brown landed on the seat of his pants in the 10th.

Referee Frankie Van of Los Angeles scored it 7-6-1 while Dave Zenoff of Las Vegas 7-6-06 and judge Bud Traynor of Reno, Nev., 7-6-5, all for Ortiz.

The Tracks

NEW YORK (CP) — Admiral's Voyage, probably the best winner of the $91,850 Wood Memorial at Aqueduct Saturday after finishing in a three-horse dead heat with Sunfire County and then having his rival disqualified.

Sunfire County was placed second for interfering with Admiral's Voyage on the first turn and again during their stretch drive.

The first dead heat in 36 runnings of the Stamford Memorial, it required almost five minutes before the officials determined Johnny Longden and they could not separate the two horses.

Braulio Baeza, aboard Admiral's Voyage, lodged a foul claim against Jim Mc Kay on Sunfire County. Sunfire County, Some Up Front and Bernardo disqualified Sunrise County).

The two leaders hit the wire three-quarters of a length in front of Dont King. The time was 1:49 4-5 and the winner earned $59,702.

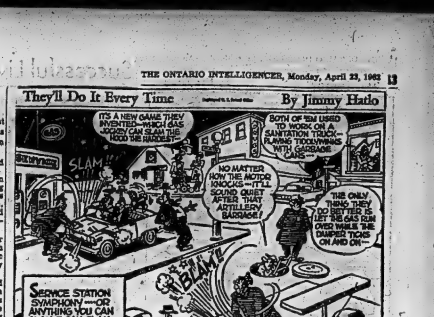
Admiral's Voyage paid $3.30, $3.40 and $3.20. Sunfire County, the 11-to-10 favorite, returned $3.60 and $3.20. Some Up Front paid $3.40.

At Sea Bruno Calif. Doc Joyce won the $42,250 California Derby at Tanforan. Doc Joyce paid $6.80, $3.60 and $3.20. Second-place Blue Serenade returned $3.80 and $3.40 and third place Rigski $3.40.

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—One of the great comeback stories of the year in racing was told at the Fort Erie Jockey Club Saturday when First Minister, a gallant little trotter, scored a convincing victory in the $5,000 Canadian Pacific Stakes.

First Minister, whose career is a testament to thoroughbred courage, is owned by North America's leading juveniles in the sport, Mrs. Ann Ivan of Niagara Falls, the Grand Union Hotel Stakes, and finished second in the $75,000 Hambo of the Year at Saratoga.

In the intervening four years he was discarded as a hopeless cripple and fought his way back through the ranks of the cheapest selling platers.



Driver Ivan, the Bold Venture Handicap was his 10th win in a field of 12 starts since he began his comeback campaign late in the autumn of 1960. First Minister—9-10 as a 400-footer in the tag of $2,500 when he returned to the races last Saturday afternoon his beaten rivals included Hidden Treasure, a horse which has won more than $140,000.

First Minister, owned by Lassom Farm and ridden by Hugo Dittfach, paid $4.80 to win as he defeated 11 Canadian - bred three quarters of a length. Myrtle Hanover, 1961 Hambo, was three lengths behind the winner.

The fifth race was won by March Forward which paid $72.10, $16.60 and $7.10. March Forward combined with Quick Edition for the season's largest quiniela of $681.20.

ATTLEE IMPROVING

LONDON (AP) — Earl Attlee spent a restful night after surgery Sunday for a duodenal ulcer, a hospital bulletin said today. The hospital said no malignancy had been found. The 79-year-old former prime minister, who headed a Labor government from 1945-51, has been in hospital several times in recent years with stomach trouble.

Indians Lead Bisons 3-0

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Springfield Indians are on the verge of locking up an unprecedented third straight Calder Cup championship.

The Tribe boosted its edge Sunday Mail and 3-0 in the best-of-seven playoff finals, tripping the Bisons 3-2 on an overtime goal by Dennis Olson. The Indians beat the Bisons 2-1 Saturday night marked the first time the series will be played here Wednesday night.

Springfield, trailing 2-0 after second-period goals by Buffalo's Murray Hall and Larry Hillesland closed the gap later in the period on a 10-footer by Bob Sweeney, leading scorer during the American Hockey League's regular season. Ron Ellis got the equalizer for the Indians early in the third period.

Olson put in his own rebound after three minutes and 44 seconds of sudden-death overtime.

Starting slowly, the Indians didn't get a shot off for the first five minutes. But they came on in the second period they first fired on Buffalo goalie Denis DeJordy with less than three minutes to play.

DeJordy had a total of only eight saves in the first two periods and 26 overall. Spring-field netminder Marcel Paille finished with 24 saves.

TRIBE

blanked the Seattle 3-0, the Athletics downed the White Sox 9-8, the Red Sox nipped the Tigers 4-3, Baltimore defeated Cleveland 3-1 and the Twins whipped Los Angeles 5-3.

Jerry Kindall, of Chicago Cub, was the big man for the Athletics. He slammed a homer in the Stadium Sunday with a mate on board, triple in the five-run third-inning attack and floored Bill Stafford. Willie Kirkland also homered and added a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning with a single.

CASH STAYS HOT

Cash's slugging resurrected memories of Norm Siebern, now many games is somebody going to hit the 8uth—and now Roger Maris. For Cash added Ruth hit his sixth in game No. 6 in 1927 when the Yanks got in the 30th game last year.

Cash's strongest leading writers, Ed Rakow and Diego Segui, won for Kansas City over Ray Herbert of the Chicago Sox. The best of a long string of White Sox pitchers was Dave Debusschere, the rookie lefthander star from Detroit, who worked scoreless innings in his first relief with.

Steve Barber, the Orioles' Sunday pitcher, won his second straight on the weekend army pass. He allowed Washington only six hits.

Oakville Defeats Ports 8-2

OAKVILLE (CP) — Oakville Oaks defeated Port Colborne Sailors 8-2 Sunday for their second consecutive win in the Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate A final.

The Oaks still will have to go 5-3, however, going into the sixth game of the best-of-seven series at Port Colborne tonight. The Oakville line of Bud and Bob Attersley and Dave Dryden accounted for five goals. Dryden getting three and the others one each. Jim Robertson and Chester Warchol were the Port Colborne scorers.

The Trots

TORONTO (CP) — Jimmy Holmes, a freckled redhead from Milton who long has been a favorite with the fans at Old Woodbine Raceway, scored one of the biggest upsets of a larger upsets before a crowd of 6,725 Saturday night.

Holmes, driving his big roan pacer Silver Laird, showed silly horsemanship to upset Baron Atom, the Canadian horse-of-year-year in 1961, in the feature $4,000 Invitation Pace.

Baron Atom, owned by Bill Sokoloff of Downsview, Ont., is the five-year-old chestnut gelding which won $29,136 last season. Saturday night marked Baron Atom's first start of 1962 and the lack of conditioning may have made the difference in its half-length defeat.

Silver Laird, a 3-1 favorite, had won three previous starts and until this race had not been regarded as a threat to Baron Atom's class. The glistening grey earned only $4,088 in 1961, a full $30,000 less than Baron Atom.

Hi Acres Averill was the tote-board sensation in the fourth, winning its first race in three starts and returning $28.80 for $2. Owned by Leonard Jackson of Palma, Ont., and driven by Don Corbeil, Hi Acres Averill led from the gate to the wire stretch in the upset. The 10-year-old gelding had won only twice in 28 starts a year ago.

The stewards announced Sunday that Miss Bobbe Huntress had been suspended for five nights for "backing up the field" in winning the $4,000 Invitation Trot with the nine-year - old gelding Little Trix. Driver Huntress, after spinning the first quarter mile in 30.4 seconds, required 36.3 to cover the quite the second quarter, defying official caution.

MONTREAL (CP) — Helen Brooke K., an eight-year-old mare owned by Galbraith Stable of Ottawa, won the feature C-A-B-I and B-2 trot for $3,500 at Dufferin Park Raceway Sunday.

Driven by Clint Galbraith, Helen Brooke K. covered a mile in 2:12 1-5 and paid $4.30, $4.30, $2.70 and $2.50.

Curly Dumbert finished a close second and paid $2.70 and $2.50. Prudence's Boy was third and paid $2.50.

Augustus, a four - year - old bronco horse owned by Bernard Ogilde Gilbert of Chicoutimi Que., won Saturday's feature C-A-B-I and B-2 race for $3,500—in a fast 2:03 4-5.

Junior Finals Sunday

TORONTO (CP) — President Jack Roxburgh of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Sunday announced that the first game of the Memorial Cup playoff final will be played here Sunday.

Hamilton Red Wings or Quebec Citadels will be the western representatives. Hamilton leads the best-of-seven semi-final 3-0.

The winner will face either Edmonton Oil Kings or Brandon Wheat Kings. The Oil Kings have a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven series.

The entire east-west series will be played in Toronto.

DENTAL COLLEGE

The first dental school in the United States, the college of Dental Surgery of Baltimore, Md., was founded in 1840.

Canadiens, Kingston Tied 1-1

HULL, Que. (CP)—Kingston Frontenacs emerged from a rough first period two goals to one, the good, then went on to post a 3-1 win over Hull-Ottawa Canadiens Sunday to tie the best-of-seven Eastern Professional Hockey League final 1-1.

Kingston goals were scored by Tom McCarthy, Pete Panagabko and Terry Gray. Claude Larose netted Hull - Ottawa's goal.

Kingston goalie Ed Chadwick put on a sparkling performance, making four spectacular saves within four minutes in the third period.

Chadwick, a former Toronto Maple Leafs goalie, stopped 26 shots in posting his second playoff win. Gerry Desaulniers made 24 saves in defeat.

Maniago came into the play during the second period on a delayed penalty to the Frontenacs. He started within 10 feet of the Kingston net and was in position for a pass when the Canadiens lost control of the puck.

Three Tied For Top At Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Three young newcomers—Jack Nicklaus, Dudley Wysong and Dan Sikes tied for first place in the $50,000 Houston golf classic Sunday.

The classic's fourth playoff in its many years on PGA record —will begin at 7 p.m. today. Nicklaus, who received the second man $4,666.66 untied man $3,000.

Nicklaus jumped to a two-over-par 72 for the $7,100-yard Memorial Park course, playing for a 72-hole total of 278—two under par. Nichols, winner of the Masters and U.S. Opens, had a 70 Sunday and Sikes a 71.

Bill Casper Jr. had a 69 Sunday for a 279 total, fourth place at $2,000.

Three Canadians finished in the money: George Knudson of Toronto, who led after the opening round, had scores of 68-72-70-71—281 for $1,000.

Al Balding of Toronto had a card of 70-71-71-72—284, which earned him $171 and Al Johnson of Montreal won $150 for scoring 72-72-75-75—294.

Decision for Rationing Food in Cuba Was Reached Reluctantly Says Premier

By JOHN BLAND

HAVANA (Reuters) — Food rationing is likely to prove the first major test of the Cuban revolution since the abortive invasion in April, 1961.

Premier Castro himself declared: "The most serious problem which the revolution has yet had to face is without doubt that of food supplies."

Indications here are that the decision to impose rationing was reached only with reluctance, not only because of its impact on the Cuban people but also because of its repercussions in the world generally.

The rationing plan is divided into three categories.

The first is country-wide and provides each person with two pounds of rice, one pound of beans and three pounds of sugar each month.

SOAP RATIONED

In the second category, 26 Cuban towns, including Havana, will be limited to one bar of washing soap, one bar of toilet soap and one medium-size package of detergent a person a month, and to one tube of toothpaste a month for every two persons.

In the third category is Greater Havana which has its own special rationing plan. Each citizen will have three-quarters of a pound of meat a week, one chicken up to two pounds in weight a month, half a pound of fish every 15 days and five eggs and two ounces of butter a month.

Residents will also have 3½ pounds of potatoes (or yams, malanga or plantains) a week, plus two extra pounds of malanga (a root similar to a potato) a week for every child under the age of seven.

The milk ration in the capital will be one litre (about a quart) daily for every five persons over seven years of age, or six cans of condensed milk a person a month, plus one litre a day for every child under the age of seven.

ELIMINATE LINE-UPS

In practical terms, the ration of eggs and butter is roughly what Havana housewives were able to buy in the two months before rationing was instituted. The meat ration represents an actual increase on supplies in the weeks preceding rationing.

Although the amounts announced shocked many Cubans, many more agreed that a more equitable distribution of food was overdue and should eliminate much of the wearisome lining-up at food stores provided that regular supplies reach the shops, as the regime guarantees.

The previous rationing system, technically covering only lard, cooking oil and meat, deteriorated after some weeks into a kind of anarchy. A multitude of clever foods from rice and eggs to cheese and potatoes, and even soap and toothpaste, were in short supply.

Restaurants and cafes were hit hardest by the new ration drive.

Supplies of meat, fish, rice and eggs for restaurants were promptly halved.

Albury

ALBURY — Several ladies attended the stork shower for Mrs. Arnold Weatherall at the school on Tuesday evening. She was presented with a lovely stroller and high chair. A delicious lunch was served by the [illegible] Mrs. Marjorie, Mrs. Bradford Peck ladies of Quinte Chapter No. 39 at Ameliasburg on Thursday evening.

Several young people attended the birthday party for Eric Peck at his home on Friday evening. He was celebrating his first birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Weese attended Moira Lodge ladies' night at Masonic Temple, Belleville on Saturday evening.

Church service at Albury Church was well attended on Sunday evening. The Communion service with Margaret Ostrokonk and Neil Peck joining the church and Rev. Irwin delivering the sermon. The choir rendered a number which everyone enjoyed.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement was noted and verified by doctors' observations."

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results of this new healing substance were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among those sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific foundation. Already, Bio-Dyne is a world use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H. Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Husband Sides With Sideboard

DORIS CLARE

DEAR DORIS:—For the last five or six years my husband has been terrible with me. He scolds me for anything that I do in the house. If I move a piece of furniture around, he swears at me.

My son made me a nice bookcase for my living room. I had an old sideboard about 50 years old, so I took the sideboard out of the living room and put the bookcase in its place. He was so mad about that, he told me I could get out of the house.

When the boys want to go out, he raises cane. One boy is 16 years old, the other is 12. I feel so bad, also the boys, I don't know what to do. What do you think?

If I ask him to take me to town once or twice a year, he asks me what I am going to do there. He has never gone to church since we've been married. I go with the boys. Do you think I should talk to his minister?—UNHAPPY WIFE.

DEAR UNHAPPY WIFE—"The last five or six years! Have you any idea why he has turned cranky? Perhaps he is worrying; perhaps he is sick.

You have a right to go to town on your own or with the boys, since he is so ungracious about this. Help your boys to stand up for themselves and for what is right.

Did your husband see the sideboard as an antique? In such matters decisions should be shared, because household furniture belongs to both of you.

Talk to the minister for your own piece of mind; but since your husband does not go to church he will not likely be able to influence him. It would be better in the long run for you to take a vacation, get your own optimistic viewpoint back, and let Paps see what he is missing when you are not there.

DEAR DORIS:—I wonder if you could give me the name of a business college that has correspondence courses. I didn't finish high school and would like to have something to fall back on in the event that it was needed.—A READER.

DEAR READER:—Write to the Queen's Printer at Ottawa and ask for the booklet listing Canadian Vocational Correspondence Courses, turned out by the Department of Labor in 1959.

This booklet lists 108 courses, which may be taken by correspondents and which run all the way from bookkeeping, building trades, poultry growing, to home furnishing and English. The booklet also contains an application form.

DEAR DORIS:—I am a girl of 11 years. My problem is that my [illegible] is locked up in the garage and I don't have it with me.

My older brothers have theirs out.

Please tell me if I should be able to have it out? My mother said that she was going to sell it to an auction sale. What do you think?—WANTS BIKE.

DEAR WANTS:—Mother's the boss. She probably says the bike to you in the first place.

What did you do when you had it? Drive it where or how you shouldn't? Try proving to her you'll be more careful and see if she won't unlock the door!

Nikita May Send Loafers To Labor Camps

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has promised tough new measures will be taken to rid the Soviet Union of hooligans and loafers.

In a speech Thursday to the congress of the Young Communist League, he hinted that "social parasites" might be sent to new forced labor camps.

A large part of the speech, published Friday, was devoted to an impassioned denunciation of youths who avoided useful labor.

Khrushchev warned that youths would be expected to answer calls to work harder and emigrate to Siberia to build new towns and industrial enterprises. He attacked the West for efforts to infiltrate Soviet youth with its ideological ideas.

Khrushchev said there were young people, "who want, without working, to dress better to have nicer and better suits and shoes, who want suits and shoes in greater quantity and to change them more often, who want to eat better and who want to have an apartment, television sets and other goods."

The premier noted that the communist code is "he who does not work does not eat." But "there are new sponsors who do not work themselves but at times eat better than those who work."

Khrushchev denounced juvenile delinquents who appear to be giving Soviet police more and more trouble.

Things Columnist Might Never Know if He Didn't Open Mail

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The population explosion is creating this curious situation, the United States is growing both older and younger by 1970, if the high birth rate and low death rate continue half the American people will be under 20 or over 65.

Well, after all, who wants to be middle-aged?

Need a doctor in a hurry? . . . The easiest place to find one is Israel, which has one physician to every 420 inhabitants, compared with one in 96,000 in Niger, Africa.

Body oddities: Your middle finger is probably as long as your hand is (stretch out and see) . . . you have enough phosphorus in your system to make 250,000 matches. (Didn't know you were a walking bonfire, did you?)

Correspondent in Russia For Nearly Four Years Does Not Think War Will Come

EDITOR'S NOTE: What's life in the Soviet Union like? Associated Press Foreign correspondent Stanley Johnson interviewed persons on Sidelines after they came to Canada and was asked most frequently during a recent press luncheon here by reporters in the Soviet Union.

By STANLEY JOHNSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Every one wants to unwrap the enigma around the riddle that is Russia. The result is a spate of colophonic asked of anyone who has spent some time in the Soviet Union. The questions cover personal and political issues and here is a sampling of some that have been asked me.

Q. Do you think there will be a war?

A. No. The Russians are just as scared of us as we are of them. The balance of terror is not a very pleasant phrase nor a pleasant way of life—but it has kept the peace so far and, I think, will continue to do so.

Q. Do they have air raid or fallout shelters in Russia?

A. Every now and again someone claims to have information that they exist. The immediate question is: what good are shelters if they are kept secret from the people who are supposed to take shelter in them? None of the military experts at any Western embassy in Moscow has been able to detect a single shelter.

Q. What are the commercials like on Russian television?

A. There aren't any. The government owns the TV stations and also makes all the products that might be advertised.

Q. Why are what are the programs like?

A. Except for dreary lectures, there are very few programs produced exclusively for TV. It is mostly devoted to sports events, plays, operas and concerts televised directly from the hall, and to movies. The movies are just as violent as anything on the U.S. screens, if not more so.

But with a difference. The Russians have discovered that people would rather watch "good guys" (Reds) fight "bad guys" (capitalists) with fists, guns and knives than Tatiana's anguished choice between her tractor and her love. (She always chose the tractor.)

Q. Why do the Russians carry on about Germany as they do? Why all the anti-German fear in the?

A. The fundamental reason is that they have been brutally invaded twice in the lifetime of Russian adults. After that it's a question of politics. After the Second World War, the Kremlin figured all Germany and probably France and Italy would fall easily to communism. This didn't happen. But the Soviet leaders will never give up. Berlin, as Premier Khrushchev has said, is a "craw in my throat." Its capitalist prosperity contrasts with the poverty of East Germany and most of the rest of the Communist empire.

Q. Are Red China and the Soviet Union having a serious quarrel? Is Russia afraid of China?

A. The question is basically ideological, but has taken on overtones of power politics.

An ideology like communism demands one guiding centre—and Peking is now disputing Moscow's right to be it, just as the Roman Catholic religion cannot have more than one pope, the Communists cannot have more than one interpreter of faith.

But as for being afraid of Red China's No. The removal of Soviet technicians, the refusal of atomic aid, the cutback in economic assistance—all these things show not a current fear, but a Soviet Union trying to put itself in a position where it will never have to be afraid. China is a teeming, over-populated country and Soviet lands bordering it are embassy empty.

Q. What about the food situation?

A. Well, you can buy poor quality meat in Moscow at inconomical prices but it is virtually unavailable in the rest of the country. Fruits and vegetables are in scant supply. There is no question of starvation, but lots of Russians are getting tired of soup and bread.

Q. So what do foreigners do?

A. The Russians are very generous with foreigners as to imports and most send to Copenhagen free port for consumer goods. Cigarettes and fresh fruits come from Helsinki. You just pick up the phone and call the grocer — 3,000 miles away in Helsinki. He puts the meat, fruit, vegetables, cream, etc., on the train and you pick it up at the Moscow station next morning. There are no customs or other problems.

Q. What's the night life like in Moscow?

A. The only "night life" is in a handful of restaurants, all of which close at 10:00 p.m. There are no dance floors and, where there's some kind of orchestra, guests dance among the tables.

The customers are gregarious: the stags flock around asking your date to dance. This is especially true of army officers in town on leave. Many tourist has considered in one of her biggest and most unexpected thrills to dance with an air force colonel or a navy commander.

Q. What's it like to drive a car in Russia?

A. It is easy but services, high octane gas, and lubrication, not to mention models, scarcely exist and for a very good reason—few customers. There are no more than 50,000 private cars in the whole Soviet Union. They belong to top government, industrial and intellectual figures and are almost all chauffeur-driven.

Cars cost anywhere from $2,000 to $9,000 and waiting lists are very long.

Moscow has two stations selling gas (a roubles 98 octane) and a handful more with 70. There are no attendants — you put the gas in yourself, wipe your own windshield and put in your own tires. Then you take your money inside to the cashier.

Alcoholism

National Film Board Photo.

Executive Director David Archibald maps program for Ontario.

By Matthew B. Dymond, M.D., Health Minister for Ontario (Second of Four Articles).

Last week we established that alcoholism is a serious disorder affecting men and women in our province in almost epidemic proportions. We noted that there are nearly than 80,000 alcoholics in Ontario today.

The government's program to control and reduce this disorder is planned and administered by the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation, 14 Harbord Street, Toronto 5. Executive director of the Foundation is H. David Archibald, a man who has earned an international reputation in the field of alcoholism control. He has headed up the Foundation since its inception in 1949.

The Addiction Research Foundation was originally concerned only with addiction to alcohol, but its operations have now been extended to cover addiction to narcotics and to other drugs. This is a logical step, since many of the same personality factors are found in addicts to various substances, and since it is not uncommon for some alcohol addicts at a stage in their development to switch their dependence to barbiturates or other comforting drugs.

The Foundation's program of research, treatment, and education has grown consistently over the past 10 years, following promising research leads, trying out new treatment methods and modifying old ways, and building up a far-reaching system of public education and professional training. From the start these three essential areas of endeavor have been encouraged to grow in harmony, since they are inter-dependent.

The Foundation has now reached the point where it can give treatment to some 2,000 alcoholics each year, and a further expansion of treatment facilities is contemplated. It was never the Government's intention, however, that the Foundation should itself attempt to treat all the alcoholics in our province. This is the task of a much larger body of people — physicians, social workers, nurses, members of the clergy and others who in the course of their daily work come in contact with alcoholic men and women. A major part of the Foundation's job is to feed to these people up-to-date information and know-how that they may be better equipped to deal constructively with the alcoholic.

SET UP CLINIC

In our province of six million people, it is felt that the Foundation should set up a clinic about the size of its present branches in London, Ottawa, and Hamilton, for every 150,000 population. This could be the general rule-of-thumb, but the major urban centres should be considered. Larger establishments because large cities have both more people and a higher rate of alcoholism as well.

Just what happens to a person when he is admitted as a patient to the Foundation's only in-patient hospital, a 15-bed unit in Toronto? That will be the subject of next week column related to alcoholism.

ANPA MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Topics this week: A tricky virus, rats on the bottle and bad weather in space.

ONE MAN'S COLD

The same virus that causes a type of severe cold in humans has been found to cause tumors in hamsters. The culprit is an adenovirus, first isolated by researchers working down the epidemics of colds that beset soldiers early in barracks life.

Now U.S. soldiers are given a vaccine to protect them from the colds and the virus. The virus is only known to cause cold-type symptoms in humans. There is no evidence it causes cancer.

But in rats; one type of adenovirus (adenovirus 12) has caused cancer in hamsters when injected into the lungs, says Drs. John J. Trentin and Yoshiro Yabe of Baylor University.

BROTHER RAT?

Male rats drink more alcoholic beverages than female rats, once they have both been introduced to drinking.

Dr. Mathilda Margaret L. Clay, University of Michigan psychologist, in seeking clues to alcoholism, the rats are drinkers out of laboratory and not necessarily teetotalers.

The rats did more drinking when faced with distressing problems. But rats failed to become problem drinkers. In the first place they wouldn't drink enough to become alcoholic. And second, they wouldn't go too far out of their way for a drink if it was difficult to get.

SUNBURN WEATHER

Space pilots may have to check up on the weather on the sun before venturing into space. Bad weather on the sun could be a matter of life or death.

When solar flares — great eruptions — break out on the surface of the sun, solar storms unleash showers of high energy particles — radiation—into space.

Man may have to try predicting when such storms will occur, explained Dr. Carl Von Ehrenkrichi of Lockheed-California Company. Unprotected in a spacecraft, a man could receive a fatal dose of radiation in only a brief exposure.

Yet enough lead shielding to protect an entire spacecraft would be too heavy to lug into space. It might be possible to have a special protection compartment in the spacecraft for space pilots to duck into when they know a storm is coming.

Man Freed in Murder Case Confesses He Was Killer

VANCOUVER (CP) — The search for Charles Heatbman, who sold a Vancouver newspaper he killed a 16-year-old newsboy, continued today in the bustling world's fair city of Seattle, Wash.

Heatbman, 39, twice escaped the gallows on a charge of murder and was freed by the British Columbia Court of Appeal. He told the Vancouver Sun in a copyright story Friday he smothered Donald Otley of Vernon, B.C., on Labor Day, 1960 and "enjoyed killing him."

Under the law of double jeopardy, a man set free after due process of law cannot be tried again on the same charge. Heatbman is being sought on a psychopathic warrant issued under the B.C. Mental Hospitals Act.

The statement was printed in The Sun Saturday. Heatbman met his wife, Connie, Mrs. Harold Willoughby, a third driver and a Seattle-bound bus driver said. She moved to Seattle, 125 miles south of here and site of the world's fair.

HAD URGE TO KILL

The cab driver, Mrs. Nan Bullbrook, said she went to the Willoughby home at 7:30 a.m. Saturday to drive the couple to the bus depot. She said both had been drinking. The statement attributed to Heatbman to concoct an irresistable "urge to kill" during drinking bouts.

Bus driver Gerry Johnston, 25, of Haryville, Wash., drove out of Vancouver at 8:30 a.m. He later identified pictures of Heatbman and Mrs. Willoughby as his passengers.

Charles E. Middleton, investigator for the United States immigration service in Seattle, said Heatbman was in U.S. sought in that city after a "lead through the RCMP."

Harold Willoughby, Mrs. Willoughby's husband, said he is the less worried about the safety of his wife. "how if Heatbman knew he is to be arrested anything can happen."

PAID FOR STORY

Willoughby said Heatbman told him The Sun paid him for his "life story," (but) "I didn't know the story had been changed from a life story to a confession of murder."

Heatbman took eight hours to tell his story. The Sun ran a photographed copy of Heatbman's statement.

The statement said Heatbman "got a big thrill out of him (Otley) struggling." When the boy died, "I picked him up and threw him into the bushes like a rag doll," the statement said.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner of B.C. criticized The Sun for the "juvenile" manner in which it handled what he termed "the alleged confession." He said treatment of the story was "in the best tradition of a grade 13 comic."

The case appears to present a legal problem. Questioned whether Heatbman is clear of the law under the double jeopardy rule, Mr. Bonner said: "That is one of the main problems under discussion."

Donald's step-father, Roy Oliver, said in Vernon Heatbman "should be put away for good. But hang him? I don't know; I can't bring the boy back that way."

Mrs. Oliver said: "I think he should be hanged . . . he should be destroyed."

Heatbman was acquitted Oct. 31, 1961, by a 3-to-1 decision of B.C. appeal Court judges after two trials.

HEATHMAN HELD AGAIN ADMITS KILLING BOY

Arrested in Seattle But Not Worrying

SEATTLE (CP) — Charles Heathman was arrested here Monday after a weekend manhunt and hours later was quoted as making a second statement that he killed a 10-year-old boy.

Heathman, 30, twice sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Donald Ottley in Vernon, B.C., two years ago, was picked up quietly on a downtown street and lodged in jail.

The Vancouver Province said one of its reporters, Ormond Turner, talked to Heathman after the arrest and quoted him in a story as saying: "I killed Donald Ottley. I'm not saying it now to sell a story. I haven't pulled myself."

Heathman's first statement was published by the Vancouver Sun last Saturday.

Developments in the case hinge on a United States immigration department hearing today or Wednesday. The hearing will decide whether Heathman will be returned to Canada to face charges under the British Columbia Provincial Mental Hospitals Act.

Heathman, a native of Winnipeg, was convicted by two separate juries and sentenced to death.

After the first conviction the B.C. Court of Appeal ordered a retrial. On the second appeal a director ordered a verdict of acquittal.

CAN'T YET TWICH

Under the law of double jeopardy a man cannot be tried twice for a crime of which he has been acquitted. It was with this legislation that Heathman made his statement to two staff members of The Sun in an in-

OEA Hears Prediction New Scheme to Boost Standard, Prevent Many Dropouts

TORONTO (CP) — Two architects of the new five-year program for Ontario's secondary schools predicted Monday that the scheme will boost standards and reduce the number of "dropouts" from the school system.

Premier John Roberts and R. H. Wallace, assistant superintendent of secondary education, were both speakers at the opening-day sessions of the annual conference of the Ontario Educational Association.

Premier Roberts said the program will "go far towards removing any tendency to regard the branch of study as more acceptable, socially or otherwise, than another" by allowing students to pass Grade 13 and proceed to university from any of the three streams.

The plan, he said, would boost educational standards while facilitating "achievement of the best of which they are capable by pupils having varied interests, abilities and educational objectives."

The three fields—arts and science, business and commerce, and technology and trades—would allow each pupil to develop to the fullest extent, he said, while reducing the alarming rate of dropouts in secondary schools.

The program would ensure "that many students who now fail to progress along the road will leave school with salable skills."

Mr. Wallace, addressing a meeting of the Ontario Secondary School Headmasters' Association, said the program will include arbitrary direction of pupils into a particular framework of study.

The program was introduced last fall by Premier Roberts as education minister, it comes into effect in September.

Mr. Wallace said that when a pupil has passed in all the required subjects of a grade he will have "freedom of choice as to the branch of his future studies, subject to the courses being available."

The headmasters' association is meeting in conjunction with the Ontario Educational Association.

Premier Roberts made his first major speech despite a heavy cold that made his voice crack, and left him coughing and perspiring freely. Several times he had to stop briefly to mop his brow.

Dr. Murray Ross, president of York University, told the conference Ontario's present academic program is inadequate for students who end their formal education in high school.

"It may even be the very reason that such students leave high school, or find it unsatisfactory," he suggested. He said more technical and technological schools are needed and "we need to give them more status and success."

The more young people who encourage to go to and through university and other institutions of higher learning, he said, "the more will society and the nature of work change."

A. H. Mosher, assistant superintendent of secondary education, said a provincial survey shows 85 per cent of Ontario's teachers, headmasters and superintendents favor having the

COULD MAKE PLENTY OF RAIN FARMERS TOLD

Will Take Vote To Initiate Plan

CALGARY (CP)—Farmers in two south central Alberta counties vote today on bylaws authorizing their county councils to enter agreement with a commercial firm for initiation of a hail suppression and rain-making program.

With the prospects of another long, dry summer in southern Alberta, optimism—here a little winter moisture — the weather modification program faced a critical test if voters are taken.

There have been indications of strong support for the bylaws among the farmers in the counties of Wheatland and Starland, 70 air miles northeast of here. A two - thirds vote is needed.

The Farmers' Union of Alberta last December passed a resolution at its annual convention urging the provincial government to underwrite the $6,750,000 five - year weather modification project. Only the government has taken no action on it.

The weather program was put forward by Irving P. Krick and Associates Limited, which now conducts a trial project for farmers in the Knechill, Rocky View and County districts for an average cost of 15 cents an acre.

PROFESSORS CRITICIZE

The program has been criticized, mainly by the Alberta Research Council and several University of Alberta professors. Wide - scale support for research into such projects—it is involved in one itself—it says there is not enough conclusive evidence to support the Krick program of rain-making and hail suppression.

Irving P. Krick, who operates his firm from Denver, Colo., headquarters, has a doctorate in meteorology. He says his method of seeding potential rain clouds with silver iodide crystals—using planes and ground based generators—has proven successful in seven countries.

The crystals retard hail formation and increase the water yield of clouds, he says.

Jobless Number Falls Sharply, Lower Than '61

Quebec Proves Leader As 54,000 Get Jobs

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment in Canada declined from the January-to-mid-March total of 580,000 at mid - March, 145,000 lower than the jobless total for March of last year, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The drop of 22,000 from the mid-February figure of 580,000 was described as "a large decline for this period."

The mid - March unemployment represented 8.7 per cent of the labor force, compared with 9.1 per cent in February and 11.1 per cent in March, 1961.

The bureau said the 54,000 increase between February and March in the number of Canadians employed was "unusually large increase for this time of year." Mid-March employment was 5.4 per cent higher than a year earlier.

The picture in brief, with estimates in thousands:

	Mar. Feb. Mar.
	1962	1962	1961
Labor force	6,254	6,223	6,353
Employed	5,708	5,643	5,648
Unemployed	546	580	705

SURVEY HOUSEHOLDS

The report is based on a survey of 35,000 households across Canada during the week ended March 24. The statistics provided by the labor force offices are analysed by the federal statistics bureau.

The report said there was a large seasonal increase in employment from February in the manufacturing, construction and service industries. Activity was sustained or higher in the textile, rubber and clothing industries and in many areas of the durable goods manufacturing.

Trade showed a seasonal pickup brought a seasonal decline in the number of forestry workers.

The rise of 246,000 in numbers of persons with jobs, compared with March of last year, was due one of the largest increases in the last five years. There were 169,000 more men at work, and 86,000 more women, than in March, 1961.

QUEBEC FIGURE JUMPS

The increase in employment from February was larger than usual in Quebec, while employment changes in the months were about normal in other regions—slightly lower in the Atlantic region and slightly higher in Ontario, the Prairies and the British Columbia.

Figures on unemployment showed that though the jobless total was down from March, there were larger numbers of persons without jobs but looking for work for periods of more than four months.

An estimated 86,000 had been jobless for less than one month, 183,000 had been unemployed for one to three months, 183,000 more had been unemployed for four to six months and 170,000 had been jobless for seven months or more.

The report said there was a particularly sharp decline from mid - March to mid - September among men aged 25 to 44, reflecting a steadily rising level of employment in construction and durable goods industries.

Of the 580,000 unemployed at mid-March, 32,000 were on temporary layoffs of less than 30 days and 20,000 others were seeking part-time jobs.

The unemployment picture in Ontario:

With virtually no change in the labor force during the month, increasing job opportunities cut unemployment to 169,000 from 205,000 in February. The March jobless rate was 4.1 per cent compared with 5.1 per cent a year earlier when there were 180,000 unemployed.

The rise in employment in Ontario during the month was entirely among women; the number of men employed was unchanged. There was increased activity in light manufacturing, service industries, construction and transportation, with offsetting declines in mining, forestry and heavy manufacturing.

Nuclear Physicist Poses New Theory of Mechanics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nuclear physicist William Davis posed a new theory of mechanics Monday that could challenge long-established laws of motion and might help to light a new form of radiation.

The 42 - year - old Milford, Conn., professor said his unpounded bid theory in a scientific magazine a few weeks ago. His ideas have aroused some of some scientists have called his thoughts significant, others said they need further expounding.

In a paper delivered before the American Physical Society here, Davis attacked the adequacy of Einstein's theories that are the cornerstone of mechanics, the branch of science dealing with the forces that act on bodies and with motion.

Davis said the whole structure of science, monumental when viewed from a distance, at close range looks like a cracked and sagging edifice held together with cement that is presently resting on the shifting sands of constantly changing theory."

Nothing, he said, can stay vertical certainty.

"Soon," Mans are merely more probable than others.

Davis devoted much of his study to the problem of radiation of Newtonian theories should exist. He explained he has specified an object's delay in reacting to a force applied to it. Such a change in a simple stressed rod, one metge long, to one end of which a force is applied,

U. S. Rocket Is Moonbound But Its 'Brain' Is Useless

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., (AP)—A moonward with an injured brain landed through space today toward an almost useless collision with the moon after scientists abandoned efforts to awaken it from its coma.

The 730-pound silver-and-gold craft, Ranger-4, will start to move toward the moon early Thursday and crash at about 9:55 a.m. on the moon's hidden backside, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration says.

Although disappointed, William Pickering, director of NASA's jet propulsion laboratory, said "it's kind of fun, though, to be shooting at something you don't even know who can do that."

Ranger-4 was lifted aloft by an Atlas-Agena B booster at 3:50 p.m. EST Monday. Its assigned job was to gather information, including close-up television pictures, of the composition of the moon.

A NASA spokesman relayed information that the Atlas had pushed the vehicle to an altitude of about 100 miles and separated, that the second - stage Agena had pushed the craft into parking orbit and cut off, that the Agena had fired a second time to launch Ranger 4 on the second leg of its journey, and that the vehicle was on the proper flight path away from the earth at 24,500 miles an hour.

Frank Sharpe Of City Loses Right Arm

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — The wheels of a slow-moving railway freight early today tore the right arm off Frank Sharpe, 18, of Belleville, who has slipped while attempting to board a train as it passed the CNR station at Washago, 12 miles north of here.

The provincial police said their investigation showed that Sharpe, with a companion, Ken Morgan, 19, also of Belleville, were hitchhiking north and decided to ride on the freight train which passes through Washago shortly after midnight.

Sharpe failed in the attempt and was dragged beside the train, clinging to the boarding ladder until his strength gave out. He fell between the locomotive and the following cars. The wheels of a freight car severed his right arm, cutting it off close to the shoulder.

When Morgan had pulled Sharpe dragged himself up from the tracks and walked to the station.

After emergency medical aid Sharpe was brought to hospital here in a police cruiser.

The morning Sharpe's condition was described as good, despite the loss of his arm.

Reports of the accident failed to state whether Morgan was successful in boarding the train.

Promised to Wait Twelve Hours Before Making Confession Public

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Sun says it paid Charles Heathman $500 for his confession of the killing of a newsboy and gave no undertaking not to publish it or inform the authorities for 12 hours.

The newspaper in a statement Monday said about 4 p.m. in the Saturday publication of Heathman's confession of how he smothered 10-year-old Donald Ottley in Vernon, B.C., on Labor Day, 1960, said it did not pay the man the money to flee the country. Heathman was arrested Monday in Seattle.

Said Sun publisher Donald Cromie: "Heathman had extracted a promise from us and we were not going to doublecross him."

The Sun said an undertaking to give Heathman 12 hours before informing the authorities was the "only way the confession could be obtained."

The Sun statement said: "Sun editors decided, supported by lawyers, that the confession is a social document that should be made public.

"In publishing it, The Sun slashed through legal red tape which could have kept it hidden forever. It was made the confession had already been published in front of the crime by the B.C. Court of Appeal and most legal authorities believe he will be tried again."

GIVES TO COUSIN

The Sun said the $500 was handed to Heathman's cousin, Mrs. Harold Willoughby, who is reported to have gone to Seattle with him. The money was given, The Sun said, in the hope she would see that Heathman got psychiatric treatment.

The newspaper said that when Sun reporters left Heathman Friday night he said he would

Argentine President Plans To Call for New Elections

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President José María Guido will issue a call before the weekend for new presidential elections, the first official statement to that effect Guido withdrew a request to Congress to keep him in office two more years.

The announcement came a small group of military men also yielding to navy-pressure for the ouster of Peronist governories won March 18 by followers of exiled dictator Juan Peron.

Guido abandoned attempts to get Congress to give police to pass a Senate - approved bill keeping him in office until 1964 after the navy and air force chiefs of force, ordered a marine unit into the capital.

Navy chiefs were reported adhering to their vow to use all available means to force Guido to bar the Peronists once more from political life.

The navy has been pressing for a federal take-over in all of Argentina's 22 provinces, a move that would replace all elected governors with federal appointees and dissolve the provincial legislatures.

Acting Interior Minister Enrique Gomez denied that Guido had signed a decree for the take-over, but the move was expected soon.

Informants predicted Guido could call elections for June 17 and hold all elections held since Dec. 17. This would throw the country into a campaign for governorships and legislatures that would culminate in July for half the membership in the federal Chamber of Deputies, the lower house governing bodies and 43 seats in the Senate.

Military wrath over the Peronist triumphs in last month's elections has put the presidency of President Arturo Frondizi in danger, with the military's blessing and at once began pressing Congress to pass a measure letting him serve out his term.

His decision to abandon efforts to stay on was seen as the first preparation for the resulting results of the March 18 vote.

Like Homecoming to Ma Corry Here to Visit Canadian Vets

TORONTO (CP) — It's like a homecoming—only Else (Ma) Corry is homecoming as a visitor from home.

She is finding up her "boys" whom she met and mothered during the Second World War when she was hostess at a London, England, leave club.

Since Miss Corry arrived in Canada April 3 she has been surrounded by Second World War vets who have in some cases driven hundreds of miles to see her again.

She's making the trip on her own, and plans to travel across the country.

The Trenton air service base of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests will be opened for the 1962 season either today or tomorrow dependent upon the arrival of pilot Douglas H. Calver with the aircraft assigned to the Trenton district office, District Forester J. M. Taylor said this morning.

The aircraft is CF-OMY, one of 37 Beaver used by the Department, which spent the winter in Sault Ste. Marie. The time of its arrival is dependent upon ice conditions between there and the Sault.

The air base is located on Bloco Lake and handles floatequipped or amphibious aircraft.

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE BY THREE FIRES

The Belleville city fire department was called to the home of T. Sero, 96 South George Street, Monday evening when a small fire was discovered in the kitchen.

Firemen extinguished the blaze and only a small amount of damage was reported to the floor of the kitchen.

Cause of the blaze is unknown.

A false alarm sent the department to Reynolds Crescent Monday afternoon, and a grass fire was reported at the Parrott property in the east end of the city, opposite the Bakelite plant. No damage was done.

A small fire in one of the city dump caused concern, and the fire department was summoned. Total number of fires reported since Good Friday now stands at five.

Y's Men Plan For Operation Of Day Camp

Now that spring has arrived, Belleville Y's Men are directing attention toward the preparation of their day camp for underprivileged children. Speaker for the meeting was Mr. Sidney MacDonald of Sidney Mfg. and Development Ltd. representative for Hastings County. Mr. MacDonald spoke on farm problems and safety. He noted that farming, especially in recent years has become a dangerous occupation. After reviewing the problems of the farm accident survey undertaken by the Provincial Government in 1958, the speaker discussed the farm accident situation locally. Hugh Watson introduced Mr. MacDonald. Appreciation was expressed by Max Woolley.

Next May 5 and 6 the Eastern Ontario Y's Men's District Conference will be held in Ottawa. At this conference Hugh Watson of Belleville will lead one of the workshops "Y's Leadership in the Y." Several members have indicated their intentions to attend.

Thompson, busy cultivating votes around Red Deer, Alta., where he will seek election, normally begins his campaign with a May 3 speech at Quebec City.

Mr. Diefenbaker's Wednesday appearance at the Lakehead Progressive Show was arranged some time ago and is billed as nonpolitical. He attends a rally at Moose Jaw Thursday and then visits his own Prince Albert constituency where his nomination meeting will be held Saturday night. He returns to Ottawa Sunday to meet British Prime Minister Macmillan.

His campaign opener in London — significant politically — is in the home town of Premier Roberts. This is near Strathroy, where Mr. Pearson's Liberals launched his successful 1963 campaign.

Mr. Diefenbaker conferred with his cabinet Monday in what was described as a ministerial rather than a cabinet meeting. He had no announcements.

Mr. Pearson celebrated his 65th birthday in Toronto Monday with his mother and other members of his family.

Remand Two District Youths On Theft Counts

Two district youths, Richard William Boy, 18, and Milton Bell 16, were remanded for a pre-sentence report, when they appeared before Magistrate C. Y. Wills in city court here this morning, on two charges of car theft and two charges of breaking entering and theft.

Evidence given by detective Harold Reid was that the two youths had stolen a car from Bell Telephone lot, on Coleman Gas Street and which was subsequently found in the fair grounds on April 2.

An investigation revealed that the two youths and another the two youths accompanied by a juvenile from Trenton who was sentenced last week by the Magistrate.

The car, when recovered, was found to be damaged to the extent of $276.

On March 29, a car owned by Arthur E. Bates of Roslin, was reported stolen and the owner returned to where he had parked it on John Street and found it missing.

Detective Reid told the court that upon investigation it was learned that the accused youths had taken the car after meeting up with a juvenile.

Detective Reid said the three had driven around and around and when they reached the railway crossing on Bleecker Ave., a train was passing and they had to stop for it. The car stalled and they were unable to start it going again. After the train had passed, the three boys pushed the car into the curb and abandoned it.

On March 24, a break-in was reported at the home of Mr. Neil Burgess who resides on Wellington Crescent.

He told police that on that evening he had left his home around five o'clock, and when he returned around 11.00 p.m., found the home had been entered.

Detective Reid stated that after investigating it was found that entry to the house had been gained by a basement window which had been left ajar. He said that the kitchen and a bedroom had been ransacked.

A pair and loose change was reported to be missing. The revolver was kept by Boss and was taken with the pair of pocket.

The gun was given to police at the time of his arrest.

Murray Township Held $1,200 for 3 Grass Fires

TRENTON—The Easter weekend proved to be an expensive one for the township of Murray.

At last night's meeting of the township council, Reeve Doug Ian McMaster presented the councillors with a bill from Fire Chief Ellis of Trenton for $1,200 representing the cost of fighting three grass fires in the township. Added to this, the council had the county governors that he expected to receive a bill from the Frankford fire department for at least $150.

Township councillor Leo McAuley reminded the council that a law that the 1950 council had passed a resolution to the effect that the official body would not be responsible for fire protection in the case of grass fires, unless buildings are endangered.

Councillor Murphy asked Mr. McAuley, "This could keep up all summer if it's a dry season."

At the suggestion of the reeve council passed a further resolution that township clerk Angus Gunter write to the persons responsible for the fires over the Easter weekend, explain the situation (re the township resolution) and bill them for the cost of the fires. Reeve McMaster said he thought they'd hire a little while to find out just who had started the fires and the bill of the five or six fires in the township over the weekend, but that Fire Chief Ellis had told Trenton to wait for payments.

Some of the men, their time and equipment have been called in from Trenton and Frankford to fight the fires at Ivy Lea Point, Rossland Acres, Pine Grove, off Highway 33, back of Hanna Park and at Appledene Farms on the York Road.

Reeve McMaster, deputy-reeve and other volunteer township residents spent the entire weekend fighting other fires to forest and calling in outside (and costly) assistance.

Present at last night's council meeting were Reeve McMaster, Deputy Reeve Fred Burgess, township clerk, Angus Gunter and councillors Leo McAuley, Norman Flindall and Ronald Webb.

Yesterday Fire Chief Ellis told a reporter that he was "unable to figure the size of the bill for Murray township. The chief said it would be back of Hanna Park and between the two highways, plus $200 for each succeeding hour of the fire.

Club Women Tour School After Meeting

TRENTON — The Trenton Business and Professional Women's Club held its regular monthly meeting recently at the Hotel Gilbert, following which they travelled by bus to tour the Retarded—Children's School west of Trenton and the Jewellery Factory operated by Disabled Persons known as "Operation Recovery".

Club members were welcomed by Mrs. Gilbert, following the Brighton-Trenton Association for Retarded Children. Mr. John Martin, and the principal of the school. The work of the School was explained to the members and especially the pupils work was shown. The enrollment ranges in age from five to seventeen years. The two classes age five to twelve and twelve to seventeen. The school, built on property donated by Harry Lavelle, serves Brighton, Glen Miller, Codrington, Carrying Place and Smithfield. The school presently has is expected to extend to Frankford soon. The teachers at the school are assisted part time by mothers of some of the pupils. The assistance of any interested parties would be gratefully accepted.

The Business and Professional Women were told. The association is a non-profit organization and it progresses to the full extent of the local fees and returns to the point of application of force at the same speed.

Until the wave returns, 4-10,000 of a second later, the rod as a whole cannot move. The behavior of the rod will depend upon how rapidly the force is applied and the built-in delay time of the rod itself. A spongy or rubbery material, for example, would have a greater built-in delay time than steel.

He said this new radiation, "if it exists", would be found be quite different from electromagnetic radiation.

Wooler Man Named To Act as Assessor

TRENTON — Last night, Henry McColl of Wooler, was appointed by Murray Township council to take over the duties of township assessor until such time as assessor Herman Mallory is able to return to his duties. Mr. Mor. was taken ill last week and has notified Reeve Douglas McMaster that it may be some time before he will be able to return to work. Mr. McColl has assisted Mr. Morrow in the past.

Here is his theory of what happens:

The instant the application of force begins, a wave is created at the end of the rod. In the form of a compressive wave, it travelling at about 5,000 metres a second it progresses to the far end of the rod and returns to the point of application of force at the same speed.

Until the wave returns, 4-10,000 of a second later, the rod as a whole cannot move. The behavior of the rod will depend upon how rapidly the force is applied and the built-in delay time of the rod itself. A spongy or rubbery material, for example, would have a greater built-in delay time than steel.

Three Injured In Accident Near Bancroft

Two Oshawa teen-agers and a teenager from L'Amable are in Toronto General Hospital as the result of a car accident which occurred on Highway No. 28, about two miles south of Bancroft, Friday night.

Injured in the group, John Henry Robinson, 17, 244 Porter Street, Oshawa, suffering from a fractured nose, fractured skull, internal injuries and lacerations. Two passengers, Bernadette Labonte, 18, of L'Amable, with concussion, shock and a fractured pelvis and Evelyn Brockman, 16, of 547 Wilson Road, Oshawa, suffering severe lacerations.

Constable Dave Brown, the investigating officer of the Bancroft detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, said Robinson was proceeding south on Highway 62 when he lost control of his vehicle. It left the road, going over a five-foot embankment, travelled about 300 feet and rolled over several times.

The car was completely demolished. Occupants of the car were taken by ambulance to Toronto General Hospital.

Toronto Motorist Possibly Saved 3 From Death

Presence of mind on the part of a Toronto motorist, who spoiled smoke and flames rolling out from underneath his vehicle, was credited yesterday with saving three persons from possible death or serious injury as the Charles Cassidy ambulance burned on No. 27 Highway.

Mr. Cassidy was taking a woman patient in Belleville General Hospital when a mile north of Thomasburg the gas line over the motor broke allowing gasoline to spray over the hot engine.

Unknown to Mr. Cassidy the ambulance caught fire and smoke and flames started rolling out from beneath the vehicle when his attention was attracted by the blowing horn of a following vehicle.

"I was travelling about 40 miles per hour and barely had time to get the ambulance to a stop and pull the patient out through the door, when the ambulance was a mass of flames," Mr. Cassidy said.

Mr. Cassidy gave full credit to the Toronto motorist, Eugene Doyle, 151 Gates Crescent, which saved himself and two passengers in the ambulance from injury.

"Mr. Doyle had the ambulance down the road and was ready to pull the patient to safety almost before I got the vehicle stopped."

Nothing could be done to save the ambulance and even in minutes it was completely destroyed.

The LaSalle Ambulance from Belleville was called and took the patient from the scene on to Belleville General Hospital.

know how major the failure is."

He said it could be in the craft's transmitting system only. However, he added: "There is an indication that the spacecraft has not locked on to (tracked it, and is now headed toward) the sun. The spacecraft is slowly tumbling."

Later, the trouble was tentatively diagnosed as a malfunctioning timer—a clock-like electronic device that was activated a few seconds before launching. It was supposed to provide the timetable for a central computer and sequencer and thereby to issue steering commands to Ranger.

CAN STILL FOLLOW

Although Ranger - 4's radio command system failed, its radio beacon that permit ground stations to track it continued to function. The battery powering these beacons was expected to fail today and the solar battery which was to take its place was not functioning. But scientists still will be able to follow the craft even without the beacons.

The failure was the eighth time in a row that a lunar mission by the U.S. had failed to achieve its goal.

Russia hit the moon's bright side with Lunik II in 1959, and that same year sent a rocket around the moon for the first and only photographs of the never visible backside.

At a reception here last week, she surprised veterans by remembering Ken Walsh and asking about their relatives.

Miss Curry who was born in Sydney, New South Wales, began beginning her career as an entertainer in London when war broke out.

"I was just doing my part to help in the war effort," she said, explaining that she started by singing in all London's Service Clubs—a sort of information bureau to keep soldiers in touch with their friends and relatives.

By 1940 there were so many Canadians coming that the Canadian YMCA opened up leave clubs. The Y took over hotels, added extra beds, and set up facilities for the soldiers, on leave.

For five years, Miss Curry was "mother overseas" to hundreds of Canadians using their clubs.

Russian scientists appear to be trying to find out more about radiation in outer space that may pose hazards and delays in viet Union's project to get a man to the moon.

The announced aims of the new Soviet-program of space research are the measurement of radiation belts and of meteorites around the earth and the dangers they may hold for space travellers.

The purpose of satellites also could help pave the way to-ward precise weather forecasting.

Today's session of the Soviet parliament, was received early so that the delegates could hear the announcement of the new satellite.

News of the U.S. moonshot was broadcast after the Soviet satellite launching had been reported. Tass told of the U.S. shot in a 50-word dispatch from New York.

Bacteria in Cake Mixes May Bring Federal Ban

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal ban on the sale of cake mixes and frozen dessert pies contaminated with salmonella bacteria is under consideration, it was learned today.

A regulation has been drafted by the food and drug directorate and has been sent to Health Minister Monteith. He already has the support of the approximately 19 manufacturers of cake mixes.

The step follows recent increases in the number of cases of food poisoning called salmonellosis. It usually takes the form of a mild bowel infection, but can be dangerous in the fatal.

So far this food poisoning has not been directly traced to salmonella in cake mixes. But the health department has succeeded in locating salmonella in the unpasteurized egg products used in the mixes.

Cooking destroys the bacteria. But infection probably arises from contamination of cooking utensils or by infection of the cook or children who eat the uncooked batter, a health department report says.

Salmonellosis almost never occurs in fresh eggs. "We don't think it is in the dried eggs, Dr. C. A. Morrell, head of the food and drug division, said in an interview. He said it may develop from egg-grading practices.

Two Health Department bacteriologists, F. S. Thatcher and J. Mumford, examined samples and mixes taken from store shelves. Among their findings:

Of 84 samples of Angel Food mix, 33 contained salmonella. In 55 chocolate mixes, 19 contained salmonella. Only five of the samples without eggs were contaminated.

The bacteria were not found in canned raw foods, cake icing mixes or refrigerator cookies.

Ready to Move 1,000 Negroes Out of South

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An official of the pro - segregation Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans says unnamed doctors have agreed to undertake the cost of a special train to move 1,000 Negroes a month.

The claim by George Singelman was made after an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asked Negroes to ignore the segregation laws and buy one-way tickets out of the south.

Singelman, a director of the Citizens Council, said in an interview Monday night that doctors are willing to pay a special train to cost $20,000. The train would handle about 1,000 passengers.

Singelman declined to name the doctors.

Clarence Laws, regional secretary of the NAACP, warned that there will be tragic results for Negroes to assume that they can move north in a mass exodus one northern city on a one-way ticket furnished by segregationists. He said the only success which apparently has been reported is Lucky Boyd family of New Orleans.

The Boyd family parents and five children were given bus transportation and incidental expenses to New York last week. They were put up in a hotel suite and showered with gifts by admirers in the north.

Boyd, a dock worker who had been unemployed in New Orleans for six months, got a $100-a-week job as a handyman at a freight handler's agency in City, N.J.

Singelman said he felt sure that the Louisiana legislature, although the state is operating on a deficit, would appropriate $100,000 at the May session to provide additional runs by the train possible.

Mr. Heathman was arrested here by Patrolman Ted Fonds after a tavern customer recognized the man from a newspaper picture.

Officers said Heathman was charged with $500 and $400 in his wallet. The $500 was in a statement Monday it paid $500 for his settlement—"money to be used for psychiatric help."

Police quoted Heathman as saying after his arrest: "I'm not worried. All they can do is take me back to Canada and put me in hospital."

Heathman's ex - wife, Mrs. Anna Willoughby, who travelling with him here by bus early Saturday, was questioned by immigration authorities and released. She returned to Vancouver by bus Monday night.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner of B.C. said: "The Soul's action in phoning authorities 2½ days before the statement was printed left inadequate time for police action. The Sun still pocketed the Heathman pickup.

Cuba Sugar Production Is Lagging

By JOHN BLAND

HAVANA (Reuters) — Cuba's sugar production is lagging badly. Sabotage by fire may be one of the big reasons.

Throughout the island's main export crop is running at 76 per cent of the target fixed before the harvest began in January, according to day-by-day production tables published in the Communist daily newspaper Hoy.

At this rate, when the harvest ends in May only 5,000,000 tons will be reached instead of the 5,400,000 forecast in January by Industry Minister Ernesto Guevara.

Guevara blames the lag on a lack of cutters. Volunteers have been pressed to "help the revolution" by cutting cane.

But a recent three-day trip by this reporter through the four central provinces of Cuba suggested that fires may be playing a big part in the reducing output.

During the first day, 11 large cane field fires were seen burning in Matanzas and Las Villas provinces. Some were new fires, fronts at least half a mile wide. Others were old fires.

Policemen worked desperately at one fire to prevent it eating further into the cane. But it was clear nothing could be done. Flames sped through the plantation.

Apart from the actual fires, there were signs of sabotage in recent burning. A sugar mill chimney inside the city of Matanzas was destroyed by explosives.

The mechanic also said there had been some sabotage of machinery inside the mills. The penalty for setting fire to a cane field is summary trial by a revolutionary tribunal and certain execution by firing squad within 48 hours.

Although the revolution has made and is still making determined efforts to diversify its agriculture, Cuba will remain for years basically dependent upon her sugar crop.

WANT NO INCREASE

Ontario school inspectors cannot be strongly against increasing the number of school days.

In a panel discussion during the annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association being held here, the inspectors criticized that one-third of students in Ontario complete 13 grades of schooling in 12 years.

R. H. McCarthy, provincial superintendent of curriculum and textbooks, felt Ontario's youth spent enough time in classrooms.

"On this continent the students need the sun and the teachers need the long vacations to recover from their exhaustive work," he said.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said The Sun was right in keeping its story on Heathman.

"I have no objection to the way the confession was obtained and the fact that Heathman was given a 12-hour break," the attorney - general said.

"But after 12 hours and one hour's sleep, that confession should have been in the hands of authorities and it should not have been published."

THINKS NOT SUFFICIENT

Mr. Bonner said he knew a police sergeant had been present at the confession at 7:30 a.m. Saturday but that this was not sufficient evidence for the subject, he said.

The Sun says that retired Supreme Court Judge A. M. Manson praised the newspaper and its reporters for their part in the confession.

"I think Simma Holt deserves a gold medal for the wonderful job of work she did," the newspaper quoted Judge Manson as saying.

Mrs. Simma Holt, a reporter, Jack Brooks, city editor, and Jack Wasserman, a columnist collaborated on the confession story.

The judge, who first sentenced Heathman to hang for the Ottley slaying, said The Sun was negligent in allowing Heathman to go free after he confessed.

"To inform authorities right away would have been stretching duty a little," the judge said.

The Sun said the RCMP had been told of the confession 2½ hours before it was published.

Attorney-General Bonner was advised later in the morning. He ordered Vancouver city police to move.

Clearly Illegal For Trustees To Take Pay

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A department of education ruling Monday termed as "clearly illegal" the action of four public school trustees in suburban Sandwich West Township who have voted themselves honorariums.

The honorariums, $700 for the board chairman and $500 each for the four members, were voted at a December board meeting. One trustee, Mrs. Joan Poole, refused the payment.

Mrs. Pope did not accept payment of $5 a meeting for a maximum of 12 meetings in a year plus seven cents a mile for travelling expenses. This is not authorized to district school boards under the Ontario Public Schools Administration Act.

Gordon L. Duffin, assistant superintendent of business and education in Ontario, said the $700 and $500 honorariums are clearly illegal under the act.

The fact that the honorariums had been approved, and received, by the trustees came to light after representatives of a tax - ratepayers' group searched the minutes of board meetings. The group announced it would appear before an April 16 board meeting, but no representation was made. Trustee Poole said Monday he was not aware of any complaints being lodged from Sandwich West residents."

William Henry Ireland

To say that the death of William Henry Ireland of Trenton severs an important link with the past may appear to those who did not have the privilege of knowing him personally, and of having shared the years in which he played such a prominent part in the public life of this province, to be stating the self-evident. The death of every septuagenarian severs a link with the past. But few men of Mr. Ireland's generation made their mark at such an early age. His exceptional talents brought him to the fore while still a young man and resulted in him being a colleague of men whose names have long since been enshrined in the history books.

It is the first post-war era to which Mr. Ireland's political career chiefly belonged. It is almost 45 years ago that he first entered the Ontario Legislature and the early twenties through which he helped to guide the development of this province was not the post-war period which springs to the minds of most of us today, but that of an earlier generation. Mr. Ireland's political hey-day "Mr. Ontario" was not Leslie Miscampbell Frost but George Howard Ferguson, who is assured of a place in anybody's list of the more important premiers of the province. In Ferguson's time Mr. Ireland was no backbencher. He was not a member of the Cabinet, but during the first four years of the Ferguson Government he was given the vitally important post of Conservative Whip. For a lesser man, this might have earned more enemies than friends; it is a measure of his energy and tact that his popularity was never heightened, rather than diminished, during his discharge of the Whip's duties and that his service to the party was later fittingly recognised by his election to the position of president of the Conservative Association of Ontario.

While not even the shortest account of Mr. Ireland's life would be complete without recognition of his contribution to the political life, not merely of this district but of all Ontario, it formed no more than one facet of his activities in the interests of his native town, Trenton, and the district as a whole. Prior to going to the legislature, he had served as councillor and mayor. He later sat on the High School Board, as member and chairman. It was his initiative which gave Trenton its hospital. Numerous lodges were privileged to claim him as a member and through them, and privately, he did many good deeds. His church was one of his major interests throughout all the years of his long life. His loyalty to his friends was exceeded only by his devotion to his family.

Should Change Tactics

"With fluoridation, a reduction of cavities in future generations would be equal to the addition of 200 new dentists to our province."

So said Dr. R. K. LeBlanc, registrar of the Quebec College of Dental Surgeons. Appearing before the royal commission on health services, he declared that provincial governments should not leave it to the public to decide whether communal water supplies are to be fluoridated, but should compel such fluoridation.

Organized action of dentists everywhere take much the same attitude.

In an era in which it is commonplace to find efforts to create an artificial scarcity, in order to preserve high wages or high profits for a privileged few, dentists are striving with might and main to reduce the demand for their services. And a section of the general public is resisting this effort to make dental health cheaper and more widespread.

Dentists should try a switch. If they were to oppose fluoridation, two will get you ten they would be hailed as greedy monopolists and fluoridation plants would spring up like crab grass in July.

We don't have any need for amateur anti-Communists. They are likely to be about as useful as those programs at amateur brain surgeons.—Rear Adm. William C. Mott, Judge Advocate General of the U.S. Navy and participant in anti-Communist seminars.

Oddballs and Smart Alecs Clutter Ottawa Picture

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA . . . notes off the reportorial cuff . . . FUSSIL . . . THIS ONE.

Amid all this election-time talk of unemployment, Labor Minister Starr keeps a sharp eye on his National Employment Service.

Not irregularly, to make sure that it remains tuned up to peak efficiency, he traces the steps taken and the progress made in an individual case in his effort to put a jobless man to work.

Following up one such case to see what the National Employment Service had done about finding a job for an idle "Mr. X," Mr. Starr received this report from one of his Labor Department executives:

"One of the difficulties in placing this 'Mr. X' in suitable employment is the fact that there are only certain types of individual with whom he will resign to work, for he is a strong believer in astrology, and can't stand people born under the wrong signs of the Zodiac."

Turned out he could work only co-operatively only with people born in February, and only then, if the job and its pay cheque suited his particular fancy.

What bothered Mr. Starr was that "Mr. X" and oddball types like him are not listed in official employment statistics as genuine cases in need of jobs.

Mr. Starr suspects that if some of the "Mr. X" types in plain lazy who simply don't want to work, that there is a considerable number of people who go on unemployment insurance because they "can't winter holiday," were all weeded out, the unemployment situation might look a lot brighter than it does.

SHOW-OFF:

One of the less pleasing sights around Parliament Hill's big, busy Centre Block in recent days was the spirals of blue tobacco smoke curling up to the ceiling from among a group of young teenagers listening to Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

They were a group of Grade 10 students from suburban Toronto, making the annual tour of the Capital and Parliament Hill. Hundreds of young people take every year in school and service club-sponsored trips to the "heart of the city" of their nation.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker had broken into the tight schedule of hard, high-pressure working day to greet them in the Railway Committee room, and after the handshaking of the exciting story of the history and the making of their country.

And there three of them were . . . not dutiful but mere brushout boys . . . 14, maybe 15 . . . lighting back . . . sucking cigarettes . . . and one, a big, black cigar.

Now the boys had no way of knowing, unless they read their newspapers . . . and such smart-alec upwards of seven have time for reading (that's the impression I had) . . . that the Prime Minister is a teetotalling non-smoker.

Under the special circumstances, they could have done themselves, the country, and the courtesy of not lighting up. But then that almost certainly would have denied them the pleasure of being seen . . . and the centre of all eyes.

CHAPERONAGE:

At the back of the big Committee Room sat two teachers-chaperons, observing, keeping up over the flapped conduct of their problem charges.

But the Prime Minister, who won't even let his Cabinet colleagues smoke at Cabinet Council session, chose, perhaps wisely, to overlook it, and said nothing directly . . . except to lay pointed stress on the window when he left the room and still fit, of keeping mentally and physically sharp, and perhaps most important of all, well-balanced emotionally.

Possibly thought that three young fellows, who obviously considered it quite a lark to figuratively puff smoke in their Prime Minister's face to be in need of embarrassment of all concerned, lacked proper emotional adjustment . . . and if he did, he was correct.

Pool Goes Respectable

Wall Street Journal

If you just have the patience to wait long enough, things have a way of coming around full circle. Not everything, to be sure, but enough things to give a man pause.

For instance, in an era of power steering, power brakes, and all the rest, we have gone on with contemporary motoring, who'd have thought that anybody would be able to get good thing out of putting together a junior-size model of an old-time touring car that steered with a tiller instead of a steering wheel? Well, one fellow did, and he's sold a lot of these antique reproductions.

Or take the old gaslights, which by about the mid-1920's had been yanked from city sidewalks and replaced by electric lights. Who could have imagined that people in the 1960s would be installing gaslights in front of their houses? Now it's a big item in the trade, Or, as its manufacturers prefer to call it, the billiard table—even when it's equipped with six pockets. Once a parlor fixture almost completely ignored by gentlemen, for more years than we care to count pool games have become classics, gloomy quarters usually below sidewalk level. And the game now is played by the day, say, mostly by persons who would be called gentlemen only by courtesy.

Today we find billiards, or pool, becoming quite respectable. Tables are being set up adjacent to the ubiquitous bowling alley which has made itself over. They are appearing in home basements.

But sometimes revivals bring with them changes. For instance, some of the modern billiard fixtures actually are illuminated by small electric light bulbs set in the table's green felt is being replaced by new material available in what are described as decorator colors.

Now we old timers don't mean to be fuss-budgets about this. But we just can't be persuaded that any self-respecting pool player is ever going to be caught shooting the five ball into a side pocket of a green table covered in mauve or shocking pink.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE IN' SIGNIFICANT

God commissioned Moses to do the greatest task ever laid upon the human being in history. How can I assume such responsibilities? cried Moses in dismay. And God's answer was what the Lord's answer usually is to the demand for power, namely another question. "What hast thou in thy hand?" asked God, and Moses replied, "A rod."

With that rod Moses went forth to a work so mighty that it touches your life and mine every hour of every day we live.

The rod in the hand of Moses had shepherd became a divine instrument by which this man led forth a captive people and changed the course of history. He did his work as a shepherd well. He was faithful to his shepherd's rod. But God had something greater in store for him. God had a higher use for that plain piece of wood that would lay open the sea, it would bring water out of the rock, it would point an enslaved people to freedom and glory.

The lesson is the plain and simple that we are indeed worthy of rebuke if we do not see it. Do faithfully what you are now instructed to do, and God will give you greater and more significant tasks in the years ahead. Moses could not have known the significance his life would have for humanity as he led his sheep from one tiny grazing plot to another But God was watching the man. He had higher work for the shepherd who used his rod well.

Americans Distrust Talkative Men

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"I was watching the Jack Paar show that was taped in London," said the woman sitting next to me at dinner, "and I was struck again with the basic dissimilarity between the American men and English men."

"In what way?" I said unsagely, adopting a clipped British tone.

"Well," she said, "Paar interviewed Harold Wilson, political figures, all of whom disagreed with one another. All of them were quite passionate and persuasive in their ways, but they sounded very different from American men I have heard on political forums and round tables."

"You mean they were more reasoned, less emotional?"

"Not just that," she answered, "although that's a part of it. What I mean is that they seemed so much more grown-up. They were mature; they spoke with some grace and precision — and with a lot of humor."

"You've been listening to politics; is funny over here," I ventured.

"I don't mean that," she shook her head. They were quite serious about their views, but they didn't put on that mock solemnity, that forced style we're so accustomed to hearing. And they didn't give out with a lot of clinched-jaw patriotism and the British way of life, and all that rubbish."

"We don't like wit and humor in our public men," I offered. "Apart from other factors, I was Stevenson's ready tongue that hurt him in the Presidential elections. Americans seem to distrust a man who expresses himself well."

"That's part of it," she nodded. "It also takes something to do with security. They may not feel secure enough in their background and accomplishments so that they could forgo the dreadful ponderousness of being grave and solemn for fear of witty and sardonic — and misunderstood. Remember how grave Stevenson is the only American politician who deprecated himself in public, which is, apparently, not a trait we admire here."

"I'm sure many British political speeches are deadly dull," I put in.

"I'm sure they are, too," she said, "but, at least, public figures seem like little boys compared to theirs. It's hard to imagine Churchill's splendid prose at once subtle and masculine in Eisenhower, Nixon or Kennedy. And yet it was the inspiration of his prose that gave England the courage and spirit during Dunkirk and the Blitz."

"You prefer Englishmen to American men, then?" I asked uneasily.

"Not in many respects," she said, "but I think men are duller to talk to. They are lyrical only about business and politics, and the human being is strictly locker room. No wonder we have so many dissatisfied women."

Injections Used to Help Obliterate Spider Veins

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

I am going to backtrack a little on something I wrote not so long ago about spider veins. Those small, lime, webby veins that sometimes develop, particularly on legs and thighs.

It is true that they are more likely to occur in people who have varicose veins, although spider veins are not varicose veins, and ordinarily don't cause physical distress.

They are, however, sometimes unsightly.

Occasionally they disappear by themselves, although this isn't predictable. Maybe they will; maybe they won't.

My advice has been to forget about spider veins — and in general I still abide by that opinion, because the person who has them is much more conscious of their presence than anyone else.

Besides, your doctor can't do anything about them — with but really exceptional success.

It is true that in many cases injections can be used to obliterate spider veins, by a doctor or other method — so pills, ointments or anything else.

The treatment requires some skill and experience. Only a small area can be done at a time. Much of the ultimate success depends on being able to inject fluid into the vein at a point at which the blood will flow through a small patch of still smaller veins branching off from it.

Even so, it is a painstaking process and will require repeated visits, depending of course, on how much area is being cleared of the spider veins. And it isn't possible to guarantee that other spider veins won't appear.

One surgeon tells me that he gets quite a few requests from men, as well as from women, for help to be "bathing beauty" in season.

Doubtless some readers will now start asking, "Where can I get this done, and how much will it cost?"

Your personal physician can refer you to a specialist. The cost will depend on the area to be treated. Ask the surgeon for his estimate of the number of treatments that will be required. Then multiply by whatever his fee is for each office visit, in some instances, dozens of visits will be required; in other cases, fewer. Do not expect that one or two visits will clear up a lot of "spiders."

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there anything that will help epileptic seizures? All different doctors do is give different sedatives or tranquilizers. — Mrs. N.W.

Ans. I disagree! The great majority of epileptic cases are being helped markedly by the anti-convulsant drugs, which are not sedatives and are not tranquilizers. Many epileptics, since the development of these drugs, have gone years without having a seizure.

Note to Mrs. C.B.: There's no special significance as to which side of the face is affected by the duodenal ulcer; it can occur on either. There are few pre-and-post-ulcer pain sensations, but I'd avoid shrugs. Much of the trouble is and if any dental infection exists, I'd certainly get it cleared up. That "hole" should be checked too. And, of course, keep up the general good health and much simple but important measures as adequate rest, balanced diet, plenty of fluids and reasonable general exercise.

"Don't Quit Because of Arthritis" is the title of my leaflet that tells how you may suffer the aches and pains of arthritis, and yet lead a full life. TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE "NOBLE PLEASURE OF PRAISING"

It doesn't take much brains to criticize. A fool can tear a wise man's efforts to bits. But it takes quite a bit more than praise — justly and honestly, of course — to make an individual confident enough of himself to go ahead and do things.

You can mean they were more successful?" I inquired.

"Not just that," she answered, "although that's a part of it. What I mean is that they seemed so much more grown-up. They were mature; they spoke with some grace and precision — and with a lot of humor."

"You've been listening to politics; is funny over here," I ventured.

"I don't mean that," she shook her head. They were quite serious about their views, but they didn't put on that mock solemnity, that forced style we're so accustomed to hearing. And they didn't give out with a lot of clinched-jaw patriotism and the British way of life, and all that rubbish."

"We don't like wit and humor in our public men," I offered. "Apart from other factors, I was Stevenson's ready tongue that hurt him in the Presidential elections. Americans seem to distrust a man who expresses himself well."

"That's part of it," she nodded. "It also takes something to do with security. They may not feel secure enough in their background and accomplishments so that they could forgo the dreadful ponderousness of being grave and solemn for fear of witty and sardonic — and misunderstood. Remember how grave Stevenson is the only American politician who deprecated himself in public, which is, apparently, not a trait we admire here."

"I'm sure many British political speeches are deadly dull," I put in.

"I'm sure they are, too," she said, "but, at least, public figures seem like little boys compared to theirs. It's hard to imagine Churchill's splendid prose at once subtle and masculine in Eisenhower, Nixon or Kennedy. And yet it was the inspiration of his prose that gave England the courage and spirit during Dunkirk and the Blitz."

"You prefer Englishmen to American men, then?" I asked uneasily.

"Not in many respects," she said, "but I think men are duller to talk to. They are lyrical only about business and politics, and the human being is strictly locker room. No wonder we have so many dissatisfied women."

other people carry about with them, ready to hurl at us upon the first provocation, never thinking of the stones we ourselves carry about for the same purpose.

You will never go wrong by saying what is good.

We are daily uplifted by the noble deeds of others, but God deserve it at all, but the more praise that comes our way, the more lasting will be the thing worthy of it as we live an earthly.

The unkind words you say or pen, are so much poison that will eventually work back into your own heart to its everlasting hurt.

None of us is guiltless, but each of us can blot out so much of it daily by praise and by acquiring the noble art of praising, and making it one of the habits of our life.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The pipe, according to one of my deep-thinker friends, is becoming a status symbol.

"Vice presidents of big corporations," he says, "and rising bureaucrats and accountants and finance are taking up pipe smoking as the mark of the solid, sound, old-fashioned man. They are letting their hair grow a little long, like Adlai Stevenson's, and are affecting the playboy. Then the first war boosted the cigarette into enormous popularity. It became the status symbol of the soldier.

"The cigar long years was the symbol of the prosperous businessman. Before that, a certain element in the prosperous world wouldn't feel right unless it had cigar jutting upwards from their teeth.

"We plain old pipe smokers don't mind a few vice-presidents joining us, if they think it improves their status.

Harry Bradley New P.C. Candidate

CAMPBELLFORD — Mr. Harry Bradley, B.A., teacher of history in Campbellford High School was selected as the Progressive Conservative nominating convention for Northumberland Colleyville in Cobourg, on Saturday afternoon.

The nomination was made unanimous on the motion of his closest competitor, Mr. Wm. Thomas, Reeve of Colborne. Others contesting at the convention were Herman Mooney of Murray Township and Jim Miskelly of Cobourg. The last two mentioned withdrew after the first ballot. Mr. Wes. Downer of Brighton, though nominated, declined.

Mr. Bradley's nomination was proposed by Mrs. Ernest Irwin of Seymour. Mr. Bradley was born in Ridgeway, Ontario 35 years ago. Following graduation from Fenwick District High School, he entered McMaster University where he was an honor graduate in history in 1952. He was prominent in debating circles at McMaster and in the latter year field. He won the A.W. Alexander scholarship in 1952 and studied at Edinburgh University, Scotland.

Since coming to Campbellford in 1953 as a teacher of history he has been active in Christ Anglican Church, in the Young Peoples groups of the church, in Golden Star lodge, A.F. and A.M. and Ionic Chapter, R.A.M.

In 1957 he married Donna Sharpe of Campbellford and they have three children

In his acceptance speech Mr. Bradley said the Progressive Conservative party under the leadership of John Diefenbaker, has found the best from the past, applied it with energy to the present to make the future bright. A dedication to the task had resulted in some tremendous achievements. The upsurge in the economy of the nation and the money being made available for the people of Canada for homes or businesses, and the first favorable trade balance since 1953, are some of these.

Following the balloting, the candidate introduced Mrs. Bradley to the convention. He promised his utmost effort in the crusade to keep Northumberland Conservative and asked the support of all party members in this effort.

INTRODUCES SPEAKER

Mr. Ben Thompson, retiring as the Northumberland representative in Ottawa, introduced Hon. Michael Starr, Federal Minister of Labor, the last speaker for the afternoon.

Mr. Starr pointed to the expansion throughout Canada in all areas and asked the question "Who brought it about?" The answer to this question he said lay in the hard work and constructive policies of John Diefenbaker and his Progressive Conservative government. He said the slump hoped for by the opposition men had put them in the unenviable position of not being able to bring in a platform, especially now since the economy has reacted most favorably to government policies.

He stated that if the Dominion Government cut off aid to provinces, there would be no deficit financing, but new programs of education, winter works programs, increased pensions and social services had put a tremendous strain on government sources of revenue. The Dominion contributed 306 millions to assist the provinces to alleviate the burden of property taxes for the implementation of a constructive program of training of youth in all skills.

In conclusion he stated that the Diefenbaker government is one of kept promises and one which can take pride in its accomplishments.

Mr. Earl Drope thanked Mr. Starr for his informative address.

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow spoke informally during the counting of the second ballot. He paid tribute to the work of Ben Thompson in Ottawa, stating that while he regretted Mr. Thompson's decision to return to his practice in Brighton, he could understand all his reasons.

Capture of Salan May Mean Algerian Ordeal Is Over

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The capture of former Gen. Raoul Salan surely means that the frightful ordeal of Algeria's 9,000,000 Arabs is nearly over at last.

There have been many false dawns in the bitter history of Algeria, many peace hopes extinguished since the time five years ago when former governor Robert Lacoste was proclaiming repeatedly, and with wild inaccuracy, that the war was in its "dernier quart d'heure."

Now perhaps Lacoste's "final quarter of an hour" has arrived. Salan's abject surrender to French security forces, in contrast with the bowsy breathing bravado of his Secret Army paraphiles, will be a heavy psychological blow to settler morale.

For years, world opinion has condemned the cause of "algerie Francaise" and considered Algerian independence as inevitable. With their leaders falling away one by one, the 1,000,000 Europeans may finally realize the sheer irrationality of their struggle to hold back history.

As Salan joins Edmond Jouhaud in jail, the Europeans may well wonder aloud if the cabal of the Secret Army chiefs, Considering their frequent vows to fight to the end, the rank and general capitulated in remarkably tame fashion.

Salan is quoted as saying the Secret Army was "collapsing" all around him. Whether he really said that or whether an inspired propagandist put the words in his mouth, it's impossible to forecast a bitter struggle for power among the remnants of the Secret Army, an organization that most surely years ago when former governor Robert Lacoste was proclaiming repeatedly, and with wild inaccuracy, that the war was in its "dernier quart d'heure."

The man of whom more may be heard is ex-Col. Yves Godard, whom some regarded as the real "brains" of the Secret Army even when Salan was still titular chief. Among civilians, probably the most virulent proponent of French Algeria is student leader Jean-Jacques Susini, an out-and-out Fascist.

While a disillusioned European population begins to see the handwriting on the wall, Godard and Susini may still get hard-core support from French army deserters, desperate men who have so many killings on their consciences that a few more won't worry them.

So the slaughter of innocents in Algeria may continue for a while, in the same cold-blooded and pointless way. But it is unlikely to last much longer. Soon the Moslem millions may be free from the military phase of their struggle for independence to what may prove an equally formidable task—economic reconstruction of a devastated land.

Montreal-Born Painter Goes To Rome to Study Painting

By PAULINE ALLASIA
Canadian Press Correspondent

ROME (CP)—Umberto Bruni, a Montreal-born painter whose works are familiar to patrons of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts and to students at Montreal's Ecole des Beaux Arts, has acquired as enviable reputation on both sides of the Atlantic.

His first Italian exhibition, a popular one-man show of 28 representative paintings at the Obelisco Art Gallery, was officially opened by Mrs. Leon Mayrand, wife of Canada's ambassador to Italy.

Prominent members of the Canadian colony here as well as the general public attended in large numbers.

Bruni's trip to Italy, however, was not primarily a holiday. Financed by a Canada Council grant, he came to study Italian and French techniques in mural painting.

His wife and daughter, who accompanied him to Europe, are well suited to the countries on their itinerary. Like Bruni, they speak flawless Italian and French as well as English.

Bruni, 47, has been in love with painting since his early childhood.

"As far back as I can remember, I have always been painting and drawing," he said in an interview.

An Italian tutor taught him the rudiments of art in Montreal, and he went on to Ecole des Beaux Arts where he later became a teacher.

Despite his many exhibitions in Montreal, Bruni still admits to a slight fear of public opinion. Since the public is the ultimate judge of his art, he explains, it is bound to have some influence on the artist.

The Montrealer planned to remain in Italy's fertile climate, visiting the principal artistic centres, until the end of April. In France, next step on the tour, he intends to stage another exhibition through May and June.

His paintings, ranging from frescoes to landscapes, were received warmly by Italian critics.

As one writer put it:

"Neither decorative nor agitated, his is a type of art one likes to live with."

MONKED CABOOSES — Model cabooses, loaded with silver dollars, were presented to two retired CNR conductors at the annual B. of R.T. pensioners banquet last night. Holding cabooses are Donald Cress and Charles Coleman. In the centre is James Wilfred "Wicky" Ross, local yardmaster, who was presented with 40-year service pin.

4 Missing Men Found Adrift On Lake Erie

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Four men missing on Lake Erie since Saturday evening were found adrift in their boat on Lake Erie about nine miles north of here Monday.

The pilot of a U.S. Coast Guard amphibious plane who spotted them and landed at the scene reported the men apparently were in good physical condition.

A coast guard boat was towing the disabled boat here.

The coast guard identified the men as John Gunzhorn, Bernsenwirth, Wayne Utiss and Jack Webber, owner of the 16-foot outboard motor boat occupied by them. All are from Plymouth, Ohio.

The four were last seen about 7 p.m. Saturday when they left Pelee Island for Huron, Ohio, on their way home.

Assisting coast guard planes and boats in the search were a U.S. Navy helicopter from Grosse Isle, Mich., and four aircraft of the RCAF Search and Rescue unit at Trenton, Ont.

Retired CNR Pensioners, Others Honored by Lodge

Retired railway pensioners and members of the Belleville Canal of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen were honored by fellow lodge members at their pensioners' annual banquet and dance held last night at Club Oscars.

Approximately 200 lodge members, their wives and local friends attended the function which saw model cabooses loaded with silver dollars presented to two retired conductors.

Long service pins were presented to four members of the local lodge still employed with the CNR.

Conductors honored were Charles Coleman of Belleville, who retired last March, and Don Cress, of Brockville, and formerly of Belleville who retired late last year. Chairman of the banquet program was Robert Ashman, president of B. of R.T. Local 108.

Honored with the presentation of long service pins were James "Wicky" Ross, local yardmaster, 40 years; Bob Ashman, 30 years, Ted Frandor, 10 years and Herbert Swayze, 10 years.

Out-of-town guests attending the banquet included W. P. Kelly, Ottawa, vice-president of the Canadian B. of R.T.; George McGregor, Ottawa Canadian legislator and general chairman F. A. O'Grady, Ottawa, and George McDermit, Toronto.

Remarks Sure to Raise Any Wife's Blood Pressure

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Husband remarks guaranteed to raise any housewife's blood pressure:

"I don't see what you possibly do with all your spare time."

"What do you want to buy a new hat for? I've just gotten one can stand your old one."

"Hortense, you can't wear a dress like that. It's not your style. Frankly, it makes you look way too young."

"Don't tell me that the kids did wrong today. I had a hard day myself at the office."

"I realize I haven't taken you any place this month, but after all I took you out twice last month."

"Here's an item in the paper about a wife asking for a divorce merely because her husband used her for a dart board. What's the matter with women today—are they all turning into misers?"

FIX POWER MOWER

"I hear Joe Bloafer's wife got a lot more out of him a week to start. Why don't you take a look at the help-wanted ads, baby? Maybe you'll be lucky, too."

"Hey, Hortense, the power mower I bought last year won't get the pliers and fix it—like a good little girl!"

"Sure, I'll stay if your mother spends a couple of months with us each month. She and her can have the whole place to yourselves. I'll take my self-propelled golf cart and go with a couple of boys from the office."

"You can't get any new shoes this payday. I have to buy me a bowling ball!"

"Of course I love you. Didn't I tell you that before I married you?"

Guess what that new girl in the stenographic pool told me? She said I kinda remind her of Cary Grant."

P. M. Reported To Promise Members Raise

OTTAWA (CP) — The Citizen says Prime Minister Diefenbaker is reported to have told progressive conservative caucus last week that a re-elected Conservative government would raise MPs' salaries to $25,000 a year from $10,000.

The newspaper says some MPs at the caucus, a party conference of parliamentarians, had complained about the inadequacy of the present pay level.

It says judges salaries would be increased at the same time. Judges have not had a pay raise since 1953; the last raise for MPs and senators was in 1954.

How other major car manufacturers help us sell more Ramblers

Soon after Rambler introduced its first sensibly-sized car our competitors saw the trend we had started and went into compact car production. Despite the increased competition, they actually gave us a boost by making you more compact conscious.

Remarkable proof of this has been our success. In 1961, for instance, our sales increased by 50% over the previous year. And almost 100 new dealers joined us during the same period. This year sales are up 60% over last year.

With years of experience behind us, we are able to produce a vastly superior compact. For example: we pioneered Single-Unit construction; developed Deep-Dip rustproofing, specially for Canadian conditions and introduced the Ceramic-Armoured muffler, guaranteed for as long as you own the car. This year we added such new features as self-adjusting Double-Safety brakes; and a battery and coolant, both with a two year guarantee.

Rambler stands alone as the one automotive manufacturer really interested in providing what we call "maximum usefulness to the user". This, we feel, is the main reason for our success.

To prove this to yourself, take a look at the so-called compacts first. Then visit your Rambler dealer. You'll have no doubt that Rambler is Canada's best all 'round car value.

RUSH — ASH

Wesley United Church, Trent Road, Belleville R. R. 3, was the setting on Saturday, April 7th, at 3:00 p.m. for a very pretty spring wedding when Agnes Ellen Ash, daughter of Mrs. J. A. Ash, of Belleville and the late Mr. Ash, was united in marriage to John William Rush of Bayside, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rush. The Rev. T. F. Townsend of Belleville. White and yellow gladioli and chrysanthemums formed a lovely setting for the ceremony. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mrs. T. F. Townsend presided at the organ for the wedding hymns.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Alex Ash, of Sudbury, was lovely in her stress-length bridal gown of white embossed taffeta featuring a fitted bodice with Sweetheart neckline and long sheath-like sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists. The graceful bouffant skirt fell in soft folds. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion silk tulle with headdress of seed pearls, and carried a shell shaped cascade of yellow rosebuds and white stephanotis.

Miss Doreen Rush, of Bayside, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride, with Sweetpale blue nylon with overskirt of white nylon with sheer veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mr. Eric Ash, of Belleville, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Gordon Green, of Point Anne, and Mr. Robert Wade, of Bayside, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the Belleville Legion Memorial, in Belleville, where the tables were all covered with white linen damask, and centred by a three-tier wedding cake decorated in mauve and pink beneath pink and white bridal streamers. Tall pink candles in crystal holders and the bridal bouquets completed the nuptial setting.

The bride's mother, wearing a gown of powder blue silk with white accessories and corsage of yellow roses, assisted the bridegroom's mother in her brown silk with beige accessories, and corsage of yellow roses, received the guests.

For the honeymoon to New York State, the bride travelled in a short box style suit in brown Viyella with beige accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

Guests attended from Shawlock, Sudbury and Point Anne.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was honoured by the staff of the Ontario School for the Deaf, of which she is a member, with a miscellaneous shower given by the neighbors and friends at the Trent Road. She was also entertained by Mrs. Joseph Ash, of Madoc and Mrs. Arthur Holmes of Queensboro, joint hostesses at a kitchen shower held in the latter's home on the 10th line of Huntingdon Township, the bride's former home.

Mr. and Mrs. Rush will reside at 128 Avondale Road, Belleville.

Female Sex in India Now in Defiant Mood

By RUKMINI DEVI
Canadian Press Correspondent

BOMBAY (CP) — The days when India's women prided themselves in being "dutiful housewives" of their men seem to be fast disappearing.

The female sex here is in a defiant mood, and right now it is rallying in a forum raised by women over an alleged act of male "slander."

There have been country-wide protests against a passage in a Gujerati - language examination paper placed before students in the Bombay University. Candidates were asked to translate into Gujerati an English passage which, the women say, was a "deliberate" insult to womanhood.

The offending passage read, in part:

"I have watched women closely. They have no hearts like men. They do not suffer like men. Women are anxious to show their bodies, and whether they are walking or standing or sleeping, they are anxious that their bodies be seen, and how can men guard themselves?

"It is better to be blinded by staring at the sun than to look at a woman."

ANGRY PROTESTS

Newspapers were deluged with angry letters from women readers protesting the examination paper. "The passage is a slander on the whole of our men's minds," wrote a college girl. "They would like to humiliate us on every possible occasion.

"Indian males seem to live in a land of make-believe," says another letter. "If they think they can insult us and get away with it they are mistaken. We shall teach them a lesson."

University - educated women called for a protest meeting to voice their resentment. The All-India Women's Conference was approached with a proposal to take up the question with the Bombay University authorities. Petitions have been sent to women MPs to raise the subject in Parliament.

Some women students have suggested all women candidates who sat for the examination should be given 50 per cent more marks than the male candidates as a "measure of compensation."

A woman columnist wrote that the incident has "shaken our confidence in the fair-mindedness of male professors."

"These gentlemen should be thoroughly brainwashed. They have too many antiquated ideas in their heads"

Holy Trinity WG Hears Talk On 'Lay Readers'

On Thursday evening, Mrs. A. Spencer entertained the Women's Guild of Holy Trinity Church, Shannonville, with Mr. F. Cavalier opening the meeting with prayer.

The president, Mrs. S. Fitzgerald, welcomed the members and one visitor, Mrs. P. Manton, and thanked the hostess for opening her home for the meeting.

A short business period followed. An Easter plant is to be sent to shutins, Mrs. R. Kincaid and Mrs. G. Toppings.

Since the last meeting one of the older members has passed on. Sincere sympathy goes out to the family of Mrs. H. Houston. Mrs. Houston was an active worker for her church and Women's Guild. She will be sorely missed.

Mr. Cavalier gave a talk on the "Lay Reader" and his authority and duties. He is going to give a sermon at the next meeting on April 26th at Mrs. R. Kincaid's.

All members are asked to make a special effort to attend the next meeting, as they will find it enlighting and interesting.

Members are also requested to bring in their items for the Universities Women's Council meeting with prayer.

The hostess served lunch and a social hour followed with Miss M. Fitzgerald thanking the hostess for her hospitality.

Offer Nurses 20-Wk. Course In Obstetrics

EDMONTON (CP) — Nurses at the University of Alberta are being offered a 20-week course in practical obstetrics.

The course teaches a specialized approach to midwifery, preparing nurses for any position in the obstetrics department of large and small hospitals as well as the public health field.

It is offered twice a year, between January and February and August. The first 10 weeks are spent in theory, with classes conducted by doctors and the medical faculty.

Eight weeks then are spent in a hospital for observation and practical experience. The final two weeks are devoted to examinations.

The course was first offered by the university's school of nursing in 1943. Last year the Central Midwives Board of England and Wales recognized it as an accredited course.

It was initiated when Alberta nurses in outlying districts found they were not prepared to meet the responsibility of obstetrical care in nursing stations and in patients' homes.

Because there is no other course quite the same in Canada, many students from other provinces enrol in the program.

'CHUTIST ESCAPES DEATH'

GOODWOOD, England (AP) — Tony Miller bumbled 5,000 feet to earth Monday with a parachute that had only partly opened. He escaped with a dislocated shoulder. Miller hit the ground at a speed of about 30 feet a second, twice that of normal. "The ground was about twice as hard as usual too," said Miller, 24. It was his 170th jump.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS
MAIL CALL

Question: Recently you had an article about correct seating in a restaurant when a group of people dined together. I have a further question to ask on this subject. In the near future, my husband and I will be entertaining an important business associate and his wife. Since there will be only the four of us, how should the seating be properly arranged at a small round table? — Mrs. B.A.C., Baltimore, Md.

Answer: You and your husband would sit opposite each other. The other people naturally would also sit facing each other, with the wife to the right of the host and her husband to your right, as hostess.

Question: A friend had some slipcovers made and they fit her furniture exactly right, which is not always the case. I've been budgeting for new slipcovers, and would like to know what's best cost. She's a fairly close friend, but I'm still reluctant to ask such a personal question. Would it seem awfully inquisitive and impolite to do so?

— Mrs. Ray, Kings Point, N.Y.

Answer: It's always bad taste to ask a direct question about the cost of anything. It would be quite permissible, however, to ask for the name of her upholsterer, then invite him over to give you an estimate for slipcovering your own furniture.

Question: I have a transportation problem. I live in the suburbs, I have to drive my children to school and to visit their friends. Now I find I have to drive you and hither — bringing their friends to our home to visit. Many other mothers seem to think that transportation is built into an invitation. When children are invited to our home and I have to go to drive, who should correctly do it — the hostess mother or the guest mother? — Mrs. D. E., Tenafly, N.J.

HILTON — RIDEOUT

White lilies, roses and chrysanthemums, interspersed with ferns, formed a lovely setting on Saturday, March 17th at 1:00 p.m. in Keele Street Salvation Army Citadel, Toronto, for a beautiful wedding ceremony, when Audrey Florence Rideout of Toronto, daughter of Brigadier and Mrs. A. J. Rideout, of Montreal, Quebec, became the bride of Charles Henry Hilton, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hilton, of Toronto. The father of the bride, Brigadier Rideout officiated.

Captain C. Bursey, of Toronto, provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Alexis Stubbert, of Nova Scotia.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Reginald Rideout, the bride was radiant in white organza over satin bridal gown, and fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of shaded yellow cosebuds.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Shirley Rideout, who was attired in turquoise blue nylon over satin with matching headdress. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. George Martin, of Toronto, and the guests were ushered by Messrs. Eric Rideout, and Sterling Rideout, both brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in main dining room of the Jane Shoppe, Toronto, where the bride's mother, wearing navy blue sheath with corsage of red roses, receiving the guests. The bridegroom's mother in petal pink lace and wearing a corsage of salmon pink and yellow roses, assisted.

For travelling to western United States, the bride wore a beige suit with brown fur collar and brown accessories.

Guests were present from Belleville; Montreal; Trenton and Port Erie.

The happy couple will make their home at 47 Spencer Avenue, Toronto.

The bride is a registered nurse on the staff of the Western Hospital, Toronto.

The bridegroom is a former resident of Belleville residing with his grandmother, Mrs. Allie Hilton. He attended BCI for four years before going to Toronto to continue his education.

UCW Meetings

MELROSE U.C.W.

MELROSE — Mrs. Ken McMechan was hostess to a large number of ladies at the April meeting of Melrose United Church Women.

Mrs. Orval McLaren, president, presided and conducted an inspirational worship service on the theme, "One Lord, So Many Churches." She mentioned the writings about which Mrs. Hamilton found in Paul's letters to the early churches. Today's problems are the same. Next, Mrs. Ken McMechan read Paul's words from Ephesians 4:1-16 and 30-32. Mrs. McLaren closed the worship service with a prayer that all denominations may work together for the glory of God.

Mrs. Sherry Demille was the leader for a special Easter program. Mrs. John Milligan gave a reading entitled "Mary Ran To Simon Peter." Why did Mary run? It wasn't the Oriental way of moving. Some great things quicken one's pace because they stir the heart. It is so with the glory of Easter. It can cause one to speed his or her life for Him.

Mrs. William McMechan read "The Saunce Shepherd and The Shepherd's Psalm" explaining how it was part of the 23rd Psalm fit the daily work of a shepherd caring for his sheep.

Mrs. Roy Badgley read an Easter poem, "Go Tell."

A piano solo by Mrs. Lorne Weese was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Newnes Demille explained some traditional customs of Easter. There are a mixture of pagan and Christian beliefs. The egg is a symbol of creation, the chick of renewal of life in the springtime. The bunny comes from the German custom of a bunny who puts eggs on an "Easter tree." The new hats and clothes are a superstition that these bring happiness and luck for another year. The Easter parade dates back to ancient times. Many other beliefs and customs have long since faded away.

A meditation "Sanctuary," was read by Mrs. Clare Weese, in part "All of us need to seek refuge from stress, distractions and monotonies of life, but we must not flee from, but to, reality. Some find refuge in their back yard; others in the mountains or the sea. Some find renewal in the act of serving. The best way of all is to turn to our religion. God is our refuge and strength; a very present help in time of trouble."

In lighter vein was a reading, "Party Line," by Mrs. Ken McMechan. Mrs. Demille closed the program with a contest, "Scrambled Biblical Names," which was won by Mrs. Clare Weese and Mrs. John Milligan.

Mrs. McMechan and her assistants served a delectable lunch.

Post, Mr. Glen Post of Bancockburn and Mr. Michael Ramoe, of EPBC, sang "Just a Little Talk With Jesus Makes It Right."

Ushers, Richard Patrick and Calvin Watson received the evening offering.

Miss Beverley Wannamaker sang the solo "Inside Those Pearly Gates." The Rev. F. Spring sang the solo "Follow Me", and also brought the Good Friday evening message from St. Mark 15: 39, with the text, "The Army Officer's Verdict."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Ann T. — He gets all sicked up, walks out, won't say where.

Peter T. — It's better than getting into a lousy debate with her.

Ann T. — We've been married ten years and have two children. My husband does all right financially as a machine-operation and everything was smooth with us until about two months ago.

It began after supper one evening, he shaved, slicked up and changed to his good suit. When I asked him where he was going his answer was, "I'll be back." Naturally I raised Cain with him because that's no answer. Well, since then he has gone through that same transformation, changing into his fancy clothes and leaving silently, a few times a week. This is getting me very much upset, this male Cinderella!

I won't lower myself to following him. I can't believe there's another woman, in all modesty I know I'm an attractive wife. I was voted the prettiest in my high school class, and we were very happy till he started this mystery act with me.

* * *

Peter T. — Believe me, I love Ann and I love my children. But my reason for leaving when I can't stand staying home is right after supper. I only happened to be doing a job for a lawyer. We got to talking. He told me about this bunch who meets in his office to discuss current events, philosophy, religion and new thoughts. I was interested when he said I could take part.

Why haven't I explained this before? Well, for one thing she wouldn't understand. I can't take her along. She wouldn't fit in. Besides, her suspicions about my motives have hurt me.

The Council: In latching up with the eggheads, Peter showed himself to be quite unsuckleheard. Surely there are better ways of improving one's mind than by trying to drive one's wife out-of-hers, with mysterious comings and goings and goings-on?

Perhaps the first thing Peter's lawyer-friend should help him with is how to talk plain English to a wife. His method of showing Ann that she was in a mental rut is awful, to say the least. Why couldn't he have described his restlessness to her, listened to her suggestions (even the same old ones) for perking things up, mentioned the way out offered by The Family Council? He would have left fewer scars, more burgeoning promises than resulted from his clam-mouthed, angry resolution of the problem.

Also, the same lawyer-benefactor might outline how

Jewish Women Honor R. C. For Her Work

TORONTO (CP) — The National Council of Jewish Women has honored a Roman Catholic for her work.

Named "Cinderella '62" is Mrs. Daniel Donovan, vice-president of the Toronto Diocesan Council of the Catholic Women's League.

Each year the council honors an officer of another organization who has made a significant contribution by her activity.

Mrs. Donovan, who was presented, with a gold charm bracelet with tiny Cinderella slippers and a council disc, is social action convener of the Catholic group, is on the board of the Travellers Aid Society and the, Catholic Family Services and is convener of citizenship and immigration for the Ontario Catholic Women's League.

It's Too Easy To Become Householder

TORONTO (CP) — The harm done to both health and neighborhood by the bad motorist is not half as great as the harm caused by the bad householder, the home economics section of the Ontario Educational Association was told Saturday.

Martha S. Leitch, of the household economics department, University of Toronto, said the bad driver often has his license revoked but the bad householder "goes on in blissful ignorance."

"The bliss soon turns to worry and anxious preoccupation which makes unhappy husbands and wives," she said.

Both male and female should be taught the social, physical, legal and economic facts of good housekeeping. Everyone lives in a house but few look upon it as an art to be learned. "It's too easy to become a householder," she said.

Mother's Helper

DO YOU HAVE the daily problem of children who appeal to you to have food? Or the absolute starvation—about a half-hour before a meal is ready? Come to their rescue with carrot sticks, celery, a bowl of cheese. If this kind of edible isn't accepted up, things aren't as bad as they seem. Wait for dinner!

Say Teachers Should Read Not Children

TORONTO (CP)—A women's group says teachers and not children should read the Bible aloud in school, because children no longer read aloud properly.

The Christian Women's Council on Education of Metropolitan Toronto, an interdenominational organization, said oral reading among school children has become a lost art and blamed a general discontinuation of reading aloud in classes for the dodgers.

It urged Bible reading by teachers because "pupils pay little attention to the mumblings of other pupils."

The council, which made a three-year study of religious instruction in schools, Monday circulated a report containing the criticisms to the annual meeting of the religious education section of the Ontario Educational Association. The section did not consider the report.

Sauce Talk

by Mary Moore

Am I laboring under a delusion? Do you girls know how to make a good variety of sauces for your meats and vegetables — or do you not?

If not, I'm going to give a short course on sauces right now. Over the years I have often told you how to make genuine Hollandaise Sauce. Last week I gave the recipe here for Sour Cream Hollandaise. On March 15th, I gave a Hot Mustard Sauce to serve with ham or tongue or headcheese. So we will go off on a different tangent today.

C.A's Conduct Special Service

FRANKFORD — On Good Friday evening Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle C.A.'s met with president Keith Helm in charge of the meeting.

The service opened with the C.A. theme chorus, followed by prayer by the Rev. F. Spring. Mr. David Strains of EPBC, Peterborough, led the song service. Mr. Murray Stacey of Stirling, read the Scripture, Psalm 130.

A vocal trio of Miss Donna Rose Peter came to inflicting he medal cruelty the diverse Paul salutes talk about when he spend so much time sticking before the mirror without tell- Ann why. Who'd ever think a man works over the knot of his tie to get it just right for a job-session? Why must it be pots on the show handkerchief just so for a debate on The Problem of The Possible? Ann couldn't help but have those suspicions which Peter says hurt him. They hurt her worse.

But the mystery is solved. Now that the mystery is out, and he is free of it, there is no profit from it. It develops because these two couldn't communicate — he with his boredom, she with her mystification. At this rate, Peter and his marriage, Ann and her home have no other alternative but to stick up herself on the kids and let Pete wonder where they were!

The right answer, of course, lies in adult education courses for both. There are colleges, libraries, community centers nearby. Attempting Peter's way to fill all intellectual hungers or Ann's, After accompanying Ann while she registers for one, Peter decide whether to hire a babysitter and attend classes in the same night as his wife, or to go separate nights and baby-sit for each other. In the latter arrangement he'd still be a lone wolf, but Ann would endorse the prowl!

Name Chairman Rink Building Committee

TWEED — Mr. Harold Carleton, Parks Supervisor at Tweed office of Department of Lands and Forests, was named chairman of the Tweed rink building committee at a meeting held in the council chambers on Wednesday evening. Ray Woolfrey will act as secretary of the new executive while Mr. Harry McLean, Bank of Montreal manager, volunteered his services as treasurer.

An advisory committee representing Tweed and Bungerford includes Burton Vance, Ted Courneyea and Bill McCrea. Chairmen of the committees necessary for the actual building and administration are yet to be named.

If there are no unforeseen hold-ups Tweed should have a rink by late Fall.

The general committee will have to choose a location for the centre. The present site of the open-air rink is satisfactory as to location but about ten feet of additional land is required.

Plans are in the committee's hands which call for an ice surface of 75 x 175 and only the barest of necessities such as wash rooms and dressing rooms will be included.

Following a meeting next Wednesday night a fund-raising campaign will get under way almost immediately.

By JACK PICKETTS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)— A timid little fellow who has never been seen by most Newfoundlanders—he's only been here five years—is doing his bit to keep Newfoundland forests green.

The shrew, so small you could slip a dozen in your pocket, was introduced to western Newfoundland in 1958. It liked the country so well more were planted in the central part of the province last year.

Only two inches long and weighing about a tenth of an ounce, the tiny mammal has a voracious appetite and particularly likes larch sawfly cocoons. This suits the province's foresters. The larch sawfly chews into the tamarack or larch tree, causing extensive damage.

Twenty-one shrews, 12 females, were first introduced in the flat bay region of the West Coast. In 1959 federal entomologists trapped and released 130 of them. Some 900 were gathered up the next year and entomologists figured they liked their new environments.

So last year more were released in two areas of central Newfoundland where lush stands of tamarack were threatened by the larch sawfly.

ENEMY OF MOUSE

While entomologists watched the furry fellows grow in number, they also kept an eye on the shrew's appetite. Some 400 cocoons were tied down so predators couldn't drag them away. About 14 per cent of the cocoons were attacked by shrews in 1959. The next year the figure climbed to 22 per cent but last year dropped back to 20 per cent.

At the same time the number of cocoons damaged by mice dropped from five to one per cent. This gave the shrew a touch of notoriety since it is known to kill mice even though they are larger.

Apparently the shrew's bed points were far outweighed by his good features—he likes other kinds of cocoons too—and entomologists aren't worried that he will overrun the country.

For one thing, hawks and owls, which keep down the mouse population, also like shrews. And the shrews tend to stick close to home. In 1959 the furthest away some were trapped was five miles from the point they were released.

The Trots

TORONTO (CP) — The race for the driving championship has rarely been closer than it is right now at Old Woodbine Raceway where nine drivers are within a mere three victories of tying the leader, Ken Galbraith.

Galbraith reined his seventh and eighth wins Monday night, the 12th night in the Toronto track's 15-night spring meeting before 4,276 patrons. He guided Genie Hanover, five - year - old trotter owned by Jack Perlmutter of Chesley, Ont., in the third race to take a one-victory margin over Bill Harvey. Jimmy Holmes and Jack Gordon in the race for the championship and the cash prize that goes with it.

Then Galbraith moved two wins ahead in the eighth race when he guided Bl'own Five-year-old gelding, Eddie Cian, to a two-length victory over Happy Galish, owned by Pete White of Agincourt, Ont.

Gordon jumped into top contention with two victories Monday night. He had single chips, owned by the L. and C. Stable of Wheatley, Ont., in the second, returning $18.70 to complete a double payoff of $76.80, and steered Londa's Girl, owned by Ivan Thackeray of Colourful, in the fifth.

Six drivers have four wins, including the champion of 1960 and 1961, Harold McKinley, who Monday night won the featured sixth race, a $3 pace, with the Armstrong Brothers' Armstrong Bingo, making its first start of 1962.

In this one, Armbro Bingo trailed driver Gordon with the seven - year - old pacing mare, Topheal, until the drive for the wire. Then Topheal faded slightly and McKinley came on with the Armstrong horse which picked up $10,000 last year on 19 in-the-money efforts in 25 outings.

Four Delicate Operations On Diseased Hearts Shown

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—In a remarkable one - hour program, NBC demonstrated Monday night the life-saving achievements performed by surgeons in mending defective and diseased hearts and circulatory systems.

It was called Breakthrough, because each of the four delicate operations, shown close-up and in detail, has been developed in recent years. One operation shown was not possible just two years ago.

First surgery was performed on a woman with a diseased heart valve. The surgeon gave her a new one-made of plastic. In order to make the replacement, a heart - lung machine took over the body's blood-pumping functions while the surgical team stopped the woman's heart action by pouring a flush of ice saline solution into the chest cavity.

Another surgical team removed a plug in the neck artery of a woman threatened by stroke. We watched the surgeon opening up the artery, clean out the stoppage and then patch the artery with a piece of Dacron.

A third operation showed the attachment of an electric battery, powered by transistors, to a man's heart which had stopped beating on several previous occasions, and the battery, giving out tiny regular pulses, was designed to prevent heart failure.

The wires were connected to the heart, and then attached to the tiny battery implanted just below the skin of the abdomen — a spot easily reached also for five years when new batteries would be needed.

Finally, surgeons stitched up a congenital hole in the heart of a 2-year-old boy—a hole that would have been fatal if left unrepaired.

Dr. Henry Swan, a heart specialist, discussed each operation as it proceeded with the working surgeon, and in many instances translated the terminology into laymen's terms.

Then, at the end of the program, we saw all the patients convalescing or completely recovered. The little boy was shown—playing football.

Sports Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Clarence Campbell is like a guy caught in a revolving door. No matter which way he turns, he ends up getting nowhere.

The president of the National Hockey League, as befitting his office, was on hand for all games of the Toronto-Chicago Stanley Cup final. But he must wonder if it was worth it.

His worst moments came in Chicago.

First off, he cracked down on the Chicago Stadium public address announcer who has his own inimitable style of doing things. For instance, he always introduced Hawk goalkeeper Glenn Hall to those zany Hawk fans simply as "Mister Goalie." The proper pronunciation doesn't know Hall's name.

Campbell heard the introduction, decided it wasn't dignified, and ruled the "Mister Goalie" out. Then he took his case to the PA announcer and his fans—by remote television.

"In goal, Mister Goalie." This was followed by a brief pause and then "Glenn Hall."

Campbell couldn't even win here.

LUNCHEON JIBE

Then, at a luncheon given by the Chicago Press Club for visiting reporters, Campbell got on his feet and lauded the idea of such gatherings. This is something, he said, that should be a part of the Cup final and went on to say luncheons could be held between games.

He mentioned Toronto and Montreal writers and "ancillary satellites."

The chaps present from such places as Ottawa and Windsor let out scratched their heads, wondering exactly what "ancillary" meant. They had a pretty good idea but when Campbell spelled it out as meaning "subservient, subordinate," Lawyer Campbell again was in a jam.

Chapter 3 of the Campbell jinx took place after that rough-house fourth game when the Hawks belted the Leafs around and won 6-1. Big Frank Mahovlich of the Leafs and Stan Mikita of the Hawks were seen in a stick-swinging duel.

TOOK NO ACTION

They stood well back as they wielded their weapons and no one was hurt, but there among 10, the bellowing mob of 20,000 sat Campbell. The episode wasn't at all funny and everyone agreed with Campbell on that count.

So, how about some presidential action?

It seems that Campbell can't do a thing about it. The people who own the clubs, and who run the NHL, rule in effect that Campbell has an authority to take action beyond what the game official has done. For their misdemeanors the two players were tossed out of the game and each was fined $50.

As Campbell said of the incident: "The action taken by the official constitutes all action by I have in connection with the incident."

So, there he is still in that swinging door.

He could have got out of it by accepting the resignation sions on the brawling pair and the instigating club owners would have one heck of a time trying to convince the public that their president couldn't do it.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Stanley Cup fever is over for another year and staid old Tawnawnia will be talking about it until well into the football season.

There has been some talk of expansion of the league which would include one or more cities on the west coast. Clarence Campbell, boss-man of the NHL, however, does not think too much of the idea.

In a talk with reporters recently the NHL prexy said: "We've heard and read about the great crowds and enthusiasm in the west coast cities, but the hard figures of those operations do not begin to compare with what is demanded of a NHL franchise."

"The strongest financial operation in the W.H.L. is at Portland. So let's consider them. Portland's 39-home gate was 283,000 for an average of 8,100 and their average ticket sold at $1.70. That works out to a season's gate of $481,950."

Mr. Campbell said the average gross budget, before taxes for a NHL club is approximately $800,0000. The average cost of a ticket is $2.71. In other words the top operation in the WHL is still only half of what it has to be to rank with a NHL operation. The idea that the WHL is ready to function at the NHL level is really childish.

He said the Los Angeles and San Francisco gross figures are considerably below Portland's, although their ticket sales are higher. Los Angeles average 4,800 for a 35-game total of 168,000, at a ticket average sale of $2.35. Their ticket sales are around $396,450. San Francisco average 3,925 for a total of 137,375 at a ticket average of $2.13. Their gate was $292,668.

"Contrary to what many people have been led to believe, no responsible bid has been made to the NHL from the WHL. In fact the only approach of any kind that has been made to me came from a man at Los Angeles, and it was merely in the nature of an enquiry about NHL operation costs," Mr. Campbell said.

The National Hockey League, its president pointed out has just had its greatest year—an all-time high of 2,413,000 customers. The previous all-time high was 2,340,000 for the 1947-48 season. NHL ran over last season five per cent.

He said Chicago and New York attendances were up this season while Boston and Detroit were down. Montreal and Toronto remained the same. They've been at capacity for some time.

"The Hawks," he said, "drew 415,000 which is a gain over 1960-61 of 60,000. The Rangers went up to 465,000 from 317,000 which is a big gain. Detroit dropped to 326,000 for a small loss of 14,000 but in money they're actually up because they raised their ticket prices slightly. Boston fell to 325,000 for a drop of 11,000. Toronto stayed at 485,000 and Montreal stayed at 458,000."

Mr. Campbell said there is something else that should be taken into consideration when the talk is about the west coast going major league. If Portland were to move up, he said, they would be liable to heavy indemnity to the NHL in order to take the territory from it. That is because when Portland came back to the WHL they obtained a franchise from another city.

He pointed out that San Francisco and Los Angeles were smart enough to stay clear of indemnity action. They finished on and got settled down in the WHL before they set up shop last year. So in that sense they're prepared for the future but their major league market has scarcely been tapped. At this stage they're in a process of exposing their product. It'll take time and hard selling.

Mr. Campbell said there's a professional organization in Los Angeles that sells ticket packages for several pro sports including hockey. "I understand, for a man, almost all the pro clubs deal with these people except the football Rams who probably don't need them."

"As an example they'll sell a lower class ticket to a customer and give him one as a bonus. The television sponsor absorbs the cost of the free one. From that, you can see that crowd figures that make headlines are often deceptive in terms of money."

"There's nothing deceptive about a NHL operation. It costs close to a million dollars per club."

Casey's Mets Take First From Bucs

Hook Clips Pirate String

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Staff Writer

It took just 24 hours for Casey Stengel's prophecy to come true.

Sunday night, reeling from nine defeats in nine National League starts, the stricken manager of the brand-new New York Mets said:

"Some day pretty soon we're going to beat someone pretty bad."

On Monday night Case sent his cast of hand-me-downs out to meet the Pirates.

The result was a 9-1 victory for the Mets, their first in National League history and the first for a club representing New York in 11 years, since 1950, when the Dodgers and Giants transferred their allegiance to California.

The honor of grabbing victory No. 1 for the Mets went to Jay Hook, a 25-year-old right-hander who equalled his entire victory output for Cincinnati last season by checking the Pirates on five hits while sending Pittsburgh's victory streak at 10.

HOOK'S RECORD

The triumph kept the Mets from setting a major league mark for consecutive losses at home to the start of the season. It halted the Pirates' efforts to establish an all-time record for consecutive wins at the start of a season.

In a night-cap Monday night, San Francisco Giants defeated Cincinnati Reds 4-1, behind Billy Pierce's seven-hit pitching and the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped Milwaukee Braves 5-3 behind Sandy Koufax. The Phillies and Houston Colts were rained out. Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals are idle. The American League has a day off.

Felix Mantilla opened the big game for the Mets with a single, stole a foot and the New Yorkers never left the base path.

Hook Struck Out Two

Hook struck out two and walked only one, allowing the Pirates their lone run in the sixth on singles by Dick Schofield and Dick Groat and Bob Skinner's ground out.

Pierce, 35-year-old left-hander acquired in a trade with Chicago White Sox, went the distance for his second triumph for the Giants, striking out seven Reds and allowing no walks.

Harvey Kuenn was 3-for-4 getting a key single in both the first and second innings as the Giants scored once in each. The Reds came across on a pair of fluke runs by catcher Hank Foiles. A two-run shot by Willie Mays and Jim Davenport on a wild pickoff throw.

Joe Torre, a 19-year-old right-hander won it for the Dodgers with a five-hit, ten-strikeout performance. Hits while going the route for his major league victory. He has not lost one.

Home runs by John Roseboro, Koufax and Willie Davis, a bases-empty "second chance" blast, handed Lew Burdette his fifth loss against two with Davis, who filed out to open the fifth, set the stage for when the umpires ruled Burdette's foot had left the rubber before he threw.

So Was Kirkland

Maris Garbage Target?

NEW YORK (AP) — When Roger Maris found interviewers wearisome in spring training, his critics whispered, "I'll bet ere what happens if he gets off to a bad start."

While Maris is off to a bad start, Nothing much has happened. Yankee Stadium has been him more than ever in the mood but the club has been home for only three dates.

In the early evening hours of Sunday's 4-3 doubleheader, some of the fans amused themselves by briefly asserting barrage in the right field. Some landed when Maris was there. More landed when Willie Kirkland of Cleveland was there. After a while, Willie put on his pistol to the helmet.

Maris told a reporter he symptoms a cold. He could not suggested a $100 fine for anybody throwing debris. However, Maris' main problem at the minute is hitting the ball. He is batting a sick .132 with five hits in 38 trips to the games. He went hitless in nine trips Sunday and has only one hit in the last 21 at bats.

At this point last year (nine games), he was batting .148 with four for 27. He didn't hit his first homer until game No. 11. This year he hit his first—and only one so far — in the first game.

Bob Nichols Wins at Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Nichols, after recovering beautifully from a bad tee shot, sank an eight-foot putt for an eagle three on the 18th hole of a scheduled 18-hole playoff Monday to win $6,000 in top money in the $60,000 Houston Classic.

Nichols, 26-year-old Midland, Tex., pro and Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla., had finished the regulation 18 holes of the three-way playoff with Jack Nicklaus in a deadlock with identical 72s. Sikes' errancy sank a birdie putt after seeing Nichols' ball go into jackpot sand.

Nicklaus, 1961 U.S. amateur champion in his first year as a pro, was eliminated from the playoff by posting a 76 that was one over par for the 7,100-yard Memorial Park course.

Sikes and Nicklaus received $2,400 each.

The threesome had forced the playoff Sunday by finishing 72 holes in a tie at 276.

Hired For Next Season

Leafs Retain Punch-King Combo

Series All Square

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs, still celebrating their first Stanley Cup in 11 years—Monday took their first step toward hanging on to it for another year.

Club officials announced that George (Punch) Imlach will be back as general manager and coach for 1962-63 and that King Clancy will return as his right-hand man.

Said Punch:

"As far as I'm concerned, the first and most important thing I had to do was to get King back for next year. He's a remarkable fellow and we've got to keep him in this business. We are partners and we're not going to break up a winning combination."

HELPED DURING ILLNESS

Clancy took on quite a share of Imlach's load in the Stanley Cup march—first when Punch was hit by an ulcer and later when he got the flu.

Imlach, 47, joined the Leafs 10 years ago, after being fired by Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League. He has two seven-year contracts behind him.

His third Stanley Cup came Sunday night.

The club arrived home from Chicago about 3:30 a.m. Monday in a bowling alley-equipped 3,000 fans at the airport after beating the Black Hawks 4-0 Sunday to win the best-of-seven cup final 4-3.

They aren't scheduled to get together again until Wednesday, when a civic welcome—still being discussed—will be positively set for city hall. City Clerk C. Adam Morris was arranging for a ticker-tape parade and reception.

NOTHING TOO GOOD

Said Controller Philip Givens who—as acting mayor—ordered the official welcome: "Nothing is too good for the Leafs."

Red Kelly hopes he's right.

As he knew Kelly (that tells you what he will read on the ballot) he had just under two months to campaign under the Liberal banner for the York West seat in Parliament.

"People wouldn't vote for me just because we won the Stanley Cup," the redhead said.

Team captain George Armstrong was spokesman for the other players:

"We understand what this thing means to the Leafs, think of those who have played or gained hockey since I was 10 or 11. That's 20 or 25 years in the making. In all that time, I've been my one and only aim to play on a Stanley Cup team."

There was only a lonely switchboard girl on duty when Punch and Teeder Kennedy, but you could tell by the way she answered the telephone how it was with the Leafs.

She didn't say "Maple Leafs Gardens," she said:

"Stanley cup champions."

Pepsi's Defeat Meaford

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

The Belleville Pepsi's spiked with liberal dashes of Brown and Marjerison rookieboard the stretch-drive of the Meaford Chevies here last night with a decisive 8-3 victory.

The win squared the OHA Intermediate "A" semi-finals best-of-seven at three victories each. The seventh and deciding tussle is slated for Colborne Memorial Wednesday night.

It looks like the winner of the series will meet the Port Colborne Sailors in the Final-4th championship.

It was a nip-and-tuck hard-hitting fast-skating fray for the first period—when the Pepsi's grabbed a one-goal lead. After that they took over scoring three against a single counter in the second frame and slamming home four more in the third period to a 7-1 lead marker for the motor crew.

Barring Bob Taylor, the Pepsi's were at full strength for last night's important tussle. Taylor is still under everything they had at the Lamsiders in an all-out effort to win the game.

It was a hard-hitting hard-checking affair as Referee Ron Casterton and Referee Art Casterton and Whitey Wilson of Kingston handed out but seven minor penalties, four to the Chevies.

The Pepsi's drew all their power in a desperate drive for victory in the first period when Gordon "Red" Henry in the Meaford nets kept the score from mounting higher. Henry had his good moments too. The Pepsi's outshot the Chevies 40-25 in the night's play.

Dave Jones headed the Pepsi offensive with three goals and an assist. Ken Hull had a pair with Shaker Baker, Eddie Marineau and Jean Paul Lamirande coming up with single "Wimpy" Brown had three assists. Baker and Crawford two apiece.

Abbott with two and Parker were the Meaford marksmen.

Jones put the Pepsi's in the lead with a late first-period goal with Crawford and Abbott getting it back 42 seconds after the second period started.

The Pepsi's hit back hard after three minutes of play, Marineau, Baker and Jones scoring in eight minutes to knock the Chevies from Parker, slammed home McDonald's pass at 19.51 to cut the margin to 5-3.

Hull and Lamirande clinched the game with two markers 60 seconds in 32 seconds midway through the final frame. Abbott got one back for Hull and Jones with his hat-trick performance.

Int. Loop Opens Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Atlanta and Jacksonville will get their first taste of triple A baseball action Wednesday when the International League opens its 79th season.

Atlanta moves into the league from the defunct Southern Association, replacing Charleston. Jacksonville, formerly in the South Atlantic League replaces Jersey City.

The league's 154 - schedule opens with Buffalo at Richmond for a day-night doubleheader and three night games, Rochester at Atlanta, Syracuse at Jacksonville and Toronto at Columbus.

Columbus won the league pennant last year, but Buffalo won the postseason playoffs and swept by Louisville of the American Association in the world series. Larry Shepherd is back as Columbus manager and Harry Farrell again will manage the Buffalo entry.

Other first-year managers are Clyde King at Rochester, Frank Verdi at Syracuse and Joe Schultz with Atlanta.

Newcomers are Chuck Dressen at Toronto, Ben Geraghty at Jacksonville, Warren Robinson at Richmond.

Dressen, a long-time major league fighter, was fired as Milwaukee manager toward the end of last season, then was signed by the Braves' farm club at Toronto four months later.

IL president Tommy Richards predicts a successful year for the league, oldest in the minors, forecasting a record crowd and season attendance up to 500,000 at both new cities —Atlanta and Jacksonville.
